Dinosaur Of Great Age Found

NEW YORK, June 26 (CP)—Discovery in the middle western states of the skeleton of a huge dinosaur which waddled over primitive oze in the Mesozoic Period, perhaps 100,000,000 years ago, was revealed by Dr. Barnum Brown, curator of fossil reptiles at the American Museum of Natural History. Location of the remains of the nightmarish creature, possibly the tallest ever to exist, is considered one of the most remarkable geological "finds" of recent years. Dr. Brown will head an expedition from the museum to dig up the bones he discovered embedded in the Mesa Verde rock formation near Rook Springs, Wyo. So far, Dr. Brown explains, this particular type of dinosaur has been known only by the fossilized imprints of his gigantic paws, which measured four feet from the heel to the tip of the middle of three toes and nearly three feet across. Dr. Brown has unearthed several of the tracks of these monsters during his geological researches in Wyoming, Utah and Colorado. He recently took a cast of one at the Chesterfield Coal Mine, in Segoe, Utah. The toe-pads of this gigantic track, said the scientist, show that it is made by an iguanodont dinosaur, a kangaroo-shaped herbivore, similar to, but very much larger than, the iguanodonts of Belgium and England.

Government Apathy Strongly Denounced In Conservative Resolutions

The 44th annual convention of West Prince Liberal-Conservative Association was held in O'Leary Hall on June 23rd at 1:30 p.m. Despite the inclement weather and almost impassable roads a large gathering of ardent Conservatives with almost a full representation of delegates was in attendance. On the platform was Mr. G. Shelton Sharp, ex-minister of Public Works, Mr. Russel Rogers and Mr. G. M. Matthews.

The Hon. Dr. MacMillan, J. Frank Ames and other expected speakers were unable to attend on account of the impassable road conditions from O'Leary to Summerside. The meeting was opened by the President, Mr. A. A. Ramsay voicing his appreciation of the large and enthusiastic audience. The credentials committee was appointed as follows: J. B. Morrissey, Chairman; Perry, Emerson Matthews, Charles Campbell and Laughlin Kilbride, said committee reported almost a full delegation. The resolution committee was as follows: John Hackett (chairman), Martin Foley, Archibald Ellis, J.P. McGrath, J. M. Matthews, John T. Gallant.

The President then read his address, which was adopted. Resolutions. The following resolutions were read and adopted: Resolved this annual convention of West Prince Liberal-Conservative Association again re-affirm its confidence in the Right Hon. R. B. Bennett as federal leader of our party. We especially commend him for his ability and statesmanship while Premier of Canada, he being called upon to preside over the destiny of Canada during the most trying time in this country's history. Had it not been for the benefits accruing to Canada from the Empire trade treaties of which he was the author this country could hardly have survived the shock of the world depression.

Resolved that this convention endorse the leadership of the Hon. W. J. P. MacMillan as Provincial leader of our party. He too had the hardships caused by the depression to encounter, and we feel he executed the duties of his office with singular ability.

Resolved that this convention place on record its deep sense of the loss that this country has sustained by the death of the late Hon. R. L. Borden and that the sympathy of this Association be extended to the family of the deceased ex-Premier.

Resolved that we condemn the apathy and inaction of the present so-called Provincial Government and its neglect of the Public Works and its unwonted expenditure of public money for purposes not in the best interest of the province.

The following officers were elected: President, J. B. Morrissey; Secretary, Gilbert Gaudet (re-elected); 1st Vice President, 1st District, Charles Dunn, Vice President, 2nd District Robert England, 3rd District Marshall McLellan.

Mr. J. Shelton Sharp was called to address the meeting and he delivered a forcible speech depicting in general the shortcomings of the present government.

He emphasized that never in the history of the province have the highways been in such a disgraceful condition. Other speakers were Messrs. James McRae, Russel Rogers, and George Matthews. A delegation of five members from each electoral district was nominated to attend a general convention to be held in Charlottetown at a later date. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

Church's record for splendid and inspiring instrumental music.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

There was a unique presentation of the gospel at the morning worship service at the Central Christian Church yesterday by the Rev. S. C. and Mrs. Cooper. The subject was "Purchased. A Great Salvation." The audience gave sustained attention when Mrs. Cooper was drawing to the remarks made by the minister. The Bible which was drawn by Mrs. Cooper was spoken of as the greatest book in the world and told the story of men's adventuring with and for God. The Bible was the greatest book because of its poetry which was the expression and experiences of men and a nation. The Bible was the greatest book in the world because it records the history of a nation and God's providences. Another reason why the Bible was and is the greatest book is because it proclaims a great mystery, God's love. The Bible is the greatest book because it is founded on fact and its characters are not fictional.

The congregation was quite large and because of expressed appreciation of the method and manner of the sermon by members and friends of the church encourages the minister and his wife to present the gospel occasionally in this way.

The sermon at the evening hour was "The Divine Confession." This dealt with Peter's confession at Caesarea Philippi and is the one thing needful for man by God's spirit to breathe. There were current ideas in Jesus' day concerning Him and with intensity the son of God waited for this confession and received the anwer with great joy.

"Jesus awaits our answer, Yours and mine," the speaker said. The music at the morning service was a solo by Mr. Eric MacGregor "Nearer To Thee" and at

Dental Clinic Activities At S'side Reviewed

The report of the activities of the Dental Clinic, operating in Summerside for the past year, was read at the annual meeting of this organization, which was held recently.

Mrs. L. A. Moore, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Summerside Branch of the Canadian Legion, acted as chairman at the meeting.

The report showed that ninety-five children had been treated at the clinic during the year, with 503 treatments in all.

The financial statement showed a small surplus. The clinic has just been operating about a year and was sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion of Summerside, who are largely responsible for its success.

The Provincial Government and the Summerside Town Council contributed one hundred dollars each and it is understood these grants are to be permanent. The ladies of the Legion undertook the responsibility of raising the other 100 dollars, $300.00 being the amount required to operate the clinic at Summerside.

With the help of the Catholic Women's League the amount was reached. This year it is understood that the Catholic Women's League are continuing their support and that the local chapter of the L. O. D. E. will also contribute something to this most worthy cause.

Mrs. B. W. Robinson was elected chairman, and Miss Ruth Ross, Public Health Nurse, secretary and treasurer for this year.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Jean Townsend for her splendid co-operation and assistance. —

Hedges And Trees In Danger Of Destruction

The hedges and trees in Summerside, which are the admiration of visitors are in danger of being killed out on account of an insect which has again made its appearance this spring.

Mr. Morley M. Bell, who had interested himself on the subject had received some advice on the matter from the Superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Charlottetown.

Mr. Bell warns residents as to the nature of the insect. "Owners of lilac hedges, etc., in Summerside, are warned to keep a close watch to their hedges for an insect which attacks them last fall and cleaned off most of the leaves and which insect is again attacking them in greater numbers, and unless steps are taken to control or eradicate same, this insect is certain to destroy the hedges and trees."

The Superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Charlottetown writes as follows: which instructions should be adopted immediately and continued from time to time until this pest is thoroughly destroyed.

"The adult of this miner is a brown moth, 1-4 inch in length, which appears early in June, during the evening hours, and lays its eggs on the underside of the young leaves. The grub is a first, a miner and feeds between the upper and lower leaf surfaces, causing them to turn brown and bladder-like. Later it comes to the exterior, rolls the leaf and feeds therein, sometimes in a circular groove, sometimes in a straight line, sometimes in a zig-zag. As a consequence the shrubs are badly disfigured. There is a second generation early in September, the larvae of which are even more injurious."

Control: Nicotine sulphate should be applied when the leaves first show signs of the larval work, in the proportion of 1-2 tablespoonfuls of nicotine to one gallon of water. Follow this with a stronger solution two weeks later, if necessary. The work should be carefully done and the branches well covered. Picking off and burning the spotted leaves early in the season will help in checking the spread of the injury.

The evening service a solo was sung by Mr. Rupert McKay. The Sunday School report on the quarters' work shows a large increase over the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

columns of smoke and dust went up. Enemy? No. Only ranging for future use.

We went on to the top of the Sham Algaed and passed down from a convenient spur. A nasty-looking place with narrow gorges and here and there a small village and patch of cultivation.

To the south was a mass of tangled scrub-covered hills and ravines, with a glimpse or two of the Shaktu Valley. Somewhere there to the south-east was Arsal Kot, the Fakir's headquarters.

No enemy came in sight, though we knew they were there and watching every movement. We were now ready to turn, an anxious stare, but no enemy followed us up. Here and there a shot was fired or an aircraft dived, and from the distance came the rattle of a machine-gun and the boom of a dropped bomb.

TRY TO PRAISE NOT TO BLAME

Almost all children will react to the praise method of training rather than constantly telling them what they do that is wrong. A few words of praise and encouragement turns young mind to good thoughts and good behavior and they strive to earn more of such pleasant commendation. Constant criticism causes a resentful reaction or is apt to develop an inferiority complex that is difficult to overcome as the years pass on. Corrections must be made, of course, but don't forget the word of praise for the good work done.

of men and grunts of animals as they climbed. Now and then there was rattle and clatter of stones and smothered oaths and curses as a mule fell and rolled backwards, to be instantly followed by a small party and retrieved and dragged back to safety. Otherwise the column moved in dead silence.

Frequently I collided with the stern of the mule in front—a kindly animal who forebore to take offence. And then after interminable hours came the gradual dawn. The rattle of rifle fire in front, some distant shouts, and the word came back that we had reached the heights, and that to all intents and purposes the Sham Plain, with all its highly-prized grazing lands, was denuded.

Requiem An Epic

The operation was something of an epic. It still find it difficult to give any coherent account of that midnight stumble along the steep, scrub-covered knife-edged ridge. My general impression is of hours of drawing along in the darkness with frequent halts and checks. All around me in the hot dust haze I could hear the slight rattle of equipment, the panting

SAYS REARMAMENT BETTER DOCTRINE

LONDON, June 26—(CP)—Britain suffered diplomatic defeat in the last three years because she had no power behind her arguments, declared Lord Lloyd in expressing pleasure at a Navy League dinner that rearmament was making good progress.

"There are two ways of learning the truth. The wise way is by applying the lesson of history to the special circumstances of the time," he said. "The foolish way is to learn by bitter experience. By the latter method we have suffered the bitterness of grave diplomatic defeat in the last three years and that has largely been attributed to the long years during which we neglected our armaments."

The Navy League had never failed to point out to the public the dangers incurred and they were gratified at the reversal of past policy and the acceptance of the safer doctrine of the present.

If you have been unfortunate enough to burn the edges of the cake when you wanted it to be particularly nice, try this method of removing the evidence. Fully scrape off the burned part. Then brush over the sides and top with beaten white of egg. Dust with powdered sugar and place the cake in the oven long enough for the egg to dry out, just a few minutes. It can be fed over this and be as smooth as though no accident had occurred.

Is Sentenced To Ten Years In Penitentiary

Richard Gauthier was sentenced to 10 years in Dorchester Penitentiary by Mr. Justice A. C. Saunders in Queen's County Supreme Court Saturday following conviction on a charge of rape.

His Lordship pronounced the sentence after a brief address on the seriousness of the crime. The crime, he said, was one of the most serious in the criminal calendar. The maximum penalty was death or life imprisonment with lashes.

Before sentence was passed Mr. R. B. Bell, who appeared for the prisoner asked that his previous good character be considered. He was a resident of Charlottetown for 28 years and this was the first time he had been arrested on any charge whatsoever. Mr. Bell said. The jury when reporting their verdict made a "strong recommendation for mercy."

The court adjourned sine die. —
