DEFEAT PREDICTED

Indicates that the same conditions now existing in the Senate will prevail in the Lower Chamber. Outside the House recently and in his own Province of Saskatchewan, Agriculture Minister Gardiner came out flatly against the manufacture or import into Canada of oleo.

Movement Past Zenith

Enthusiasm for the import of a cheap butter substitute reached its zenith in Canada earlier this month when butter shortages annoyed and angered urban dwellers. Now with the precious golden-yellow table delicacy coming on the market in fair quantity the big drive in favor of margarine has passed its peak and margarine protagonists are finding no little difficulty in rallying additional supporters to their cause.

There will, of course, be considerable debate on the bill sponsored by James Sinclair, Liberal member for Vancouver North for amendment to the Dairy Act to permit the sale of margarine in this country on a parity with butter. But regardless of how many thousands of words in favor of a butter substitute go into the record, the party line is set and on now appear to have even less chance of winning than did the members who opposed the bill. The debate will no doubt be interesting and informative. As far as any actual results are concerned, those in the know are agreed that it will simply be shadow-boxing.

F. E. I. Representatives

As far as Prince Edward Island is concerned, her four members and four Senators are taking the same position on the issue as the Senators took in 1946 and 1947, namely that any importation of margarine in Canada would be highly detrimental to the dairy industry and would tend to weaken not only the numbers but also the quality of Canada's dairy herds.

The Wood Islands-Caribou ferry service will begin Saturday, May 1, officials of Northumberland Ferries announced last night. The Prince Nova will operate alone Saturday but the Charles Dunning will be ready for the route early next week, possibly Tuesday. At present the Dunning is in Charlottetown and will have to go to Picout for bunkers oil before beginning the service. The Prince Nova will open the summer service by sailing from Wood Islands terminal at 8 a.m. Saturday.

ANNUAL MEETING

the thanks of the Branch to His Worship and City Council for the gift which, he felt sure, would be of interest to Legion members. Committee reports were presented as follows:

Finance Ways and Means, Roy MacGillivray; Membership, G.G. K. Peake; Relief and Poppy Sales, H.R. Vessey; Dances, J. J. Trainor; Canteen, W.B. Pease; Employment, P.E. Palmer; House, J.J. Connolly; Constitution and By-Laws, Arthur McGuigan.

Reviews Year

President A.W. Rogers in a review of the activities of the Branch expressed sympathy to the families of those members who passed away during the year and noted the great loss suffered by the Branch in the death of Miss Margaret Lear, a member of the Executive, in an accident near Sackville in February.

President Rogers referred to the general improvement of the Legion Home through the efforts of the House Committee Chairman, Jack Connolly and of the card tournaments and entertainments arranged by Executive members H.R. Vessey and Roy MacGillivray.

The president remarked that the Remembrance Day parade was magnificently attended and that, according to older members of the Branch, was the largest turnout of veterans in memory. The Decoration Day parade was not particularly well attended, the president noted, and felt that the date should be changed, coming as it did so close on Remembrance Day, or abolished altogether.

The president congratulated the Legion baseball team on winning the City League championship last fall.

Special reference was made by the president to the splendid success of the Legion Christmas Tree and the response from the public was wonderful and every sick and shut-in veteran received a ditty bag filled to overflowing on Christmas Day. Special thanks were recorded to the firm of Moore and MacLeod's, the Contact Club, and Nursing Sisters' Association.

On the election of officers, the new president, Capt. Connolly, stated that he realized the difficult job that lay ahead, and asked for the same support accorded the retiring president during his term of office. He would do his best to serve the Branch well.

Votes of thanks were tendered by the retiring president and members of the executive, the press, radio, Ladies' Auxiliary and all others who assisted the Legion in its work.

Just before the meeting concluded a motion protesting the labor legislation passed at the last session of the Provincial Legislature was adopted.

The Branch heard an appeal for the "Corps of Commissioners" from W. J. Crockett, Public Relations Officer of the Department of Veterans' Affairs (Eastern). It is proposed to organize the Corps in the Maritimes in an endeavour to find jobs for older veterans.

WASHINGTON, April 29 — (AP) — President Truman gave grudging approval today to a compromise plan to blend universal military training and the draft.

He said it isn't as good a program as the separate draft and U.M.T. set-up he recommended, but if that's the best Congress will do, then half a loaf is better than no bread.

Meanwhile, the army said it needs 47,000 more men than the 700,000 called for in the administration's compromise program, and about $2,100,000,000 extra to finance the increase in strength.

The estimate was made by Army Secretary Kenneth Royall before the Senate Appropriations Committee that is more interested in a 70-group air force program than in army expansion.

Table Potatoes

At Highest Price Level Since 1926

Island potato growers are now receiving for their Green Mountain table stock potatoes, $1.80 a bushel, which, a prominent potato shipper said yesterday, is the highest price paid for table stock since 1926. Other varieties are slightly less.

He said the demand for seed is practically over though they still command a small premium over table stock.

Since the beginning of the 1947-1948 shipping season approximately 7,800 cars or 5,800,000 bushels have left the Province by rail. Another 1,000 cars, or 800,000 bushels have been shipped by water.

Patrol Boat First To Enter Local Port

The first boat to enter Charlottetown Harbour since the spring break-up was the C. G. S. Cygnus, a Department of Fisheries patrol boat, which arrived at the Marine Wharf Wednesday afternoon from Picout, N. S., under the command of Captain J. A. MacLeod of Goldboro.

The Cygnus is carrying out fishery patrol in Northumberland Strails, and it was reported last night that she had not encountered any ice on her trip from Picout to Charlottetown.

TRACES BRITAIN'S

of 17 billion dollars. Without the mighty war effort of Canada, combined with her mutual aid program, loans, and the outright billion-dollar gift, to say nothing of the Lend Lease program of the United States, England could not have maintained the struggle.

Postwar Shock

Mr. Vincent said the shock following the ending of hostilities was, perhaps more keenly felt, and is still being more keenly felt than the war itself. Lend-Lease stopped almost as soon as the war. England's economy was disrupted and from being the world's greatest creditor nation, she became the world's greatest debtor nation.

The economic facts confronting the nation are still grim. The people have much less to eat than formerly and much less to clothe themselves with. Nevertheless, with a large number of their best men still under arms on the continent of Europe and Asia, they had to put on an extra drive greater than anything they ever did before the war.

By the end of 1946 they had pulled themselves up to the pre-war export level and had reached an overall balance in trade. Then came the disastrous winter months of January and February. The damage, apart from the human suffering, was appalling. Those two months cost the country 800 million dollars in exports, so that it ended the year 1947 with a deficit of 675 million pounds sterling. Almost half the deficit was due to the high import prices and the worsening terms of trade, and the whole deficit, Mr. Vincent said, lies with the Western Hemisphere.

In the rest of the world, including the sterling area, England had a surplus of $5,000,000.

One serious handicap to England's prompt recovery is that she has to send goods to countries that are not producing and that cannot pay in dollars while she has to buy the things she used to get from them from the dollar countries. The United States credit was used more quickly than was expected, partly because of the continued world shortages and increasing U. S. prices, and partly because of England's heavy dollar expenditures in Germany. The main reason, however, was the slow rate of recovery in Europe and Asia.

Forging Ahead

Production figures all along the line show that England is slowly forging ahead, Mr. Vincent said. Coal is the key to her whole economy and the miners are working as they never worked before. The latest figures indicate that she will be able to export this year between ten and 16 million tons. Already shipments of coal to Europe are five times greater than they were four months ago.

In steel, she is the only country in Europe producing more than before the war—50 per cent more than in 1938.

Her motor car production is two and a half times greater than before the war and the export target for 1948 is about 320,000 cars.

Mr. Vincent referred to the great changes that have taken place in the British family of nations since the end of the war. India, Pakistan and Ceylon have achieved the status of equal partners in the Commonwealth. Burma has gone her own way outside the family. Many people, he said, read in those events a decline of British power and leadership but he did not think history would agree.

England, it is true, has left those lands in the physical sense but behind her she leaves the ideals of humanity, justice, political evolution, and freed Government by consent.

Mr. Vincent came to Nova Scotia with his parents in 1912 when he was nine years of age and returned to England with his mother three years later. In 1919, he came

New Creamery

Opens At Morell

The new creamery of the Morell Co-operative Company, entered into production last Friday. Seventy feet long by 37 feet wide, the building is equipped with refrigeration facilities and all its pasteurizers and churns are motor driven. The three pasteurizing units are capable of handling 6,700 pounds of cream at one time and the churn is operated at a capacity of 1,200 pounds of cream.

The cold storage compartment is divided into two sections. In one there is room for 130 boxes for use of the patrons; the other will keep between 30 and 40 tons of butter at the proper temperature.

Last year the Morell Co-operative Creameries produced 119,178 pounds of butter.

the northern tip of Cape Breton as the ice loosened. A stiff east wind has been holding the drift ice against the Cape Breton coast since Sunday.

It was likely that the Eagle would proceed to either Battle Harbor or St. Anthony, Nfld., with the crew of the Norman Conrad, St. Anthony, where the Grenfell Mission is located, was the more probable destination as ice covering south along the Labrador coast would make it difficult for the Eagle to head northwest for Battle Harbor.

The Eagle was halted yesterday only eight miles from the marooned hunters. But she took her self free of the ice today and punched her way in to the men.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

ments among U.N. members. No Russian Diplomats

As Mr. St. Laurent spoke, opening a full-dress debate on foreign affairs, the Chamber and the galleries were crowded.

The diplomatic gallery included representatives of Britain, the United States, France, Sweden, Finland, Yugoslavia, Poland, Greece, Belgium and the Argentine. No Russian diplomat was seen.

Mr. St. Laurent made these declarations:

1. Almost every international event now is of interest — "of direct and immediate interest" — to Canada.

2. The organization of collective security is "our best hope for disproving the gloomy predictions of inevitable war"

3. The ranks of democratic peoples must not be divided.

4. No regime in Europe or elsewhere has the right to assistance merely because it pretends itself the only barrier to Communism. It must show that it can act to meet Communism.

5. Canada feels that a Japanese peace settlement can be prepared only in a broadly representative conference.

6. There is no threat "to the control of our own affairs" in joint Canadian-American defence arrangements.

7. The U.N. should not attempt to undertake administrative responsibilities and police activities around the world until it has been given the means.

8. Canada's dollar reserves still are "far too low" to allow her to contribute "further substantial direct financial assistance" to Western Europe.

9. Canada continues to "insist" upon the right to effective participation in any general German peace settlement.

John Hackett (PC — St. Andrew), External Affairs spokesman of the Progressive Conservative Party, said that Canada, in playing her role in the U.N. should be "extremely careful less she be imposed upon."

"Canada seeks peace," he said. "That is the chief object of Canada's association with other nations."

"But we are neophytes in the practice of international politics. It behooves us to be extremely careful lest we be imposed upon and made agents of those who would avail themselves of our youth and vigor to help them solve their own political difficulties."

Closing Session

Of Anglican Synod Held Last Night

HALIFAX, April 29 — (CP) — The Church's task at the present time is to be "steady while the world is in difficult times," most Rev. G. F. Kingston, Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada, told the closing session of the 74th annual Diocesan Synod of Nova Scotia here today.

He thanked his colleagues of clergy and laity for their work at the Synod and urged that all "return to their parishes with harmony in heart and mind, determined to work together to further the life of God's church."

The importance of the rural ministry of the church was emphasized in an address by Rev. R. H. Waterman, Coadjutor Bishop of Nova Scotia.

"It is impossible to attach too great importance to any move that would help promote its efficiency," he added.

Efforts will be made to raise the stipends paid members of the clergy, now receiving "low-scale returns," the Synod decided.

A resolution expressing "serious concern over the rising costs of essential foodstuffs" was passed. The Synod asked that Dominion authorities take whatever action necessary "in order that such essential food commodities be brought into closer range with the purchasing power of wage earners or the lower income groups."

The Nova Scotia Government was commended for establishing an economic research council to "examine the means of improving the well-being of our people."

A resolution urged the Government "to extend further its public works projects to expedite its policy as assisting new industries adaptable to Nova Scotia and to develop appropriate vocational training for such industries."

Economic development in Nova Scotia had lagged behind "that of many other sections of Canada with consequent hardship and diminished opportunity to our people," the resolution stated.

Fire Insurance Scheme

A church fire insurance scheme operating on a "sympathetic and Christian basis instead of hard-nosed business rules" was a proposal to emerge from the closing session of the Synod.

The insurance plan for the diocese was proposed by William E. Gesner, lay delegate from Bridgetown. The plan would enable churches to cover "fully their buildings with insurance against fire and at the same time keep the premium money in the family," he said.

The proposal was referred to the committee on insurance for a report at the 1949 Synod.

Probe Opens Into Fire At Halifax

HALIFAX, April 29 — (CP) — The first member of the Halifax Fire Department to reach the scene of the Creighton Street fire which took seven lives here last February testified before a police inquiry today that the building was "completely enveloped in flame" when he arrived.

Deputy Fire Chief Richard Young told the court that it was "impossible for human life to enter the building" and that the second floor of the structure collapsed as his men were removing bodies from it.

The inquiry, which opened today, was adjourned for two weeks for further hearing.

Commonwealth Prime Ministers. Finance Minister Abbott said he has in mind a "tentative date" for delivery of his budget, but declined to reveal it to the House.

Mr. St. Laurent, in his 10,000-word policy statement, ranged the international sphere.

Touching on Palestine, he said that Canada, before expressing judgment, will await "some clear indication" that the Palestine proposals now before the United Nations can and will be given effect.

Of Italy, he warned difficult days still lie ahead for that troubled land. Communists, having failed to win power in the recent Italian election, now might "resort to the threat and use of force."
