Another Strange Death In N. S.

Lifeless Body Of Child Found With Remains Charred Almost Beyond Recognition.

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, N. S., May 13.—Charred almost beyond recognition and with hands and feet completely burned away, the lifeless body of Goldie Drake was found this afternoon, covered with moss in a natural depression near the Geislers Mountain Road. Mrs. Gertrude Drake, the mother, who arrived at the home of her father on the mountain road late yesterday without the child, is being held by county authorities. The child's disappearance was first reported yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Drake had set out from the home of her sister in the north end of the city at eight o'clock in the morning with the intention of visiting her father, Samuel Purcell, on the Geislers mountain road, a short branch of the Dutch village highway. Late in the afternoon she arrived alone, without a hat and coat or the basket she had carried on setting out. These she said, had disappeared with the child, while the mother lay near the road in a fainting condition. Mrs. Drake was in a distraught condition when she reached her father's home and could give no coherent account of the day's events.

NO TRACE

Search parties last night could find no trace of the little girl, but at four o'clock this afternoon Ernest Lyall, Albert Cornell and Leonard Gifford of Rockingham found the body, which had been placed in a hollow in the ground from which some earth had been scooped about three hundred yards from the road. The body was covered with moss, and nearby was a bottle which had contained a strong disinfectant solution. Mrs. Drake was taken into custody shortly after the discovery. A post mortem will be held tonight.

BATTLE HONORS AWARDED FOR THE GREAT WAR

OTTAWA, Ont., May 14.—(By Canadian Press)—Twelve militia units of the Maritime Provinces have their Battle Honors of the Great War published in the third list issued by the Department of National Defence and included in District Orders today. These include seven regiments from Nova Scotia, two from Prince Edward Island, and three from New Brunswick. A fourth list will follow in due course.

Already all of the battalions of the Canadian Corps and the Expeditionary Force generally have been dealt with, the 7th (British Columbia Battalion) excepted. The present list takes in militia regiments who contributed men to active service battalions and who, under departmental regulations, are entitled to battle honors on the basis of having no fewer than 250 men present and in action at all of the engagements in respect of which recognition is claimed. These men need not necessarily have served in one unit, but may have been distributed throughout the Corps in a number of battalions or formations. For example:

The Halifax Rifles will bear on their Regimental Color the following battle honors: "MOUNT SORREL—SOMME, 1916—ARRAS, 1917—HILL 70—AMIENS—PURSUIT TO MONS."

Additional to those, the following honors will be credited to the Halifax Rifles as an introductory to that regiment's particulars in the Militia List: "The Great War—Ypres, 1917—Hindenburg Line."

The honors of the Princess Louise Fusiliers of Halifax are also published, while other Nova Scotia regiments embraced within the current list are: The King's Canadian Hussars, Kentville; The Pictou Highlanders, Stellarton; The Cumberland Highlanders, Amherst; The Lunenburg Regiment, Lunenburg; The Annapolis Regiment, Middleton.

The Prince Edward Island Light Horse and the Prince Edward Island Highlanders are the two regiments from that province whose color honors are listed, while the New Brunswick regiments are: The York Regiment, Fredericton; The North Shore Regiment, Chatham; and the New Brunswick Rangers, Susex.

OTTAWA, May 13.—List No. 3 of awards of Great War battle honors for regiments and corps of the non permanent active militia of Canada and units of the Canadian Expeditionary Force includes the following: The Prince Edward Island Light Horse, The Great War; "Arras, 1917, '18," "Ypres, 1917," "Amiens," "Hindenburg Line," "Pursuit to Mons."

The Prince Edward Island Highlanders: The Great War, "Arras, 1917, '18," "Ypres, 1917," "Amiens," "Hindenburg Line," "Pursuit to Mons."

Foreign Text Books In The Canadian Schools

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Que., May 13.—Four recommendations were made by the business committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce as a result of its preliminary study of the use of foreign text books in Canadian schools. The committee today issued an interim report and recommended:

- 1.—That the Guilek health series, where ever used, be withdrawn at as early a date as possible and replaced by Canadian texts prepared by competent authors within the Dominion.
- 2.—That the Provincial Departments of Education be urged to make adequate provision in the secondary schools for study in the English course of British, (including Canadian) poets and prose writers and to substitute in primary grades passages from the works of British authors in place of many of the American writings now prescribed for practice readings.
- 3.—That, where not now provided in secondary schools, arrangements be made for a separate course in citizenship and commercial geography.

One of the officers was struck by the woman with a bottle. One of the men was arrested and lodged in the Prince County Jail. The liquor was stored in the customs House. GRADUATION EXERCISES AT DALHOUSIE

One Hundred And Fifty Students Addressed By Dr. H. M. Tory of The National Research Council.

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, N. S., May 13.—"Think of Canada, think in terms of Canada, tie up your life in her interests, for the measure of Canada's greatness will be largely dependent on the measure of the people who live in this country." This was the advice given a Dalhousie Graduating class of more than one hundred and fifty students at the graduation exercises today by Dr. H. Marshall Tory, president of the National Research Council.

"The young men and women of today should be worthy of the great pioneer ancestors of Canada. There is a need of strong and vigorous national outlook," said Dr. Tory. "There is a need to sense the value of future of one's own country and a determination to find a place in Canada rather than another country."

Honorary degrees in law were conferred on His Honor James C. Tory, Lieut-Governor of Nova Scotia, and Dr. Kenneth Grant Tremaine Webster, of Yarmouth, now of Harvard University.

THE SITUATION IN INDIA

(Special to The Guardian)
SHOLAPUR, India, May 13.—An attempt at secession from the Indian Government was launched in this city today when the populace moved to set up self Government after seizing this city by armed force. The leaders proceeded to establish a sort of government of their own, issuing new traffic laws and generally attempting to take over entire control of the city and its affairs.

The military, ordered to take control of the city, met with determined resistance, the natives proceeding about their gesture of self Government in defiance of martial law which has been proclaimed by the Government.

This city of 119,581 population, the scene last week of deadly conflict between the incensed followers of the imprisoned Mahatma Gandhi and the authorities, passed out of the Government's control, when the native disturbers repulsed the efforts of police and troops to put down their activities. Casualties of several hundred, including a score killed resulted.

British troops proceeded to invest the city. Strong reinforcements arrived to support the military commands already on the scene. Martial law, tentatively proclaimed last night within scholapur municipal limits was made absolute early today when E. B. Hotsen, home member of the Bombay Government arrived here after a hurried visit to Poona.

Troops acting under orders to exert measures fled through the city and took charge of all important sections they posted machine guns and established pickets at strategic points erecting barricades in the streets and holding up traffic, the attempt to put self Government into practice was exceedingly short lived. Soon traffic was suspended and the natives vanished by the thousands into their homes. The city took on a deserted appearance; all shops closed in Sholapur and many cotton mills had been shut down.

BOMBAY, May 13.—The Bombay Government today called its high officials to a special meeting at Mahabaleswar, summer capital of the district to deal with the critical situation at Sholapur.

PESHAWAR, India, May 13.—Mobile squadrons of British troops and bombing squadrons moved vigorously today against rebellious groups inspired by the tribal leader Haji Turangzal, who has encamped his troops near Peshawar.

Spread of disaffection in nearby villages was being checked by the British raids and authorities reported they were restoring full control. Turangzal has been ordered to withdraw his troops under threat of drastic armed action.

PROMISES CLEAN-UP OF BOOZE

New Detective Declares That He Has Already Got Information Against Prominent Law Violators In This Province.

Hired by the Prohibition Commission for the period of a year as detective and prohibition officer Trooper H. C. Hague, Toronto, formerly of the British South African Police has been working in the province for the last three weeks.

Interviewed by a Guardian reporter yesterday Mr. Hague stated that he is already making his presence felt, and that he has information which he will lay "as the spirit moves" against a considerable number of prominent liquor vendors, who are unscrupulously dispensing of their wares. The new officer says that he proposes to take definite measures to put the bootlegger out of business this summer, and declares that he is particularly anxious to get after the big men "in the illicit business." He comes recommended by Deputy Chief Cutty of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Mr. Hague has had an interesting varied, and colorful career. From 1920 to 1922 he rode on a cattle ranch in Alberta. Returning to Toronto he next went to South Africa and in September of the same year joined the British South African police, a force which is to South Africa what the R. C. M. P. is to Canada, and which is recognized as one of the best police units of the British Empire. Mr. Hague belonged to a small corps of about 450 members which patrolled South Rhodesia, a territory of 148, 575 square miles with a population of 33,000 Europeans, 12,000 Asiatics, 2,000 Cape colored, and 850,000 natives. Accompanied by five natives it was the duty of Trooper Hague to patrol 800 square miles of territory. During his years of service he had some very interesting experiences and brought to justice a number of native murderers. In 1925 he was a member of the Royal Escort for the Prince of Wales, and was the only Canadian in the unit. In the same year he was also one of the bodyguard to "Pussyfoot" Johnson, who visited South Africa. Mr. Hague speaks the Chishwena, the language of the Rhodesian natives. He has done considerable big game shooting including bagging lions, leopards and elephants. He returned to Canada last year and was for some time house detective and floor manager for Robert Simpson & Co.

POLITICAL POT WILL BOIL IN THE MARITIMES

Provincial Election In New Brunswick Likely In Addition To Federal Contest, New Leader For N. S. Liberals.

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, N. S., May 12.—Not in five years have political strategists on the Atlantic frontier had opportunities to compare with the events of the coming summer. Not since 1925 when two provincial general elections and one federal contest kept Maritime party fences in a constant state of construction or repair from June to November, has there been anything to equal the present indications of activity. Although this year's contests of the polling booth will number one less

ENJOYED VISIT TO WESTERN PROVINCES

Premier Saunders who, with Mrs. Saunders returned Monday evening after a pleasant trip to the Pacific Coast, reports that optimism is the keynote of the western cities and Provinces. He visited en route, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Regina, Calona, Winnipeg and Vancouver, returning over the C. P. R. lines. Excellent weather was encountered during the trip, and many former islanders were met. The vast potentialities of the west in respect to mineral wealth, the opening up of the Peace River district and other prospects for increasing development are themes constantly discussed and looked forward to. Vancouver one of the finest seaports in the world with a present population of about 340,000 is continuing to make progress and expects within a few years to rival Montreal in population. In Regina and other western centres the same progressive spirit prevails. Premier Saunders felt, however, that there was no comparison between the living conditions here and in the West, and that Prince Edward Island is blessed beyond any province in this respect.

In Regina the Premier had the privilege of addressing the Women's Canadian Club on the history and resources of Prince Edward Island. There were present quite a number of people from the Maritime Provinces, including several islanders, and needless to say the address was received with much appreciation. The very efficient and courteous service both on the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railway lines made a most favorable impression on Premier Saunders.

Miss Mac McDonald, President of the Rebekah Assembly of the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, paid her official visit to Maple Leaf Rebekah's Lodge, No. 13, Summerside on Tuesday evening and gave a very interesting and instructive address to the members. Mrs. John Hogan, Noble Grand President; Mrs. A. P. Jamieson, D. D. P., made a presentation of a silver rose to Miss McDonald on behalf of the lodge. Addresses by several of the members
