Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia

EDITOR'S MAIL. A LIBERAL TAXPAYER SPEAKS.

Sir—Continue your righteous crusade, against the recent shameless steal at Ottawa! Rest assured that you have the people of this country, irrespective of party at your back. What patriots we have been fighting each other for! When it came to a division of the swag up there what harmony, what unanimity, what brotherly love pervaded their councils in the Commons and no vetoing of the measure in the Senate.

While the generosity and good-will and liberal parryisms lasted, they also thought of our judges. Very important functionaries certainly, and with all due respect to the position they occupy they were by no means badly paid before, and it is to be observed that when any judge-ship became vacant, there were numerous well qualified candidates for the position with the old salary.

As a life-long supporter of the Liberal party, as an admirer of the brilliant and successful administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in common with many other Liberals regret that his hitherto grand Liberal career should be sullied by an act savouring strongly of sordid avarice. To the Conservative party I can turn with no gleam of satisfaction. Their mouths are stopped with the golden dollar; they have been devout worshippers at the shrine of Mammon and their leader, endowed with many good qualities, has been bedazzled and bewitched by the seducing smiles of the golden calf.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL. LESSON VI, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, AUG. 6.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxxiv, 1-19—Memory Verses, 1-8—Golden Text, Eccl. xii, 1—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Copyright, 1898, by American Free Association. In the conflict of the ages recorded in the Scriptures between God and the devil for man and man's dwelling place we see those who stand with God and for whom God works and those who stand with the devil against God. And so it shall go on until the great conflict of which we read in Rev. xix, 19-21, when the enemy shall be overthrown and the leader shut up in the bottomless pit for a thousand years and the earth shall enjoy a reign of righteousness and peace.

Josiah was one of the few who did right in the sight of the Lord and realized a fulfillment of II Chron. xvi, 9. He was one of seven in the Scriptures who were named before their birth by Him who knoweth all things and declared the end from the beginning. Nearly 800 years before his birth he was named by God as one who on certain altars would burn men's bones, and he did. Compare I Kings xli, 2, and II Kings xxiii, 16. Hezekiah excelled all others in the matter of "turning to the Lord" (II Kings xviii, 5; xxiii, 25). To do right in the sight of the Lord without turning to the right hand or to the left and to please Him in all things is an attainment to which only one perfectly reached, but by His grace all believers might come much nearer to it if they desired it as much as Elisha desired that which he sought through Elijah the day that they were parted by a whirlwind.

Josiah began by getting himself right with God, for in his sixteenth year he sought the God of David, his father, evidently with the whole heartedness of Jer. xxix, 13. Paul's advice to Timothy was to first take heed to himself (I Tim. iv, 16), and our Lord taught us that if we would get the notes out of other people's eyes we must first get the beam out of our own eye (Matt. vii, 5). The first thing for each individual is a right relationship to God, and this can be obtained only by receiving His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, and in Him the forgiveness of all our sins and a righteousness which makes us accepted in Him and gives us the standing of children and heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ (John i, 12; Eph. i, 4, 7; Rom. viii, 16, 17). This being established and we assured of it by the Spirit through the word, we are then as ambassadors of Christ authorized to move forward on behalf of the interests of His kingdom.

When Josiah was twenty, or in the twelfth year of his reign, he, being himself purified, began to purge Judah and Jerusalem from her idols and idolatry, doubtless remembering and obeying the Lord's words at the founding of the nation, "I am the Lord thy God; thou shalt have no other gods before Me." When an individual or a nation has heard and seen Jehovah's idols are no longer tolerated (Eze. xiv, 6). In II Kings xxv, 1-24 there is a full account of the cleansing of the land, and there we learn that it was preceded by Josiah's reading to the elders and to the people all the words of the book of the covenant which was found in the house of the Lord. It is the word of God that sanctifies and cleanses (John xvii, 17; Eph. v, 26; Ps. cxix, 11).

The burning of the bones of men upon the altars (verse 5) is more fully described in II Kings xxiii, 15-18, and when compared with the prophecy uttered nearly 300 years before, referred to earlier in this lesson, we cannot but be reminded of such words as Isa. xiv, 24; xxi, 10; Ps. xxxiii, 10, 11. To know the purpose of God, "the eternal purpose which He purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Eph. iii, 11), and to live in that purpose is the greatest of all honors conferred upon mortals, and it is open to all.

The last part of our lesson tells of Josiah's efforts to repair the temple and to undo the harm which had been done by other kings of Judah (verse 11), for though Manasseh endeavored to undo some of his great wrongdoing his son Amon walked in his first ways and trespassed more and more (chapter xxxiii). The tabernacle first, then the temple, was the center of Israel as a nation, for there God dwelt in their midst (Ex. xxv, 8), and the neglect of God's dwelling place meant the neglect of God Himself. Read the first chapter of Haggai and see what God thought of their neglect of His house after their return from Babylon and how He dealt with them because of it. When our Lord was on earth the temple building was in good condition, but the worship therein was hypocrisy, and they had introduced business into its courts, so that at the beginning and end of His ministry He cleansed the temple. The majority of people either wholly neglect God or render Him a formal worship, which is worse than none at all, for He seeketh those to worship Him who will worship Him in spirit and in truth. Believers are the temples of the Holy Spirit, mansions in which Father, Son and Spirit dwell (John xv, 17, 23; I Cor. vi, 19, 20), and if we would know the power of God in and through us we must be willing to be undefiled by the world (Ps. cxlv, 1).

In verse 12 of our lesson we note that the men did the work faithfully, reminding us of our Lord's words, "Who, then, is a faithful and wise servant?" (Matt. xxiv, 45) and I Cor. iv, 2, "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful." It also calls to mind the warning in Jer. xviii, 10, "Cursed be he that doeth the work of the Lord deceitfully or negligently." The eyes of the Lord are ever looking for the faithful.
