WOOD ISLANDS, CLYDE RIVER CIRCUIT—Wood Islands, A. M. Sunday School 10 A. M. Young People's 7:30 P. M. Wood Islands East 2:30 P. M. Sunday School 1:30 P. M. Clyde River 11 A. M. Speaking by Rev. Henderson. L-460-9-19-11.

P. E. ISLANDS' OLDEST LADIES—Considering the number of elderly persons living on the island, one is naturally reminded that the fountain of youth may be hidden here. Aunt Mary McSwain, Lorne Valley, is now one hundred years and four months of age. Alice Smith of St. Terence's, will be 104. She survives until May next. Edmund Younker, North River, is still actively engaged farming though he has passed his eighty-sixth birthday. Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Vickerson, both of North River, are to be classed among these veterans, being well over eighty years of age, and no doubt other sections of the province have their quotas.

GILL-CONNOLLY—St. Joseph's Church, Vernon River, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the morning of August 22nd when Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gill, Elliotvale was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to James Connolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Connolly of Iona. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. P. D. McGuigan. P. P. who also celebrated the nuptial mass. The bride was becomingly attired in blue silk crepe with hat and other accessories to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Annie, who wore grey-floored georgette with hat and shoes to match and also carried sweet peas. The groom was ably supported by his brother, Vincent. After the ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of the bride's parents where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives and friends of the bride couple amongst them being their pastor, Rev. P. D. McGuigan. The wedding party then motored to Dalway for dinner returning in the evening to the home of the groom where a delicious supper was served to a large number of invited guests, after which dancing was indulged in until the wee sma' hours, when all departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Connolly many years of wedded bliss. Previous to her marriage the bride was tendered a most enjoyable shower by her girl friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terence MacGinnis at which as also at the marriage, she was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts.

Old Schoolhouse Is Woodshed Now

WINDSOR, N. S., Sept. 18—Old Father Time leaves his mark on everything. There is an old barn on the outskirts of this town which formerly was known as the "Academy." This school has turned out such men as Sir Frederic Fraser, Rev. Dr. John Wire, Rev. E. England and Hon. C. S. Wilcox. Frederick Curran, who lives in a house beside the old schoolhouse, recalls the time "when father was a master at the 'Academy' he tutored a son of Judge Thomas Halliburton and another son of the late Mr. John MacKinnon of East Wiltshire. Miss MacKinnon is a Registered Nurse, trained in Prince County Hospital, Summerside. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. K. Ross, B. A. of Cornwall in the presence of over thirty relatives and friends. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Reigh MacKinnon and the bride was given away by her brother, Everett, MacKinnon and was neatly and becomingly dressed in electric blue, with hat and accessories to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink roses and maiden hair ferns. The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel C. MacLeod, R. N., of Summerside was dressed in grey crepe and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and maiden hair ferns. The groom was supported by P. D. Cordwell, R. C. M. P. of Charlottetown. The marriage took place beneath a beautiful marriage bell which hung from an arch made of Virginia creeper and maples leaves, with back ground of potted plants and cut flowers. White streamers, dropped in graceful curves above the marriage altar. After the ceremony and during the signing of the legal documents, Mrs. Reigh MacKinnon played "Blest be the Tie that Binds," and the guests sat down to a sumptuous and appetizing dinner and afterwards drove by auto to Borden on a honeymoon trip to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The groom's gift to the bride was a bracelet of sterling silver set with brilliant and to the bridesmaid a silver compound set. To the groomsmen gold cuff links, with the Masonic emblem upon them. Their friends wish this popular couple every success and happiness as they go down life together.

MT. MELICK W.I.
 The monthly meeting of the Mt. Melick W.I. was held on Thursday evening, Sept. 13th, at the home of Miss Viola Ballem. The attendance was large and two new members were warmly welcomed. The usual procedure was carried out. The sick committee reported having sent remembrances to some friends in the P. E. I. Hospital. After some discussion it was decided to hold a concert in Pownall Hall, the committee appointed to take charge of same being Mrs. Arden Richards, Miss Isabel Ings, and Mrs. Jack MacRae; the proceeds of which will in part be for the Provincial Association.

BOB' LONGER FOR FALL AND WINTER
 CHICAGO, September 18—The feminine bob is getting longer. This was ascertained today at the Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association convention where leading coiffeurs forecast fall and winter hair styles.
 The new bob is from an inch and-a-half to two inches below natural hairline, where it stopped this summer, said Louis Pramme to the head of the Coiffeurs' Guild of New York.
 But it is the difference in the fall silhouette that is going to make last night's bob look as out-of-date as last winter's hat. It was learned from this expert, that the new bob has a backward and upward sweeping line, as he described it and it fluffs out at the back, yet manages to maintain a line shaped to the head.
 He stressed that where formerly the side ends were curled toward the face, they are now curled away, which gives that new backward wave on the head. Where formerly they were set almost horizontally, they are now placed at a decided angle.

ANTI-SEMITIC FEELING IN HOSPITALS CHARGED
 TORONTO, Sept. 18—E. F. Singer, K. C., president of the Mount Sinai Hospital administration, declared anti-Semitism, based on Jewish medical students from obtaining positions as internes, and prevented Jewish physicians from receiving hospital appointments he charged today at the Jewish Hospital in Toronto. He said that Jewish girls from the ranks of nurses in every Toronto hospital except the small Jewish institution. He addressed the administration's extension campaign fund meeting and declared that the object of the campaign was to raise $60,000 for completion and equipping of the Mount Sinai building.
 "Jewish young men seeking to complete their training and obtain practical experience as hospital internes, during or after their university courses, have found the road barred to them in other institutions," he declared. "Jewish doctors have found it impossible to secure appointment to the staff of any hospital but Mount Sinai. Jewish girls have found that they cannot become attached to the staff of Toronto hospitals, and have either had to give up their ambitions or go to institutions in the United States."

CHICAGO, September 18—The funeral service on Thursday, August 30th, from the late home, was largely attended by the members of her own family and friends. The Rev. H. R. Bell officiating. Interment was made in the Kingsboro Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Earle Kennedy, Seth MacLean, Barton MacDonald, John A. Fraser, James Robertson.
 Seventeen hundred deaths from cholera in one week were reported from the central provinces of India.

Statue of Cape Breton's Famous Giant is Planned

ST. ANN, N.S., Sept. 18—(C.P.)—Over a grave in the village cemetery overlooking the bluish-green Atlantic waters of St. Ann, Harbor stands a plain gray stone. "Mark the perfect man" its inscription exhorts the reader, "and behold the upright." Above the simple phrasing is the name of Angus MacAskill, for this is the headstone of the Cape Breton giant.
 It is the only memorial to a man who by his sheer physical stature carried the name of Nova Scotia into the four quarters of the globe three-quarters of a century and more ago. Now, though his fame is still undimmed in his native province, Nova Scotians believe it should be preserved more tangibly for posterity.
 A move is underway to erect a memorial to the giant, and it has been suggested to take the form of a life-size statue of MacAskill. It would be a statue standing seven feet eight inches high; the feet would measure eighteen inches, and the hands would be 12 inches long and six inches wide.
 Such was the stature of MacAskill and he was built in proportion to his height. Magnificently muscled, he was easily the master of any of the Errolty Cape Bretoners living about St. Ann, and to this day they still relate tales of his prodigious strength.
 It was considered no remarkable feat for him to lift 100 pounds with a couple of fingers of either hand, and hold it at arm's length for 10 minutes or so. Should a visitor want further demonstration, he would swing a 200-pound barrel of salt pork under each arm and jog along the main street for a block or two.
 In his work as a fisherman he found his strength useful, while few fishermen spent valuable time hauling out their craft. Angus would set his 480 pounds over his half-ton boat and heft it over on its beam-ends to spill the bilge. Once, single-handed, he set a 40-foot mast into a schooner with one hand, much trouble as a farmer would have sticking a fencepost into a hole.
 He brawn, the St. Ann people like to recall, was always at the service of his friends. There was the time when a sick man had to be taken 25 miles through a howling rainstorm. The giant swung him up over his back and carried him to the doctor without once setting him down.

 MacAskill's great strength came from Scottish ancestry, for he was born in the Hebrides. His family came early to St. Ann, and it was not until he had been here several years that he began to assume the proportions that later made him famous.
 By the time he was 25, his name was known widely, and he set out on a tour of Canada, the United States and Cuba. He attracted unprecedented attention, and later he was granted an audience with the queen Victoria at Windsor Castle, Scotland, a land of mighty men. Scotland, a land of mighty men, proclaimed him as the greatest Scot of all in point of physical perfection.
 But the strength that won renown for MacAskill finally brought him death. One day in New York he lifted an anchor weighing 2,750 pounds. As he casually flung it to one side, one of the flukes struck him. He never recovered from that injury and he died eight years later—in 1863—at the age of 38 years.

SERVED 29 YEARS UNDER SIX HEADS
 (By The Canadian Press)
 OTTAWA, Sept. 18—Retirement of James B. Spencer, director of publicity for the Dominion Department of Agriculture, after 29 years service, recalls the amazing development of agriculture in Canada during that period.
 Mr. Spencer had a thorough practical training on the home farm at Brooklin, Ont., followed by a course at the Ontario Agricultural College, where he graduated in 1884. This was followed by 11 years of newspaper work on the Farmer's Advocate and Family Herald and Weekly Star. He entered the government service in 1905.
 Mr. Spencer served under six federal ministers of Agriculture and three Deputy Ministers. He has seen the staff of the Department concerned directly with agriculture and exclusive of the Experimental Farms, grow from some 40 people housed in two small office buildings to a staff numbering nearly 2,000 persons.
 Mr. Spencer is second Vice-President of the Dominion Farmers' Association.

Extend Research Ease Depression Suggestion Made

Business Enabled to Produce Better and Standard of Living of More People Raised Says Montreal
 WINNIPEG, Sept. 18—(C.P.)—More assiduous application of research to the science of wealth and its distribution would be a real challenge to depression, said G. W. Huggett of Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian Industries Limited, in an address to the American Chamber of Commerce, at its annual meeting in Montreal, Sept. 17.
 "What Research is Doing for Business," Mr. Huggett suggested research might be extended to the end that depressions would be fewer and fewer. He combated the idea any attempt should be made to confine research or that it was dangerous to allow it unchecked growth, as an innate force of human nature; a seeking that could not be denied in any progressive civilization. Nor was it fair to lay the blame on so-called "technological unemployment"—the replacement of men by machine.
 Research was synonymous with change and change meant that temporarily people might find a gap between the replacement of an old employment by a new one and the setting up of entirely new businesses to absorb the surplus, Mr. Huggett declared. Looking back over 150 years it must be felt results of research have always meant a better standard of living for a large number of people.
 Tracing the progress of research in industry Mr. Huggett said one of the most far-reaching results was the replacement of natural products by synthetic materials. Despite apparent unsettling effects and failures now and again the ultimate object was to produce better and less costly goods in one country but all over the world.
 In conclusion Mr. Huggett submitted research enabled business to produce better and newer commodities more quickly and at less cost than it did in the past. It made men more independent of the whims and vagaries of nature. In this light research was urged to perform a function of the highest nature in the economics of business.

VALLEYFIELD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of Valleyfield Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Munro Bruce on Wednesday evening, Sept. 5th. The President, Mrs. J. P. MacDonald, opened the meeting by repeating the Club Woman's Creed in unison. Seven members responded to a roll call with "Gems of Thought." Five visitors were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary and approved. They were presented by the Sick Committee, who had made one call, and by the Valleyfield West School Committee who reported that the painting of the interior of Valleyfield West School had been completed. The hall committee reported that the shingling of the roof had been finished. Arrangements were made for further repairs on hall. The Secretary read a very interesting and complete report on the Annual Convention, prepared by Miss Edith MacDonald, the delegate to the convention at Charlottetown. Miss MacDonald requested that her fare be used to purchase a book for Valleyfield West School Library. The Secretary was asked to write a letter of thanks to Miss MacDonald for her report and for the book. The sum of $5.00 was voted for School Fund, the amount to be divided equally between Valleyfield East and West Schools. The program consisted of a name-contest, put on by Mrs. J. A. MacPherson and Mrs. J. D. MacDonald. The prize was won by Miss Malsie MacLeod. The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King." A dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

OBJECTS TO WOMEN UNDULY PRAISING

(By The Canadian Press)
 TORONTO, Sept. 18—Scoring women who flatter young ministers by saying they wish no change in the ordinance of the church by providing for the admission of women to the ministry, Nellie McClung writes in "Chatelaine":
 "Women have always flattered men, but a young minister flatters a woman is a subtle poison that has hampered and deceived many an able young man and made him think he was growing when he was merely swelling."
 Mrs. McClung describes the case of Lydia de Gruchy, B. A., whose ordination the Saskatchewan United Church conference has approved. It is being brought before the General Council of the United Church in Kingston, Ont.: "A young woman was asking for ordination. She had completed her theological course some years before at Saint Andrews in Saskatoon, taking the gold medal in a class of 19. She had already served on two fields with marked success. She could speak French as well as English, play the organ, lead the singing, drive a car, keep house, hold her tongue and get along with people. She had established Sunday schools on her fields, organized literary societies, reading classes and ladies' aid societies. She was an able speaker, a clever student and a good pastor. And she was asking to be ordained."
 DURHAM, Eng.—(C.P.)—Declaring there is "a refining influence about the presence of women" R. Richardson, president of Working Men's Club and Institute, Unions, pleads for full membership for women in the club.

Big Prices For Kentville Farms

KENTVILLE, N. S., Sept. 17—The pessimist, who said there was no demand for farm lands any more should have been in Kentville Saturday. A sheriff holding a foreclosure sale received 78 bids on a farm property and knocked it down to a bidder who offered $1,300 more than the value of the mortgage. Two other farms in Kings County were sold by the sheriff within the last two weeks at prices above the mortgage.
 Friends throughout the Province will be pleased to learn that Miss Ella Deherly, Riverton, has returned to her home much improved in health after her recent serious illness in the P. E. I. Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. EDWARD LOGAN
 With feelings of deep regret have we learned of the death of Mrs. Edward Logan at Yarkina, Washington, U. S. A. Mrs. Logan (Margaret MacDonald) was born at Pictou Island 70 years ago, the daughter of the late Malcolm and Christie MacDonald.
 She was one of a large and highly respected family who nobly upheld the traditions of their Highland ancestors, reverent, devout and God-fearing. Two of Mrs. Logan's brothers, Dan and George, resided in Pictou for many years. Both were elders in St. Andrew's Church and men of industry.
 Although many years have passed since "Maggie," as she was familiarly called, left her "island home," fragrant memories of a lovely and early womanhood linger with us. Fair of face, charming in personality, she endeared herself to all those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.
 Mrs. Logan spent some time in the New England States, where she married Edward Logan, also a Pictou County man. They moved to Yarkina, where she resided until her death on August 15.
 She leaves to mourn their irreparable loss her husband and one sister (Sarah) Mrs. Murdoch MacKinnon of Glen Martin, P. E. I., and a number of nieces and nephews. —Pictou Exchange.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. HAULAN KENNEDY
 There passed away at her home, Kingsboro, on Monday, August 27th, the beloved wife of Mr. Harlan Kennedy (nee Emma Jane Stewart) in the 62nd year of her age.
 The deceased was the daughter of the late William and Emily Stewart.
 For a number of years prior to her death she had been in failing health, but her courage, spirit, indomitable will, and thought for others sustained and carried her over many a crisis.
 Repeated heart attacks, however, within the past few weeks accomplished their purpose, and a devoted wife, a loving mother, and kind neighbor passed on to her rest.
 She leaves to mourn her demise and cherish her memory, a devoted husband, four sons, and two daughters, Calvin, Lorne, Lloyd, Orm, and Alice, three sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Theodore Stevenson, Kingsboro, P.E.I.; Mrs. Charles Young, Everett, Mass.; Mrs. Harry Madden, nee Charles and Harvey, Kingsboro; Seth, Everett, Mass.; Roy, a son, predeceased her five years ago.
 The funeral service on Thursday, August 30th, from the late home, was largely attended by the members of her own family and friends. The Rev. H. R. Bell officiating. Interment was made in the Kingsboro Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Earle Kennedy, Seth MacLean, Barton MacDonald, John A. Fraser, James Robertson.
 Seventeen hundred deaths from cholera in one week were reported from the central provinces of India.

Game Wardens Search For Men

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
 EAGLE LAKE, Me., Sept. 17.—Four veteran deputy game wardens, with packs and sidearms, entered the wild forest and lake region of Allagash Plantation today to follow the three-weeks-old trail of three men.
 Headed by Ronald Connors, veteran of many years in Maine woods, the quartette shuffled off into the gloom of the big woods in quest of Harold Bennett, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Fred Fisher, two companions. The trio of city vacationists started on a blithe hike into the forested and lake-dotted region August 28. No word of them has been received since.
 The Allagash region draws countless hunters each year, lured by its abundant game. But they never enter it alone. Guides are needed. Men have become lost there. Stretching to the New Brunswick-Quebec border, the wilderness presents a menace to those not familiar with its terrain.
