HOLLOW METAL MASTS TO REPLACE SAILS

GOETTINGEN, Germany, Nov. 3.—Anton Flettner's sailless and screwless ship which has just returned to Kiel after a prolonged and successful cruise in the Baltic Sea, is the outgrowth of exhaustive experiments conducted by the University of Goettingen's Institute for Aero-Dynamic Research. Flettner, who is the inventor of the rudder bearing his name, propels the sailless ship through the medium of two giant, hollow masts, nine feet diameter and fifty feet high. The mechanism which sets cylinders inside the masts in motion and which creates the propulsion force through utilization of air currents can be operated by one man with an ordinary electric motor. The sailless masts are said to yield five-fold more propelling force than the same area of canvas. The initial trial sailings, carried on in the Baltic, indicate a lowering in operations cost of from 30 to 80 per cent. The Krupp works and the Hamburg-American line are said to be interested in exploiting the invention and are now engaged in giving it a thorough trial under high sea conditions.

Late Doukhobor Leader is Laid to Rest

NELSON, B. C., Nov. 3.—Never before in recorded history have the Kootenay Hills looked down on the like of the scene they beheld today when from six to eight hundred people, a living carpet for the rock rimmed basin, saw Peter Lordly, heretofore known as Peter Verigin, lowered into a sepulchre blasted from the living rock, on an eminence overlooking Brilliant, B. C., headquarters of the Doukhobor sect. From early forenoon until the shades of night fell, dirges like organ music from the throats of thousands of worshippers rose on the otherwise still air intermittently except when the ceremony required silence for the purposes of the orations over the dead.

U. S. Applies For Extradition Warrants

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, Nov. 3.—Hon. W. J. O'Hearn, Attorney General for Nova Scotia, who returned today from the United States, said he had received no communication from United States authorities applying for Canadian warrants for the extradition of the prize crew from the United States revenue cutter Tampa, which was having a cold liquor off the British schooner Marjorie Bachman and having taken the sailors effects after the latter had been placed under arrest and their craft seized. A special despatch to a local paper from Boston had said that Attorney McGrath of that city had made such application to the Attorney General.

U. S. ELECTORS GO TO POLLS TODAY

Odds 11 to 1 That Coolidge Will Gather in Greatest Number of Votes.
(Canadian Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Coolidge conferred for an hour today with Secretary Davis of the Labor Department, who is just back from a campaign trip through a dozen states, and afterward Mr. Davis issued a statement predicting a Coolidge victory tomorrow. "By a clear majority in the electoral college and a tremendous popular vote."

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Following Republican forecasts of certain victory at the polls tomorrow betting odds that Calvin Coolidge would win the presidential race went to 11 to 1 today. A prominent Wall Street firm announced an offer to lay $55,000 against $5,000 on the President. Odds against Senator LaFollette, leader of the Independent party, were 25 to 1 in Wall Street. Odds against John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, were quoted today as 13 to 1. One estimate placed the total bet so far in Wall Street on the various nominees at $1,500,000. The same calculator thought that an additional $250,000 would be wagered. Today Wall Street appeared reasonably certain that the election would not go to the House. This danger appeared so slight that the Street was willing to bet 6 to 1 that it was a myth.

Senators Live Too Long To Please Mr. King

(Special to the Guardian)
WEYBURN, Sask., Nov. 3.—Speaking here Saturday night before an audience of 3,000 people, Premier King said the federal government could be relied upon at all times to see that the railways were made to serve the people and not the people the railways. An act of parliament must be supreme, he said. Dwelling upon the question of senate reform the Premier said that he was not in favor of abolishing the senate but he would abolish some of the older members of it. It was very undesirable that the will of the people should be thwarted by any body of men appointed to office for their natural lives, he said. "A funny thing about the senate is that when anyone is appointed to the body, his natural life is almost twice as long as it should otherwise be," the Premier added.

Boat Capsizes; Two Drowned

(Canadian Press)
PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Nov. 3.—Jack McDonald, fish packer and Dorothy Gosnell were drowned last night near the Grand Trunk Pacific wharf when the small boat in which they were returning from an outing capsized. The bodies have not been recovered. A witness stated that McDonald appeared to be handling the boat in a risky way.

Case Over Crown Jewels of Austria

(Special to the Guardian)
MADRID, Nov. 3.—Former Empress Zita of Austria, who has made her home in Spain for more than two years, has brought charges against a German jeweler named Meneveff, a resident of Madrid, for illegal retention of Austrian imperial crown jewels valued at 20,000,000 pesetas. The Spanish courts have begun an investigation of the charges.

WILL RESIGN TODAY

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, Nov. 3.—Expectation in well-informed quarters is that the Labor government will resign tomorrow and the King in accordance with custom will call upon Stanley Baldwin as leader of the victorious Conservative party, to form new ministry.

SPAIN FACING A POLITICAL UPHEAVAL

(Special to the Guardian)
BIARRITZ, France, Nov. 3.—The political position in Spain has become extremely critical, according to a passenger arriving from Madrid. Admiral Marquis de Magaz, temporary president of the military directorate, in the absence of Premier Primo de Rivera, has been in daily communication with the premier, but the latter declines to accept responsibility for occurrences in Spain while he is in Morocco. Admiral de Magaz is believed to have tendered his resignation together with other members of the directorate and it is understood that changes are imminent whereby another government will be formed.

JAPS ARE BARRED

MEXICANA, Lower Calif., Nov. 3.—Colonization of Lower California, Mexico, by Japanese or any other foreigner is declared impossible under existing laws of Mexico in a bulletin made public here today by Governor Abelardo Rodriguez of the northern district of Lower California. The bulletin, which devotes the greater portion of its space to a denial of recent reports of a contemplated Japanese colonization in Lower California, quotes the secretary of exterior relations at Mexico City to the effect that Mexican federal law prohibits the colonization of foreigners either near the sea coast or the international boundary line.

Artificial Voices May Allow Dumb To Speak

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Artificial "mouths" made of plasticine with larynxes of rubber are the latest results of scientific experiments which may in due course enable the dumb to "speak" by means of a resonator that would reproduce all the sounds and words made by ordinary human beings. They are the invention of Sir Richard A. S. Paget, Bt., who, in a paper read to members of the Royal Society, stated that the models he has designed have been able distinctly to say such words as "mother," "weather," "Harry" and "angel" (the latter the French for "angel"). Sir Richard attacked the problem of reproducing human speech by means of a series of resonating models from the point of view that it appears to be essentially a branch of human gesture which the ear has learned to identify without the aid of sight. Thus the laughter sound, "Ha, ha" is essentially a smile made audible and emphatic by the sudden passage of vibrating air. "The first of all endeavors to reproduce vowel sounds. For this purpose he made a resonator in plasticine, shaped in imitation of the human mouth cavity. The model was progressively altered by raising the tongue, reducing the projection of the lips, and enlarging the mouth, and the alteration of the resonances was noted at each modification. An artificial larynx the sound box at the top of the wind-pipe, was subsequently added to the model. This consisted of a rubber strip fixed edgewise across a flattened air passage, formed in paraffin wax and encased in plasticine. A large number of models based on these principles were made, and it was found that a slight modification in each case enabled a new vowel sound to be imitated. Models designed to reproduce vowel and consonant sounds in conjunction were then experimented with. Finally a model was made with four resonators in series, which said "mother" distinctly when the vowel resonator was closed by hand, released, and at the same time a tube connected with it was pinched and released. "Early in the investigation," said Sir Richard, "it was recognized that it might be possible to substitute electrical resonators for acoustic resonators, so as to reproduce vowel sounds in a telephone. The electrical reproduction of all English vowels and of many consonants has since been carried out by John A. Stewart in the research laboratory of the Western Electric Company of New York." It is expected that these experiments will lead comparatively soon to an instrument which will be able artificially to reproduce all the words and phrases of human conversation.

Labor Obtained More Votes But Fewer Members in Scotland

(Special to the Guardian)
LONDON, November 3.—The Proportional Representation Society issues polling figures for all Scotland, except Inverness showing that Labor received over 700,000 votes while the Conservatives received only 686,000 yet the latter got thirty-six Scottish members to Labor's twenty-six. It is believed probable that Stanley Baldwin will recognize women's services to the Conservative party by giving the Duchess of Atholl a place on his front bench as under-secretary for one of the Scottish departments. The Duchess made a reputation in the last parliament as a dignified yet powerful debater.

HOW ELECTIONS TO ENCOURAGE CONCERN THE DOMINION ZEPPELIN LINE

U. S. Navy Dept. Will Seek Bids for Leasing of the ZR-3
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The first definite move toward the establishment of a commercial air line utilizing the new type of Zeppelins, of which the ZR-3 is an example, was taken recently when the Navy Department announced that it would seek bids for the leasing of the Naval Air Station at Cape May for the purpose of establishing a commercial airship company there. It has been understood that the Government was willing to lease the ZR-3, under suitable conditions for private enterprise. The conditions for obtaining the Cape May air station require that the lessee construct a new rigid airship within a year after taking it over. The lease is to be made for five years, with the option of renewal at the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy. The airship company to take over the lease will be required to maintain and operate the station as an aviation base, and will be required to return buildings in good condition. There are two companies already organized, which might be contenders for the air station; the Good-Zeppelin at Akron, and the concern of which Capt. Anton Hefner, formerly commander of the Shenandoah, and a German expert, is an officer. Under the encouragement now afforded such companies by the offer, it is considered probable that others will appear in the field and that offers from new sources may be advanced. Representatives of the existing organizations have been in close touch with the Government here for several days and in conference with officials of this Government, though to what end has not yet been disclosed.

Will Mr. Baldwin Be Able to Carry Out Imperial Preference Pledges?

OPPONENTS MAY BE IN CABINET
If Coolidge is Returned Sky-High Tariff Will be Maintained—Better Hopes from Democrats.
OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—An illustration of how closely interwoven are the interests of Anglo Saxondom is furnished in the attention given here to current political developments in countries of kindred race, adjacent and remote. There is much speculation as to the outcome of last week's upheaval in Great Britain, of the presidential election in the United States tomorrow, and also as to the final attitude soon to be expressed by Australia toward the date upon which the new and important trade pact between the Dominion and Canada is to become effective. With the return by a big majority over its combined opponents, of the Conservative Party in Great Britain and with Stanley Baldwin again as its leader it is of vital concern to Canada and to the present Dominion Government, whether the new British Ministry will do with the preference proposals which went approved at the imperial Conference, a year ago but which were thrown on the scrap heap by the Labor administration. The automobile industry of this country and a number of smaller commercial concerns would be greatly benefited by the adoption of the entire preferential plan. Can Baldwin Do It?

Some doubt is expressed, however, as to the ability of Mr. Baldwin to fulfill his preferential pledge on this point. The chief reason given, unofficially, is the high probability that he will be compelled to include in his Ministry Lord Derby and Lord Curzon or, at least, to be largely influenced by their advice on fiscal matters, and they represent interests at this time not very cordially disposed to fiscal concessions to outsiders. It is just possible, too, that the inclusion of Lord Curzon in the Baldwin cabinet may serve to retard, rather than accelerate, the movement or tendency toward a more direct avenue of approach from Canada to Great Britain in the matter of official representations. Whether President Coolidge will be re-elected or whether the Democrats, under the leadership of John W. Davis, will get control of the reins of Government at Washington, also matters much to Canada. First of all is the fiscal question. Any hope of a lowering of the sky-high, tariff wall erected by the Republicans, with the application of that curiously "flexible" instrument placed in the hands of President Coolidge would be dashed by the return to power of that party. On the other hand, some hope is entertained that if the Democrats are victorious, especially if and after the voting should be thrown into the House of Representatives, there will be a possibility of new tariff concessions to this Dominion especially in the form of a reduction of the high duty on wheat and of a removal of the barrier against western Canada, which is clamoring for easier access to the United States market. Again what will be the fate of the present negotiations between the Governments of the two countries of the St. Lawrence waterways project? Herbert Hoover sees

SCHEME FOR NAVAL BASE REVIVED

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, Nov. 3.—Winston Spencer Churchill, who has just been re-elected to parliament is the first Conservative of possible governmental rank to advocate publicly the revival of the Singapore naval base scheme. This he did in the course of a political speech here today. Resumption of the plan to establish a great naval base at Singapore has already been advocated by several Australian newspapers. The project for a naval base at Singapore at a cost of about $55,000,000 was brought forward by the Conservatives in 1923.

Christian Unity Or Legal Corporate Union

In St. James Church last Sunday morning the minister, Rev. William Orr Mulligan preached on the subject of Christian Unity or Legal Corporate Union. Taking as his text St. John 17, verse 21 "That they all may be one: as thou, Father art in me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that Thou hast sent me," the speaker said the first questions we should ask in connection with this intercessory prayer of our Lord were: "Does it mean Christian Unity or does it mean Legal Corporate Union?" Which of these is the interpretation of the prayer of Christ and the interpretation of the spirit of Christ's teaching and methods and of the experience of the Church in the past and present? On the answer to these questions depended the real value and power of the Church Union movement. The first question then to every man and woman interested in this movement was: "Is it a religious movement?" "Is it an absolute Christian duty?" What is the teaching of Christ in this matter? "Does the text mean that 'Unity' of the individual believer in the spirit with God and Christ—and does it imply that for the manifestation of that spirit—that every Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian church, mission station, school, college and university even the cemeteries should be swept into one legal corporation with what is to be a de facto centralized control in one of our large cities? Does our Lord's prayer, this gospel of St. John mean this?" Mr. Mulligan stated that he had heard Dr. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) state that this text "that they all may be one," meant what it said, and he had heard Dr. Pidgeon make practically the same statement. Both these men, when they used this text in the manner they did either willfully or ignorantly took liberties with it. He could scarcely believe that such men would use scripture in such a way. It was a serious thing for any man or group of men to use a text in such a manner as the basis for a movement which had such far-reaching consequences. And such men were undoubtedly misleading and untrue. Dr. Glover, the great Classical Scholar of Cambridge, England, quite recently had to rebuke certain prominent preachers in the Old Country for a similar misuse of this text. He said that they only quoted one clause of the text and thus read into it a meaning that was not there. They should complete the quotation and that little word "as" made a profound difference. "All one as thou Father art in me and I in Thee that they also may be one in us."

Mr. Mulligan said not a single eminent commentator to the best of his knowledge had limited that text to mean corporate or legal union. In fact the opinions of leading expositors were all the other way. The great Prof. Marcus Dods in his famous exposition of the Gospel of St. John had

CAMPAIGN FOR ORPHANS STILL GOING STRONG

The Orphanage Campaign is still going strong. Quite a few centres in the country remain to be organized but in a large number of others, the canvassers are hard at work. Some persons are asking if the Campaign for Charlottetown is closed and to which enquiries Chairman Inman stated today that it was not closed by any means. Quite a number of the people were not waited upon and in other cases some were away from home and will no doubt wish to contribute even if the Canvassers did not call upon them. It is absolutely necessary, said Chairman Inman that at least sixty thousand dollars shall be subscribed, because it is more than likely in fact it is quite probable that some of the money pledged will not be paid into the Fund. Some people with the best of intentions subscribe, but during three years over which the pledge runs will find that circumstances over which they have no control, have altered things and they are unable to keep their promises. Therefore, let every one who can rally to the support of the Orphanage, because every dollar coming in can be used to good advantage in caring for the little ones who are dependent upon the generosity of our people for their comfort and well being.
