Red Wings, Black Hawks Play Scoreless Draw; Leafs Defeat Rangers 1-0

DETROIT, Nov. 14—Brilliant net guarding featured a fast, well-played overtime scoreless tie through which Chicago Blackhawks and Detroit Red Wings battled to-night before 5,000 fans in a National Hockey League match.

Mike Karakas, playing his second game in the majors as a sub for the injured Lorne Chabot, regular Blackhawks net guardian, gave a great exhibition, kicking out 26 hard drives. Norm Smith was equally good, stopping 28 Chicago shots.

Both teams had chances to clinch the game in the overtime stanza. After battling fairly evenly through the three regulation periods, the extra one opened with Vic Sorrell being benched for slashing Johnny Gottsell.

Paul Thompson got two hard shots before Sorrell was back. Then Howie Morenz was sent off for tripping Goodfellow, Aurie, Howe, Sorrell and Hec Kilrea poured the puck at Karakas, who did everything but stand on his head to keep the rubber from his net. When Morenz came back, Levinsky, Hawk defence man, was penalized for tripping Aurie, but the Hawk defence held and the game ended with Levinsky still off the ice.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Toronto Maple Leafs took their first victory of the new National Hockey League season and the New York Rangers their first defeat, 1-0 before a near capacity crowd of 15,000 tonight.

A fine third-period goal by Harold "Buzz" Boll broke up an evenly contested battle and kept Toronto's two-game record clear of defeat. Leafs drew 5-5 with New York Americans in their first start.

Checked for 50 minutes by a hard working though crippled New York defence, the Leafs capitalized upon two lapses in the middle of the final period to gain the decision. Boll, going down the left alley, took an angle pass from Billy Thoms, circled Ott Hiller on the defense, then out-guessed goalie Dave Kerr with a low shot to the inside corner of the cage. Kerr moved just far enough toward the opposite side to let the puck slide between his pads and the post.

Both sides played hard and often rough hockey, marred by the usual early season faults of weak passing and inaccurate shooting. Harvey Jackson playing his first game since he decided to sign his Toronto contract, was in especially poor shooting form.

The high spot of the battle was a typical Red Horner outburst in the second period. The fiery defenceman attempted to charge Ching Johnson when the Ranger veteran went down. He made an even wilder charge at Referee Bill Bell when the arbiter handed out a penalty and was assessed an extra ten minutes for misconduct.

Murray Murdoch, durable Ranger forward who suffered a chest injury in a recent game at Montreal, kept his continuous service record intact by serving his full share of time on the ice. Although avoiding the hard bumps, Murdoch devoted most of the evening to keeping Chuck Conacher, Maple Leaf scoring ace, covered so well that he couldn't score, and got few chances to shoot.

The Leafs got along without Frank "King" Clancy on defense, using Handy Andy Blair in his place. Clancy was in uniform but didn't take part in the game.

"Grey Fox" Outfoxed By Mantha

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—Rarely does a rival manager beat Lester Patrick, hockey's grey fox, to the draw, but it happened here yesterday.

Patrick, astute manager of New York Rangers, liked the work of Buddy O'Connor, centre with Royals of the Montreal Senior Group. But so did Sylvio Mantha, playing manager of Montreal Canadiens and when Patrick attempted at league headquarters to place O'Connor's name on his reserve list he found Mantha had beaten him to it by 20 minutes.

O'Connor is just up from junior company here. He has given no indication as yet that he will listen to the thrills of money when it is offered him by Canadiens. The placing of his name on the reserve list means no other National League club can approach the player unless Canadiens waive their rights.

Earl Seibert Airs Views Re Holdout

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 14—When the New York Rangers quit the holdout ranks, Earl (SI) Seibert will hasten to join the National Hockey League blueshirts and get going again. Seibert, whose salary differences with the club have become an annual event, hasn't reported this season for duty. He explained why today.

"It seems to be the opinion of most people that I am always holding out for more money," Seibert explained. "Well, the truth of the matter is that the Ranger Hockey Club is really the holdout."

"This year the Rangers offered me a contract calling for a cut of $2,000 with the stipulation that if they made the playoffs I was to receive a bonus of $1,000, that sum to come out of the players' pool, thereby lessening the amount to be divided among the players. Is that fair?"

Seibert said he asked to be sold or traded to another club some time ago, but the club replied that no one would buy him. "I don't believe that," he said. "I figure Rangers are trying to force me to sign a contract."

The defence ace was told by Rangers he must accept a cut because he was not as effective defensively last year, although no fault was found with his goal-getting and play-making record. Seibert answered that one by mentioning the fact he was named on the Canadian Press all-star N.H.L. team last spring.

Seibert said he figures President Frank Calder's ruling on this case will be: "Sign the contract offered you or you will be suspended." He said he hadn't heard from President Calder for four weeks.

"As in Harvey Jackson's case," Seibert remarked, "there should be two sides to every story. I am going to stay in Kitchener until Rangers quit the holdout ranks and give me the same salary I received last year."

Wanderers To Play Caledonia

GLACE BAY, N. S. Nov. 14—The powerful Caledonia English rugby team will play off with Halifax Wanderers in the capital Saturday for the right to meet Fredericton City in a sudden death game for the McCurdy Cup, emblematic of the Maritime championship.

Caledonia was informed Wanderers had defaulted today but later the Halifax team found enough money to pay expenses of the visitors and the match was on.

Under a Maritime Rugby Union ruling, the winner of the Nova Scotia title must play off with Fredericton City before Nov. 23. Caledonia already holds the McCurdy Cup, recognized in some quarters as emblematic of the Eastern Canadian championship.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—Lou Salica of Brooklyn, recently crowned king of the bantamweights, makes his first title defence tomorrow night against Sixto Escobar, the former champion, in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden.

What little betting is being done today, has Salica a favorite at odds of six to five.

Montreal Hockey Players To Figure On Canada's Olympic Team Is Report

Definite arrangements are now under way for the Wolverines, Canadian amateur hockey champions and Allan Cup holders last year, to go to Germany to represent the Dominion at the Olympic games, said Jack Conn, of Halifax, manager of the hockey team which dropped out of Allan Cup competition this year. Mr. Conn was in Moncton yesterday and this morning, in connection with electrical contracting work done by his firm in the new Moncton High School.

A new programme of action has been arranged, according to Manager Conn. The Wolves can muster eight or nine original players of their own—the remnant of last year's championship squad, several of whose members are now playing with Ontario amateurs or in the International professional league. To these eight players it is proposed to add another four men, possibly from Upper Canadian clubs or from other Maritime centres. The request for these players will be made to the C. A. H. A. when that body meets in Halifax next week, Mr. Conn said.

Will Be All Right Financially

Halifax and Nova Scotia want the Wolverines to represent Canada at the Olympics, he continued, and remarked that when the time comes to go the club will be financially all right. Mr. Conn said that he himself would have no other interest in hockey this winter, but that the city of Halifax would operate a four-team city league. Speaking of the hockey situation in the Maritimes, the Wolves' mentor gave the opinion that there were still many fine hockey players in Saint John and that the Beavers still had an excellent opportunity of forming a powerful team.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—The Herald, in its sports columns today, says:

Montreal hockey players, starry figures in the senior Q. A. H. A. are likely to figure on Canada's Olympic hockey team which will carry the Maple Leaf to Berlin early next year if present plans of local hockey executives are carried through.

Since Halifax Wolverines, Allan Cup winners in 1935, are finding it difficult to assemble a strong hockey team this season and the actual personnel of the championship team is scattered throughout the professional hockey ranks and with other amateur clubs, several plans have been discussed towards giving Canada a strong representation in hockey at the Olympic Games.

The all star hockey team idea is flouted in most quarters and a counter suggestion has been made that the Q. A. H. A. bolster the Wolverines by supplying a complete forward line.

Since last year's Montreal Royals gave Halifax the stiffest battle in the playdowns to the Allan Cup, it has been suggested that Royals number one line, Hugh Farquharson, centre, Dave Neville, right wing and Ralph St. Germain, left wing, be added to the Halifax team.

Though Farquharson is now playing with Victorias it is calculated that he would welcome the chance to rejoin his old team mates with a trip to the Olympic Games dangled before his eyes.

George Brown of Verdun Maple Leafs has been suggested as another possible candidate for the centre ice position.

May Not Be Represented

TORONTO, Nov. 14—Canada may not be represented in next winter's Olympic hockey competition, the Evening Telegram stated in a newspaper story today. As a basis for the possibility, the

O'Mahoney And Dusek In Draw

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14—Danno O'Mahoney, the heavyweight wrestler, tugged and pulled for an hour, tugged and pulled for an hour, but he was the best he had her last night, but the wrestling match got out of his hands. O'Mahoney, who was wrestling with Ernie Dusek, of Omaha, Neb., was a draw.

It was the first time O'Mahoney has failed to win the decision since he stepped into the wrestling picture more than a year ago. O'Mahoney claimed that he had Dusek pinned to the mat three times, but Referee "Bull" Wideman said he "missed each time by just a little."

Before stepping into the ring, O'Mahoney denied again the reports that he married Julia Esterbrooke in Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 27. He was in New York that day, he said.

O'Mahoney's perplexing marital status had appeared settled with a published facsimile of a returned marriage license. The Boston American printed the facsimile showing that O'Mahoney, who gave his occupation as "wrestler," and Julia Esterbrooke, a nurse, were married in Cambridge, October 27, by the Rev. Francis V. Murphy. On the marriage license Danno's name is given as "Daniel Michael Mahoney."

The wrestler's bride said the secrecy was to avoid the presence of a curious crowd at the wedding.

article says: "The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is faced with a serious task. Already some members of the Association, as well as some members of the Canadian Olympic Committee have expressed the opinion that it might be a wiser move all round to pass up the Olympics entirely next winter rather than select another team (other than Halifax Wolverines, Allan Cup winners) to fill the spot or choose an all-star team to carry the Dominion banner."

Bill Gill Gives Two Reasons For Holdout

GALT, Ont., Nov. 14—Bill Gill, husky defenceman last year with the Syracuse Stars, stated today he had objections to being sold to the St. Louis Flyers hockey team of the American Association. He wants more money than the "top" wage in the league and does not want to make his headquarters this winter as far away as St. Louis.

The former Moncton Hawks star has been turned back by the Flyers to the Toronto Maple Leafs, the team which previously held his contract. Manager Charles Daniels of the St. Louis team said he had exhausted every effort to persuade Gill to play with the Flyers. Now as a hold-out, Gill's case is in the hands of President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 14—Bill Gill, former Winnipeg and Moncton amateur defenceman, will join London Tecumseh of the International Hockey League this season. That is, the Tec's hope he will come here. They don't know where Gill is at the moment.

President Jack Anderson of the Tec's and managing director Conny Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs reached an agreement today under which Gill will become the property of the London club the minute he reports here.

Gill, who turned professional late last season with Syracuse, Toronto's farm club, was recently sold to St. Louis Flyers of the American Association, but the big defenceman refused to report to St. Louis. He was suspended. The suspension will be lifted if he joins the Tec's.

Cattarinich And Dandurand May Buy Amerks

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—Joe Cattarinich, Montreal sportsman, and Leo Dandurand, his partner in promoting many sporting ventures, are prepared to purchase franchise of the New York Americans in the National Hockey League.

Cattarinich, until recently interested in Montreal Canadiens, said he had made "no direct offer for Americans but if they are for sale at a reasonable price I will buy them."

Any plans for the purchase, he said when questioned as to prevalent reports that he was about to become financially interested in the New York team, would depend on whether Bill Dwyer wanted to sell.

Ray Getliffe Gets Winning Goal For Tec's

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 14—Ray Getliffe, playing his second professional game, fired London Tecumseh to a 2-1 victory over Rochester Cardinals in the International Hockey League tonight.

The crowd gave the winner, Gordon Baxter for the tyeing and winning goals within a minute. A crowd of 3,000 watched Getliffe, former Stratford and Saint John amateur star, sail through the Rochester defence all alone and drill the puck past goalie.

The crowd gave the blond youngster a great hand for the best individual play of the game.

The Londoners went into the third period trailing by one goal and had to stage a thrilling rally to snatch their second triumph of the week from the newly-organzied Rochester team. Jimmy Arnot, star defenceman, bagged the tying goal at the 5.04 mark on a pass from Eric Pettinger. The two Western-bred players engineered the play perfectly, Arnot having a clear shot from close-range after taking Pettinger's pass.

The Cardinals took the lead after 12 minutes and 52 seconds of the second period when Ralph Rennie, former Londoner, scored on a pass from Jeff Kalbelsch.

The Cards fell back in the opening of the third period and attempted to protect their slim margin of a single goal but the Tec's terrific offensive thrusts swept them off their feet.
