AVOIDS TROUBLE

If you noticed a board loose on your front steps you'd have it fixed right away, before it caused trouble. Yet many people know their roof leaks and often do nothing about it. Even though they know that when rain seeps through a worn spot it causes the roofing boards to rot and decay—adds up to expensive trouble!

The best way to prevent destructive leaks is to have an expert like your Johns-Manville dealer carefully check your roof for worn spots. If he advises a new roof, ask him about J-M Asphalt Shingles. MONTGOMERY stressed that a trained force of citizens ready to take up arms beside the regular army is essential to Britain's defence. He said today:

"In these days if you get trouble—I often feel it would be really big trouble—you must know where the people are to handle a big-scale emergency at once because there won't be time to think out how to do it."

Recruiting Campaign

An intensive recruiting campaign will be conducted all winter. The highlight will be when the King reviews 8,000 Territorials in a march-past in Hyde Park Oct. 31. Shinwell appealed to war veterans unable to give time to Territorial training to register so they could be called quickly in an emergency. He asked the public to cooperate in helping the Territorials acquire training facilities.

Lord Montgomery said: "One of the big lessons from the war was the principle of preparedness. What you have must be available quickly. We never have worked on that principle before."

In two wars it took the Territorial Army six months or a year for mobilization and training. As a result Britain "suffered great disasters."

Lt.-Gen. Gerard Temple believed the likely successor as chief of the Imperial General Staff, a post Lord Montgomery has held since 1946. A major in charge of field security police at the outbreak of the Second World War, Temple commanded a division in Sicily and was the first British military governor in Germany.

The official announcement of Lord Montgomery's selection is expected to be made tomorrow by the alliance secretariat in Paris.

The choice did not meet with unqualified approval. The Manchester Guardian commented that Lord Montgomery is "an inspiration to fighting troops" but is not a planner and is "an uneasy co-operator."

"It might have been much better to appoint a not unready foreigner to act as a 'stand in' and chief of staff to the real and presumably American-supreme commander to be appointed when and if war should come," says the newspaper.

"Grave Blunder"

Lord Beaverbrook's independent Daily Express says an "American general of the calibre of Dwight D. Eisenhower" should have been picked for the defence post. Lord Montgomery was under Gen. Eisenhower in the wartime invasion of Europe.

The Express calls the selection of Lord Montgomery a grave blunder. It adds that the United States should join the union "on terms so exact and so exact that confidence may prevail once more."

"Until this has been done, there can be no assurance of American co-operation in war; no safeguard against radical change of outlook as new personalities emerge in Washington," the Express adds.

Opposite View

The Liberal News Chronicle's columnist, A.J. Cummings, takes a different view. He says Lord Montgomery is Britain's most successful commander since Wellington and has "no rival in the field for the difficult task now assigned to him."

Reports on Paris Talks

Meanwhile, the Cabinet heard from Defence Minister A. V. Alexander a detailed report on decisions reached in Paris earlier this week. At that time the five defence ministers of the Western European Alliance met secretly for two days and decided to set up an international military command.

It is this command to which Lord Montgomery had been named.

Their decisions were reported to have crystallized more than five months of joint military planning since the Alliance was born at Brussels in mid-March.

By invitation, military experts from Canada and the United States have been sitting in on these meetings for the last two months to study equipment needs to rebuild Western Europe's defences.

Questions still to be answered include:

Will the Alliance combine its land, sea and air forces into joint units, or will co-operation be limited to joint plans?

If a joint force is set up, who will get the jobs under Lord Montgomery's army, navy and air force chiefs?

Will the next step be development of a co-ordinated program of manoeuvres to train the forces of the five countries to work together? How much headway have the technical experts made on plans for standardization of arms?

Special Meeting Of Art Society

A special meeting of the Prince Edward Island Art Society was held last evening at 279 Richmond Street, the home of the president, Mrs. Irving Geary.

Mrs. Prescott Creelman, chairman of the program committee, announced the program for the year, which is of community interest, in that it will combine some of its meetings and exhibitions with the work of the Community Art Centre. Miss Frances Johnston, director of the Community Art Centre, was invited to consult with the members present, and the first steps towards a closer affiliation of these two organizations were voted.

It was announced at the meeting that Mrs. Creelman will leave for Sackville, N.B. on Saturday morning to act on a jury to select the 30 best examples of Maritime Art, as an exhibition to be sent on tour to the Western Provinces.

OUTSPOKEN

going to the "left" or to the "right." But why should the party go to "either extreme?" The only right way to go was "straight on the way to rational progress."

There was talk, too, of changing the party's name. Some would call it "Progressive." Others favored "Conservative." But a change of name was not important and would not help the party.

"It is what the people think the party stands for that matters," he said.

In a passing reference to Saturday's leadership balloting, Mr. Bracken again stressed the importance of party policy. The assignment was important, but not as important as what manner of party he leads.

"The contestants are all outstanding men," he told the delegates. "You won't make a mistake no matter which one you choose."

Condemns Government

Striking at the Government, he said it should be "thrown out of power at the first opportunity" and he then proceeded to nail his condemnation down on these seven points:

1. The Government had been the "chief cause of the rising cost of living."

2. It had run the country into the "worst trade crisis in our history."

3. It had led food production and behind consumers' demands at a time when the world was facing famine.

4. Its contribution to inflation has resulted in reducing the value of the dollar to 66 cents.

5. It had failed in its responsibilities to the northern half of this continent.

6. It had let bureaucracy "run wild."

7. It had created "a new Family Compact of boards, commissions and bureaucrats, the dwarfing in insignificance the one of historic memory."

Suggests Objectives

Mr. Bracken, in his speech, suggested these objectives for the future:

Economic:—The Party stood for maximum production of needed goods and must preserve the incentive for enterprise.

Industrial relations:—The Party stood for "looking upon all producer groups as partners in industry."

Social security:—Where the normal functioning of the economic sources failed to provide maximum production and regular employment at just rates of pay, the state must find "a rational way to get it back to normal conditions and must render aid in the meantime."

Trade:—The Party should accept "all the imports we need and can pay for" and export "all we can spare and get paid for."

Immigration:—Immigration should be based on the country's need and, generally speaking, new Canadians should "come from those countries from which our present population has sprung."

Domestic Provincial:—The Party should see to it that justice was done to all Provinces.

Monthly Sessions Of Local Legion Branch Resume

The opening meeting of the regular monthly sessions of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was held in the Legion Home last evening with a goodly number of Legion members present. The first vice-president, Mr. H. R. Vessey, presided.

Following the opening of the meeting, which got underway with the singing of O Canada and the observance of a one minute silence in respect to fallen comrades, the secretary, Mr. Wiston Smith, read out the names of 17 new applications for membership, which were formally accepted by the meeting as authorized Legion members.

Following this, the various reports were given by the committee chairmen, including the relief, poppy, membership, dance, employment, house, canteen, constitution, by-law and card party committees. Reports on the ways and means and finance committees were held over for the next monthly meeting, due to the fact that the audited accounts have just been received and the association has not had sufficient time to look over the accounts before issuing a report.

375 Members

In connection with the membership report, committee chairman Earl Kennedy reported that at the present time there were some 375 paid up members in the local branch. Many helpful suggestions were made by the various members concerning the expanding of the paid-up membership. The canteen report, given by chairman Ira Brown, showed a considerable increase in cash sales over the past few months. Also in connection with this report, Mr. Brown pointed out that the local branch, which has been carrying the expense of supplying cigarettes, etc., to hospitalized veterans in the two local hospitals and the Sanatorium regarding what branch these patients belonged to, was finding a bit of a strain on funds available for this purpose, and suggested that the other branches in the Province should help out, particularly where it concerns the hospitalized veterans. In answer to this, however, a letter was read by the secretary, received from the Provincial executive, in which it was stated that the other branches that all branches take up the question of distributing "contribution boxes" at convenient points as a means of raising revenue to help veterans' hospitalization costs.

General Business

The meeting was then thrown open for the discussion of general business in which various suggestions were made concerning the holding of Sunday night picture shows with a silver collection, the raising of additional funds for care parcels for Britain, and the securing of a new car for lottery purposes. In connection with the care parcels for Britain, the possibility of holding a mammoth bridge and card party was suggested as a means of raising funds for this purpose. The suggestion of obtaining a car for lottery purposes was turned over to the executive for further consideration.

The discussion of holding a Provincial Legion reunion party next year was also brought up, and a letter from the Provincial Command was read by the secretary concerning this matter, in which it was suggested that all Legion members who would be interested in attending such a reunion, are asked to send in their names as soon as possible to their local branches, so that it can be determined whether or not there are sufficient members interested to warrant going ahead with the plans for such a reunion.

At the conclusion of the open discussions, the meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the King.

ANGELICAN W. A. MEETING HELD

TORONTO, Sept. 30 (CP)—Pastors should make their churches community centres, Dr. W. W. Judd, social service secretary of the Church of England in Canada, said today.

Speaking to the Women's Auxiliary to the Missionary Service, Dominion Board, he declared: "We must help government social agencies and keep in touch with their work so the Christian element will not be lost."

Officers elected included Viscountess Alexander and Mrs. Derwyn T. Owen, Patronesses; Archbishop G. P. Kingston, Primate of all Canada, patron; Mrs. Kingston, honorary president; Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee, Montreal, honorary vice-president; Mrs. R. E. Wodehouse, Ottawa, president; Mrs. G. C. P. McIntyre, Saint John, vice-president.

SUGGEST VISCOUNT ALEXANDER TO SUCCEED MONTGOMERY

LONDON, Sept. 30 (CP)—The Evening Standard, in its gossip column "A Londoner's Diary," tonight advances the name of Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, as a possible successor to Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery as chief of the Imperial General Staff.

The diary reveals various names which are being mentioned and says: "My own suggestion would be Field Marshal Alexander."

Lord Montgomery will retire as chief of the Imperial General Staff in order to head the military command of the Western European Alliance.

Lord Alexander was the strategist who developed the African and Italian campaigns in the Second World War. As supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean he led the armies of many nationalities, including two Canadian divisions and an armored brigade.

Lord Montgomery, as Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, was under Lord Alexander during the African and Italian campaigns.

DEATH OF MRS. THEODORE ROOSEVELT

OYSTER BAY, N.Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, 87, widow of the 26th president of the United States, died today.

Only three widows of presidents survived—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt had been in poor health since fracturing a hip about 10 years ago.

At her bedside were her surviving son, Archibald, and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Derby. Her step-daughter, Mrs. Alice Longworth, and 14 grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Roosevelt will be buried at her husband's side in Youngs Bay Memorial Cemetery.

Theodore Roosevelt married Edith Kermit Carow, a native of Norwich, Conn., in London in 1886 after the death of his first wife. He was president from 1901 to 1909.

Mrs. Roosevelt lived to receive news of the death of three of her four sons in war—Quentin in aerial combat in the First World War and Theodore Jr. and Kermit in the Second World War.

Although an ardent Republican, opposed to the presidential candidacy of her kinsman by marriage, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mr. Roosevelt was not publicly active in the party in recent years.

She became mistress of the White House when her husband succeeded to the presidency after the assassination of William McKinley.

In the White House, where she remained until 1909, she accented domesticity.

P.E.I. Apple Crop Said Only 30 p. c. Normal

The Island's apple crop this season will only be about 30 per cent that of a normal year, according to Mr. Gordon Warren, horticulturist at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Charlottetown.

Mr. Warren ascribed the apple crop failure to the unfavourable weather during the pollinizing period resulting in the inability of the bees—one of Nature's great fertilizing agents—to fertilize the blossoms.

The only variety which gave a good production in the Province this year was the Macintosh, Mr. Warren said. The reason was that most of those trees are young at which stage they bear well each year. When older they, like most other varieties, produce a good crop only every second year.

DREW LEADING

dealt with the future of the party and the country.

Mr. Bracken, retiring at 65 because of health and age and M. Grattan O'Leary of Ottawa, temporary chairman, spoke aggressively and confidently of the party's ability to grasp power again and direct Canadian life upon a middle-of-the-road path emphasizing free enterprise and initiative.

As today's chief convention spokesman defined party aspirations in general terms, a series of platform groups were working privately in committee rooms to translate them into specific electoral planks.

Tomorrow, the main resolutions committee will present its version of the new platform—to be accepted or rejected by the full convention—and it was expected today some of the main points would include:

1. Outlawing the Communist party in Canada.
 2. Reconvening of the Dominion-Provincial conference.
 3. No amendments to the British North America Act without consent of the Provinces.
 4. Establishment of a free market for gold.
 5. Establishment of a labor advisory board of labor-management-government to review labor legislation of the Provinces.
 6. Canadian withdrawal from the International Monetary Fund.
- Other probabilities included resolutions calling for income tax reductions, in particular measures to combat inflation.
- There will be no plank dealing with a national flag or a national anthem for Canada, one informant said.
- One of the warmest debates of the convention, it was believed, might break out over the issue of outlawing the Communist party.
- While all the major figures of the party are in strong opposition to Communist developments on the floor of the leadership candidates—Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fleming—are known to feel that barring Reds would only serve the purpose of driving them underground.

Today's Major Business

Hammering out these platform planks on which the party will stand or fall in the next election is the business of the day at the convention's day sessions tomorrow. The 193-man platform committee, split into several groups, worked on the various planks all day after deliberating them for the last few days before the convention.

Tomorrow night's session will see the names of the leadership candidates placed in nomination.

Apart from the major speeches, today's developments on the floor of the big convention hall in Ottawa's coliseum were devoted largely to laying down convention procedure and getting the machinery for the sessions rolling.

A heavy first-day attendance of delegates—1,249 out of 1,311 expected—occupied seats on the floor below a big platform where sat Mr. Bracken, the four candidates and some 50 other party dignitaries.

Women made up a large number of the delegates, and they heard Senator Iva Fallis of Peterborough Ont., call for a greater feminine role in politics.

In an earlier speech, J. M. Macdonnell, permanent joint chairman of the convention, told the delegates the country was ripe for a change of government.

Member of parliament for Muskoka-Ontario and National Progressive Conservative president, Mr. Macdonnell was chosen co-chairman with Leon Methot of Three Rivers, Que.

Seek To Have Old MacIntyre Potato Certified

Application is being made to have a proved strain of the old MacIntyre Blue potato certified as a standard variety so that it may be commercially grown.

Mr. Gordon Warren of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Charlottetown, is carrying on a series of experiments with that end in view.

Mr. S. G. Peppin, senior inspector in charge of seed certification in the Province, procured the MacIntyre seed from a farmer in the Province for the Experimental Farm tests. Similar seed from the same source was forwarded to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa for test also. The seed must be grown under scientific observation for a period of two years before it can be approved.

At present, the Potato Act of the Province does not permit the growing of more than one acre of un-certified seed. Only seed from approved varieties can be certified.

P.E.I. DELEGATES

Sutherland, president of the Provincial Women's Association.

On Committees

Wing Commander J. Angus McLean was chosen as representative of the Island Province on the credentials committee and members of the resolutions committee of the Province are Mr. McClure, Philip Matheson M.L.A.; Reagh Bagnall; Mrs. Reagh Bagnall; D.L. Matheson K.C., M.L.A.; B. Roy Holman, ex-officio.

Speaking for the rank and file of the delegation, Mr. McLean and Mr. Matheson said the arrangements and accommodation for visiting delegates to the convention were wonderful.

"The organization of this convention is superior to any other which I have attended," Mr. McLean said. "Both on committee work and for seating on the floor we've been able to get right down to our work without delay."

Major Matheson agreed as to the excellence of the convention arrangements as the unflinching courtesy of the staff.

Mr. Holman's Claim

In the Ottawa Journal of today Mr. Holman made the public statement that one-third of the 31-man and -woman delegation from the Province of Prince Edward Island will mark their ballots in favor of John Diefenbaker when the vote for the national leadership is called on Saturday.

Statements already made by Dr. MacMillan and Mr. McClure that the Island delegation is preponderantly in favor of Ontario Premier George Drew.

Canvassers for both and also for Donald Fleming, M.P. for Toronto, Eglinton, hustled themselves during the entire day questioning delegates as to whom they favor as the next party leader and then attempting to persuade them to alter their views in another candidate's favor. There have been several questions of "high-pressure and aggressive tactics" on the part of Mr. Diefenbaker's henchmen.

Hatchets were buried late today when the opening session of the convention was adjourned and the 2,000 delegates, alternates, and guest-observers filed uptown to the Chateau Laurier hotel to attend a reception given by the high command of the party. Other activities of the evening included a dinner by the Young Progressive Conservatives and a dance also sponsored by the younger faction of the party.

Big day for program and policy is tomorrow when the complete and streamlined platform whipped together at night and day sessions of the resolutions committee is brought down on the floor of the convention by Fred G. Gardiner, chairman of the committee.

TEL AVIV, Sept. 30 (AP)

Capture of Nathan Friedman-Yellin, chief of the Stern Gang which has been blamed by the Israeli Government for the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, was disclosed today by reliable sources.

The informants said Friedman-Yellin, a former Polish surveyor, and a lieutenant, Mattyahu Shmuelovitch, were caught by Israeli police in a house crammed with guns and ammunition at Haifa Wednesday night. Friedman-Yellin's wife was questioned for two hours and then released.

Mother Perishes In Quebec Fire

QUEBEC, Sept. 30 (CP)—A woman who gave birth to a child earlier today is known to have perished in a three-alarm fire tonight, which brought firemen from 12 city stations to a three-story block in the St. Roch quarter.

Paul-Eugene Drolet saved his day-old son and two other children but failed in an attempt to rescue his bedridden wife, 40. On the point of collapse as he reached the street Drolet's clothing was aflame. He was severely burned about face, hands and back.

Reports that four other persons died in the blaze could not be confirmed. Police said a check could be made until the fire has been extinguished. Firemen still were playing five water lines on the block.

More than 75 other persons occupying rooms on the top two floors fled from the block carrying bundles of clothing or whatever personal effects they could grasp before racing for safety. One man scrambled down a fire-ladder.
