SHEPHERD HONORED WITH STAMP ISSUE
 (By The Canadian Press)
CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 18.—The Postmaster-General has issued a special stamp to commemorate the centenary of the death of Captain John Macarthur, who was responsible for the introduction of the Merino breed of sheep into Australia. This led to the establishment in the Commonwealth of the great wool-producing industry.
 The design shows a ram in the foreground, with a background of plains merging into mountains, typical of the ideal sheep-run. Various denominations of the sheep run in red, blue and purple.
 The conductor came along the bus collecting fares and stopped beside the woman with a little boy on her knee.
 "The boy is only five years old," said the conductor hastily when she saw the conductor glaring at the child.
 The conductor took the money for one fare and passed on. When he had reached the other end of the bus it occurred to the small boy that an important bit of information had been overlooked.
 "Mother is thirty-seven," he shouted out.
 The regular monthly meeting of the Albion Cross W. I. was held on December 12 at the home of Mrs. A. J. MacDonald, with seven members and three visitors present.
 Meeting opened by singing the Institute Ode, followed by the Women's Creed in unison.
 The minutes of the previous meeting were read, approved and signed by the president.

 Sick—Mrs. J. A. MacLean.
 Program—Miss Maude Nicholson and Georgie Matheson.
 A committee was also appointed to clean the school.
 It was decided that the members would make candy to sell at the Christmas concert.
 Program for the evening consisted of a debate "Resolved that the country is more beneficial for the development of the mind than the city," which was won by the pro side.
 Roll call for next meeting to be answered by "A New Year's Resolution."

WOMAN YAWNING CONTINUOUSLY, Baffles Doctors

ROUND GROVE, Ill., Dec. 18.—Mrs. Harold McKee, 35, greeted the dawn with a yawn.
 She had been yawning continuously since Sunday except for brief respites induced by the influence of opiates. Early today she had approached her 10th hour of protracted yawning and doctors saw a loss to know how to make her stop.
 Dr. H. L. Pettit, her physician, could assign no reason for the yawning other than extreme nervous strain due to caring for an ill husband, a nine-year-old son who is a diabetic.
 "The affliction attacked Mrs. McKee when she apparently was in good health. Suddenly she started yawning and even the effect of powerful drugs being in heating and temporary respite. She yawns 10 to 12 times a minute.
 She is able to obtain nourishment when she is aroused from her artificially-produced naps, but Dr. Pettit is concerned over her ability to endure the protracted strain.

NO "FANCY DRESS" FOR WOMEN OF NANKING, CHINA

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 18.—Following the precedent established by the authorities of Canton, Peiping, and other Chinese cities regarding "fancy" dress, the metropolitan police board and the bureau of social affairs of Nanking have published a set of regulations outlining what may and what may not be worn by the women of the national capital.
 These regulations provide that women's long gowns shall not touch the instep, nor shall the collars be so high as to touch the chin. Women must dress their hair in such a way that it will not fall below the edge of the collar. If shorts are worn, the coat must be long enough to cover the hips.
 While these regulations are applicable to the women of Nanking in general, women employees of Government offices, women members of the faculties and students in the girls' schools must obey two other regulations. These regulations absolutely forbid the tinting of fingernails and hair.
 The police of the capital have been notified that first offenders are to be given a warning only, but if the warning is ignored the offender is to be summarily arrested and prosecuted.

WOOD ISLANDS S. S.—A correspondent writes to say as per your issue of the 12th inst. re the organization of the Wood Islands Sabbath School on July 1st is meeting and unfair alike to the congregation, to the teachers and to the students and ordained men who labored in that field in bygone, or recent years. The truth is the S.S. & P.S. were among Wood Islands' best organizations. Year after year the work was carried on in this scattered, rural charge in face of considerable difficulties by the capable and devoted efforts of men and women, some of whose names are mentioned in said articles, like their predecessors. Re-opening and election or re-election of teachers, etc., would be the proper way of reporting the matter. Sincerely yours.—T.

The many friends of Miss Helen Hammell, R.N., Freetown, who underwent a serious operation on Friday morning in the City Hospital, Charlottetown, will be glad to know she is doing as well as can be expected. She is specialized by Miss Trainor, R.N.

 And how long have you been here, my man she inquired.
 Twelve years, was the answer.
 Do they treat you well?
 Yes.
 After addressing a few more questions to him the visitor passed on. She noticed a smile broadening on the face of her attendant, and on asking the cause heard with astonishment that the old man was the medical superintendent. She hurried back to make apologies.
 I am sorry, doctor, she said, I'll never go by appearances again.

NO PUTTING IT OVER CHIVALROUS MALES
 LONDON, Dec. 18.—Presumably on the well known theory that the female of the species is more readily, etc., etc., women examiners will conduct driving tests for women motorists in England henceforth. Or maybe the women inspectors have no illusions about their own sex.
 The new highway code demands that all motorists who have taken but licenses since April shall pass new tests of efficiency. About 200 examiners will be appointed, the women's salaries ranging from about $1,000 to $1,100, slightly lower than the salaries for male inspectors. Both men and women inspectors will be given higher salaries in the London district, but neither class is pensionable.
 About 15,000 applicants have registered.
