

Holeproof Gives You Something New

To add grace to pretty legs Holeproof offers a new number with the silk above the knee. You'll be amazed at the difference it makes in appearance, happily combining service and sheerness which is so much desired. Fashion now demands it.

Holeproof is following the new that dresses with longer stockings. This new number described below will have a 23-inch silk leg, giving care-free smartness otherwise impossible.

—plus these 5 Famous Style Points

NOW you are offered two new features in fine hosiery. Greater style is gained and charm made more alluring. Once more Holeproof leads the way to being fashionably correct. Yet don't forget the five style points that made this hosiery famous. Each is important.

[1]

Exquisite clearness. In sheer chiffons clearness comes only through uniformly even thread. The lack of it in cheaper silk causes unsightly shadow rings. So at greater cost Holeproof selects silk in China, judged finest of all oriental grades.

[2]

Correct Paris shades. Paris authorities select the newest colors. A unique scientific dyeing process keeps them clear and bright. Holeproof's anti-fade treatment protects from fading.

[3]

Superlative transparency, even in the heavier weights. There is no cloudiness, no streaking. First the silk is tested, then it undergoes the special Holeproof treatment.

[4]

No loose ends. Loose threads mar appearance. So Holeproof carefully trims the inside of each stocking by hand.

[5]

No imperfections. Style vanishes with imperfections. And here Holeproof safeguards you by nine separate inspections. It is a fact that few other fine hose are so uniformly perfect.

Now see the styles described below in new Paris shades. At all Holeproof shops.

No. 991

PURE THREAD SILK

Narrow mercerized hemmed top and heel with new Ex To and plated sole which give longer wear. Fashionable service yet their stocking. Special run stop. Has the two new features. $1.50

Holeproof Hosiery

Exclusive Dealers for Charlottetown

PURDIE-FERGUSON SHOE CO., LTD.

THE ROSE

Small child of God, sweet flower of Heaven, thou bloom'st so fresh and fair, and thinkst thou wert not born to perish, to adorn an angel's hair.

The summer loves thee cherished blossom, The mild south wind—thou art its pride; Why dost thou dwell 'mong branches thorny, As though thy loveliness to hide?

Though summer cannot last forever, And winter comes as autumn flies, 'Twould seem the blustering winds grow gentle, O'er a grave where one rose lies. by MARGARET L. ESSERY

Central Guardian

ED'S TAXI day and night service. Phone 687 or 209-J.

A CASE FULL OF NEEDLES—that is what you get with your new or renewal subscription to the Guardian.

RODD'S TAXI SERVICE Empire Hotel, 225 Queen Street. Phone 443-J.

HAVE YOU YOUR evening dress for the big dance. We have just received a big shipment by express.—PATONS. 1405-8-20-21

MAJESTIC MOTOR OIL—One carload fresh stock just received direct from the refinery. W. H. Aitken & Co. 1313-8-18-31

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND—Mr. E. C. Robertson will preach Sabbath Aug. 22nd, Lot 48 at 10:30, Nine Mile Creek 3:00 and Glasgow Road at 7:00 p. m.

READERS SATISFIED—Every reader of the Guardian that has received our case of needles has been more than pleased, they have pronounced it the best yet. Now is your time to act.

DISAPPOINTMENTS—Should be avoided. Get our Case of Needles by sending in a yearly new or renewal subscription to the Guardian and keep from being disappointed.

CAVENDISH CHURCH—Rev. Myron O. Brinton will preach in Cavendish Baptist Church, Sunday, Aug. 22nd at 7:30 p. m.

DR. HEATH McINTYRE'S Office will be closed from August 16th to 30th inclusive. 1312-16-51

THE BEST YET—that is what our readers say when they are handed the Case of Needles. Do you want the best yet? Renew today and get yours.

CANOE COVE—Rev. M. MacKinnon, M.A., B.D. of St. Paul's United Church, Perth, will preach at Canoe Cove on Sunday next, Aug. 22nd at 7:30 p. m.

NOW IS THE TIME to decide on what you intend doing during the coming months. NO MISTAKE is made in getting a business education, such as given in the Charlottetown Business College.

HUNTER RIVER CIRCUIT—Services for Sunday, Aug. 22, North Wiltshire 11:00 a. m., Hunter River 3:00 p. m., Wheatley River 7:30 p. m. Note change of announcement for Hunter River. R. H. Baxter, minister.

VERNON CIRCUIT—Announcements for Aug. 22. Services at Cherry Valley 2:30 p. m., Rev. Mr. Grant will preach, and Vernon at 7 p. m., Sunday School at the usual hour. The evening service will take the form of a service of song, under the leadership of Mrs. George McLeod, of Montreal. Mrs. J. J. McDonald who studied in London, Mrs. W. J. Mutch and others will assist.

YORK-MARSHFIELD CHARGE—Minister, Rev. P. E. Boothroyd. Services next Sunday as follows: Marshfield 11 a. m.; Pleasant Grove 2 p. m.; Brackley 3:30 p. m. At the York service 7:30 Memorial service to the late former pastor, Rev. E. A. Westmoreland.

CALEDONIA—Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify me. John 5:39. We invite everyone in the community to be present. Sunday morning August 22 to consider the Scripture, theme "The Shadow of a Man" and in the evening, when "The Crown awaits the Conquest" will be discussed. The place—The Caledonia Presbyterian church.

FARBWELL PARTY—A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. C. W. Robertson, Dunstaffnage on Saturday Aug. 14th when the Young Peoples Club met there for the purpose of bidding farewell to one of its valued members, Miss Ruth Dennis, who is soon to take her departure for U. S. A. An interesting program of vocal and instrumental music was carried out after which an address was read by Miss Edith Vessey and the presentation of a beautiful hand bag was made by Miss Ethel McPhee. Refreshments were then served and the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in contests, games, etc.

I AM FREE YOU MAY BE of disfiguring blotches and skin irritation and so if you are troubled with this annoying condition your best interests will be cured by using

WAMPOLE'S GRAPE-SALTS

In 50 cents and $1.00 size bottles. It is the best summer medicine extant.

Harold L. Worthy
PHONE 271

50 FRENCH EVENING dresses just received by express.—PATONS 1405-8-20-21

HARTNEY HALL—Union Sunday School and service next Sunday at 2:30 o'clock.

BORDEN—The Rev. Chas. Rand will conduct the service and preach in Borden Hall on Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

FRENCH EVENING DRESSES Just received by express.—PATONS. 1405-8-20-21

WHAT OTHERS HAVE DONE, You can do—if you TRY. Have faith enough in yourself to make an effort. Secure a course in the Charlottetown Business College and be convinced that you were made for more than an ornament.

REVIVAL SERVICES—A cordial welcome is extended to all who desire to attend the gospel revival services now being held under canvas on the town square, Kensington. Meeting each week night at 7:30, Sundays 10:30, 2:30, and 7:30. Workers, Kenneth Williams and J. W. Turpie, others expected.

CRAPAUD AND SPRINGFIELD—Morning Prayer in St. Elizabeth's Springfield at 11:00 a. m. and evening Prayer in St. John's, Crapaud, at 7:30 p. m. Sermon subject, Politics and the Church. All are cordially invited.

IT IS PLEASING to learn that the attendance at the Charlottetown Business College for the coming term promises to be larger than usual. The ready employment of its graduates attracts others.

ADVANCE TICKET SALE for the Provincial Exhibition at Amherst, N. S., they have arranged an advance ticket sale at Bethune Hardware Co., W. K. Rogers Co., Ltd., Charlottetown and Prince County Drug Store, Summerside. Admission 50 cents or strip of 6 tickets $2.00. 1407-8-20fwb31

BEDQUE SERVICES—At Bedque United Church, Aug. 22nd at 11 a. m. Rev. Stewart Lindner of Illinois, U. S. A. will preach. This is a rare opportunity to hear a distinguished son of P. E. Island who is an eloquent preacher. No preaching services at Cape Traverse and Sealestown Sabbath School at 2:30 p. m.

AT MILTON—Sunday School 10 a. m., Morning Prayer 11 a. m., Midweek Prayer Meeting, Wed. at 7:45 p. m. At Rustico—Sunday School 2 p. m., Evening Prayer 3 p. m. At Hampshire—Evening service 7:30 p. m., Milton and Rustico, Sunday Schools picnic to Gregors Beach, Saturday, August the 21st

BRADALBANE CHARGE, UNITED CHURCH—David Coburn, M. A., B.D., pastor. Preparatory services at Rose Valley Aug. 18th 8 p. m. conducted by the Pastor Aug. 20th 8 p. m. conducted by Rev. D. K. Ros of Baddeck. Aug. 21st 3 p. m. conducted by Dr. Saint, of Kensington. Sabbath services for Aug. 22nd, 11 a. m. at Rose Valley the Lord's Supper; 7 p. m. service conducted by Rev. Wm. Spencer, 3 p. m. North Granville, 7 p. m. Pleasant Valley.

WEDDING BELLS—St. Michael's church, Iona, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday morning, August 3rd, when Miss Sara Lauretta Griffin, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Griffin, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Joseph P. Morrissey, Roxbury, Mass. The bride was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Griffin, who wore a gown of royal blue satin, while the groom was supported by Mr. Frank Morrissey, Newtown. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The party then motored to Charlottetown for dinner, returning in the evening to the bride's home where upwards of one hundred and twenty five guests gathered to offer felicitations to the newly wedded couple. A dancing pavilion had been provided and there the night was passed most pleasantly. The groom was charmingly attired in white crepe de chene, with hat to match, and looked very winsome. She was attended by her sister,