There passed away at Upton, Dundas, P. E. Island on Sept. 28th 1918, Susan Walker, beloved wife of John Duff, aged 74 years. Deceased was a daughter of the late James Walker of Brackley Point and sister of David Walker of Charlottetown. She leaves a husband, four sons and five daughters who knew her as a devoted wife and mother.

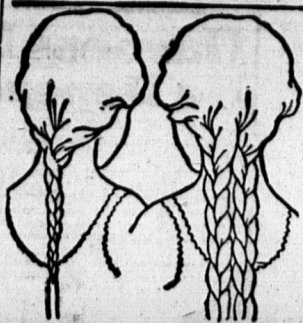

In early life she was brought to a knowledge of Salvation under the ministry of the late Rev. Donald McDonald and has always been a consistent and devout member of the church of Scotland. She will be remembered as one who ever had the spiritual interests of others at heart, and she and her husband always opened their home to devotional exercises.

Through a long and trying illness she manifested a peace and joy which shed forth the comfort of the kingdom of heaven and told of the glory into which she was passing.

The funeral took place on Mon. Sept. 30th the services were held in the Kirk near by. Rev. Ewen McDougall her pastor officiated. To Mr. Duff who is himself laid aside by a severe illness and to the family and friends much sympathy is extended.

Deepest sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. James Herrell, Weymouth Street, in the great sorrow which has come to them in the death of their eldest daughter, Miss Mary, who passed away at the Charlottetown Hospital at 6.10 last evening after an illness of only eight days. The deceased who had been book-keeper at the Examiner office for a number of years was of a particularly bright and agreeable disposition, capable and painstaking in her work and made many friends to whom the news of her death will come as a shock. She left Charlottetown a little over three weeks ago to spend her annual vacation in Boston. On her way home she became ill with that form of influenza now so prevalent in the New England States. Her condition not improving, she was removed last Sunday from her home to the City Hospital where her life hung in the balance until last evening when her gentle spirit passed away. Besides her parents there are three brothers, James, John and Felix and one sister, Miss Margaret, the last named having also been quite ill with the same dread malady to all of whom the heartfelt sympathy of many friends will go out in their sad loss.

He had his baptism of fire, eight days after he entered the trenches, when the Lieut. of his platoon the late Ralph Rogers was killed. For devotion to duty, he was transferred to the machine gun section of the 18th Western Ontario Battalion, 4th Canadian Infantry, Brigade, with the fighting old fourth Brigade, he went through the following engagements: Somme, Sept. 1916, Vimy Ridge, April 1917, Lens, Aug. 1917, Paschendale, Nov. 1917. He was reported accidentally wounded May 27th 1918, but returned to the front line trenches in July, where with the pluck of a veteran, he remained on duty till he fell on the field of honor, at the early age of 22 years, after being on duty in the front line for 25 months, thus passing away one of the brave old guard a true soldier, popular alike among officers and men, having played a hero's part, he now calmly rests where brave hearts have laid him. HOW? WHY?

Fawcett Grates are all made to admit an immense amount of air from below the fire which forces the fuel to burn entirely to a white ash. Fuel burns longer and the gases and smoke are converted into fuel, because the fire boxes in Fawcett Ranges and Heaters are all built with hot-blast, smoke-consuming devices which burn the hot gases and smoke, thereby saving half the fuel.

These are only a few Fawcett features. Others can only imitate.
