Death Yesterday Of General Booth

General Bramwell Booth, Former Head Of The Salvation Army, Passed Away Yesterday At His Home In England

(Canadian Press)
HADLEY WOOD, Eng., June 16.—(A. P.)—General Bramwell Booth, former head of the Salvation Army, died at his home here tonight.

The late General William Bramwell Booth, was the eldest son of the late General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. He was born at Halifax, Yorkshire, in 1856, became an officer in the Salvation Army in 1874, and was appointed Chief of the Staff in 1880, a position which he held until his father's death in 1912, when he became General. He organized the first social relief operations of the Army, of which he had charge from the time when it began to extend its activities abroad. As General he travelled extensively on behalf of the Salvation Army in Europe, the United States, Canada, India, Australia and New Zealand. He originated the training system for officers in the organization, and did much to develop foreign missions.

General Booth was prominent in the campaign against the white slave traffic. In 1885, as a result of his part in the social purity agitation, he was indicted with the late W. T. Stead and others on a technical charge and was subsequently acquitted. The action proved to a sceptical public that young girls could be bought and sold under the most degrading circumstances, and it was largely due to this agitation that the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1885, was passed.

General Booth was ably assisted in his work by his wife, Florence, herself a Salvation Army officer whom he married in 1882.

Some months ago General Booth was reported seriously ill. At a general conference of the Army staff in England he was relieved of his command, though much against his wishes.

WOULD ABOLISH PLURAL VOTING

(Canadian Press)
KILSYTH, Scotland, June 15.—(C. P. Cable)—A forecast of the Labor government's response to the Liberal demand for reform in the electoral laws was made by the Under-Secretary for Scotland, Hon. Tom Johnson, speaking here today. Labor would deal with electoral reform in a way over which Mr. Lloyd-George would not be too happy, he declared. They would abolish university representation and also plural voting, which permits persons filling certain residential and business qualifications to vote in two constituencies, and would insist on limitation of expenses. The government would also put in requirements of detailed accounts of the source and expenditure of campaign funds, as intimated by Mr. MacDonald during the campaign, in order to preclude any party spending $4,000,000 on any election, Mr. Johnson asserted. This last was a reference to the amount Liberals are believed to have expended.

SUDDEN DEATH SEES CLASH OF WELL KNOWN WITH U. S. WAR VETERAN COASTGUARD

Stricken With Heart Failure, Mr. John Proud Passed Away on Saturday Night. Had Splendid Record as Soldier and City Fireman.

The sudden death occurred in this city at 11.30 on Saturday night of Mr. John Proud, caretaker of the G. W. V. A. home, widely known and esteemed as a member of the Fire Department and a veteran of the South African war and the recent Great War. The deceased, who was returning home after visiting the barber shop, took a weak turn and collapsed at the Bank of Commerce corner.

He requested a young lad named Peters to go to his home nearby for assistance, but before the boy could return it was found that Mr. Proud had passed away. He had been in ill health for the past two weeks, and had suffered especially during the past few days from severe pain about the heart. He was under medical treatment and was preparing to leave this week for Camp Hill hospital, Halifax, for special examination and treatment.

The late Mr. Proud, who was sixty-nine years of age, was a native of this Province and was one of the most popular citizens of Charlottetown. As a member of the Fire Department for the past thirty-three years, he performed heroic work, time and again, in saving property and lives in this city. In his younger days he was noted for his daring and ability on the scaling ladder, and he distinguished himself at many firemen's tournaments for his athletic prowess. He retained his strength and vigor to a surprising extent in his latter years, and ably maintained his reputation as one of the most efficient firemen in the Maritime Provinces.

Was Valiant Soldier
Mr. Proud served his country in the South African war and was among the Canadian soldiers selected to represent Canada at King George's coronation in 1911. His enthusiasm for military service was so great that when the Great War broke out, although he was over the military age, Mr. Proud succeeded in joining the 2nd Heavy Battery and went overseas with the Second Contingent, serving at the Front for several months and performing his duties with all the vim and courage of the youngest recruit.

The deceased was a member of the Orange Lodge of this city, of the Canadian Legion and of the Sons of England. In everything tending to promote the welfare of these organizations he was ever ready to take part.

His genial personality made him a favourite with all classes, and he was one of those who seem to retain the secret of perpetual youth. His handshake was as vigorous, his laughter as hearty and sincere, at sixty-nine as it was at thirty. To the friends and companions of his own age, it seemed that Jack Proud was getting younger every day, while they were ageing. Up to a few years ago, he could boast laughingly that he had not a single grey hair, that his grip was as strong as in his youth, and that, if it was necessary, he could climb a ladder or a flagpole as nimbly as the youngest.

The deceased leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing widow five daughters, Mrs. Nelson Hooper, Mrs. William Welsh, Mrs. Harry McNeven, Mrs. Alear Arsenault, of Charlottetown, and Mrs. W. B. Almond, Saskatoon, Sask.; also two sons, Melvin, this city, and Lester in Regina, Sask., to all of whom The Guardian tenders sincere sympathy.

The funeral will be from the Legion Home on Tuesday at 2.15 p. m.

Big Battle on Detroit River Anticipated by Chief of Police Timmins of Amherstburg.

(Canadian Press)
WINDSOR, Ont., June 15.—An early clash of serious proportions between United States coast guard officers on the Detroit River and Lake Erie rum runners is anticipated by Chief of Police Harry Timmins of Amherstburg, Ontario.

"There'll be a big row on the river before long, it seems from recent indications," he said today.

Amherstburg, recognized by the United States prohibition enforcement agents as temporary headquarters of the down river rum crews, is swarming with strangers from across the river, the chief added. The majority of these men are identified in various capacities with the liquor industry, he said, although a few of them may be "under cover" men for the United States customs or coastguard services.

The chief suspects the rum crews lying in the Amherstburg and Sugar Island sector are armed or are arming with Lewis guns in readiness for the much heralded major offensive by the United States forces, "and it's my opinion that these new arrivals will use the guns," the chief said, "that is if they are bothered by the coast guard crews."

United Church Plans Pilgrimage

(Canadian Press)
TORONTO, Ont., June 15.—The Toronto Star today says: "Although confirmation could not be secured from church headquarters, it is understood that arrangements are under way for the United Church of Canada, to conduct a big pilgrimage to the Old Country during the next year or so. It is probable a Canadian ocean liner will be chartered for the party."

The success of the British Free Church pilgrimage has inspired the Canadian United Church men to plan a visit to the old land."

DEATH OF CAPT. RHUDE

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, June 16.—Captain Isalah C. Rhude, 67, one of the best known ice-breaking captains on the North Atlantic, died at his home here yesterday of heart trouble. Captain Rhude who had twenty-three years in the government service was stricken only a few days ago. At the time of his illness he was in command of the government steamer Aranmore, but had served on many other ships. He was an authority on ice conditions in northern waters and on many occasions when in command of the ice-breaker Stanley, released icebound ships. He is survived by his wife and three grown up children.

Chief Ronahan spoke in warm praise of the efficiency and loyalty to duty of the late Mr. Rhude, who was Lieutenant of the Hook and Ladder Company for the past ten years.

"Jack Proud was one of the best and bravest firemen in Canada," he declared. "In 1892 he made a record in ladder scaling which has not been equalled up to the present day. He was fearless in the discharge of his duties, and whatever orders he received he would fulfill to the letter. His loss will be keenly felt in the Department." The Chief spoke feelingly of his personal friendship with the deceased over a period of many years.

YELLOW BIRD LANDS AT LEBOURGET

(Canadian Press)
LE BOURGET FIELD, France, June 16.—The trans-Atlantic aeroplane Yellow Bird landed at 8.45 p. m. (2.45 p. m. E. S. T.) completing the flight begun at Old Orchard, Maine. The plane with its crew of three, its stowaway and alligator mascot had left the beach at Comillas, Spain, where it landed on Friday after a non-stop flight from the United States at 7.45 a. m. French daylight time. The small capacity of its remaining gas tank forced it to take on a fresh supply at Mimizan-Les Bains.

CAMILLAS, Spain, June 16.—Whatever young Arthur Schreiber may think of his action in stowaway aboard the French Trans-Atlantic monoplane Yellow Bird, the 22 year old Portland, Maine, youth is getting a good share of the blame for the Yellow Bird's failure at least to reach French soil. Rene Lefevre, the plane's navigator, was quite definite in thinking the stowaway was responsible.

"We may consider ourselves really very fortunate although we much regret that we could not reach the goal of our voyage because of the presence of our clandestine passenger. His weight caused a higher consumption of gasoline and forced us to come down still short of Le Bourget," said Lefevre.

The French aviators were greatly puzzled to know how Schreiber was able to get aboard the plane which was supposed to have been closely watched until the moment of the departure from Old Orchard.

PRES. HOOVER CHANGES IN SIGNS FARM GOVERNMENT RELIEF BILL FORECAST

The New Law Provides For Creation of a Federal Farm Board to Work for Rehabilitation of American Agriculture.

(Special to The Guardian)
WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Hoover today signed the $500,000,000 Administration Farm Relief Bill.

The new law, to become effective immediately, provides for creation of a federal farm board of nine members to work for the rehabilitation of American agriculture.

No export bounty or subsidy is provided by Congress after President Hoover twice had expressed uncomplaining opposition to the scheme.

Although the bill authorizes the half billion revolving fund, additional legislation will be necessary to appropriate the funds necessary to carry on operations.

Under the present administration plan, President Hoover will send a special budget recommendation to Congress next week asking for immediate appropriation of $150,000,000. This will enable the newly created farm board to operate on a gigantic scale from the outset. Additional appropriations will be sought in the regular session next December if needed.

The task of selecting the personnel of the farm board will receive President Hoover's attention immediately. Hundreds of names have been submitted by members of the House and Senate, as well as by farm organizations and marketing organizations.

The chief executive plans to select a board representing every basic agricultural commodity—one for cotton, one for wheat, one for livestock, etc. Other members will represent the farm industry at large and still others the general consuming public.

General Election of 1931 Will be Preceded by Certain Changes in the Cabinet.

TORONTO, June 15.—A despatch to the Toronto Star (Liberal) from Ottawa today says:

"Free trade within the British Empire," it is reported, will be the answer of Canada's Liberal government to the repeated tariff increases of the United States, and to the charge of the Conservative party that Canada is accepting these discriminatory tariffs without retaliation.

"A general election in 1931 is now understood to be in contemplation. This election will be fought on imperial preference, and Canadians will be encouraged to buy within the Empire rather than the United States. The election will be preceded by certain cabinet changes. It is said that for the first time, a member of the United Farmer group from Alberta and a Saskatchewan Progressive will be brought in and a Manitoba Liberal-Progressive will continue to be in the government.

"Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, it is believed will go to the Senate and be succeeded by Hon. T. A. Crerar, former Leader of the farmer groups. Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, will go to the International joint commission and be succeeded by Robert Gardner or E. J. Garland of the United Farmers of Alberta. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, will go to the Lieutenant Governorship of Saskatchewan, and a Saskatchewan Progressive will succeed him."

Conference Opens June 25

(Special to The Guardian)
OTTAWA, Ont., June 15.—The development of trade within the British Empire and problems relating to empire migration and settlement are to be discussed at the fourth biennial conference of the British Empire Service League, which opens in London on June 25. The Canadian delegation to the B. E. S. L. conference will sail for England tomorrow from Montreal on the S. S. Duchess of Bedford.

SIX INJURED

(Special to The Guardian)
SUDBURY, June 15.—The sudden collapse of a reverberatory furnace in the copper cliff smelter of the International Nickel Company this afternoon caused injuries to six men.

The furnace was out and the men were preparing to reline it. They were spraying water on to cool it off, when the sudden contraction caused by the cold water on the hot walls resulted in the cave-in. Three of the men were precipitated right into the furnace structure. The others were scalded. There was no molten metal in the pots at the time.

Paul Haynes, a Montreal student and rugby and hockey star, suffered the most serious injury. He is not believed, however, to be in danger.
