When do you intend to have the street lights in such operation that they will not be looked on as a farce, but give the citizens some benefit for the money paid in taxes? Surely the life in Souris is not so strenuous that you have not the time to attend to these things. Perhaps they seem too trivial. In any case, whatever the reason for the non-performance may be, if these matters are still to remain unattended to, would you not act wisely to resign, and permit others to take over the management who will look after these affairs and whatever happens the citizens will feel that everything was done that could be done.
