(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—British subjects arriving in the United States yesterday on the Leviathan, numbering 358, probably cannot now be admitted to the United States and may have to be deported as immigrants inadmissible under the quota immigration law.

The shipping board was notified of the fact today by Commissioner General of Immigration Husband.

POINCARÉ STANDS FIRM FOR TREATY OF VERSAILLES

Declares France Must Not be Deprived of Her Guarantees for Payment of German Debt and Charges That Germany now is Seeking Pity from Anglo-Saxons to Defeat Aims of French.

(Canadian Press) BRIVE, France, Nov. 5.—Premier Poincaré speaking at the unveiling of a monument to the war dead of Brive, today again defined his position as regards Germany's reparation payments. He did not show the slightest variation of his speech from his previous declarations. The Premier said the experts' committee of the Reparation Commission must not be allowed to become the indirect means of raising the question of the amount of Germany's debt, nor must France be deprived of her guarantees prior to the total payment of reparations. France, M. Poincaré declared, would remain within the framework of the treaty "before, during and after" the work of the experts' committee. M. Poincaré made no direct reference to the question of a limitation of the powers of the experts' committee, which has been the subject of much argument during the past two or three days. In fact, he never referred directly to the United States, except when he said he had made it a point to leave no room for ambiguity on these matters in the best interests of France and "the Allies and associates," whenever he used the word "capacities" the Premier always placed the word "present" before it. In his speech M. Poincaré dealt with what he called "Germany's brazen propaganda attempt" to bring about Anglo-Saxon pity by issuing illustrated leaflets showing she had paid in cash and kind to an amount of 56,000,000,000 gold marks, of which France, he said, had only received 344,000,000 net above the expenses of the army of occupation and advances. With a seeming touch of scorn, M. Poincaré dismissed the British note with reference to an independent Rhineland by remarking that he was unable to grasp the reasoning of it, which appeared to him contrary to the principles of the rights of peoples. "We never promised to protect" (Continued on Page 3.)

AIRPLANE DUEL SMASHES ALL RECORDS

Winning Aviator Covers Course at 274.2 Miles Per Hour

(Canadian Press) MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Lieut. Alford J. Williams and Lieut. Harold J. Brown, United States Navy aviators, today fought a speed duel in the air and Williams won after both had smashed records. Williams, former pitcher for the New York Giants, captured the record of 259.16 miles an hour set by Brown last Friday over a three kilometer course, lost it again to Brown and recaptured it just as dusk was setting in. Williams' unofficial time, which remains to be officially verified, was an average of 266.5 miles an hour over a three kilometer course. Brown, however, travelled faster than ever mortal man had, doing one leg with the wind, at a rate of 274.2 miles per hour. Both flyers who have been battling for speed in the air for several days are due to renew their duel tomorrow.

BONAR LAW NOW RESTS IN HISTORIC WESTMINSTER

Funeral Service Was One of Solemn Splendour and was Attended by a Vast Number of Friends, Members of the Nobility, Government Officials and Diplomats.

(Canadian Press) LONDON, Nov. 5.—Former Premier Andrew Bonar Law was laid to rest in Westminster Abbey today amid the solemn splendour of a public funeral service which was attended by a vast gathering of friends of all political shades, members of the nobility, government officials and diplomats. The presence of all the Dominion prime ministers in London made the gathering representative of the whole empire, while Premier Baldwin at the head of a large group of ministers and former ministers, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London and Diplomats of all nations were in their places to represent the political, religious and diplomatic circles of life with which the late Premier came into contact. Representatives of the King and Queen and other royalties were among the prominent figures here to give requiem honors. Seats for some two thousand persons were arranged but they provided for but a fraction of those requesting admission and the public were allowed only a small number of tickets, as the personal friends commanded many hundreds. The service started at noon when the coffin was received by the minor canons at the side door of the Abbey and escorted to a place before the altar. The Dean of Westminster and the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of London officiated. Only a few words were spoken by the Dean after the service; then the coffin was carried, followed by a group of the empire's most distinguished personages, to a spot in the Abbey yet to be designated, where the body was laid in its final honored resting place. The songs sung at the service were chosen by Bonar Law's family from among his favorites and were rendered by the choir of the Abbey and the chapel royal of St. James Palace. The honor of burial among the greatest men of the empire's past of contemporary statesmen that no one has been accorded it since Gladstone was buried there twenty years ago. The modesty of Bonar Law during his career tempted the family at first to refuse the signature, but a personal visit from the Dean of Westminster and the urgings of many friends prevailed. LONDON, Nov. 5.—The ashes of Andrew Bonar Law who was Britain, but perhaps the most modest man upon whom the honor was ever conferred were entombed today in Westminster Abbey before a vast and distinguished gathering of foremost people in Great Britain but with little pomp or splendor. LONDON, Nov. 5.—Ten pall bearers walked behind the casket which was borne by non-commissioned officers from the two regiments to which Bonar Law's sons belonged when they fell in action. The honorary pall bearers were the Prince of Wales, Premier Baldwin, John Whitley, Speaker of the House, former Treasurers Balfour and Asquith, Viscount Fitzalan, former Governor General of Ireland, Lords Carson and Beaverbrook, Austen Chamberlain and Ramsay MacDonald. LONDON, Nov. 5.—Premier McKenzie King, Hon. George P. Graham and Hon. P. C. Larkin Canadian High Commissioner in London represented Canada at the funeral today of the late Andrew Bonar Law. Among the wreaths was a person at one from Premier King and another inscribed "From the government and people of Canada."

CHEMIST SLAYER WHOSE TOUCH MEANT DEATH

Professional Murderer Whose Mania Was to Kill by Chemical Means Has Long Record of Victims Among Whom are Relatives, Friends and Mere Acquaintances—Now Enters Upon Fifteen Year Prison Term in Munich Jail.

(United Press) BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Robert Huber, whose every touch meant death, whose record of murdered victims includes relatives and friends, whole families and mere acquaintances; whose weird profession of poison and bacilli murdering brought him wealth and power, influence and position—today sits in a Munich jail beginning his fifteen year imprisonment. Huber, whose mania was to kill by chemical means, thwarted the efforts of police for months. Even when he was captured the court refused to convict him of more than "robbery" in connection with his last escapade, wherein he stole a quantity of valuable jewelry from two of his best friends—man and wife—who were found near death from poison the morning after. Huber's trail was full of circumstances—whom he touched died mysteriously and quickly of some strange poisonous disease—or developed serious illnesses, abscesses, etc., as a result of poisoning. Huber is a chemist. As a child he learned the trade, working at odd times in various laboratories, until he finally obtained a medical degree. Huber worked with crystals, bacilli, atropine, digitalis and strychnine. Wherever he went he carried a little flask and whenever he left someone with whom he had come in contact, he became suddenly and mysteriously ill—often fatally. Huber became rich. His demonic activities, which destroyed his friends and relatives to his financial gain, brought him from bourgeois poverty to wealth in maturity.

SOME RETURNS OF ALBERTA VOTE ON PROHIBITION

(Canadian Press) CALGARY, Nov. 5.—Early returns from a few scattered rural polls in today's prohibition plebiscite showed that clause D for government control was in the lead in the first choices. Early scattered returns showed the contest between prohibition and government control, beer propositions as presented by clauses B and C getting little support. CALGARY, Nov. 5.—At six fifteen with no city returns yet on hand results from country polls so far reported were: A—1,609. B—229. C—198. D—1,520. The four options on which the public had to vote on were the following: A—Continuance and development of the existing liquor legislation. B—Sale of beer in licensed hotels and other premises under the bill prepared by the Hotelmen's Association. C—Sale of beer by or through government vendors for consumption on private premises. D—Sale of all liquors through government vendors on a permit system in limited quantities to be consumed on licensed premises. CALGARY, Nov. 5.—At six-forty-five with one hundred and sixty-five polls reported out of two thousand two hundred and eighty-four there was a majority of 2,200 in favor of clause D which means government control over A which means continued prohibition. The beer clauses were out of running. The vote was:—3,057. A. 3,410. C. 287. D. 5,763. CALGARY, Nov. 5.—Returns from every section of the province were steadily increasing the lead of "moderation" over prohibition and at seven fifteen P. appeared that clause D had carried by a majority which might reach large figures. City polls do not close until eight o'clock but it is expected they will give wet majorities.

Dominion Premiers Review British Fleet

(Canadian Press) PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 5.—In the grey mists of early November, the Dominion premiers on Saturday reviewed the Atlantic fleet. A great many of those present in 1914 were there.

(Canadian Press) JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 5.—Five bandits, armed with rifles, robbed the First National Bank of Johnston, thirty miles from here, today and escaped with $2,000, after wounding one man. Before they got away they stole three machines, two of which soon broke down. A partial check-up at noon revealed the loss to be more than first supposed. President Miller said that the cash and currency loss would be at least $25,000 and that approximately $100,000 in bonds were taken.

Says Vancouver Needs Elevators

(Canadian Press) WINNIPEG, Nov. 5.—Speaking of the development of the port of Vancouver, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who has just returned from a western tour, said that more elevators were urgently needed at Vancouver and that they would undoubtedly be erected as speedily as possible. There was also a public agitation for a third Government pier at Vancouver, but he could not say whether this addition would be favored at Ottawa. "Vancouver is booming and the port is getting a great deal of the business which used to go to the United States Pacific ports," Mr. Lapointe said.

Mutilated and Partly Burned Body of Victim Found

(Canadian Press) CALGARY, Nov. 5.—With her limbs horribly mutilated and partially burned the body of Miss Minnie Tollestrup, aged seventeen, daughter of F. C. Tollestrup, a well known farmer of the Raymond district was taken from a smouldering straw stack on the farm of Arthur Dahl, two miles from Tollestrup farm by a search party on Saturday night. Two hours later members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Provincial and Lethbridge police were scouring the country for Joe Blackhorse, alias "Two Stab," suspected of the murder. The whole south country is greatly stirred. Every farmer is carrying a gun and armed men are closing in on the suspected murderer.

GERMANS NOW ARE HUNGRY IN THE MIDST OF PLENTY

(United Press) BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Germany thought it hungered during the war. Today it begins to know the real meaning of the word hunger. Strangely enough hunger in the midst of plenty! Bursting barns in East Prussia, Pommern, Brandenburg and elsewhere. Foodless homes in Berlin and other big cities; countless dwellings to accentuate the gnawing at the stomach. That is the picture presented in Germany as the leaves of Autumn are shaken off by the cold blasts of winter. Growing unemployment and short-time labor in the belching mills and mines of Prussia, the Ruhr and Rhineland are part of the answer for this hunger. But, on the other hand, the fatal inflation policy of post-war days has led to a situation where today peasants and big landowners sell nothing to the metropolis against paper money. The Government hopes its new renaissance will be ready by mid-November. Then the peasants are ready to disgorge. But the month intervening between the time of writing and the accomplishment of this new currency is a month fraught with misgivings for those who rule the nation and those who would support their families. In the last few weeks thousands of workers have been thrown onto the streets. Those still working must content themselves with two or three days work weekly. For this they have been getting about $1 or $2. This means about two huge black bread loaves, a few pounds of potatoes, a little lard to spread on the bread. Nothing more. That is the picture in the homes of trained machinists. For the unemployed, their doles from the State the past week or two have not been sufficient even to buy one four-pound loaf of bread. One wonders outside perhaps at "food riots," and hears that "communism" is growing in Germany. There is nothing political about stomachs, however. A workless dole equal to 2 cents a day has been the amount the State has been paying recently. This buys no bread and no potatoes.
