They were the recipients of many gifts of silver and a surprise box which caused much merriment. Bridge was indulged in for the remainder of the evening and after a dainty luncheon was served, the bride and groom were departed thoroughly. The friends gathered in the wee small hours wishing Mr. and Mrs. Higgins continued happiness and prosperity.

REV. MR. HERMAN'S ADDRESS—Speaking last night in the Central Christian Church, Rev. Mr. Herman said that the matter of the sale of liquor has become a political football, under both prohibition and government control, and that no line could be drawn between the two. Liberals and Conservatives he maintained that if it were not for the vote of church members there would be no Liquor Control Act in any part of Canada. "Do you think that human nature on this side of the water is any different from Old Adam just across on the other side?" he asked. "I think not," he had only been in Charlottetown a little more than a week and he had run up against "enough drunks" to convince him that conditions needed to be radically changed. Judgment was given to the Liquor Act, in his humble opinion, that was ever drawn up in any Province of Canada. That proposition never came to the light of day. It was politically smothered in child birth. If I venture to say that some day, if war will not prevent, in its essence, it is a nature will be the Liquor Act of Prince Edward Island," Mr. Herman also discussed democracy and free speech.

Community Contest Talk Of Province

We made a mistake in yesterday's report of the New Consumers' Cash Bonus Community Contest when we reported the first prize of $500.00 in cash. No more and no less so if you can make use of that amount we strongly advise you to invest all the coupons you can during the contest term.

We made another mistake in connection with the unusual number of coupons which were issued to one single customer on Saturday. In correcting this error, may we say that on Saturday afternoon, Mr. T. J. presented one of his customers with over eight hundred coupons when they had closed a deal.

You would like to win that first prize of $500.00 all you have to do is buy all you can from the following firms: R. P. Simpson, Rogers and Sons, Crockett, P. J. McDonald, Johnson & Johnson, Tom Davies, T. G. Ives, Miller Bros., L. L. Harris, Dry Cleaners, and the Charlottetown Grocery Store.

This new contest is being sponsored and managed entirely by the above listed firms and is being promoted by the City and Province to do all the purchasing they can during the contest term.

There are four prizes, as advertised elsewhere in this issue. There will be forty winners. Will you be one of the prizes? It costs you nothing to enter. It costs you nothing you deposit the greater your chances of winning.

WRIGHT-SMITH WEDDING
Historic old St. Edward's Church, a Clementsport, N. S., was the scene of a wedding on Wednesday, Sept. 20th. Rev. W. L. Smith officiated. The bride, Miss Hilda McDonald, daughter of Rev. W. L. Smith and Mrs. Hilda McDonald, was united in marriage.

The bride, attired in a dress of white silk with a conventional wedding veil with coronet of orange blossoms and pearls, and carrying a large bridal bouquet of white roses, maidenhair ferns and lilies of the valley, entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Arthur Threlkeld, Esq., of the Straits of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Dorothy Terry, Sackville, who presided at the organ.

The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of white flowers by the bride's father, by whom the main altar was decorated with several years ago. It was decorated for the occasion under the direction of Mrs. E. P. Morse and William Russell.

Miss Leonora Smith, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Miss Mary Tremblay, Boston, and Miss Hilda McDonald, Cardigan. The bridesmaids wore gowns in pastel shades of pink, yellow and blue with shoulder-length sleeves and long trains. Their bouquets were gladioli in colors to match their costumes.

The groom was attended by Trevor and Cecely Upper Clementsport, Summerside. Norman Wright, brother of the groom, and Claire Rowland, Clementsport, were the bridesmaids. The bride wore large black hat and a corsage bouquet of blue sweetpeas. Mrs. Hilda McDonald carried a large black velvet, with large picture hat and a corsage of red roses.

After the ceremony a reception in honor of the bride and groom was held in the rectory. Mr. and Mrs. Smith receiving in the drawing room beneath an arch of white flowers. The bride and groom were seated at a table set by Horace Smith, Digby, occupied the prominent place in the centre of the large dining table in the decorated dining room.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain; to the bride a diamond and pearl necklace, diamond and pearl earrings, diamond and pearl rings; to the ushers, initialled the clips and belt buckles, and to the best man, a belt buckle. Mr. and Mrs. Curran are taking a wedding trip to Prince Edward Island. The bride's going away costume was a light blue and green accessories. On their return the couple will reside at Digby.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright who were the arm of her grandfather, Dr. H. M. Harris, by whom she was given in marriage. Her gown was of white satin princess style with train and long sleeves. She carried a large bouquet of white lilies and white roses. The bride's bouquet was Easter lilies and white roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests, about 700, returned to the bride's home where a reception was held. The bride's mother and the groom's mother received with the bride and groom. The bride's luncheon was served. Those serving included Mrs. Frances Grant, Mrs. Henry Grant, Mrs. Herb Grant, Mrs. Frank Lock, Mrs. Alex. Grant, Mrs. Misses Lillian Waugh, Pauline McNab, and Marguerite Cox.

A valuable collection of gifts consisted of the collection in which the young couple are held. They left by motor on a honeymoon to be spent motoring through the province. The bride formerly resided in Charlottetown where her father the late Dr. Emery C. Harris, carried on practice for some time.

TENSION SECOND

Fuehrer they would remain "steadfast" in demanding self-determination rights for the 700,000 Hungarians among Czechoslovakia's varied peoples.

Presence of the army chief of staff gave an ominous character to the German-Hungarian talks which followed a quick flight by Hungary's statesmen from Budapest to Berchtesgaden.

GUEST OF GOERING
The Hungarian Regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, too is in Germany spending a few days as the guest of Field Marshal Hermann Goering at his estate in Alt Sternberg, East Prussia.

Poland's ambassador to Berlin, Joseph Lipski, outlined the Polish position in regard to the approximately 100,000 Poles in Czechoslovakia.

Sensational headlines told German newspaper readers of new border incidents reported by the official Czechoslovakian press.

Both Poland and Hungary a day or two ago seemed to be on the fence about linking their cause too closely with Nazi Germany in conclusion it was an attempt to forestall a possible rebellion among the Government's followers in the House of Commons.

So far there was no evidence of a split in cabinet or Government ranks over the Anglo-French peace plan, and it was believed that if any cabinet ministers disagreed, it would have been apparent before this.

Sharp Protest
The German Government announced its Minister in Prague had been instructed to lodge "the sharpest protest" against alleged border violations reported by D. N. B., at McKeen.

In addition to the Seidenberg incident the official news agency reported 14 Sudeten German men, 10 women and four children tried to cross into Germany near Waldenberg. Czechoslovak frontier guards were said to have fired on them from Neusorge without warning. The Sudeteners returned the fire and were said to have reached German soil safely.

German strategy in such border incidents apparently was to stir Konrad Henlein's Free Corps and Sudeten deserters fight with Czechoslovak frontier guards without involving the German Army officially.

This correspondent learned from reliable sources, however, that Konrad Henlein had been asked to "volunteer" for military duty.

In German press demands for partition of Czechoslovakia there has been no reference to the Slovaks, though in earlier statements the Czechs were considered friends of the Nazi-supported Sudeteners.

Since the death of their leader, the "Czechs" have, however, they have been linked inferentially with the Czech majority.

Informed quarters discredited reports that any deadline for acceptance of his demands.

"Why should Hitler set any date when things are going his way?" said one Nazi official.

Teachers' Convention
