Values It More Than a Fortune

POWER GAINS EIGHTEEN POUNDS AND RHEUMATISM DISAPPEARS AFTER TAKING TANLAC

"I consider what Tanlac had done for me in restoring me to health to be worth more than a fortune," was the remarkable statement made by George Power of Halifax, N. S., while talking to the Tanlac representative a few days ago.

"I would be impossible for me to describe to you just how I suffered all these years and could never find a thing that would give me relief from my pain. I had rheumatism of the very worst sort in both my legs from the knees down and it seemed to be worse right in the knees than anywhere else, and in damp weather it got so bad I just had to stay at home from work. My ankles bothered me too and I don't believe anybody in the world ever suffered from rheumatism as bad as I did for it was just a sharp shooting pain that would go through my knees, down my legs and into my ankles like somebody was sticking a knife through me, and I would be in such agony that I would turn as white as a sheet and it would make me so sick that for days at a time I would be in such pain that I would almost go wild. When these attacks came on I wouldn't be able to sleep a wink but would roll and tumble all night long and my joints would swell and my knees would be as stiff as a board and I couldn't walk a step for two or three days at a time and would be laid up at home flat on my back with my knees so stiff I couldn't bend them at all.

"Sometime ago I noticed where Tanlac was being highly recommended by people right here in Halifax; so I decided to try it. And it's a fact I wouldn't take anything in the world for the remarkable good it has done me and it is surprising what a change can come over a man. If anybody doesn't believe that I am a well man, and that the rheumatism has left me entirely, and that I never feel a trace of it, just tell them to come to me. My appetite has been keyed up and I have gained in weight and feel better in every way and can sleep fine at night. Tanlac is the greatest thing I have ever seen, and I want you to publish this statement for I want everybody to know what this medicine will do.

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros., in Montague by H. J. Mabon, in Georgetown by Seymour C. Knight, in Souris by James G. Ferguson and in Kensington by Kfer & McFadden.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.—The school board meeting held last night and in the prospective proceedings of which considerable interest had been taken, arrived at no conclusions and was adjourned till Thursday night.

PERSONALS

WHERE WOMEN SAVE

In the New East (Tokio), of which J. W. Robertson Scott is editor, there is given an entertaining list of things "the Japanese do differently" from ourselves. For example, Ladies sit with their hands folded palms upward. Every lady shaves. Ladies never brush their hair; they only comb it.

A bride calls on her neighbors and friends, instead of the neighbors and friends calling on her. Where we speak of a thimbleful Japanese speak of a sparrow's tear. Number three is always lucky, excepting in Takuan (nickel) radish. To offer a person three pieces would be rude.

GOLD BARS FROM SUNKEN LINER. Salvaging $35,000,000 worth of gold ingots and bullion the White Star Liner Laurentic carried when she was sunk the night of February 25, 1917, off Fanad Light, one of the northernmost headlands of Ireland, at the entrance of Lough Swilly, is being conducted by the salvage ship Racer.

The princely cargo lay at a depth of twenty-two fathoms. The gold and bullion were contained in the strong chamber amidships, rendered almost impregnable by its thick steel wall and heavily bolted doors. At first portions of the Laurentic's deck were blasted away and a passage was made clear for the divers. On June 20 the retrieving of the treasure began.

The first bucket sent up contained only copper pennies and a few silver coins. Then for several days bucket after bucket containing three or more gold bars, each worth more than $5,000 were hoisted to the surface and dumped on the deck of the Racer. The first of these bars brought lusty cheers from the crew of the salvage ship, but tossing fortunes about soon became to be merely another form of manual labor to these sailors. Most of the gold bars were nine inches long, two inches thick and four inches wide, and weighed about twenty-eight pounds. For days not one was found, as many of them were hurled clear off the wreck by the blasting necessary to make the strong chamber accessible. Several feet of sand have now been washed over these scattered bars and beneath masses of twisted steel, and it frequently requires hours of patient labor to pry them loose. The record day's haul so far had been forty-seven bars—worth approximately $350,000. Thus far several million dollars' worth of treasure has been salvaged. The Racer carries eight divers. Their "tricks" are so arranged that one diver is at work throughout the day. Each works half an hour and then must spend thirty minutes in coming to the surface, as otherwise the sudden relief from the tremendous deep-water pressure might cause paralysis. They are brought up in ten-fathom "hauls" with ten-minute "rest" intervals. When the day's work is over the day's "catch", if considerable, is dispatched to London with an armed convoy. When first built the Racer was a square-rigged man-o-war—one of the "wooden Walls of England," as the ships of the British navy were known a century ago.
