Lindbergh Baby Said To Be In Canada

WINNIPEG, Man., March 18.—(By The Canadian Press)—The Winnipeg Free Press today publishes the following special dispatch from Boston, Mass.

"Having worked diligently and with the utmost secrecy for the past 48 hours on an amazing tip which came to them in the form of a detailed letter written in long hand and mailed from Winnipeg, Man., Canada, federal investigators and department of justice officials are tonight satisfied that they have finally come upon a real lead in the world-wide search for the 20 months-old son of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and the kidnapers who seized the baby at its Hope-well, N. J., home on the evening of March 1.

"The letter was received by United States Marshall William J. Keville in this city last Saturday morning and although one half of the Canadian post ticket, torn in a peculiar and jagged fashion, was enclosed as a signature, authorities are now convinced that the writer was sincere in his statement that he did not expect to live long after giving the information and was equally sincere in the request that the reward be paid, after the child was recovered, to his wife who would present the other half of the torn ticket.

"The communication, which is one of the most remarkable documents ever coming to the attention of federal authorities is most explicit in it places the headquarters of the Lindbergh kidnapers at Moose Jaw, Sask., names the individual members of the gang who secured and now hold the child, gives the criminal record of each member as well as a detailed description and outlines in detail the route the kidnapers are following to get to the Saskatchewan hide-out.

"A week ago yesterday, on the morning of Sunday, March six to be exact, the Lindbergh baby in charge of a multi-toe woman and completely stained to pass as her son, arrived in Minneapolis, Minn. Woman and child, shadowed at a safe distance and guarded at all times by members of the gang immediately went into obscurity in the red light district of that city. A few days later under cover of closed automobiles, the party crossed the state of Minnesota and after stopping for a day and a night at Moorhead, Clay County, crossed through Hillsboro to Grand Forks and thence to Devil's Lake. The party was in the Devil's Lake region at the time the letter was written.

"The kidnapers, proceeding with caution, are now working their way to Moose Jaw," according to the plans revealed in the letter.

"The baby was planted in a small salesman's trunk inside the car and they went straight to Chicago stopping only for gas and oil. They arrived in Minneapolis Sunday morning," says the letter in part. Then follows a list of names, many of them well known to the police of Western Canada.

"I do not expect to live to be 70 years of age after giving this information. So I enclose half a pool ticket for identification. My wife will present the other half for the reward. See that she gets plenty of protection.

"The reason I am not giving my name and address at this time is that you will have to have some very good breaks to get the baby alive, especially after it passed Portal, N. D., and over the Saskatchewan border. You are up against morphia brains and these boys don't figure that they are going to fail. So if the baby is found dead I am in a tough spot, the mob and the U. S. secret service with me in the middle.

"Other than revealing the contents of the letter and the bare statement that they believed it to be a most valuable lead yet secured, Federal authorities declined to comment tonight."

Visiting Cooks To Instruct Housewives

WINNIPEG, Man., 18.—(By The Canadian Press)—Women citizens of Winnipeg don't think it sufficient needy families should receive food supplies from the Social Welfare Commission. They must be shown how to make the best use of these foodstuffs. The problem of how to prepare varied and appetizing meals from simple food materials is a real one in the minds of home cooks in needy Winnipeg families.

Mrs. M. A. Bates has been engaged by the Home Welfare Association as visiting housekeeper to offer practical counsel to these families when sought.

The chief problem is economy, she stated after four months experience in the new work. She found that some families who had complained of scanty food supplies were eating four meals a day, and yet were not using all their materials. They were particularly fond of bread and potatoes, but could eat no soup because "the stove burned too much wood." She advised them to try a schedule of three meals a day and use less sugar in their tea; showed them how to prepare macaroni and cheese, and gave other suggestions on how to use all of their supplies to the best advantage.

One family was not using vegetables because the children would not eat any vegetables but potatoes. Mrs. Bates suggested the mother put the vegetables through —SCHOOL INSPECTION—Some days ago, Inspector J. R. Murphy, visited Clermont School and made a thorough investigation of the work thus far done. He submitted the pupils of all grades to a searching inquiry and they responded in a most satisfactory manner. The enrollment is not large, but the talent is quite evident, and discipline is firm. The parents take a keen interest in the physical, mental and mental welfare of the children, and this co-operation shows plainly in the work of the schools. Miss Hughes deserves credit for the practical and successful work that she is doing.—Y.

—SERVICES APPRECIATED—The staff of Peter McNutt & Son, Kensington office, respectfully waited upon their foreman, Mr. Alexander Hiltz, and presented him with an address and a most comfortable office stool. Mr. Hiltz acknowledged the address and gift with sentiments of profound gratitude, and vowed that he would endeavor to do in the future, as he had done in the past, his plain duty. P. McNutt & Son, like the other business houses in Kensington, aim at giving complete satisfaction to as good a class of customers as may be found in the whole Province.—Y.

—SOLEMN COMMEMORATIVE ANNIVERSARY—The first Anniversary Requiem Mass, with final absolutions at the catafalque, in memory of the late Monsignor D. J. Gills, was celebrated at St. Mary's Church, Indian River, on Tuesday morning, March 15th. Rev. W. V. MacDonald, of Hope River, was the celebrant, with Rev. William Monaghan, D. D., of Seven Mile Bay as Deacon and Rev. R. F. MacDonald, of Indian River as sub Deacon. Rev. Martin Monaghan, of Miscouche occupied a seat in the sanctuary. The late beloved Monsignor was parish priest of Indian River for forty years. The commemorative services were attended by a large congregation, who will always cherish the memory of a devoted and sterling pastor.—K.

a fruit press before mixing them in soup; and showed her how to prepare an inexpensive but wholesome meal of eggless pancakes, simply by using flour, milk, baking powder and salt.

The visiting housekeeper found many families had never thought of using cereals at breakfast and some kept vegetables out-of-doors with resultant loss from freezing. Other families were in the habit of using all meat provided at the beginning of the week; and they gratefully yielded to her advice to have meat once a day only; with bean soup or pancakes, or creamed potatoes and milk and pancakes and rice for dessert for the other meals.

Mrs. Bates remarked the condition of the houses occupied by these families made it extremely hard for the women to keep them just as tidy as is necessary for comfort, owing to lack of paint or floor covering or proper utensils to work with.

Most of these housewives are doing their best, and a very fine best it is," she declared. "They manage to keep their homes clean, and my advice seems to be kindly received."

—PICTURE ENJOYED—Montague theatre-goers received a treat on Thursday evening, when Mr. Bruce Yeo showed "As young as you feel," featuring Will Rogers. This is a splendid picture and Mr. Yeo is to be congratulated upon his choice of films.—H.

—FAREWELL GATHERING—A number of young people were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. MacDonald on Sunday evening to say good-bye to Miss Loft, Red Cross Nurse for this district. The evening was spent in song and instrumental music. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. Hume. Miss Loft plans to spend her vacation in Maine, the cup so generously donated by Major J. A. MacKenzie. Some hard fought games were played by the League this season and fine sportsmanship was shown throughout. The fans look forward to some thrilling games next year by this splendid bunch of young men.—H.

—HOCKEY—The final game of the Church Hockey League was played in the Montague Arena on Saturday between the Christian and United Churches. The game ended in a score of 3-0 in favor of the Christians. This gave them the cup so generously donated by Major J. A. MacKenzie. Some hard fought games were played by the League this season and fine sportsmanship was shown throughout. The fans look forward to some thrilling games next year by this splendid bunch of young men.—H.

—HOOKING BEE—A Hooking Bee was held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Shaw, Montague, on Wednesday afternoon. And twelve friends were present and a busy and enjoyable afternoon was spent with this delightful hostess. At the supper hour Mrs. Shaw was assisted by Miss Emma Nelson. A delicious and dainty table was set in the dining room, and the reading of the tea cups by Mrs. Beaman afforded much amusement. In the evening music was enjoyed. A solo by Mrs. Hubert Nelson deserves special mention. The amount of hooking done on the rug and the fitness of the work is proof that the women of Montague can hold their own in this art.—H.

—WEEKLY BRIDGE—The Montague Weekly Bridge Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. A. Cumming on Friday evening, Mar. 11th. The usual four tables were in play. Honors were awarded Mrs. L. H. Coffin, Mrs. L. H. Poole and Mrs. R. G. MacDonald. After the play a delightful lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Bert Martin. During this period there took place the most clever and amusing feature of the season. By an ingenious hook-up between telephone and radio, the results of the Bridge scores and other interesting news items were broadcast from the Montague Bank of Commerce to the Bridge players who believed the broadcast to come from Station C.F.C.Y., Charlottetown. Mrs. Herbert Platt was the guest of honor at the Bridge party.—H.

PERSONALS

—Mrs. Herbert Platt, Charlottetown, has returned to the city after spending the week end with Mrs. W. A. Cumming. While in Montague, a couple of Bridge parties were given in her honor.—H.
