

DEMOCRATIC WOMAN LEADER IN CONFERENCE WITH FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT IN NEW YORK.

One of the prominent Democratic women leaders in the presidential campaign is Mrs. George Bass, turned from his western trip and chairman of the Woman's Division, dropped in at New York headquarters. She is seen here in conference with Franklin D. Roosevelt, after the vice-presidential nominee had returned from his western trip and chairman of the Woman's Division, dropped in at New York headquarters.

Geatest Long Distance Runner Of All Time

Mensen Ernst Not of Present Generation, But His Feats of Endurance and Speed Have Never Been Approached

The last Olympic games called to mind the feats of Mensen Ernst, the greatest endurance runner that ever lived. I speak of this man because he seems to be entirely forgotten. I have never heard his name mentioned, although there are books written about this iron man of Norway whose yellow cross-country running is unapproached by man or beast.

Here is a brief account of his career. Note his records carefully and remember that it is doubtful if the man lives today who can run one hundred miles in one day, let alone average 125 miles a day for two weeks, as Ernst did.

Mensen Ernst was born in 1799 in Bergen, Norway, and went to London in 1820, after having been a sailor on East Indian traders for some years. He entered the then popular cross-country races being held in England and made good from the start. He ran races between London and cities in the north of England, and after some years was considered unbeatable. He also ran races on the continent and astonished people everywhere by his speed and endurance.

In 1832 British sportsmen arranged a race for him from Paris to Moscow. There was heavy betting on his time between the different places of control on the route. He started from Paris, June 11 and arrived in Moscow June 25, having covered 1,625 miles at an average of 125 miles a day and swimming across thirteen big rivers on his way. He surprised even his most ardent admirers by his remarkable performance.

In 1833 he ran from Munich, Bavaria, to Nauplia, in Southern Greece, from June 6 to June 30, a distance of 2,060 miles across rough and hilly country, averaging eighty-six miles a day.

He was engaged as courier by the British East India Company for some time and in 1836 he took an important message to Lord Auckland, then governor in Calcutta. He started from Constantinople and returned with the reply, having covered a distance of 5,625 miles across Anatolia, Persia, Afghanistan, and northern India and back in fifty-nine days, averaging ninety-five miles a day.

In 1843 he joined a British expedition to Africa and died of fever the same year in Egypt. An account of his life was published by Rieck in Leipzig in 1844.

What to Do With It.

What about the dispersal of second place money for those of the White Sox who turned crooked? The best suggestion we have received comes from Eddie Van Vleck: "The honest players deserve their share, but why not take the rest of the money and give it to the Red Cross or some other worthy charity?" Why not? In this way, at least, however unwillingly, the game sellers would be forced to figure in a slight atonement. The suggestion is very much worth while.

Rempton of Yale.

Few young football players have ever heard loud strains from the Anvil chorus than Rempton of Yale, heard all last fall. But through it all no one was able to deny his abiding gameness. We have a hunch that with this quality to back up his ability he will have quite a different season this fall with the Anvil Chorus pitched at a much lower key, if not eliminated altogether. Gameness plus ability isn't to be wrecked by fate two seasons in succession.

A few cents buys "Danderine." After an application of "Danderine" you can not find a fallen hair or any dandruff, besides every hair shows new life, vigor, brightness, more color and thickness.

A Tale of Two Cities.

The title of one of Dicken's masterpieces could easily be used for another great drama.

Ray Schalk, coming through his home town of Litchfield, Ill., is met by a cheering crowd that takes deep pride in the honesty of one of its important citizens.

Litchfield can look the world in the face.

But what sort of reception will Joe Jackson meet when he steps off the train at the old home town of Greenville, S. C.?

Or how many cheering thousands in Detroit will meet Eddie Cicotte?

They are still speculating as to whether or not Carpenter can get Levinsky as quickly as Dempsey did—by three rounds. But as Professor Levinsky says, there will be no getting at all—that he will still be on duty when the final round ends. We come upon complications that will hardly be settled until the night of the fight.

Will It Be Three.

Eddie Collins was a star member of one of the game's greatest ball clubs—the Athletics of 1914.

The machine was wrecked. Eddie later on became a member of another of the game's greatest ball clubs—the White Sox of 1919-20.

This machine has also been wrecked—in another way.

Eddie is still a great ball player, but not quite so young as he was after eleven or twelve years under the Big Tent.

Whether he will be a member of another one of the world's greatest clubs is a matter for the future to settle.

As F. P. A. remarks, the old saying still runs true: "You can't throw a ball game—and get away with it." If you think you can, cable Hal Chase, Lee Magee, Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson and two or three others.

LEMON JUICE

FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, and neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

BIBLES COME HIGH, BUT SELL WELL

(New York Post.)

"How much is this Bible?" you ask of the clerk in the book department.

"Fourteen dollars." It is a fairly good looking book, but $14 seems a good deal. You examine one at $9.

"Haven't you any cheap Bibles?" "When anybody wants a Bible enough to buy one they pay any kind of price," remarked the clerk casually. "People generally buy Bibles for gifts, and we only keep the best kind in stock."

"But isn't that profiteering?" you inquire.

"No more than shoes," replies the clerk controversially. "You buy shoes for $14, and they soon wear out. You buy a Bible for $14 and it lasts you as long as you live."

"Oh! And you pay for the Bible."

This is Bible Year.

Scarcely anyone knows that this is Bible Year. But it is. The climax of the celebration will come on December 5. At that time there will be special services in all the churches and a demonstration all over the country.

When the Gideons, the society through which the hotels of the United States are supplied with Bibles held their 21st annual convention, in St. Louis, on July 22, the plan to distribute 50,000 Bibles among the hotels during this coming year was made public.

The report said that since the Gideon Society was formed in 1899, 440,000 Bibles had been distributed, 26,000 of them during the past year. It is due to the generosity of the Gideons that in all or almost all, hotel rooms a Bible is to be found on the table.

Bibles were nothing like so expensive before the war as they are now. The clerk in the book department explained that paper is very expensive, especially Bible paper, she said. Also the leather in which they are bound, and the silk with which they are sewed. To say nothing of the labor. And then the Bible is really a best seller.

Rubbers Must Fit to Wear

THE leading shoe stores realize this. That is one reason why they always stock Dominion Rubber System rubbers.

Dealers know that rubbers must fit perfectly—must have the exact toe, heel and width of the shoe being worn—in order to be comfortable and to give long and satisfactory service. They know, too, that include shapes and sizes to perfectly fit the shoes of every member of the family—men, women, boys and girls.

They know, too, that Dominion Rubber System rubbers have the sturdy quality and expert workmanship to give you the kind of wear you have a right to expect.

These are some of the reasons why the leading stores sell and recommend Dominion Rubber System rubbers, and why you should insist on having them.

Protect your health as well as your shoes by wearing rubbers this winter.

Always on Time

"Guaranteed, of Course"

This is the recognized slogan of our business and it means just what it says.

If we have the slightest suspicion that any article offered to our buyers will not prove thoroughly satisfactory to our patrons, it will never find a place in our stock—however attractively priced.

We appreciate the fact that the greatest asset of our business is the confidence of our patrons and we always try to be worthy of the trust placed in us.

This especially applies to Birks Watches—for an unreliable watch is the poorest sort of recommendation. So for our own prestige as well as for your satisfaction every Birks Watch must be persive before the war as they are now. The clerk in the book department explained that paper is very expensive, especially Bible paper, she said. Also the leather in which they are bound, and the silk with which they are sewed. To say nothing of the labor. And then the Bible is really a best seller.

She said she often sells twenty-five Bibles in one day. Bibles containing the family record are not popular because no one records births and marriages in the Bible nowadays, and the family Bible has given way to the individual Bible.

Some strange stories were brought home by returning soldiers. More than one had a Bible to show with a bullet hole in it, proving that it had served as armor and saved his life.

Men who had never read the Bible in their lives looked up passages in it that were quoted by their chaplains, and some of the boys read verses they had not seen since their Sunday school days and felt a personal interest that mitigated homesickness.

It was during the early years of the war that the Bible began to be talked about in a new way. Publishers saw the commercial value of printing them in friendly type that could be read as easily as an ordinary book, and with lines stretching across the page, instead of on an agate type, with the usual unfamiliar column rule down the middle of each page.

Unless you receive a Bible from some Bible mission or from the Gideons you will now pay a good round sum for it.

Lachute, Que. 75th. 1918. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen.—Ever since coming home from the Boer war I have been bothered with running fever sores on my legs. I tried many salves and liniments; also doctor-ed continually for the blood, but got no permanent relief, till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. After two bottles the sores completely disappeared and I have worked every working day since.

Yours gratefully,
JOHN WALSH.

Costs No More than Common Molasses!

THE real concentrated juices of the sugar cane contains 9 pounds of sugar to the gallon. It stands to reason that if the sugar is taken out, the refuse, Molasses, should be sold to you cheaper than the whole-sugar syrup.

But it isn't! You pay as much for refinery waste Molasses, glucose blends, and table syrups as you do for

Windmill Barbados Super-Fancy

Why "Windmill"?

That's a fair question. Here's the answer. The old-fashioned method of crushing the cane in the Islands, by Windmill power, suggested the name. That's well worth remembering. The windmill extracts only the finest juice of the ripest cane. The syrup is concentrated in open copper kettles, and NO sugar is extracted.

"Windmill" Barbados is sold to your dealer in original puncheons, and he will sell you any quantity, in your own container—

Buy Just as Much as You Need!

"Windmill" Barbados is the pride of the planters in the British West Indies. It is the most delicious food product of those tropical islands,—and the most economical!

It is full of heat, energy, and health-building qualities.

But for the war, the worthless substitutes could never have gained a footing in this market, which the British West Indian planters have served faithfully for a hundred years.

The real Barbados is back in all its old-time goodness. And there is only one way to be sure of getting it—insist on "Windmill" Brand. It costs no more!
