—PAVE PARKING SPACE — Work commenced yesterday on the job of paving the parking space in front of the C. N. R. station, Summerside. The contract has been awarded to Curran and Briggs Co. Ltd., Summerside, and will be an asphalt job. This is a project that has been advocated by the Summerside Board of Trade for some time and last spring when Mr. J. P. Johnston, the general manager of the Atlantic Region was in town he promised the members of the Board that the job would be done this year. Curran and Briggs Co. Ltd., are at present completing the job of paving the Borden pier. In Summerside they will also pave the area in front of Reliable Motors Filling Station and Corney's Service Station.

Professional Ceremony

Two Sisters of St. Martha, Sister Margaret Marie Devereaux, New Haven, and Sister Mary Theodore Gallant, Egmont Bay, pronounced their final vows at St. Dunstan's College on Saturday, August twelfth. Four Sisters pronounced their First Vows on this occasion also. They were: Sister Mary Dorothy MacDonald, Georgetown; Sister Mary Raphael Toole, Bonshaw; Sister Mary Louise Gaudet, Palmer Road; and Sister Mary Damian McKearney, Sturgeon.

The colorful August flowers with which the Sanctuary was decorated and the impressive hymns sung by the Sisters' choir added to the solemnity of the dedication ceremony. Holy Mass was offered by His Excellency Most Reverend James Boyle, D. D., who was assisted by Rev. Emmett O'Hanley and Rev. Leonard Ayers.

Very Reverend Archibald MacDonald, C.SS.R., preached the sermon. After explaining the true meaning of the religious life, he offered his congratulations to the Sisters who had left all to follow the call of the Master, to their parents, who had nurtured these religious vocations in true Christian homes, and to the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Martha, which was receiving these new recruits into their ranks.

His Excellency, Bishop Boyle, also spoke briefly in congratulation reminding the Sisters of the great privileges which are theirs, and recalling to all present the pressing need in our day of more persons consecrated to God's service.

A number of the Diocesan clergy were present in the Sanctuary and the chapel was filled with relatives and friends who came to rejoice with the Sisters on the joyful and solemn day of their Religious Profession.

Prisoner In Germany

Mrs. James B. Acorn, Cardigan, has received the following letter from her son, Leading Stoker John James Acorn, R. C. N. V. R., now prisoner in Germany. Leading Stoker Acorn has been on active service for over two years, and was on the H. M. C. S. Athabaskan when she was sunk some months ago:

May 16, 1944

Dear Mother:

Well, Mom, here I am well and being treated very good. Suppose you have been awfully worried about me. I am a prisoner of war but not hurt in anyway, so you have no reason to worry about me now as I will be home after the war.

I got some cigarettes to smoke from the Red Cross. I don't know if you can send me a parcel or not but you can find out from the Red Cross.

I can't write to anyone else but you, but anyone can write to me, and you can tell them all about me.

I have some boys from around home here with me, so we can talk about the Island and my best friend in Navy is with me, so will have to close. Don't worry about me. Love to all.—John.

In Memoriam

AUSTIN J McDONALD

A tragic accident at Port Borden on July 20, 1944, saddened the home of Mrs. Austin McDonald when her husband, Austin, was instantly killed while in the performance of his duty.

His friends and neighbors were shocked and grieved by the news. Mr. McDonald had given thirty-three years of faithful service to the railroad, and his kind disposition and good sportsmanship made for him a large number of friends among his fellow workers. Those friends in this hours of darkness showed their deep regard for their brother worker by their solicitous attitude to his bereaved wife and family.

Mr. McDonald leaves to mourn his wife, the former Miss Winifred Morrissey, one son W. O. Louis R., overseas, three daughters, Kathleen, student nurse, St. Martha's Hospital, Antigonish; Clare and Doreen at home; five brothers, his twin, Joseph of Oakville, Manitoba; Linus, deceased, Jack, Bedford Station, P. E. I.. Reverend Alfred, Ocla, Florida; Augustine, St. Catherines, Ontario and one sister, Sister Mary Ronald, Kankakee, Ill.

Funeral services were held Saturday, July 22nd in the church of St. Simon and St. Jude. A Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Reverend J. A. MacDonald, Pastor, assisted by Reverent Father Brown, Maryknoll Seminary, and Reverend Father Oswald Murphy, Grand River. The pall bearers were Messrs. Albert Kennedy, Clarence Morrissey, Chester and Justin McCarthy, Joseph Morrissey and Joseph T. Arsenault.

The esteem in which Mr. McDonald and his family was held was fully demonstrated by the number of floral wreaths, mass cards and other expressions of sympathy received by the bereaved. R. I. P.

We thank God for the years you've been with us,
We thank God, Austin darling, for you,
The' our home and our hearts are saddened,
Your death brings a courage too—
Courage to carry the burden,
Hope for the day when we meet,
With a knowledge that God in his wisdom
Sends a Cross—that the Crown may be sweet.

"Dangerous Blondes" Is Hilarious Mystery

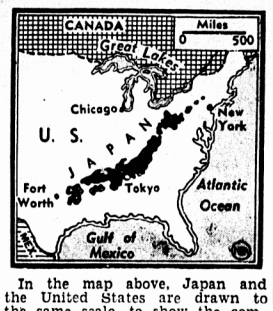
—If you like mysteries with a liberal dash of merriment; if you relish your murders piquantly flavored with a pinch of giggles and a garnishing of guffaws, we heartily recommend your attention to "Dangerous Blondes," which unreeled it's gay tale for the first time yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. If you find no joy in these things, we can only commisserate with you.

"Dangerous Blondes" is a comedy-mystery in the best tradition of Columbia Pictures, the studio which produced last season's chucklesome "A Night to Remember" and several other "whodunits," all pitched in a high comedy key without loss of logic or suspense. This, their latest, features Allyn Joslyn as typewriter sleuth Barry Craig, and Evelyn Keyes as his willing, but not too able wife Jane.

Well Known Summerside Resident Dies

The death occurred last evening of an old and respected resident of Summerside in the person of Mrs. Janie S. Wright, widow of the late Charles Wright of Summerside who died a good many years ago. The late Mrs. Wright had been ill for about three months but her condition became serious on Sunday and she was taken to the Prince County Hospital where she passed away.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Seaman of Bideford. For many years she and her mother conducted the Seaman House on Second Street and after her mother's death Mrs. Wright continued there till she retired about seven years ago. She had no children and is the last surviving member of her family.



In the map above, Japan and the United States are drawn to the same scale, to show the comparative size of the enemy's homeland.

KENYA'S NEW INDUSTRY

NAIROBI, Kenya —(CP)— Many farmers in the highlands of Kenya are now wearing checked woollen sunits made from material spun and woven in African homes.

Spinning and weaving as a home industry is steadily developing in the colony and the looms are working to capacity turning out a fine heavy homespun tweed that sells at about 30 shillings ($7.50) a yard.

Check Discharges From the Bowels

Bowel troubles, although happening at any time of the year, are more prevalent during the hot summer and early fall months.

Summer Flu is one of the worst troubles, but diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the intestines, or any looseness of the bowels should have immediate attention.

The action of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is pleasant, rapid, reliable and effectual in helping to check the unnatural discharges.

It has been on the market for the past 94 years, so why experiment with new and untried remedies?

Get "Dr. Fowler's" and feel safe.

SKEETERS LIKE COLOR?

Does color attract mosquitoes?

A part of the unceasing experiments of the entomologists to find new deterrents for the malaria-carrying insect has been a series of careful tests to prove what color most encourages visits of the mosquito.

These tests showed that during a half-minute period, 30 mosquitoes alighted on a khaki shirt, 15 on a black shirt, 4 on a white one.

It is not on record what the insects did when they saw red, except that in the same 30 seconds, no less than 90 of the pests came to rest and feed on a bare back.

Lawrence is the oldest son. He joined up at the outbreak of war. Mrs. MacInnis has two other sons and five brothers in the services.

RECORD BREAKING

outstanding. The females were an excellent exhibit though all beef breeds had a comparatively small entry, Mr. Trueman said.

Mr. L. E. MacKay, Scotsburn, N. S., who judged the Guernseys, said they were a very nice stock and in good condition. He was glad to note the entries were larger than in former years which indicated farmers were becoming more interested in this excellent breed of milch cattle.

Mr. J. P. Beauchemin of Vercheres, P. Q., judged the Ayrshires. He said he appreciated the quality of Ayrshire cattle on P. E. I. and that they were well shown. Mr. Beauchemin went on to state that there were some very promising Ayrshire breeders in the Province. If he were looking for faults, however, he would say that there is too much difference in type and that some were different in standard points. However, the Island had now the nucleus of some exceptionally good herds which would not disgrace any part of Canada.

Horses

Mr. Donald Black of Aubrey, P. Q., who judged the heavy horses, said the entry was not as large as usual. This he attributed to the fact that the farmer is short of help and has not the time to exhibit. He was glad, however, to be able to say that the quality of all horses was better than in past years.

Mr. J. W. Graham, Department of Agriculture, Fredericton, N. B., and Mr. F. W. Ward judged the swine and poultry respectively. Both were favourably impressed with the exhibits.

The following are some of yesterday's prize winners:

Exhibition Notes

How about a good steak? Two Hereford bulls owned respectively by Hayden Bros. and Frank Clark weighed a total of over 5335 pounds. A large crowd was present when they were photographed yesterday.

A young lad was critically examining an enormous udder on a fine Holstein cow and was heard to remark, "Gee whiz, that cow would give enough milk for all the kids in my class at school."

A gentleman from Maine bought a carload of grade cattle here a few days ago and when asked why he bought them here replied "Because Prince Edward Island cattle are free from Bangs Disease and Tuberculosis." If we keep up our standards for health and quality it will mean a lot to the farmers of Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Lou Roper of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has to be a jack of all trades at the Exhibition grounds these days, and is a popular man among the breeders.

In many of the classes the judges have a hard time but are doing their work faithfully and well. Competition is very keen in almost every class. The keen interest in the many cattle, horses, hogs, poultry, is not confined to this province, as there are interested visitors from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Wisconsin.

Canadian Troops Bombed In Error

By WILLIAM STEWART

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 16 — (CP)—With bombs throwing up geysers of dirt alongside the Caen-Falaise highway, I fled in a jeep Monday from an R.A.F. bombing which in error became turned upon Canadian instead of enemy positions.

My companions and I escaped, more fortunate than an undetermined number of 1st Canadian army personnel who were killed, wounded and shocked by shattering explosions of the attack which went wrong.

We were luckier, too, than some other correspondents who found themselves in the midst of the mistaken target area and were pinned down in a dugout while the earth heaved and shuddered around them Ralph Allen, war correspondent for the Toronto Globe and Mail, was one of these.

(In a copyright story of his experiences Allen said the number of killed and wounded was "many."

An explanation advanced by a senior Canadian staff officer was that the pattern made by the combination of woods and ground features in the bombed area virtually duplicated the correct target.

(Allen's story said the bombers had been attacking enemy positions" with perfect accuracy" but later "changed their course slightly and the bombs began falling in the Canadian lines.")

My companions and I had left an observation post and were driving up the Falaise highway toward Caen when we heard explosions getting closer and closer to us. We didn't realize at first what it was, but when we did Lieut. Dave Campbell of Hamilton, Ont., who was driving, yelled for his helmet and stepped on the gas.

Closer and Closer

Startled Canadian soldiers peered apprehensively out of ditches and other cover points as we raced up the road, the bombs falling closer and closer. At one point showers of dirt were thrown onto the roadside Finally we forsook the road and jolted over fields to get out of the target line. Once clear, we saw another formation of heavies give the same area a going over.

Officers at a headquarters told us efforts were being made to call off the attack but some time elapsed before the bombing ceased.

Officers said the attack did not affect the Canadian assault toward Falaise, which began that day and which the R.A.F. bombers were supporting. However, some equipment was damaged and the reaction of troops in the area was one of dismay.

It was the third time support bombers had gone astray, the first occasion being last week when some American planes dropped their bombs short, injuring among others Maj.-Gen. R.F.L. Keller, Kelowna, B.C., commander of the 3rd Canadian division.

On an earlier occasion, before the American offensive which broke out of Normandy into Brittany, American bombers attacking around St. Lo dropped bombs short of their marks causing casualties, including fatal injuries to Lt.-Gen Lesli J. McNair of the United States army.

Earlier the R.A.F. had carried out an unprecedented night bombing attack as a prelude to a Canadian offensive south of Caen, and had pin-pointed their targets with unerring precision.

Possibly Monday's episode will result in some method of communication being devised between ground troops and bombers.

Lt. - Gen. Crerar, commander of the 1st Canadian army, who was in an aircraft at the time, estimated 80 per cent of the R.A.F. bombs fell on enemy target areas.
