Pte. Gerald Barry, who was confined to the Charlottetown Hospital for two weeks was released last week and spent the weekend with his wife and family here. Pte. Barry will leave the island this week to re-join his company somewhere in Canada.

Mrs. Walter Connolly, Boston, arrived in Morell late Friday night with three of her children. Mrs. Connolly will spend the summer here. Mrs. Connolly before her marriage was Mary Rossiter. Her husband is also with the N. Y. N. H. and Hartford Railways.

Little playmates of Patsy Docherty, will regret to learn of her illness as her summer home here.

Scores of friends here were shocked last week to hear of the sudden passing of C. J. McInnis, at Mount Stewart. His funeral to St. Andrew's from his old home in Savage Harbor, was the largest seen for some time. Mrs. McInnis, leaves one sister, Mrs. Temple Murphy, on the old home stead, besides other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Blanche Squires, City, was a visitor to Morell, on Friday evening.

Mrs. Margaret Cullen, of the nursing staff at Falconwood Hospital, sent Friday afternoon at her home in Morell.

Mr. Anselm Lepierre, head chef in the home for infirm, spent Friday afternoon and evening at his home here.

Rev. Phalen McKenna, has returned from a trip to Boston.

During the fierce electrical storm around midnight on Friday while Reggie McAdam was driving his truck down the beach at St. Peter's Harbor to his shanty he lost his way and drove out into the Harbor. Two trucks from the transfer truck out. The heavy truck of Dingswell and Rossiter, was sent for around 3 a. m. and succeeded in hauling the two trucks from the beach. Mr. McAdam, reported the lightning was so heavy that his lights were useless and he thought he was right until he saw the water and felt the truck sinking.

The Gordon Pew Fish Company of Gloucester Mass., will buy cod fish here again this summer. As yet no price has been set.

SHOES BIG ITEM IN COUPON COUNT

LONDON, July 8—Capt. Oliver Lyttelton didn't even tell his wife that clothes would be rationed in Britain, she discovered, and like thousands of other British mothers Lady Moria Lyttelton spent the first few days after the "blow" planning how to pool the precious coupons for her family of three sons and a daughter. Capt. Lyttelton was president of the Board of Trade before his recent appointment as War Cabinet representative in the Middle East.

Lady Moria, sister of the Duke of Leeds, decided the first necessity was shoes for her four-year-old son Nicholas, who is "most heavy on them" and the next was to buy wool for knitting.

"Mothers and fathers will have to sacrifice some of their coupons for the children for I can see that a good portion of the children's ration will go in shoes," she said. Lady Moria predicted a great many of her 68 coupons would go for wool because she uses a great deal "not only for knitting for the family but also for making clothes for bombed-out people."

Acknowledging new spring outfits were "a thing of the past," Lady Moria urged mothers to save as many coupons as possible for the winter "when we are going to feel the pinch."

GOVERNMENT ASSUMES CARE OF YOUNGSTERS

LONDON, July 8 —(CP)—The Health Ministry and Board of Education announced the Government is taking over financial responsibility for all wartime nurseries and, under a scheme to speed up provision of nurseries for all children under five, new ones will be opened all over Britain so that mothers who go out to work will be able to leave their children in safe hands.

Hitherto, nurseries giving full day care have been mainly for children of women in munition factories. Now all mothers who go out to work for the whole day will get these facilities. The centers will be set up in any type of area—vacation, neutral or reception.

The changes were announced in a circular to local authorities which said that war has disturbed family life more and more as the range of evacuation and the employment of women have increased.

The lobster fishermen have completed their season's work and a number beached their boats on Dominion Day while a few are still trying their luck. The catches which are reported scarce. The lobster packers had a good year as the supply held up well.

A number of people in this and other nearby communities have been suffering from a bad attack of flu and several have been quite ill but no serious complications have developed.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker have returned to their home in Boston after a pleasant holiday in Sea View. The guests of Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coulson.

The examination of Sea View School was held on Friday afternoon, June 27th. In spite of the downpour of rain there was a good attendance of visitors. The different grades were thoroughly examined by their teachers and the ready and correct answers showed plainly the painstaking efforts of the teacher. At the close of the examination a short programme was well carried out by the pupils as follows with Mr. Arthur Stewart presiding.

Solo, Wallace Murphy with guitar accompaniment. Quartette, Dorothy Murphy, Thelma Campbell, Audrey Adams, Wallace Murphy. Prizes were then awarded by the chairman for General Proficiency from the teacher Miss Vera Brandt to the best girl in school Marie Adams.

The best boy in school, George Donald. The rest of the prizes were awarded according to grade.

Veida Duggan, Ruby Adams, Robert Murphy, Wallace Campbell, Pauline Adams, Max Murphy, Sheldon Adams and Leigh Hiltz. An address was then read to the teacher by Wallace Murphy and the presentation of a nice gift to the teacher on behalf of the pupils was made by Leigh Stewart. The teacher though completely surprised expressed her thanks to all for their great kindness in remembering her and spoke of the happy relations that existed between them during the past year. The chairman made some pleasing remarks regarding the splendid showing of the pupils. A bountiful treat was then enjoyed by all. The teacher and the singing of the National Anthem brought this pleasant gathering to a close.

Mrs. Arthur McKay entertained the members of the Willing Workers Band of Darnley at her home on Saturday afternoon. There was a good attendance of members. In the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. McKay led the meeting and opened by singing God Save The Little Sparrow. Mrs. McKay was appointed to act in the absence of the secretary. Mrs. McKay was repeated in unison the Mission Band Purpose Prayer. Each member then gave a short reading on Summer. Minutes were read and roll call was answered with a verse of Scripture and the business discussed. It was decided to hold their next meeting at the beach at Darnley. An interesting chapter from the Study Book was read by the Rev. Mr. Crowds. Hymns were also led in. Not to Temptation was sung and all joined in sentence prayers. The singing of the National Anthem brought this meeting to a close.

Rev. Mr. Crowds held a baptismal service in Darnley Hall on Sunday afternoon; there was a good gathering. The Sacrament of Baptism was administered to three little ones, after which Rev. Mr. Crowds gave an appropriate address. The hymns sang were suitable to the occasion. Closing hymn, What A Friend We Have In Jesus, brought this gathering to a close after which the Sunday School of this community was reorganized for another summer's activities with an efficient staff of teachers.

Miss Margaret Adams and Miss Vera Brander were visitors to Charlottetown attending the annual convention of delegates from the Sea View W. I.

Friends in this community were sorry to learn of the passing of Mr. Duncay Sudbury at the age of 68 years at his home in Sea View in the quiet of the Sabbath evening, June 29th, after a short illness. He seemed to recover but later serious complications developed which finally terminated in his death in spite of medical skill and kind care. The deceased was of a quiet and unassuming disposition a kind and obliging neighbor and friend and his home but in the community where he has been a resident for so long. The funeral service was held from his late residence on Tuesday afternoon; a large number were present at the home and grave was conducted by Rev. Mr. Fream who spoke many kind words of sympathy. His message was also hopeful and full of comfort. The hymns sang were The Lord's Prayer and Jesus Lover Of My Soul and Rock of Ages. After the benediction was pronounced the remains were borne to the cemetery adjacent St. Stephen's in the family plot and interred. The bearers were: Casley Adams, Guthrie Adams, Amos Adams, William Adams, James Adams, Charles Duggan. There are left to mourn his passing his sorrowing widow, two daughters, Mrs. Arthur McKay, Park Corner, Miss Marion at home, also one son Eric of Baltic. Two brothers, William and Charles of Kensington and one sister, Mrs. Hensley of Kensington. Kind sympathy is extended to all in their sorrow and bereavement.

Friends regret the illness of Mr. Elston McKay of pneumonia at Malpeque where he had been employed in the barber shop.

40,000,000 RASHERS A YEAR

Britain's householders, laughing at Hitler's threats to starve them into submission, are joining Pig Clubs in which members keep their own pigs mainly on household and garden waste.

In less than a year over 800 of these clubs have been formed, and 40,000 pigs, representing about 1,500 tons of bacon, have been produced largely on food which would otherwise have been wasted. If all the bacon were sliced into rashers it would give 40,000,000 of them a year.

There are two types of clubs, those in which each member owns a pig and those in which all pigs are owned co-operatively.

Although the former type, with arrangements for mutual insurance and other services, was in past years a feature of English village life, the co-operative club is a wartime innovation.

This is essentially a domestic scheme, and not more than four pigs are kept per member. Two of them may be killed for household use and the other two are sold to the Ministry of Food to go into the general pool.

This Britain's small pigkeepers are not only supplying their own bacon needs from the scraps they collect but they are contributing a useful amount of additional meat to the nation's larder.

POULTRY DON'TS

Don't forget to keep a dry mash always before them.

Don't forget a freshly mixed mash is more appetizing.

Don't forget to feed cod liver oil in winter.

Don't forget that sunshine is poultry's best friend.

Don't forget that real high production depends on their own food.

Don't forget to remove sick birds.

Don't forget to keep down mites.

Don't forget the crowding is dangerous.

Don't forget that sanitation is important.

Don't keep birds lacking in vigor.

Don't keep poultry if you dislike them.

Don't keep poultry if it doesn't pay.

Don't keep too-old hens, they don't lay well.

Don't forget to cull out the loafer.

Don't forget that damp litter reduces production.

CABBAGE CATERPILLARS CONTROL BY DUSTING

Dusting with arsenate of lead and hydrated lime is the most widely recommended remedy for the voracious green caterpillar, also known as the imported cabbage worm, which feeds on cabbages and cauliflowers, eating large circular holes in the leaves and at times boring into the centre of the plants. One part of the poison, states Alan G. Duxton, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture, should be mixed with eight parts of hydrated lime and dusted on the plants in the early morning or late evening when the leaves are wet with dew. Particular attention should be paid to the central portions of the cabbages and cauliflowers as the caterpillars prefer to feed there. Two or three applications should be made as required, care being taken to apply the dust immediately feeding becomes evident. Due to the waxy condition of the leaves, spraying has not given satisfactory results. If the plants have to be treated shortly before being marketed, fresh pyrethrum powder should be used.

the first of the "blitz." More money than Shylock ever thought of is being shipped out in a steady stream to destinations which mean while must remain undisclosed.

It costs quite a lot to make it: one recent order for currency notes meant a bill of £500,000 to the foreign State concerned.

The cost is not surprising when it is remembered that, if a country orders some millions of currency notes, it will naturally demand something which will defeat the cleverest of forgers. Britain's bank note makers achieve this end by the use of specially prepared papers and watermarks, by trick printing and by the most delicate engraving. An engraver, who earns his £1,000 a year, will spend weeks, full time, to complete a tiny portrait to defy the forger.

The head on a bank note, very little bigger than half-a-crown, will cost £600 to produce.
