The Markets

(Canadian Press) MONTREAL, Que., July 12.—Exports of cheese to the United Kingdom from the port of Montreal were at a new high for the season last week, totalling 45,650 boxes or 3,980,250 pounds more than double the previous week shipment of 22,503 boxes. Cheese exports for the season up to last week end totalled 155,711 against 159,936 on the same date last year. Exports of butter from the port of Montreal totalled 10,555 boxes as compared with 7,448 the previous week. Butter exports to the United Kingdom to last week were 62,255 boxes, as against 160 boxes this time last year.

Receipts of eggs and cheeses at Montreal were practically unchanged from those of last week, while butter arrivals showed a slight increase.

Butter and cheese prices at Montreal last week continued upward while the carlot egg quotations and potato prices eased slightly. Butter, which advanced 1 to 1 1/2 cents the preceding week, rose up to 1/2 cent last week closing prices averaging 22 cents a pound, for carlots of number 1, pasteurized creamery butter. Small lots to retailers were 23 cents for solids and 24 cents for prints. Cheese gained a full cent during the week closing on Saturday at 12 1/2 to 13 cents a pound for Ontario and 12 to 12 1/2 cents for Quebec stock. Carlot eggs were quoted at 21 to 22 cents for extras, down to 15 to 15 1/2 cents for seconds at the close. The potato market ended the week at $1.10 to $1.25 per 80 pound bag of new Montreal district potatoes, which were supplying the entire market.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS—It was announced in the Cross Roads Christian Church yesterday that the meetings, conducted by Evangelist R. F. Whiston, would continue each night this week, the services beginning at 8 and closing at nine. The weather Sunday greatly interfered with the audience and with fair weather this week it is planned to make every service count. To this end Dr. Whiston will give a special message each night and he will be assisted by several outside soloists. The building is well ventilated on warm nights and plenty of parking space. All are invited.

MAY MOVE FAMOUS MARBLE ARCH

(By Thos. E. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 12.—There is talk of moving the Marble Arch. In its present position it is considered a hindrance to the adoption of a One Way circular traffic scheme, in the big space where the Oxford Street broadens out upon the northern entrance to Hyde Park. Of all the big-scale architectural accomplishments in London the Marble Arch is perhaps today one of the least justifiable. Just over 100 years ago it was erected by John Nash as an entrance to Buckingham Palace. Some years later it was taken down and put up again as an entrance to Hyde Park from Oxford Street. Later still the railings of the Park were set considerably further back, and the Marble Arch was left detached, and serving no purpose whatever, in the centre of an open space. There it has remained. Tourists wonderingly enquire the reason of its solitary being, and very few Londoners are able to enlighten them.

IN MEMORIAM

In fond and loving memory of George McDearmid, who was killed July 13, 1927. Do not ask us if we miss him, Oh! there's such a vacant place; Oh! there we hear his foot-steps and we see his smiling face. Days of sadness still come o'er us. CHURCH SERVICES

BAPTIST CHURCH

Yesterday the congregations of the Christian Church and of the Baptist Church building met in united services of worship. Despite unfavorable weather the congregations were good, being especially large in the morning, on which occasion the Loyal Orange Lodges attended for divine worship. Rev. A. C. Vincent preaching an eloquent sermon the Principles of Protestantism, discussing with clarity and power the dynamic and the basic principles involved.

The United Sunday Schools met at the close of the morning service with an excellent attendance. The sermon of the evening, also by Dr. Vincent was "Jesus at the bier," an inspiring message based on the incident of the raising from the dead of the son of the widow of Nain.

The music of the day, under the leadership of Mrs. G. Elliott Full included a solo at the morning service. "I shall not pass again this way" (Essinger) by Mrs. G. R. Gilroy, and in the evening a baritone solo by Mr. Rupert MacKay. The two Churches will meet on Thursday evening at 7.30 for the mid week service.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

"Blest day of God! We hail its dawn To gratitude and worship drawn."

The floral decorations were of Fox-glove Marigolds and Peonies and upon each side of the pulpit hung the Canadian Ensign and the Union Jack witnessing that with our love for God, we also honor the King.

Mr. Norman Magnusson of Saint John sang in a most pleasing and capable manner, two solos at the morning service. "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains and "Where Ere You Walk" and in the evening Mrs. Leigh Warren sang "Peace Be Still."

Rev. Dr. Ramsay was the preacher for the day and in the morning the subject for meditation was "The Book of Jonah" in which he set forth some of the very important truths which that Book contain. Rev. Dr. Ramsay was typical of Israel who had forgotten her mission and was swallowed up by Babylon later returning in a broken and humbled condition. God's treatment of Nineveh (a city containing the heathen nations of humanity) as Jonah waited for its destruction is evidence of God's love for mankind. Dr. Ramsay emphasized that God has his hand in the destiny of Canada and that his purposes must be sought out. Nations as well as individuals must suffer when they act contrary to God's will. Canada must do her part in bringing the Nations of the earth closer together in a Bond of Universal Brotherhood.

In the evening Dr. Ramsay preached a very forcible sermon on The Holy Spirit which is the supreme doctrine of the Christian Church. Dr. Ramsay spoke of the Holy Spirit and the Church, The Holy Spirit

The Late Rev. Pat'k McQuillan

Citizens will regret to learn of the death of Rev. Patrick McQuillan, formerly of this province, which occurred in the Infirmary, Halifax, N.S., Saturday morning after only a few days illness.

Born in New Haven sixty-three years ago, the late Father McQuillan removed to this city with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John McQuillan when quite a young man. He was employed for a time with a local firm and later entered St. Dunstan's University.

After graduating from this institution he entered the Sacred Heart Seminary, where he was later ordained. He was then appointed to the staff of St. Mary's Cathedral, where he labored until the outbreak of the Great War, when he enlisted, remaining overseas until the cessation of hostilities.

On his return to Halifax, he was appointed Parish Priest at Bedford Basin, where he remained for some time being later transferred to the parish of St. Aquinas. Some time ago he was appointed to the charge of St. Joseph's, which office he held at the time of his passing.

Father McQuillan was well known in this city, which he frequently visited. He was a typical Irish Priest, jolly and humorous, with a store of bright stories.

While a student at St. Dunstan's he displayed exceptional histrionic ability and very few dramatic productions were staged without his name appearing on the programme.

He leaves to mourn his passing, five sisters, Mrs. T. L. Smith and Mrs. John Callaghan, city, who were with him when he passed away; Mrs. J. H. Finnigan, and Mrs. J. J. Keenan, of New York, who are now en route to Halifax and Sister McQuillan, Superior of a mission at Akavik, N. W. T.

The remains are being forwarded to the Island for interment.

it and the individual also what the Holy Spirit does in the heart of the individual.

Both services were broadcast by C.H.C.K. As yesterday was the 12th of July the following statement, made by Rev. Ward White, Priest, Vicar of St. Alban's Cathedral, Toronto in a sermon to Orangemen last Sunday may be of interest.

"So far as the development of the principles of Orangemen is concerned, 'the time has got to come' declared Rev. Ward-White, 'when there shall be a United Church of Protestantism in this Dominion conducted along the lines of the Orange Order; and the time is not long distant when all the Protestant Churches would drop their meaningless small 'isms' and come together as a unified force behind the principles for which Orangemen stood."

In this connection it is pleasing to recall the statement of our Ex-General Moderator that the United Church of Canada is not only a united church but a uniting church.

Racing At Woodstock

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 12.—Excellent racing marked the second and closing day of the Woodstock Driving Club's mid-summer meet at the Island Park this afternoon. Large fields in each class provided keen competition and close finishes were the order of the day. As on Thursday New Brunswick stables captured one event and Maine horses the other two.

The 2.30 trot and pace went to Rose Aubrey, owned by K. W. Keith, Hartland and driven by Conroy in straight heats. Kazoff, Tingley, Houlton, took the 2.14 trot and pace also in straight heats. John Willard's Peter Pokey, won the 2.16 trot being awarded the deciding heat when W. H. Keyes' Holyrood Lee was set back in the deciding heat.

Rose Aubrey was the pick of the field in the 2.30 but received a close run in the second heat from Rapid Brooks.

Driver Dewett saved a spill in the first heat by some fancy driving with Peter Wads when one of the horses broke in front of him just after the start.

CONNIE MACK MAY WRECK ANOTHER TEAM

From Cleveland comes the report, reputedly authentic, that the Philadelphia Athletics will sell the services of Catcher Mickey Cochrane to the Indians before next season. Is Connie Mack about to wreck another great machine? It looks that way.

Following the disastrous series against the inspired Boston Braves in 1914, Mack tore his great team apart, and for many years thereafter the A's floundered with the cellar berth. Then the Shibes and Mack when into the market, and, owing to the fact that they did their dealings with the late Jack Dunn of Baltimore, they assembled the present champions of the world.

When Mack and his associates sold the services of Eddie Collins, Amos Strunk, "Home-Run" Baker, "Stuffy" McInnis and Pitchers Bender, Plank and Combs, they did it because Philadelphia fans failed to support the greatest team in baseball. The same conditions exist now in Quaker Town, and the owners of the A's are desperate. The Athletics are just so good that victories are taken for granted.

Cochrane is the best of the modern-day catchers. He compares favorably with Jimmy Archer, Roger Greshnaw and Johnny Kling, three of the immortals of baseball. If the A's let him go they will suffer, and Cleveland will become a powerful contender for the championship. Then, again, it would appear that there is no sentiment in professional sport. Cochrane deserves better treatment.

THREE GOOD PITCHERS ARE ENOUGH

While it is true that the Philadelphia Athletics have only three high-class moundsmen, it would appear that this is no handicap. Seventeen years ago Tyler, James and Rudolph won a pennant for the Boston Braves, each pitching every third day. They were heroes in the Hub, but it was noticeable that they didn't linger long in the major leagues. They were overworked.

But "Lefty" Grove and George Earnshaw, aces of the Philadelphia flinging corps, are made of different stuff. When with Baltimore they were weaned into the habit of pitching every day by that astute leader, the late Jack Dunn. They were taught to crave hard work, and they conditioned themselves accordingly. Today they stand supreme in baseball. Rube Walberg is the other member of the invincible hurling trio.

Away back in yester year pitchers were accustomed to work every day. Radbourne, one of the greatest of them all, having hurled 73 games in one season. Of late years, however, the moundsmen have been pampered and petted to such an extent that we hear no more of the "iron-man" doubleheader twirler.

Yesterday the Athletics, with Bob Grove on the hilltop, defeated the Washington Senators by 6 to 3, and lengthened their lead in the American League to six and a half games. The A's have been tried, and not found wanting. They outclass the field, and unless they run into a disastrous slump they will win their third consecutive championship.

SCHMELING WILL FIGHT IN SEPTEMBER

Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, will return in September to defend his title against the assault of Primo Carnera, the ponderous elephant, of pugilism, who many consider is swaying his bulk to the place occupied by the German. Carnera has for a long time been jibed at and laughed to scorn. He possesses no fine Italian hand, but carries at the end of each arm a fist that looks like a circus maul, and of late he has been battering them down with casual, yet telling effect.

Schmeling apparently intends to be no picture champion. His decision to risk his title in some two months indicates that he has no idea of permitting rust to gather on his shield or inactivity to dull his eye and slacken his pace. As a good business man, like Tunney, is said not to be too literary, "high-hat" to take a glance at Shakespeare, he has probably been impressed by that line which runs something to this effect, "There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to Fortune."

WALTER WINCHELL

Walter Winchell, of the New York Mirror, picks up the following from Paul Gallico's account of the Schmeling-Stribling fight: "Round 9—Schmeling blocked a left to body. Schmeling landed left hook to chin. Schmeling punched the body. Schmeling landed three lefts and rights to body. Stribling got in a right to shoulder. Schmeling drove a right to chin. Schmeling landed right and left to face. STRIBLING'S ROUND. "The Graham McNamee influence."
