HALLOWE'EN FROLICS WITH DECORATIONS

The lure of the ugly Jack-o'-lantern is great enough, even in this old year, to tempt the young folks into keeping Hallowe'en. There is no trouble in doing this because refreshments consist of a limited number of things easily served, thanks to the attractive paper articles to be had for a song. Brown bread, doughnuts, cider, red apples and nuts are the backbone of the Hallowe'en supper with the addition of pumpkin pie and any cold meats or salads desired. Instead of regular candle-sticks one should use carrots, small crooked squashes, cucumbers, both green and yellow. Nothing but Hallowe'en ornaments should be used, and the witch riding a broomstick, the black cat and the owl are the best.

There is a decided rule as to colors. Red and yellow are disliked by witches and the mountain ash as rowan is especially disliked. A twig should be over the door and the berries should appear on the table. The fox glove is called the witch's bell and the harebell, the witches' thimble; the brass is a good rapid travel and if a broom is laid inside the threshold no witch can step over. Among the decorations allowable are strings of red thread on which are arranged pumpkin seeds at intervals of red thread being especially distasteful to witches. A string of red around the waist is a good "charm." Elder exercises a charm against witches and legends say that any baptized person whose eyes are rubbed with the inner bark of the elder can see witches in any part of the world. Also, rue, dill, flax and snapper are all talismans against witches. Because yew is found in churchyards the witches dislike it.

Certain love tests apply to Hallowe'en. Throw a large apple paring over the head. If it does not break it signifies blessedness; if broken, it means single blessedness. Take the initial of the loved one. Take three or four thistle heads and cut off their points. Name and put under the pillow. The one which sprouts in the night is the lover.

The fortune cake is sometimes made for Hallowe'en. The ring etc., can be obtained at jewelry and souvenir stores. To make the cake cream together three-fourths of a cup of butter, one and one-fourth cups of fine white sugar, the yolk of one egg and one-half cup of flour, juice of one lemon, two cups of flour, scant half cup of milk, one-half cup of citron, sliced almonds, one-half cup of blanched almonds sliced, two cups of flour, with two and a half teaspoons of baking powder, and at the last the whites of seven eggs beaten stiff. When putting into the pan distribute in a thimble, one ring, one dime, one penny, one cent, the meaning of each symbol is explained on the card. Ice the cake smoothly when cold.

NORTHERN LIGHTS DUE, SAYS ALERT OBSERVER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—All those interested in the Northern Lights should be on the alert and watch the northern skies closely on clear evenings the more so when such skies are accompanied by west and northerly winds. For such vigilance occasional reward will come in seeing the sky lit up with the aurora and the beautiful pride of the arctic nights in its many wonderful forms ever varying, and which has held all science puzzled until very recently, and even now the riddle is not all solved.

Just at present the earth is approaching the period of maximum auroral activity, centering some time in 1916, such a period occurring about every eleven years; so, from now on, until next year the Northern Lights will increase both in frequency and brightness. For some unknown reason the aurora especially favors the months of March and October or April and November; therefore the time now at hand is unusually favorable for such displays.

All recent investigations prove conclusively that the aurora is of electrical origin and its height above the earth's surface has been calculated to vary between forty-five and ninety miles in the large displays that over a wide area but it is thought that display which takes place near the magnetic poles sometimes come down within a few miles of the earth. Such measurements are made by two photographs simultaneously at two or three stations of known distance apart and angle of altitude, and a comparison of the auroral arch exposes the secret.

The mystery comes when the auroral light is analysed by the spectroscopist, for although such an analysis is almost identical to that shown by the glow caused by the passage of electricity through rarefied gases, it has besides a greenish hand of light that has not been seen in any other substance.

ANNUAL SESSION GRAND DIVISION SONS OF TEMPERANCE

There was an unusual large attendance at the annual session of the Grand Division, held at Freetown on Tuesday last. Only two officers were absent. The regular reports showed that, in spite of adverse conditions caused by the war the order held its own in membership during the last year, and slightly increased the financial balance. A very large business programme was completed, and provision made for further and more progressive work. An important resolution was passed, first by the Grand Division and afterwards approved by the big public meeting, calling the attention of both Local and District Governments to the special temptations thrown in the way of our Military Boys and praying for more effective protection. The officers for the incoming year were elected as follows:—

Grand Worthy Patriarch, Rev. (W.D.) Wilson.
Grand Worthy Associate, Wellington Haslam.
Grand Scribe, J. F. Proffit.
Grand Chaplain, Rev. E. S. Weeks B. A.
Grand Conductor, Miss Edwards.
Grand Sentinel, Alex Cairns.
Past Grand Worthy Patriarch, L.P. Tanton.
Grand Patron, J. H. Hoggood.
The usual public meeting was held in the evening at which the hall was well filled, many having to stand outside the entrance. The programme was splendidly rendered, as below, and after the usual thanks the court-esses one of the best sessions held for many years was brought to a close.

Appreciation of the splendid manner in which the Members of Harmony of Freetown and also the good people of Freetown and the delegates delegates was freely expressed. The retiring Grand Worthy Patriarch was as follows:—

GRAND WORTHY PATRIARCH'S REPORT.

At the close of another quarter, and the end of another Division year, we meet to consider and deal with those matters affecting the best interests of our Order, and for the betterment of temperance work in our Island home.

We have in the past made the proud boast of our progress and advanced position as a province, in prohibition, and in the suppression of the liquor traffic. Without reflecting upon splendid advantages of our anti-saloon law, even under a weak and only partial enforcement, let me say that our temperance people must arouse themselves to greater energy, if they wish to preserve these laurels and avoid being hurled into the rear-guard of prohibition reform, or to become a by-word and reproach amongst progressive workers, scoring their victories and advancement in almost every area of civilization. In our province this work is practically at a stand still, while in every country, where temperance is at issue, the successes exceed every record in the world's history. Last year I pointed out to you, that the falling off of revenues from intoxicants, in the United States alone, amounted to eight millions of dollars. The United States department of Inland Revenue, this year reports a falling off of seventeen million dollars. This claim is made, that seven years of prohibition equal to this would wipe out the traffic in the American Republic. This is history, nearly everywhere outside of P. E. Island.

During the past quarter I had the pleasure of attending the anniversary of "Reformers' Division," which was largely paragonized and a crowning success. I had hoped to conduct some propagation work this fall, but the pressing business engagements of our esteemed Grand Scribe deprived me of its assistance, and in our uncertain state of health I did not feel justified in undertaking the task alone.

In my two years incumbency as your residing officer, four new Divisions have been added to the roll, and a membership increase of over twenty per cent. While this is something to be grateful for, yet it is sadly short of what should have been in this province there is ample room for many more Divisions, and a very large increase in adherent. In the new officers which you select today, let your voice be singled for those whose souls are tuned to our work, and whose labours we may expect to result in expanding the influence of our noble Order.

Prominent amongst those members who during the year have passed to their eternal reward, I mention P.G. W.P. Simon W. Crabbe whose death occurred yesterday. Our late Brother Crabbe, in earlier days, was one of the most energetic and esteemed members of the Order, and up to the period of his illness was a consistent advocate and faithful supporter of all temperance work. As a Son of Temperance and as a public spirited citizen his demise makes a distinct loss to the community.

I have to thank both Grand and Subordinate Divisions for universal kindness and courtesy during my two years in office. During this period we have not had an unkind word or discordant note. All have been united in love for Order and our work.

What shall the future bring us; who can tell? The nations of the world are being ravaged and mutilated by a cruel and brutish war in which the establishments of peace and principles of justice, trembling as in a great balance are championed by the life blood of the best boys, the best men, and in many cases the best women of our Empire. Over fifteen thousand Sons of Temperance, including many from our province are facing the carnage and peril of the battle field in this conflict for right. Victoria Division alone, has twelve, one fourth of its membership wearing the Kings uniform, some of these already to the front. Let us pray that the great God of battles may give them victory, give them honour and return them in safety home.

This absence of our best members from the Division rooms, the absorption of public attention by patriotic benevolent and recruiting efforts is weakening to our Division work. During the war those at home will have a hard task to maintain our prestige, and perchance our very existence. Let each member then feel that his duty to the order is also a duty to our country, and let all seek to measure up the extra call of this strenuous period. In the presence of gloom and when dark clouds overshadow, let us not forget, that—

Gods purposes will ripen fast, unfolding every hour; The bud may have a bitter taste but sweet will be the flower.

Commending you to the guidance of the Great Patriarch in your deliberations and in the furtherance of our cause, I look and hope and pray for a brighter grander future,

Fraternally, IN L. P. & F. LEWIS P. TANTON.

ARE WE TOO FRIVOLOUS?

Dear Sir—It must be very plain to us all that the present war is the most critical period through which our beloved Empire has ever been called on to pass. The peril now hanging over our nation I fear is not seriously taken into account by the average citizen. This can be clearly seen by the lack of seriousness manifested all round, even from quarters from which one might expect a different spirit. The terrible war now raging in Europe, and fast spreading its destroying flames towards Asia, surpasses anything in the line of warfare ever witnessed since the beginning of the world. In view of these facts it is only reasonable that people should ask the question: is there any other cause for this horrible condition of things other than the Kaiser's thirst for power and conquest? To my mind there is some other cause more far reaching, though less talked of than the above. All who believe that God Almighty is the great dispenser of all things must admit that He permitted this war to come about for reasons of His own. What those reasons may be should be very apparent to every Bible student. When we look back over the history of the Israelitish people we find that whenever they drifted away from God, and fell into idolatry and sin, great calamities were sure to overtake them. In almost every case, those visitations would come in the shape of war, pestilence or famine. They were on many occasions defeated by heathenish nations, and sometimes carried away into captivity. It must be very clear to every casual observer that many of the nations now at war have drifted away from God. Our own beloved British nation has for a long time been drifting away from her former religious condition. The men of our day are not the pious God fearing people our forefathers were. Germany, France and Italy—in fact most of the warring nations have most wantonly drifted away from God and religion.

If the present terrible conflict now raging in Europe is what I believe it is, a general chastisement—from the hand of the Almighty to bring those nations back to himself, what manner of men and women should we in Canada be? Should peace be declared to-morrow, after almost fifteen months of this cruel war, how much better religiously would we be as a result? If no religious improvement is shown, then according to the above conditions the end of the war is not yet in sight, and the declaration of peace is yet away in the distant future. The wickedness of Ninveh of old was so great that God sent Jonah to cry out on the streets of that City. Yet forty days and Ninveh will be destroyed. Notwithstanding this declaration we find that a repentant spirit on the part of the inhabitants, particularly those in authority, with an outward manifestation of grief for their sins caused the Almighty to spare them, and they were not destroyed at that time.

Our brave soldiers are leaving our shores by the thousands, many of whom we will never see again. The sad news of the death of many who went forth to fight our battles has been ringing in our ears ever since the war began, and those of us who have friends on the firing line don't know when our turn will come to mourn. In the face of all this sadness in many homes, even many of the special functions arranged for to give our brave boys a send off and bid them farewell, is marked with levity and foolishness. Seldom one hears anything said about God at all—just as if He had nothing to do with the present condition of things. Many other foolish and questionable gatherings, dances, cardplays and what not are ever encouraged from some of our very pulpits to raise funds for different Military purposes. Our people are not willing to give of their wealth or small means to help along in this great struggle unless they get some value for their paltry offerings in the shape of eatables or amusements. Oh how generous and loyal we are! Do we take into consideration for one moment that when we are amusing ourselves to our heart's content pretending to be very patriotic and loyal, our brave friends and fellow citizens may be bleeding the last drop of their life blood in the battlefields of far France or Flanders, without any one to raise their aching heads or give them a drop of cold water to make life's last moments easier? I claim that this is a time for praying God our brave friends and fellow citizens may be bleeding the last drop of their life blood in the battlefields of far France or Flanders, without any one to raise their aching heads or give them a drop of cold water to make life's last moments easier?
