Kensington Defeated By Borden

In a close, wide open, exhibition game of hockey played on an excellent sheet of ice in Borden Rink on January 13th., the Nationals of Borden defeated the Kensington squad to the tune of 15-2.

The Borden defence acted as a barrier to many Kensington attacks which may have ended in goals. Although there was much rubber got by him, the young goalie of Kensington played an excellent game, saving many sure goals from the speedy Borden forwards. In the other end of the rink the Borden goalie did not get many shots due to the work of his teammates.

Mrs. J. J. Enman Laid To Rest Yesterday

It was with a deep sense of personal loss that friends in Summerside and Charlottetown learned of the very sudden passing of Mrs. J. J. Enman late Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Enman had gone to the picture show and on leaving about 9.45 Mrs. Enman had started for home alone, her husband going to the office. Shortly after Mrs. Enman was found by Rev. Wm. VerWolfe and Mr. C. B. Jelly lying unconscious on Summer Street near the hospital but passed away within a few minutes. Mrs. Enman was a devoted wife and mother, her home being the centre of her activities. She had a charming personality and always had a welcoming smile for her many friends.

A member of the Baptist Church Mrs. Enman found time always for the work of the church and will be much missed by the Ladies Guild and other organizations.

To her bereaved husband and daughter, Miss Nora, the sincere sympathy of all is extended in their sad bereavement. Many friends from Charlottetown attended the funeral which took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence on Summer Street Rev. J. B. Wilson, pastor of the Baptist Church conducting the service assisted by Rev. G. R. Harrison, Rector of St. Mary's Church. The choirs of the Baptist and St. Mary's Churches sang the beautiful hymns "The King of Love" and "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds". Rev. J. B. Wilson spoke words of comfort to the bereaved.

The lovely floral tributes bore silent testimony of the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. A large concourse of cars followed the remains to their last resting place in St. John's Cemetery at St. Eleanors.

The pallbearers were Messrs. A. S. MacKay, J. P. MacInnis, A. R. Brennan, Russell Hunter, C. B. Jelly and Oliver MacNeil.

May Pick Apples Once More In The Garden Of Eden

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Jan. 15 — (CP)—Women and men may pick apples once more in the Garden of Eden when water flows into the arid country from a giant reservoir built by British engineers.

The Kut Dam irrigation project, designed to bring under cultivation a great tract of land between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, traditional site of the land from which Adam and Eve were expelled, was completed New Year's eve.

A 1,500-foot dam across the Tigris will send water down a 2 1-2-mile canal into the Shatt-el-Gharraf river at all seasons of the year. In addition locks will permit vessels to voyage along the Tigris between Baghdad and Basrah.

Work on the project was started in December, 1934, with construction of workers' camps and actual building of the dam and reservoir began in June, 1935. As many as 2,500 Arabs and Kurds labored day and night removing 1,600,000 cubic yards of soil from the reservoir and placing more than 250,000 cubic yards of concrete in the giant forms that shaped the dam.

In 1936 the highest flood ever known in the Tigris delayed work. Laborers worked under conditions varying from freezing in winter to 125 degrees in the shade in midsummer.

Kensington Hockey

On Thursday Jan. 12th the Clermont Aces defeated Spring Valley 5—4 in the fastest and hardest fought game of the season in Kensington Rink.

The ice was fast and the fast skating, incoming forwards received heavy jolts from the hardest bumping defencemen seen in action so for this season.

Clermont drew first blood when G. Mills and Jabez Mills combined on a pretty passing attack with the former scoring.

Profitt of Spring Valley gave the Clermont suuporters a scare when he snared a loose puck in center ice, to work his way through the Clermont team, but shot wide.

About midway through the frame Jabez Mills scored again for Clermont when he sank G. Mills nice pass.

The game roughened up at this point and two of the boys drew major penalties.

Shortly before the period ended Burns and H. Champion combined with Burns counting for the Valley team.

Early in the second period the Spring Valley team was awarded a penalty shot and H. Champion, who took the shot, fired the nicest goal into the Clermont net ever witnessed in Kensington Rink.

This same player came right back less than two minutes later to count his second goal on a pretty individual effort to put Spring Valley out in front.

The lead was short lived however because the Clermont boys who fought with a never say die spirit came right back with two goals in less than 5 minutes.

In the last period Chet Champion tied her up again on assists from McKinnon and H. Champion.

In less than a minute however Clermont forged to the front again and then managed to hang on till the bell.

The three star selection according to your scribe would be —H. Champion who had two goals and two assists —a nice evenings work.

Secondly —Geo. Mills who also played a standout game and who also garnered two goals and two assists.

Thirdly—W. Duggan who handed out the stiffest checks of the night and was dangerous on every rush.

A social hour followed, and Mrs. Muttart served a delicious lunch, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Muttart.

The pupils of Cape Traverse School presented their Christmas concert in the Hall on Friday evening, December 23rd. Despite the cold and disagreeable weather there was a good attendance. The exceedingly beautiful decorations made an attractive setting for the various items on the program, which were much enjoyed. One of the best numbers was a very lovely Star Drill which was beautifully performed. The exercise "Christmas Offering from children of other lands" was most interesting, and the dialogue, "Christmas in Naughty land," was especially good, as also was the duet, "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas," by Marion Lord and Warren Lord. Mr. Walter Lord was chairman. At the close of the program Santa Claus arrived with jingling bells and proceeded to distribute gifts fom the handsomely decoated tree. Each student also received a treat of fruit and candy.

Fortune Brought By Roses

CHESHUNT, Hertfordshire, England, Jan. 15 —(CP)—Frederick Stevens, a baker's boy in his youth struggled hard to earn a living until he was 30, but probate of his will showed a fortune of almost $700,000-all brought by roses,

Stevens went to the United States in his 20's and began raising flowers in a small way, but he returned in 10 years to found one of the most prosperous florist business in the United Kingdom.

Conservative and frugal in his way of living, he seldom wore a collar, refused to buy an automobile or use a telephone. But he claimed he could raise roses better than anyone had ever done.

His son Hugh Stevens, who inherits the business, said his father's 16 1-2 acres of greenhouses produced as many as 60,000 blooms a day. The best of them brought 50 cents each in West End London shops.

Planning Link In Empire Air

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13—(CP)—Air-minded Vancouver looks forward to the time when huge Imperial Airways flying boats will come roaring down to its modern airport on the "All-Red" route around the world.

Airport Manager William Templeton said plans for a proposed Imperial Airways base have already been sent to England, adding that Captain Frank Entwhistle of the British Air Mission had said Vancouver would definitely be the company's base on the Pacific.

The proposed base, from which Imperial Airways ships would link Vancouver directly with Australia and New Zealand, would occupy a square mile of frontage on the Fraser River. The river forms the Vancouver field's seaplane harbor a few hundred yards from the land plane area.

Templeton who saw the city's airport built from a bleak expanse of mud on the low-lying Sea Island at the river's mouth, to the most modern field in Canada, cited the proposed $300,000 factory of the Boeing Aircraft Company of Canada as another important aviation development here.

The Boeing plant, for the manufacture of British war planes, would be situated a little way up the river from the airport. It would employ 1,200 men.

Transformed from fields bought from farmers on the Island at the mouth of the Fraser in 1929, Vancouver's airport now has a 14,000,000-gallon-a-day pumping system, night lighting, modern runways, hangars and administration building and some of the most modern bean radio and weather bureau equipment in the world.

Chamberlain In Optimistic Mood

LONDON, Jan. 15—(CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain returned home from Rome today, smiling optimistically as several thousand persons cheered him.

The Prime Minister paused a few moments at Victoria Station to exchange greetings with a reception party that included Sir Harry Brittain, president of the Anglo-Italian Society, and Sir Douglas Hacking, president of the Central Office of the Conservative Party, then went to his official residence, 10 Downing Street.

As he left the station the cheers were broken only briefly by such isolated shouts as "up the reds." Two persons were arrested and charged with using insulting words.

At his home, Mrs. Chamberlain greeted her husband at the front door, giving him a resounding kiss before they posed together for newspaper photographers.

Funeral Today Of Col. Ruppert

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—(CP)—Because the accommodations for 1,500 at the Roman Catholic Church of St. Ignatius Loyola were not deemed large enough for the many friends of Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the funeral of the Yankee's owner will be held instead at St. Patrick's Cathedral tomorrow morning.

The funeral originally was planned for St. Ignatius Church at 11 A. M. With the change of Venue the hour was changed to 11.30 A. M.

A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated by Rev. James F. Kane, of St. Francis de Sales Church, assisted by Rev. Patrick Kinnan, and Rev. Joseph St. O'Connell. Private burial will be at Kensico Cemetery.

The honorary pall bearers will include Mayor Fiorella Laguardia, Senator Robert Wagner, Alfred E. Smith, former Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania; Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, Joseph V. McCarthy, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Will Harridge, Ford Frick and Edward G. Barrow.

WILL PROTECT

of the Japanese Government to form an economic bloc in Asia "in which the supreme authority will be vested in Japan and subordinate roles will be allotted to China and Manchuria (Manchoukuo.)"

"His Majesty's Government," the note emphasized, "are at a loss to understand how Prince Konoye's (former Japanese Prime Minister's) assurance that Japan seeks no territory and respects the sovereignty of China, can be reconciled with the declared intention of the Japanese Government to compel the Chinese people by force of arms to accept conditions involving surrender of their political, economic and cultural life to Japanese control, indefinite maintenance in China of considerable Japanese garrisons and virtual detachment from China of territory of Inner Mongolia.

Position Clarified

"For their part, His Majesty's Government desire to make it clear that they are not prepared to accept or to recognize changes of the nature indicated which are brought about by force.

"They intend to adhere to the principles of the Nine-power Treaty and cannot agree to unilateral modification of its terms."

(This treaty was signed in Washington, establishing the principle of the open door in China and guaranteeing its sovereignty. The signatories were the United States, France, Great Britain, China, Japan, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Portugal.)

The note stressed the British Government did not contend treaties were eternal, they were ready to consider suggestions for modification. Before the Sino-Japanese hostilities, the Nine-Power Treaty was producing beneficial results through the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations.

"His Majesty's Government, therefore, cannot agree," the note declared, "as suggested in Japan that the treaty is obsolete or its provisions no longer meet the situation, except insofar as the situation has been altered by Japan in contravention of its terms."

For months British interests in China have been complaining of Japanese actions against them. They claim they are being deprived of their property, forced to use Japanese services, and their legitimate trade hampered by a maze of Japanese orders and decrees which have the result of transferring business from British firms to Japanese. One of the most serious complaints against Japan is that she has closed the Yangtse River, great centra. China trade route, to all commerce except her own.

The British Government has issued a long string of notes and made scores of protests to Japan over these complaints. But Japan has not met them with anything more than polite replies. The present note ended by inviting Japan to give "a more precise and detailed exposition of Japanese conditions for terminating hostilities and of Japanese policy toward China."

There is a feeling in London that unless Japan responds more realistically and more positively to the present note, the British policy toward her may be stiffened.

Issues Statement Re The Refusal Of C.B.C. Broadcast

OTTAWA, Jan. 15 —(CP)—A statement dealing with the refusal of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to sell time on the National network of the Corporation to George McCullagh, publisher of the Globe and Mail, was issued tonight by a Gladstone Murray, General Manager of the C. B. C.

It states in part:

"Mr. George McCullagh applied to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to buy time for a series of broadcasting talks on the National network of the corporation in order to give his views on public questions. The application was refused in accordance with the policy of the Corporation in dealing with controversial broadcasts.

"This policy is based on the principle of encouraging the free discussion of all subjects of public interest in round-table discussions, debates, talks and forums, for which the corporation provides time without charge. No individual may purchase any network to broadcast his own opinion, and no profitmaking corporation may purchase any network to broadcast opinions.

"Having failed to secure time on the national network, Mr. McCullagh attempted to buy time over a network of privately-owned stations. As all network broadcasting in Canada is under control of the Corporation, under the specific authority of the Canadian Broadcasting act of 1936, the permission of the Corporation would have been required to give effect to the new plan. As the same general principle in controversial broadcasts applies to all networks in Canada, the second application was also refused."

France Concerned

quarrels must be ended if France is to survive.

"My Government will concentrate all energy to prevent a conflict which would mark the end of western civilization," he declared. "But it will never allow France's position and interests to be questioned either by force or by use."

Senator Aime Berthod, former cabinet member, told the open meeting that if the French Government permitted Italy to remain in the Balearic Islands "installed on communications between France and North Africa, it is the end of the French Empire."

NOTED ISLAND

Leod, who resided with his mother. Another son, Hugh Stanhope, a book keeper with the Island Telephone Company, died several years ago. It could not be learned last night whether Mrs. MacLeod had any near relatives in Scotland. Several of her brothers were sea captains and made names for themselves in the days of sail, of "wooden ships and iron men." It was because of being closely connected with the sea through her sea faring brothers that the late Mrs. MacLeod made the perilous journey across the ocean to visit relatives in this Province while still a young girl.

The funeral will be held from St. Paul's Anglican Church on Tuesday, January 17. Services will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Interment in the People's Cemetery.

SPANISH WAR

"As for Spain, Il Duce repeated that the last Italian legionnaires will be brought home when the same measures shall be taken by the Reds (the Spanish Government) and when belligerent rights shall be granted to Franco, as up until this time have been plainly and absurdly denied him.

"It Duce also added that if in the near future there should be intervention on a large scale on the part of governments friendly to Nagrin. Italy would reassume full liberty of action, it being considered that thenceforward the policy of Non-Intervention was terminated and had failed.

"As for Italo-French relations, Il Duce declared the Spanish question has divided and still divides profoundly the two countries and that only when the Spanish War was finished will it be possible to review the situation.

"It was observed in Roman circles that with this statement all stupid fantasies of the International Press, according to which Italy was supposed to have desired and even implored British mediation, have collapsed.

"Other questions which were examined but not at great length were those regarding so-called "refugees" and the possibility which in any case is remote, of limitation of armaments.

"As for the idea of maintaining the peace of Europe it was expressed with firm conviction both on the Italian side as well as the English.

"After the Chamberlain and Mussolini contact any pessimism as well as any excessive optimism, would seem premature. It is necessary to leave to men of good will the task of securing the future of Europe, taking into account at the same time legitimate and vital necessities of the people."
