Many Canadian Hockeyists For Old Country

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Indications are more Canadian hockey players will perform in England this winter than ever before.

They will join the great number of Canadian players who now make their homes in England. The generous attitude of the Dominion authorities has surprised the B. I. H. A. in view of the apprehension with which the C. A. H. A. has viewed the export of players to England in other years.

Kay Stammers Strong Threat To Miss Jacobs

(By Bob Cavagnaro Associated Press Sports Writer)

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Firmly entrenching herself as a serious threat to Helen Jacobs' ambition to win the title for the fifth straight time, left-handed Kay Stammers of England today stole the show in the United States singles tennis championships as she out-gamed and out-played a courageous Carolin Babcock in a rousing quarter-final match.

The attractive southpaw star's 7-5, 3-16, 6-4 triumph paled into insignificance the other quarter-final victory scored at 6-2, 11-9 by Alice Marble of San Francisco over Gracy Wheeler of Santa Monica, Calif., and likewise overshadowed the progress of her compatriot, Fred Perry and Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, Jr., of Atlanta to the penultimate round in the men's championship.

Miss Stammers and Miss Babcock met in the same round a year ago when the English player also won in three sets and before that in Wightman Cup competition. Miss Stammers had a slight edge in the slugging but it was her accurate placement of acutely angled cross-court drives, from left to right, that resulted in her elimination of the black-haired Los Angeles player. Frequent lapses into spells of uncertain hitting, either feeble gestures or overly-strong shots, contributed to Miss Babcock's downfall.

In the third and final set, Miss Stammers broke away fast to a 4-0 lead and it looked like only a matter of time when she could walk off the court the winner. Breaking through Miss Stammers' delivery in the sixth and eighth games, Miss Babcock pulled up to 4-5.

In the 10th game, with the invader serving and the count 15-all, Miss Stammers' first serve for the third point was called out. The line-man's decision was questioned by the Californian but the umpire sustained it. Miss Stammers then served the next ball out, too, now trailing 15-30.

Miss Babcock then made a neat sporting gesture, but one that was costly for her cause, by purposely batting out her rival's next serve. The next two points were duck-soup for Miss Stammers.

The British star will meet the winner of tomorrow's quarter-final match between Miss Jacobs and Gussie Raegener of San Francisco. Perry advanced like the man on the flying trapeze, with the greatest ease, at the expense of tall Henry Culley of Santa Barba, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 6-1. Culley's blistering shots forced Perry to exhibit some of the best tennis he's shown here this year but the Briton was never endangered.

Grant, the pint-sized southerner, had his hands full with the veteran John Van Ryn in the first and second sets, but through his dogged retrieving managed to pull out a 3-6, 8-6, 6-0, 6-3 victory over the Philadelphia.

Junior Game Postponed Until Friday

The third game of the Island Junior playoffs between Summerside C. Y. M. L. and Holy Redeemer Parish Dodgers scheduled for last night was postponed until Friday night when the Summerside team were unable to make the trip to the City.

The game will be played Friday evening next at the Upper Queen Street diamond. Summerside leads in the best out of three series with one victory, the first game ending a 4-10 10th inning deadlock.

SPORTRAITS

THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER

Boswell, Outsider, Wins Classic St. Leger In Upset

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DONCASTER, England, Sept. 9.—(C. P. Cable)—Victory of Boswell, a 20-to-1 shot, in the 15th renewal of the St. Leger stakes today left pacing experts with a difficult problem in selecting the peer of this year's three-year-olds.

Boswell, owned by William Woodward of New York, covered the 1 3-4 mile course in 3:08 2-5 to finish three-quarters of a length ahead of A. G. Smith's fearless fox with the Aga Khan's Mahmoud third, three lengths further back.

Rhodes Scholar, 5-to-4 favorite owned by Lord Astor, never was in front and finished 10th in the field of 13.

Today's running of the St. Leger, the senior classic, was in marked contrast with last year's performance. Then Bahram, owned by the Aga Khan, won in near-record time of 3:01 4-5 and annexed the mythical triple crown. The colt previously had won the two thousand and guineas and the derby. Bahram ran at record low odds of 4 to 11.

But while Bahram dominated the three-year-olds in 1935, the picture this year is confusing. Lord Astor's Pay Up won the two thousand guineas and then took fourth place in the derby. Pay Up wasn't entered for the St. Leger. Mahmoud was only a head back of Pay Up in the guineas and won the derby with his more-favored stablemate, Taj Akbar, second.

Mrs. Joseph Shand's rangy colt, Thankerton, third in both the earlier open classics, ran fifth in the St. Leger.

Boswell, a brown colt by Bosworth out of Flying Gal II, won £10,554 (about $52,770) by his victory. The race in all was worth £12,535 (about $62,675).

The American-owned entry led from the start then eased up but remained with the leaders. When jockey Pat Beasley called on him Boswell went out ahead of the field and Fearless Fox's final challenge was not strong enough to upset the leader.

Fearless Fox started at odds of 100 to 6 while Mahmoud was second favorite at 5 to 1. E. Smith rode the second finisher and Charles Smirke had the mount on the Aga Khan's grey colt.

The St. Leger, first run in 1776, is open to both colts and fillies. But as in the Derby only colts race. All carried a standard impost of 126 pounds.

Fred Perry No Longer Clown Of The Courts

(By Paul Mickelson Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The clown still laughs and plays, but he's actually the hard heart of the tennis world.

Fred Perry of England, conceded by all to be the greatest amateur of the times, had learned the old P. T. Barnum axiom—"never give a sucker a chance."

As the animated Briton awaited his call to arms in the United States singles championship at Forest Hills, he chuckled explanations for his sudden shift from a very gallant rival to a serious, driving, relentless adversary who no longer fools with his foe like a cat with a mouse.

From the hot-sultry last September when his left kidney was jarred loose and Wilmer Allison of the United States toppled him from his American throne, Perry confesses he decided to "let 'em have it."

"If I had been simply a contender, instead of a champion in that match," he reflected "I would have walked off that court perfectly justified in conceding the match. But it's different with a champion. A champion under no circumstances, can quit because as such he is expected to prove his championship class. He can't do it by quitting."

"So, as Allison drove in unmercifully as he should have done, I told myself that if I ever got right again, I'd never give any one a chance if I could help it.

"A lot of people, I hear, think I am cocky. Well, I don't think I am. It's my way of playing the game. Before I get set for a hard drive in a match, I try to relax completely, try to get perfect ease. Naturally I seem over-confident and nonchalant. To my way of thinking that's the big fault of most young tennis players. They don't know when to relax in a match and when to drive in like a bull terrier."

The change in Perry from a laughing, dangerous tennis "clown" to a vicious, relentless foe has been very noticeable at Forest Hills. Dearly serious, and playing at near top speed all the while, he is one to two shot against the field.

Perry will turn professional—if some liberal promoter will deposit $100,000 in his favor in the bank. And no promoter has been found who will.

New Yorkers Pound Out Double Victory Over Tribe; Giants Split Twin Bill

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—New York Yankees clinched the American League pennant today by clubbing the Indians in both ends of a Cleveland doubleheader with a 22-hit attack off seven Tribe pitchers.

Monte Pearson stopped the Tribe with eight hits in the opener as the Yanks won 11-3. In the nightcap, Lou Gehrig belted his 44th homer in the second inning with the bases loaded, and Bump Hadley, the league's leading pitcher, chalked up his 13th win, in leading the Yanks to a 12-9 victory.

The win put the New Yorkers 18 games in front of the second-place Chicago White Sox.

Washington came from behind at Detroit today with an attack featured by four home runs to beat Detroit Tigers 11-4 and take possession of third place in the American League pennant chase.

Gehring hit his 15th home run of the season in the sixth. Kress delivered another circuit blow in the eighth and Singleton smashed a home run in the first of the ninth. Both Casarella and Jake Wade, the starting pitchers, went the route.

Vernon Kennedy outlasted Rube Walberg and Bob Grove in a 13-inning pitchers battle at Chicago to achieve his 20th victory of the season today as White Sox defeated Boston 3-2.

The White Sox, who retained possession of second place in the American League by conquering the Red Sox, tied the score in the ninth, driving Walberg out of action. Grove held them scoreless for three sessions, but helped let in the winning run when he threw the ball away on Larry Rosenthal's hit.

Mike Krivich who had doubled to start the 13th, scoring.

CARDS IN RUNNING NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—New York Giants' National League lead was clipped to 4 1-2 games here today as Cincinnati Reds split a twin bill with the pace-setters.

The Giants won the opener 4-2 behind Freddy Fitzsimmons' eight-hit pitching. The Reds got to Hal Schurman for two runs in the third and another in the fifth to sew up the nightcap for a 3-2 decision.

With the second-place St. Louis Cardinals winning their single start against Boston, the split for the New Yorkers kept the gas house gang in the running.

At Boston Leo Durocher collected five hits off Danny MacFadyen and drove in enough runs to give St. Louis Cardinals a 3-1 victory over Boston Bees and break up the brilliant 15-inning pitching battle with right-hander Jim Winford.

MacFadyen held the Cards to 10 hits, three of which came in the 15th, when the visitors put on a two-run rally.

Dodgers showed over three runs with one out in the ninth inning at Brooklyn to overtake Pittsburgh Pirates and pull out an 8-7 victory in the opener of their short series.

The Bucs had gone out in front with a four-run spurge in their half of the ninth on four hits, featured by Gus Suh's triple to come from behind and pass the Dodgers after Babe Phelps' homer in the eighth appeared to have the game sewed up for Brooklyn.

At Philadelphia the Phillies and Cubs divided a doubleheader. The visitors winning the first game 10-3 when Larry French limited the Phils to eight hits and hung up his 17th victory of the season.

The locals won the second game 5-4, a 12-inning affair, when Johnny Moore, first man at bat, hit Carleton's first pitch over the right field wall for a home run, his second of the game and his 16th of the year.

Entrants Set For Canadian Open Tourney

(By Elmer Dulmage Canadian Press Staff Writer) TORONTO, Sept. 9.—Before the eyes of the candidates, young St. Andrew's underwent its final barbering today to be in readiness for the first onslaught on its par 70 tomorrow in the Canadian open golf championships.

The starting field will be about 190 strong, made up of the best professionals in Canada and the United States.

Even a last-minute announcement that Gene Kunes of Norristown, Pa., would be unable to defend his title through illness and another that Walter Hagen definitely would not be here, failed to shake unusual interest in the 72-hole event. Tournament officials said they expect record crowds on all three days.

Shooting past the odd lawnmower and over an occasional sand wagon, big Bill Burke, former U. S. open champion, finished his tune-up campaign with a 68 two under par and the best pre-tournament round. Playing with Lawson Little, former U. S. and British amateur king; Ted Turner of Pine Valley, N. J., and Gordon Taylor, Jr. Toronto amateur, Burke scored 32 for the second nine holes.

Turner carded 71, Taylor 73 and Little 75.
