Little Soldiers

In your blood are the millions of corpuscles that defend you against disease.

To make and keep these little soldiers healthy and strong, is simply to make and keep the blood of the right quality and quantity.

This is just what Hood's Sarsaparilla does—it helps the little soldiers in your blood to fight disease for you.

It cures scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism, anæmia, nervousness, dyspepsia, general debility, and builds up the whole system.

The Northumberland arrived in port last evening at six thirty.

The mail train came in last night at ten thirty.

The police are at present investigating the breaking of a number of the headstones in the old Roman Catholic Cemetery, quite a few of these having been found knocked down and broken. It is not known whether or not the Cemetery was visited on Halloween night, but it is certain that if the investigations being now proceeded with result in the apprehension of the guilty parties, they will not be dealt with leniently.

Persons unable to get No 133, The Guardian news department, by phone at any hour are asked to ring 124 as it is useless to call up any other number. In the interim, between the hour of closing Saturday night and that of opening in the early morning of Monday, communications and news can be dropped in the letter box of The Guardian main entrance, and further enquiries can be made by phoning above.

The marriage took place at Hillhurst at high noon yesterday of Miss M. Louise Longworth to Louis Ruprecht of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Rev T. W. Murphy, Rector of St Paul's Church officiating. The bride, who was given away by her brother C. H. B. Longworth, looked charming in a travelling gown of ashes-of-roses broadcloth with beaver hat and feathers shading to the same color. She wore the gift of the groom an exquisite pendant of diamonds and Kuntzites, set in platinum, and ermine furs the gift of C. H. B. and Mrs Longworth. Miss Etta Farquharson, in rose satin, with large panne velvet hat and plumes, carrying a bouquet of pale pink chrysanthemums, and little Ellen Longworth niece of bride, as flower girl, in a dainty pink chiffon frock, with Kate Greenwood way bonnet to match, carrying a basket of pink pompon chrysanthemums, made charming attendants upon the bride. Both wore pearl monogram brooches the gift of the groom. H. E. MacGowan of New York was groomsmen, and wore the gift of the groom a pink pearl and diamond scarf pin. The wedding party numbered about forty, including relatives and intimate friends. Mrs Longworth, mother of the bride, was gowned in black Duchess satin with jet and draperies of heavy silk net and carried white chrysanthemums. Mrs C. H. B. Longworth, sister-in-law of the bride, wore pale pink satin with Irish lace, and hat of pink tulle with plumes. A lady called at The Guardian Office yesterday to say that on Saturday last, while two young men from this city were walking near the St Peter's road crossing, they were accosted by a young man with a revolver, who threatened to shoot if they did not move on. As it is a serious matter for any one to carry firearms a word to the wise is sufficient. Whether the threat was made as a joke or otherwise is not known as the young men did not know the party who accosted them.
