FOOT PROTECTORS KEEP SHOES NEAT

Wearing foot protectors—stockings minus legs—when you dispense with hosiery is a summer must for good grooming. These cotton, rayon or nylon foot coverings make feet feel better by keeping soles from contact with clammy shoe linings. The protectors shield shoes from perspiration and dirt which bare feet bring in, an important consideration when you remember how necessary it is to safeguard hard-to-get footwear.

You wouldn't think any woman would go into a shoe store and thrust a bare foot upon a stool to be fitted, would you? Yet shoe salesmen say that there are women who do. Rightly, of course, a salesman can refuse to fit a customer who shows so little consideration for the niceties of good grooming and for the store's merchandise. But when he has to

Georgetown Softball

In a game full of action and good plays, the local softball team undefeated so far in the seasons play, took the Summerside Air Force team into camp by the score of 12-7. The game was well played and featured smart fielding and gave the fans plenty to cheer about throughout.

Fitzgerald pitched a superb game for the winners, fanning 14 men. The Georgetown team is the finest produced in this town in many years and are anxious to continue their winning habits against any softball team in the Province.

McCormick-Brownlie Wedding

"A pretty wedding took place in St. James Roman Catholic Church, Georgetown on Wednesday July 24th when Emma Marguerite McCormick R.N., daughter of Mrs. Margaret McCormick and the late John Andrew McCormick of Georgetown, was united in marriage to James M. Brownlie of Pittsfield, Mass.

Nuptial Mass was celebrated by Rev. O. Higgins. Given away by her brother George McCormick, a smart suit of aqua marine with white accessories. Their many friends wish the newlyweds many years of happy married life.—Geo.

Immediately following the ceremony, a sumptuous breakfast was held at the bride's home, to the immediate relatives. Following the breakfast, the happy couple left by car to tour the Maritimes on their way to Pittsfield, Mass. where they will reside and where the groom is employed with the Employment Security.
