IN MEMORIAM

To my father, William Ballen who departed this life Sept. 21st, 1923, aged 87 years.

Who's to pray for us now? Father is taken away. Who'll fill his place at the throne of grace? Who'll be the cry of our hearts today.

How weak to pray for ourselves, Surely he showed us the way. Happier at work in the morning, Happier at close of day.

I see him then there kneeling—Kneeling beside his bed; Earnestly invoking God's blessing That be poured on our heads.

So strong was his faith in his Maker And so firm a believer in prayer, That he went about as a beacon light, Shedding brightness everywhere.

And when at times of illness, His soothing voice chased our fears, Tenderly saying—God was his hope, His joy, his comfort all those years.

Who's to pray for us now? Where is our father gone? We had hoped that he could tell us, Before he fell asleep that morn.

And there as we stood at the open grave, On that beautiful Sabbath day, Came a message straight from Heaven.

Listen what we heard her say, He has gone to be with Jesus, Sweetest message—child e'er told.

The Best Medicine Will Write Policies For Bootleggers

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 4—Insurance companies having taken a sporting chance with hail storms that spoil tobacco crops and rain storms that wash away the crops, are now writing policies for bootleggers to protect them against crop fires, when they are arrested.

At least that is what Agent W. McFarlane of the Anti-Saloon League told the Springfield Ministers Association at their meeting today.

Mr. Forgrave declared that because of the insurance the bootleggers now pay their fines cheerfully, as the money comes out of

FOR FIRE PREVENTION—The civic officials at Kensington are giving material effect to their determination to minimize fire danger to the Town. They are bound to provide a copious flow of water ever ready to extinguish fire even at the kindling point. This is to be accomplished by a system of first supply water from a water tower to be placed on an eminence overlooking the Town from the West. This supply source will also be connected with hydrants to be placed at the most effective points in the town, and with the careful and efficient operation of the system, we are assured that fire can be fought with every hope of successful extinction. When this system has been successfully established, it is expected that insurance rates will be soaked down to the lowest level and that the appointments of the town will be as effective and as dependable as the best.

Boys No Longer Used to Carry Wall St. Millions

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4—Stories of the theft of stocks and bonds by immature youths, which a few years ago vied for frontpage positions in the daily newspapers, appear only infrequently now.

The answer is found in the almost universal absence of boys and young men in the roles of runners and messengers for the investment houses of lower Broadway, Wall and Broad Streets. The small satchels and port-folios containing valuable securities which constantly are being exchanged between investment houses no longer are entrusted to heedless youngsters. Instead husky men, the majority veterans of the New York police and fire department, have been employed as messengers.

A canvass of financial institutions in New York discloses that nearly 1,000 former policemen and firemen now are on the payrolls of these houses. Many of them have been retired on pensions by the municipal departments.

Before the war great care was exercised in the employment of runners. Such employees usually were youngsters and the pay was small. So careful, however, were employers in their selection that only occasionally would one of them run away with the securities entrusted to their care, or return empty-handed to report a fake hold-up.

With the war, conditions were changed. It became more and more difficult to obtain boys for the positions of messenger. Activities brought on by the war paid larger wages and quickly attracted the boys who would get the investment houses had to take what they could get.

Then came an epidemic of messenger-thefts, some of them involving securities valued at more than $1,000,000. Stock and bond houses sought some way to stop their heavy losses and gradually employed older men for the place of the boys, except in the case of a few small houses or in emergencies when the regular staff of runners is insufficient, no boys are employed for these responsible, though comparatively small paying jobs.

Says Ice Cream Industry Flourishes In America

(By United Press)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 4—While it is generally accepted that ice cream was first made in Italy, perhaps at about the time America was discovered, it was left to the United States to develop the industry on a great scale. Professor Martin Mortensen, head of the department of dairying in the Iowa State College, said today before the World's Dairy Congress.

It is thought that ice cream was introduced into France about 1550, and the earliest printed record of it in England was found in a housekeeping magazine published in 1786. But it was not until 1851 that the first wholesale ice cream business was started by Jacob Russell in Baltimore.

The ice cream business in the United States increased from 30,000 gallons in 1909 to $23,329,000 gallons in 1921. The ice cream cone, invented in 1904, was a great factor in making ice cream popular.

Prof. Mortensen attributed the great success of the industry to the sound business principles employed by the men who entered it. He said the rapid development of machinery, trade journals and instruction in colleges in the art of ice cream making had done much to increase the business.

Official Recognition Sought By Soviets

(By United Press)

BELGRADE, Oct. 4—Intensive efforts are being made by the Soviet government at Moscow, both here and in Prague, to obtain recognition by Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia as an entering edge to worldwide recognition.

The first recognition by any European power was expected from the Stambouliisky regime in Bulgaria. The Soviet agents in that country were in close relations with the late Stambouliisky government. It is an open secret here that only Stambouliisky's fears of complications with Great Britain and France stood between him and the carrying out of his desire to exchange diplomatic representatives with Soviet Russia.

The fall of Stambouliisky made it necessary to change the field of endeavor to Belgrade and Prague. The efforts in the Soviet and agent are finding a strong popular response, especially in Czechoslovakia, where the anti-German feeling still exists.

In Jugoslavia Soviet purposes have been accompanied by activities in the form of espionage. The agent in Belgrade is the one in which the Russian Colonel Loika figured prominently.

Loika arrived in Belgrade from Russia about two years ago, represented himself as a Czarist officer fleeing from Soviet persecution. His story, supported by documents, was credited by the war office; he received a colonel's commission and was attached to the aviation arm. Here he availed himself of every opportunity to collect military information.

But when the anti-Bolshevik Russian colonel recently discovered the agent's character as a Soviet agent, orders were issued for the colonel's arrest before they could be carried out, however, he took to the air in one of the planes attached to his command, and when last seen was headed in the direction of Russia.

The incident has produced a painful impression here.

GOVERNMENT STILL SEEKS EMPLOYEES BY THE THOUSAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—Despite the fact that the number of federal employees has been reduced by nearly 400,000 since the close of the war, the Civil Service Commission sees no prospect of a considerable decrease in the number of opportunities for government employment.

To meet the normal turnover, which in a tremendous force like the government's is necessarily large, the commission held examinations in the year ended June 30, 1923, for more than six hundred different kinds of positions, in which more than 200,000 persons competed. Present indications are that the number for this fiscal year will be as great.

A study of the examinations held during the past two years reveals an interesting range of positions along the way from charwoman and laborer, for which the primary requirement is good physical condition, to those which demand qualifications of a very high order, such as agricultural transportation economist at a salary of $4,000 to $5,500, and mechanical and electrical engineer at a salary of $5,000.
