Council Leases Sections Of Market House

An emergency meeting of the City council was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of leasing the eastern portion of the Market house and the granting of certain privileges in regard to railway sidings to the Eastern Hay and Feed Co., Ltd. on the land recently sold to that company by the City.

Mayor E. A. Foster occupied the chair and Councillors Chandler, Holman, Dougan, McKee, Lapthorn, and Hennessey were present. The City Recorder, Mr. K. M. Martin, was also in attendance.

After some discussion as to the terms of the lease and the monthly charge of the meat market in the Market house, it was decided to lease it to Mr. John M. Roop at a monthly rent of $40. for a term of 5 years. The other portion was to be rented to the present tenant, Mr. Alton Burke at a monthly rent of $20 for a 5 year term it was decided. Precautions to this effect were adopted at the meeting.

When the Eastern Hay and Feed Co., Ltd., purchased the land from the City they asked for the privilege of using a siding for unloading their goods from railway. At first it was thought that they should be offered use of the siding which is used jointly by the City and L. M. Poole and Company but this was found to be impracticable and as a result they were given the privilege of using certain ground for another siding. This was to be done at the expense of the Company. A resolution covering this was adopted.

NEW ZEALAND ARMY HAS WET CANTEENS

AUCKLAND N. Z., Jan. 30 —(CP)— Life in New Zealand army camps must be pretty satisfactory. The troops have wet canteens and in some cases have been provided with beer gardens where they can sit and drink in comfort at tables and big umbrellas.

The wet canteen, which sells only draught beer, is a departure from the First Great War when neither Australians nor New Zealanders could buy alcoholic beverages at their canteens. The ban still exists in Australia.

Opinion changed here, however, and the first wet canteens were opened with ceremony by commanding officers of the camps. The troops claimed that because they are all over 21 they should be allowed to exercise their rights as citizens and drink what they wished. The Auckland Anglican Synod held that drinking under supervision was preferable to unrestrained illicit drinking.

Speakers

The speaker thought that in view of the fact that 70 per cent of the men who have joined up to fight for the country are the sons of workingmen, they should be given the right to vote. They are brave enough to fight for their country and are allowed to vote in the Federal and Provincial elections without being asked if their taxes are paid, he said and the same should apply in the City.

A few years ago, the L. P. U. offered $500. to the City to allow 100 men the privilege of voting but the offer had been turned down. This amount would have been sufficient to pay the $5 poll tax for each man. It is little wonder that we have a grievance, the speaker declared "How can democracy survive in a town like that?" he asked.

He cited the case of a man paying taxes to the amount of $300 for 30 year and when he failed to pay this year he has no vote.

Mr. John Anderson told the audience that he had a slate of councillors and a candidate for the Mayoralty prepared to contest the coming civic election. The slate, he said, will be announced later as they "did not wish to be pestered by an organized intimidation on the part of 'scare crows' who might approach them.

He told of the difficulties of organizing and finding men to stick to their promises.

Candidates Approached

Some of the candidates approached had been in the Council before, one a former Mayor. Some young men have been enlisted to contest the election, "A man volunteered to run for Mayor if we can't get a better man," Mr. Anderson announced.

He did not like to make predictions but said that he "would not be a bit surprised if we get the whole slate of 8 councillors and a Mayor elected."

One of the main grievances is the fact that a man is not allowed to vote if his poll tax is not paid. This is a peculiar state of affairs as the Federal and Provincial governments allow the citizens to vote without a king if their taxes are paid. The City will block you if you miss one year's payment, and put you in the same block as the Indians, the speaker said. The town has grown and taxes should have decreased with the growth but instead they have increased.

He charged the City Council with putting all the sins committed in the City on the head of the former City Clerk. In the days of old the sins were put on the head of a scapegoat and he was chased to the woods, but in this case the sins were put on the head of the former City Clerk and he was "chased to the asylum." "He is kept there on the pretense that he is insane, and if he is not let out soon he will be insane." Mr. Anderson said.

City Lost Money

The City lost money to the tune of anywhere from $70,000 to $150,000, he stated, and the former City Clerk "hasn't got that money, and his wife hasn't got it either. It may be that some of the people down on the former City Clerk got the money. The way to put it through the secret is to put in a new council board", he said.

The speaker declared that he did not think the proposed plan of getting a manager for the City and making the council board smaller would be a permanent cure for the defects.

He cited some of the changes made lately in the City Hall and in the personnel of the staff. Formerly there were nine officials in the building and that has been increased to 13 at an extra cost of $3,364 not including the auditor's salary.

He charged the administration with favoritism in not increasing the salary of one of the City officials, when others received a raise. Also the new City Clerk was willing to accept the position at a salary of $1500 but he was given $1800.

Mr. Arthur Gormley, President of the Charlottetown L. P. U. said that he was interested in seeing that the workingmen were given a vote. He referred to the old asphalt plant which was maintained by the City, employing many men, who were able to pay their taxes from the wages received. A small sum was deducted from each pay cheque and in this way each man's taxes were paid.

Tore Down Plant

The City tore down this plant, which cost $40,000, he said, and employed outside contractors to do the street work. In this way thousands of dollars went out of the City.

The workingmen in the City had a set scale of 35 cents an hour and the companies reduced this to 25 cents and they were backed by the City Council, the speaker stated, and this was not fair to the working class.

The work done by the outside contractors was not as good as that performed by the old asphalt plant, he said.

He referred to the discrimination used against members of the L. P. U. when they sought work on the Victoria Park project.

Mr. Arthur King stated that all men in uniform should be given the right to vote in the forthcoming civic election even if their taxes are not paid. It is not British justice to deprive them of a vote just because their taxes are not paid, he said.

He referred to the City doing most of their work with the City truck and depriving the truckmen of this work. If there was no City truck, he said, the truckmen would be given work and would not have to accept relief. The relief in the City is not good and the system is "rotten" the speaker stated. It is not fair that the man who checks the City relief slips should be given $40 a month extra for this job, he said.

Councillor Chandler

Councillor R. C. Chandler said that he was not in accordance with some of the statements made by other speakers. In the matter of the workingmen not being allowed to vote because they had not paid their taxes, he said that it was a matter of law, and it was up to the Provincial Legislature to say who would vote and not the City. This law effected not only the man not paying his poll tax but also the large taxpayers. He was quite in agreement that every man should have a vote. The Federal and Provincial Governments were receiving taxes from the people every time they bought sugar, gas etc., and therefore they have the right to vote in these elections, he said.

In reference to the tearing down and scrapping of the asphalt plant he said that this was not true as the plant had burned down. Experts said that it would cost too much to rebuild it and the City had sold it for $1200. Every contract let by the City included the provision that, with the exception of the keymen, every man employed was to be taken from the City's unemployment list. He also cited the case of the Mayor stopping the work at the municipal airport last summer, when it was found that workmen from outside the City were employed there. It was closed until all labor from the City was used, he stated.

Relief was a two sided question, the speaker said, and whereas there might be an odd deserving case overlooked, on the other hand there were undeserving cases receiving relief. A country like this will not let anyone starve, he said.

New System

Referring to Mr. Anderson's remarks about the City's finances, he said that the Council had taken the system apart and found a state of affairs that would hardly be found in any other City. The City had been losing at the rate of $10,000 a year. A new system has been installed that eliminated any leakage, he informed his audience.

In reference to Mr. Anderson's remarks about the former City Clerk, Councillor Chandler said that the former City Clerk "went to Falconwood on the order of his own physician, and we are not keeping him there."

Mr. William MacLean called upon the City to give the men who are fighting for "democracy and freedom" the right to vote, even if their taxes are not paid.

Hitler Heard In Threatening, Boasting Speech

By Alvin J. Steinkopf
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Jan. 30—(AP)—Adolf Hitler tonight told a Sportspalast mass meeting that Britain and France alike will get "the fight" he claimed they asked for, and said he was sure Germany would win the war.

It was the seventh anniversary of his elevation to the chancellery. His speech, the first formal one he had made since Nov. 8, when he escaped death by a few minutes in the Munich Beer Hall Explosion, was announced shortly before he went to the platform.

"Old Mr. Chamberlain with his Bible," Premier Daladier of France and "French generals," and Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty were the personalities Hitler bitterly attacked.

"England and France" alike were charged by the Fuehrer with desire to break Germany into bits, to "pulverize" it, and Hitler said "England and France" would receive retribution.

His voice quivered, then rose to a scream as he told how Germany's enemies at home had got the fight which, "they wanted," Then he threatened:—

"In 1939 the western powers dropped the mask and sent Germany a declaration of war despite all our attempts at an understanding. Today they admit an understanding with Poland might have been possible but they didn't want it. They wanted war. I can only tell England and France, 'they'll get their fight!'"

(Shortwave reception of the speech in North America was interrupted frequently by mechanical noises. Radio engineers said they believed this was the result of "jamming" from some unknown source.)

Bitter Towards English

Hitler was most bitter toward "Old Mr. Chamberlain," Mr. Churchill and the English, but Daladier and the French were not spared.

"Monsieur Daladier," he cried, referring to the French Premier's contention that Germany is not united, "my native land (Austria) was cited and pitied. Oh, Monsieur Daladier! You're going to get to know my Ostmarker (Austrians). You're going to make their acquaintance as you will that of the others, Herr Daladier. They all will show you that there aren't any individual German tribes any longer, Herr Daladier. The whole German people rises against you!"

England, he told "Old Mr. Chamberlain," is "being repaid in the terms of her own past history."

Of Winston Churchill: "Churchill is burning to start the second phase of the war. England's manner of waging war is that of going to war against women and children. I wonder whether they think Germany has been asleep?"

(He was answering Mr. Churchill's recent declaration that Germany, by early action, had lost its chance to win the war.)

Of Italy Hitler said:—

Still Friends With Italy

"For years Germany has pursued a common policy with Italy. This policy has not changed. Both states are intimate friends. Their common interests can be reduced to a common denominator."

Of Russia, and Germany's new partnership with her peacetime enemy of years:—

"For the past year I have tried to remove the possibility of England expanding this war into a general one. Chamberlain then was anxious for an understanding with Russia. Today our enemies are furious that I did what they attempted; namely, to arrive at that understanding.

"Through centuries Germany and Russia were friends—why not now?"

Again he referred to France:—

"In England and France the leading classes were determined to fight when the moment of Germany's resurgence came. England has always followed the aim of preventing the consolidation of Europe, just as France for centuries prevented the consolidation of Germany."

Hitler gave his familiar picture of post great war conditions which led to the rise of the Nazi movement.

"Englishmen," he continued, "no longer speak about Bibles—their Bible was the treaty of Versailles.

The sole purpose of the League of Nations was to compel us to fulfill the terms of the dictate. All this happened in the time of democratic Germany.

"During all this time democratic Germany hoped and begged and protested. International finance remained brutal. Statesmen of the allied nations remained hard-hearted. Nobody cared about the ruination of our agriculture and our industry and our trade.

Boasts Of Power

"There arose the Nazi movement from recognition of the fact that one must not beg, but must help oneself.

"We now trust in the only help available in the world—in the confidence of ourselves. We trusted in the productive powers and intelligence of our people and the products of our soil.

"Mr. Chamberlain, for 300 years your statesmen always spoke as you do now. You never fought otherwise than for God and religion, and because you never asked for material aims, God rewarded you!

"But England never wanted to be the sole fighter for the Lord. She always asked others in. England's history is an uninterrupted series of maltreatments, horrors and tortures. The aims always were materialistic, but proclaimed as idealistic."

Hitler charged Mr. Chamberlain and "French generals" with desiring the destruction and dismemberment of Germany.

"Nations once disunited," he said, "have been united. They find themselves faced by possessor nations.

"England and France want our dissolution. To this our reply is the same as to our internal enemies. Our domestic fight was one without parallel and was seemingly doomed to failure. But we grew and became constantly stronger."

1940 Edition Of Minstrels Is Big Hit

The 1940 Edition of The Merry Minstrels of Charlottetown opening with a Fan Fare by the Minstrel Trumpeters was a "hit" from the beginning to the end. From the first chorus, "Sit Up and Listen," to the Grand Finale, fun and merriment held sway. After the first chorus "Bill Brown Jr., Master of Ceremonies, introduced those four wittiest of witty fun-makers, TAMBO, Mr. J. Austin Trainor, Mr. Clarence Howatt, BONES, Mr. Frank Bradley, Mr. Billy Morgan.

Throughtout the performance these four by their sparkling dialogue and humorous sallies kept the audience rocking with laughter. Mr. Frank Bradley as "Bones" rendered the strains of "Swanee River" so touchingly on the harmonica, that the audience was stirred to riotous laughter.

Highlight of the Minstrel Show was "Down Memory Lane" composed by Mr. Valteur of Moncton, N. B., son-in-law of Mr and Mrs. James Purcell of this city. Earle Doyle gave this song's first public presentation.

Mr. Clarence Howatt Tambo II and Mr. Austin Trainor, Tambo I kept the audience roling in their seats as Mr. Howatt gave Adolf the horse-laugh and Mr. Trainor gave one of his inimitable "End Songs."

Solos by members of the chorus were greatly enjoyed, and Mr. Charlie Chamberlain, followed with "Old Man River." Encore numbers were "Wagon Wheels" and "Trees."

Dancing also had its place on the programme for Mr. Eddie Bourgeault of the Capitol School of Dancing, and those four charming Military Minstreletts as well as two younger performers Billy Leonard and Leah MacDonald, showed the audience the very best tap dancing seen in this city for a long while.

Mr. Albert Blanchard and his orchestra gave an unusually fine performance, living up to their reputation as masters of music.

N. B. Statement

Major revenue sources failing to come up to expectations were the gasoline tax, which yielded $1,921,059, or $328,941 less than expected; succession duties, which amounted to $177,276 or less than half an estimated $400,000, and the New Brunswick Liquor Control Board, which yielded $24,201 less than the $1,300,000 anticipated.

On the expenditure side, public debt and sinking fund ate up almost half the money the Province took in.

TAX INCREASE FORECAST

FREDERICTON, Jan. 30—(CP)—Possibility that new taxes might be imposed at the next session of the New Brunswick Legislature was seen tonight in a statement issued by Premier Dysart, commenting on a 1939 deficit of $875,000 showed in the annual financial statement of the Province.

"If we are to continue and possibly expand our wide range of social services, it is abundantly clear that new sources of revenue must be had," he said.

The Premier revealed that service of James A. Thompson, taxation expert who did work for the Rowell Commission, have been secured "to ascertain where Provincial income may be supplemented."

PRE-ELECTION

But Prime Minister King and most of his colleagues will confine their rhetorical efforts largely to the radio although it is expected there will be many outstanding exceptions to this general rule.

Hon. W. D. Herridge, leader of the new democracy movement, has yet to announce publicly the part he will play in the campaign but is expected to join with the Social Credit members of Alberta and Saskatchewan to support monetary reform candidates.

Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members have been in close conference with the National executive and are expected to announce detailed plans for this campaign shortly.

Dr. Manion fired a shot in the campaign today when he issued a press statement reiterating his charges of mismanageemnt in the war effort and claiming soldiers were suffering illness and incapacity because they were exposed to the rigors of winter improperly clothed.

Representatives of all the parties are understood to be in conference with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with a view to working out an equitable apportionment of free time on the air for political speakers.

With the Federal Government, particularly the Prime Minister, planning to make the electoral argument largely by radio, it is a matter of speculation how the regulations applicable to broadcasting personal opinions on hired network time will work out.

A detailed working plan is expected to be announced by the C. B. C. shortly.

Dr. J. M. Robb National Conservative organizer, is in Ottawa now at party headquarters and will be busy preparing for the campaign. The National Liberale Federation headquarters is still under presidency of Senator Norman Lambert who probably will remain at the head of the federation although possibly taking little part in the actual campaign.

Liberal organizations throughout the dominion are largely self-contained within each province with the federation headquarters here serving as a clearing house and source of information.

THEFTS A PROBLEM FOR LEPER COLONY

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 30 —(CP) —Crime has broken out in the leper settlement on Molakai Island and it's something of a problem. Even if the perpetrator of two robberies in which loot totalled $1,032 is found he can't be sent away to a real prison. There's a little jail in Molaki but it's more like home.

The leper judge and the leper sheriff and deputies say that since the robberies everyone is getting suspicious. They deplore the fact that there is no bank in the colony to safeguard valuables.
