LOVE

Teaching love in the schools so that pupils will be so well trained to make scientific selections of spouses that they will never seek divorce, was the solution of the marriage and divorce problem urged by the Rev. George L. Parker, of Salem, recently. He spoke in answer to questions regarding his statements at the Congregational Ministers' Meeting in Pilgrim Hall that "people of today do not know how to love." "The Bible, properly interpreted, is a good text book on love," the pastor said. "It teaches not only Divine, but human, love as well. "From the age of seven the child loves. But not being trained he loves crudely. The time to choose a spouse comes. That is an important scientific task. If the child while growing up is taught how to select the mate the selection will be so good that nothing in the world can break the bond. "Love is capable of being reduced to scientific formulae, like mathematics. Start to impress on the child the meaning of universal and brotherly love. Show him that this being a social world, and co-operation being necessary, man must love his fellow man. You get that from the Bible. "Then train the child to observe how lovable qualities can be detected in others. Once he can detect them, let him take persons of the opposite sex, and measure one against the other in love points, so to speak.

ALGONQUIN NATIONAL PARK.

The high altitude of the Algonquin National Park of Ontario is one of the attractions and has much to do with the benefit derived from a visit to it. The elevation above sea level at Algonquin Park Station, the objective point on the railway, is 1700 Ft. There is tonic quality to the air which must be experienced to be understood. With prevailing winds from the north and the west, the air is purified by its journey over the millions of square miles of forest land, much of which is pine and balsam. "The Highland Inn" offers exceptionally good accommodation to visitors and any season of the year is a good time to visit this territory. The Inn is open all the year round.
