The latter, who resides in Cardigan, carried on instruction in Cardigan during August and when Mrs. Harry Oudmore, Provincial Director of this Red Cross Programme examined the class the following were awarded Senior Certificates: Mary Murphy, Edward McCormack, Charles and Claire MacDonald; Intermediate: Andrew P. McIntyre, Othelma Shepherd, Isabel McPhee, Norman McDonald, Roberta Desso, Mary McDonald, Norma McKee, Teresa McDonald and June Gardner. This was indeed a very creditable showing for both the instructor and pupils.

RED CROSS SWIMMING CLASS—A very successful Swimming Class was conducted at St. Peter's Bay under the auspices of the Red Cross Unit there during August with Mrs. Joseph O'Hanley as the instructor. Mrs. O'Hanley was qualified as an instructor at a Swimming Instructors' Course given in Charlottetown early in July and very kindly undertook the promotion of the Red Cross Swimming Programme upon her return to St. Peter's Bay. Those who received the swimming instruction were examined by Mrs. Harry Oudmore, Provincial Director of this Red Cross Swimming Programme at the end of the course and as a result the following pupils passed the required tests for the Intermediate Swimming Award: Miriam Wayer, Frisella Jay and Rose O'Hanley and for the Junior Awards: Catherine McCallum, George McLaren and B. J. O'Hanley. It is hoped that this Swimming Program will be further developed next summer as plans to get underway earlier in the summer will be formulated during the coming winter.

Looking Ahead with Hal Bohaker

Spring, so the poets say, is the season when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. That may be. But of Spring affects many other people in a very different way. To most home owners, for instance, Spring means house-cleaning-time — time to put one's personal affairs in order — to take stock of oneself. This year, when giving yourself and your possessions the annual going-over, don't overlook your private papers, especially your life insurance. Circumstances may have changed since they were last reviewed; someone whom you named a beneficiary may have died; a policy purchased with a particular intention in mind may no longer be required for that reason, but for another the insurance you considered adequate a year or more ago may now fall far short of meeting actual requirements as you see them today. Here is where you may be able to be of service to you. It is a part of my job to solve problems like these almost every day, and I will be very glad to discuss them with you, in strictest confidence. Call or write me if you have any questions on matters connected with Life Insurance.

In Memoriam

In fond and loving memory of Olga Mae Smith, who passed away in service on lo-day, September 29, 1935.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.

In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear Olga
That we do not think of you.

Lovingly Remembered by Father and Sisters.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our darling sister, Mrs. Greenlee (nee) Alice McQuaid, who passed away September 29, 1944.

Just one year ago today,
At the early age of twenty-one,
God took my little sister's hand,
And gently led her "Home."

But, oh she seemed so young to die
She, who loved life so,
But she knew it was God's Holy Will.

And seemed quite happy to go,
Oh it wasn't the tears we shed at the time
That told how our hearts were torn,
But the silent tears of this one long year.

And the loneliness silently borne.
Sadly Minded and Always Remembered by Her Loving Sister Margaret and Brother-in-Law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Reeves.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Thomas Kneese, Oyster Bed Bridge, who passed away, September 28th, 1944.

One year has passed since that sad day
When the one we loved was called away.
God called her home it was His will,
Forget her, no, we never will.

Happy and smiling, always content,
Loved and respected wherever she went.
Always thoughtful, willing and kind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.

Lovingly Remembered by Her Husband and Family.

MRS. WILLIAM C. SQUIRES

There entered into Eternal Rest on September 19, 1945, Mrs. W. C. Squires at her home in Charlottetown. For several years Mrs. Squires had endured a true Christian fortitude an illness, which for long past two years had made her practically blind but no word of complaint was ever heard to pass her lips. She was born at Loyalist P.E.I. the daughter of Mr. George Froude and the late Mr. Froude. There are left to mourn their great loss: Mrs. Squires' aged mother, Mrs. George Froude of Charlottetown; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Froude and Mrs. Emmerson Kent, both of Charlottetown; two brothers, Owen and Percy Froude of Charlottetown and another brother Dale who lived in the United States. Mr. Squires passed away some years previously after an illness through which he was tenderly nursed by his wife.

The funeral service was conducted on September 19th at the McLean Funeral Home, by the Rev. T. E. McLean, pastor of Trinity United Church, (of which Mrs. Squires was a faithful member.) Assisted by Rev. J. R. Skinner and Rev. J. L. LeVay. Interment was in the Princetown Road Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Mrs. Froude, Mr. Miller, Mr. Genderson, Messrs Stewart, Peter Small, Lyle Robson and Fred Colles.

The sympathy of all who knew Mrs. Squires goes out to the bereaved family especially to Mrs. Froude, who was so sorely her daughter and companion. (Patriot please copy.)

In Memoriam

WILLIAM DANIEL DOCHERTY

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of Mr. Daniel Docherty, Kingston, P.E.I., who passed away on Sept. 28, 1945 in his 65th year.

Although Mr. Docherty was stricken with illness for the past two or three months, he was always inquiring about the many duties that required his attention.

The deceased was a man of sterling worth, an affectionate husband and father, a kind brother and a good neighbor. Of cheerful, generous kindly spirit he possessed the rare faculty of being able to overlook the faults of those with the mantle of charity and was ever delighted to lend a helping hand to any one in need. His place in the community will be sorely missed and his loss will be greatly missed in his home by his sorrowing widow and family.

He is survived by a devoted husband and kind father. Lacey (Mrs. Percy H. MacIntyre), Harrington, Ont.; Bruce MacDonald, North Wiltshire; Sgt. John W. Aldershot, N.S. I. Cpl. Earl A. Amsterdam, Grand; Mamie, Douglas and Gordon at home also seven grandchildren, three brothers and two sisters.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Tuesday, Sept. 26th when a large number of sorrowing friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to one they loved and whose memory they will fondly cherish.

The service at the house was conducted by his pastor, Rev. E. A. Todd. Services at the grave were conducted by the members of the King William L.O.L. of Kingston which the deceased was a valued member. He was laid to rest in the United Church cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Bertram Younker, Malcolm MacLellan, John Tallant, Clement Wynne, George Beer and Everett Holmes.

Improvements in permanent magnets made during the past two decades are attributed to new alloys which have improved magnetic properties, and increased resistance to outside demagnetization forces.

Democratic Pressure May Unset Dictators

By NEA Service
The hotpot of the Americas, Argentina, is bubbling again in what may boil down to restoration of constitutional government.

Facing the status of an outlaw in post-war world trade, the Farrell-Peron military dictatorship in recent weeks has lifted the four-year-old state of siege, restored constitutional privileges including the right of assembly and a free press, and taken action against Axis groups which functioned unimpeded throughout the war.

But the stern attitude of the U. S. against the only American country which refused to join the Allies until the closing months of the war, will continue until true democratic government is established.

U. S. Ambassador Spruille Braden, new Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs, following the line set by former Secretary of State Hull and continued by Stettinius and Byrnes, called on Argentines to throw out Fascism. And—a more serious development—the U. S. has classified Argentina and Spain with enemy nations for purposes of post-war trade. Democratic elements in the country are stronger and more aggressive than at any other time since totalitarianism set in.

RETIREMENT OF ORTIZ LED TO DICTATORSHIP
Argentina has been in political hot water since early in 1941 when the popular President Roberto M. Ortiz became ill and assigned his authority to Ramon S. Castillo. The trend toward government by force was almost immediate; rights of citizens were snatched away in rapid order.

Various military revolutions, installing Gen. Arturo Rawson, Gen. Pedro Pablo Ramirez and Gen. Edelmo Farrell successively as president, offered the democratic nations new hope, but each regime proved as oppressive as its predecessor.

If the public had had its way, Argentina would have lined up with the United Nations from the start of the war. But elections there have been a farce, and for various reasons the leaders preferred what they called "national sovereignty."

HULL DELIVERED A POLITICAL SLAP
At one time the country did stage a big sky roundup, set off by Britain's arrest of the Argentine consul in Trinidad as an enemy agent. But few, if any, of the arrested persons were prosecuted.

The U. S. led in pressure for Argentina's co-operation in the war and in September, 1943, in probably the toughest statement of his career, Secretary Hull refused Argentina's request for Lend-Lease with a charge that the government had aided the Axis, refused to contribute to defense of the hemisphere and failed to live up to its inter-American commitments.

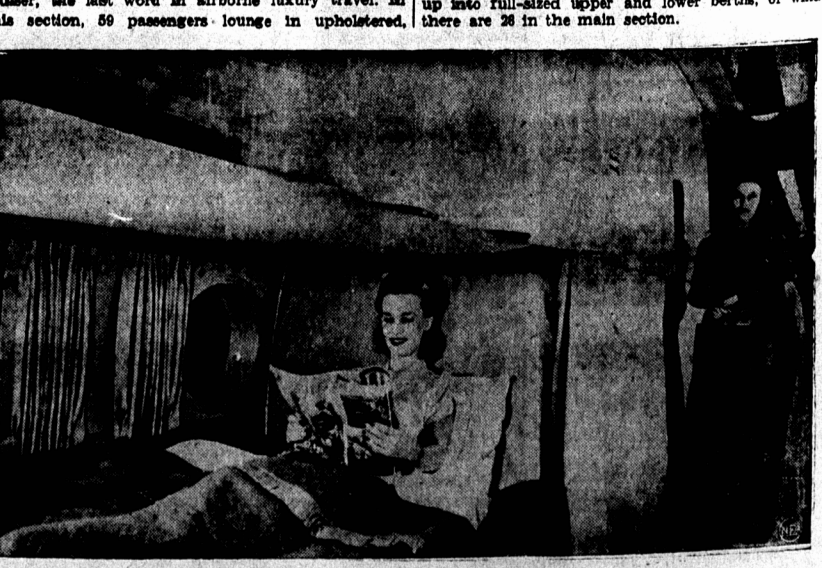

Finally, in January, 1944, Argentina broke off relations with Germany and Japan. On March 27, 1945, it declared war on Germany and Japan and assured the U. S. it would meet all obligations of the Pact of Chapultepec.

Today, Vice President Juan D. Peron, the power-behind-the-scenes, is hard-pressed by an upsurge that may unsettle him. With Argentina in vital need of machinery and materials which are barred to it under its present trade status, reversion to democratic government appears very near.

No, air—the scene above is NOT the interior of a super-cooper railway coach. It's the passenger compartment of Boeing's new double-decked Stratocruiser, the latest word in airborne luxury travel. In this section, 56 passengers lounge in upholstered, widely spaced seats. Eight more passengers can fit in another compartment and an additional 14 can be accommodated in a lower-deck lounge for a total of 81. Photo below shows how seats are made up into full-sized upper and lower berths, of which there are 26 in the main section.
