Don't forget that Canada must have a revenue to run her vast public works and pay the interests on your Victory Bonds, and if you allow King or Crerar to wipe out your Customs Revenue, every farmer and salaried man in P. E. Island will have to dip into his pocket deeply to make up the amount by direct taxation.

Effort Fails Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The third attempt to salvage the $4,000,000 gold and silver cargo of the Ward Line steamer Merida, sunk ten years ago off the Virginia Capes, has resulted in a failure, it was admitted today at the offices of the H. L. Gotham Corporation, which financed the salvage expeditions.

Inclement weather has been responsible for the three failures. The project now has been abandoned until next spring at least. Ten years ago last May the Merida, bound from Havana to New York, was struck in a fog by an American mail liner and sunk in 35 fathoms of water. The passengers and crew were rescued, but the entire cargo went to the bottom.

ALBERA'S EMPLOYEES

EDMONTON, Nov. 30.—Complete freedom of employees of the Alberta Government, not only to vote as they pleased, but to work in whatever campaign they might wish, even if in opposition to the Government that employed them, was promised by Premier Greenfield at last night's session of the Alberta civil service convention.

The only reservation was that they should not do political campaigning during business hours. Mr. Greenfield declared that his Government had no desire or intention to interfere with the individual liberty or privilege of its employees, who were entitled to their own views, and whose appointments would never be affected, under the present administration, by the question of their political opinions and sympathies.

Mr. Brown is in the field with no expectation of winning, but as a get back, because he failed to get the Convention nomination. Don't let any of our conservative votes be wasted on such a motive. Vote for Donald McKinnon and John H. Myers.

Agreement On Chinese Customs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—A substantial agreement on the Chinese customs questions was reached today by the Underwood sub-committee, China asked for an ad valorem tariff of 12 1/2 per cent the sub-committee today decided to recommend the grant of one of 7 1/2 per cent plus interior octroi duties, amounting to not more than 2 1/2 per cent.

Japan dissents from the decision of all the other countries represented, insisting it shall continue to levy a five percent the present tariff in order to be able to submit a unanimous recommendation to the full committee. Senator Underwood requested the Japanese to reconsider their position and determine whether they cannot step in line with the other delegations in this matter. This the Japanese have undertaken to do and it is generally expected that the sub-committee will be able to report favorably to the committee on Far Eastern questions by the end of the week, the new tariff proposals were introduced by Sir Robert Borden (Canada) and encountered no serious opposition outside that of Japan, the general feeling being that China must be allowed to derive considerably more revenue for national purposes from her customs.

Sir Harry Lauder

Depreciated War

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—"Some of the best brains in the world are now in Washington in connection with the armament conference, and the world hopes that they will bring peace. Let them all stay in Washington, for while they are discussing peace there will be no war." Thus declared Sir Harry Lauder in an address entitled "International Friendship," delivered at the Emmanuel Congregational Church yesterday afternoon.

"Energy of thought," said Sir Harry Lauder, "takes the place of beauty of language, and it is better to be happy by affection than have hell by affliction. Friendship is the happiest thing in life, but it must be honest, and of course will, in our streets we see examples of broken down men, those who have been in business. Many men are in debt, debt is a drag, it excites men to do dishonorable things. We must remember that self is the bitterest thing to lay. Do you ever ask yourself whether you are worth anything? Work hard to get yourself known, if you do not you will become a slacker. Work and wages make a light heart. Half the world is on the wrong track in pursuit of happiness, and happiness, it must be remembered, is giving, it is far short to foster animosity. I have never yet known a man who was at all successful, who limited his hours of labor. There is something morally wrong in the present system of employment. The man who puts every day and his intelligence into his work is deserving of a better reward than the man who slacks at his employment.

NATIONS MORE FRIENDLY

"The late war has brought us closer together both internationally and personally, and more especially the English-speaking nations. We all know the gospel that every symbol, precept and phrase of our daily life shows that we must have some responsibility. If rising and falling responsibilities, and that such is assumed. Give $5 a year to Doctor Barnardo's Home, you would then be doing something for somebody. There is plenty of opportunity for you to do something. Lots of you have crossed the Atlantic which divides Great Britain from the United States and Canada. There must be friendship on either shore, each must hold the everlasting handshake. There are evil forces working against this consummation, but we must consolidate. There must be some consolidation of the English-speaking nations, and when that comes about there can be no war. There was never a time when friendship among the nations was more necessary than present. The bells of opportunity are ringing for unity among us. The grief and tears of the world, and the sympathy of peoples, have brought us closer together. The English-speaking nations have the same ideals and institutions, and we must tell our boys that if they don't want to die, they want to live, and stand for principle. We must tell the younger generation of the sacrifices which have been made for them by their older brothers. We must tell them of the sacrifices which their mothers and fathers have made for them, so that it will encourage them to be a credit and joy when they become older.

"The most show people that we are interested in them. We must tell our neighbors over the garden wall and say, 'Glad night, see you soon.' And that same spirit must apply to countries, and then there will be no such thing as war. Each individual must make an effort and then there will not be unhappiness and the havoc of war.

Cutting Naval Expenditures

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Drastic cuts in government expenditure principally in the army and navy and air force and totalling more than $250,000,000 annually would be included in the recommendations of the government's economy commission headed by Sir Eric Geddes. The report would be submitted to the Premier on December 15th immediately prior to his going to Washington. The commission declares that an extensive reduction in expenditures for the main fighting branches is imperative and there the report is said to include a strong argument for the formation of a Ministry of Defence in order to co-ordinate with the fighting services. The report will insist that the new ministry would increase efficiency and at the same time provide tremendous savings for the taxpayers by doing away with the wasteful overlapping of departments. The plan is bound to arouse a tremendous controversy in jealous officialdom.

When Sir Harry Lauder concluded his address he sang a song of the Scotch hills and homes. Sir Arthur Currie, acted as chairman, driving through the villages. I stop for a while, and it gets around: 'Harry Lauder is at the post office.' Do you know that many a mother has said to me: 'Have you been to Montreal?' 'Did you see our Maggie?' 'She has not written me folks for a year.' So remember them this year.

"We are nearing the festive season, and don't forget to write a letter to the old folks at home. Sometimes when I am in Scotland, driving through the villages, I stop for a while, and it gets around: 'Harry Lauder is at the post office.' Do you know that many a mother has said to me: 'Have you been to Montreal?' 'Did you see our Maggie?' 'She has not written me folks for a year.' So remember them this year.

Paris Trial May Continue Several Days

ST. JOHN, Dec. 1.—At the trial of John Paris, charged with the murder of little Sadie McAulay, testimony was produced today to show that he accused was in Truro on August 3, the day following the murder. Miss Christine McKenzie, who testified to seeing Paris in the office of the Eastern Hat and Cap Company on August 2, was given a lengthy and severe cross-examination but her testimony was practically unchanged. Warren Ogilvie, managing director of the company testified as to Paris having worked for him and having asked for the money due him. Albert Martin of Amherst told of seeing Paris in St. John on the morning of August 4, and Archie Paris, told of coming from Truro to St. John with John Paris on the night of August 3. The latter witness was still on the stand being cross-examined when adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. It is expected that the trial will continue for several days as the defense still has four or five witnesses to call and the crown will call witnesses in rebuttal.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS NO FEARS

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The following authorized statement is issued by Reuters' agency: "Apprehensions expressed in various directions concerning the proceedings at the Washington Conference are not shared in authoritative British circles. While the possibility of difference of opinion arising and temporary setbacks being experienced in never lost sight of, the British view is one of real satisfaction and great hope for on the naval question alone more has been done than most people before the opening of the conference would have been prepared to expect.

"But apart from naval disarmament, the utmost importance attached in this country to the restoration of the world peace, which cannot be affected merely in this way. "There is great anxiety regarding the moral atmosphere of the world and it is pointed out that one cannot isolate a hemisphere or distinguish between naval and other armament. It is felt that the recovery of the world and the restoration of financial stability must depend upon the treatment of armament questions as world wide issue.

"So far as Great Britain is concerned, she wants to employ her unemployed and pay her debts, and she is gravely disquieted by any symptoms which seem to threaten the continuance of instability and unrest, whether in Europe or elsewhere.

"The British government is determined to answer the United States summons in every direction in the general purpose of ridding the world of the menace of a new war."

The statement adds that this being the premier's view, his desire to go to Washington is stronger than ever, but until a week or a fortnight ago, a "fateful period in Irish history" is passed it is impossible to say whether he will leave England.
