

CRITICAL LEAGUE ASSEMBLY SESSION TODAY

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY DOWN ON SANCTIONS

(By Wade Werner, Associated Press Foreign Staff)
(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
GENEVA, Oct. 9.—Two of Italy's neighbors and sympathizers, Austria and Hungary, stepped forward tonight to hamper League of Nations machinery, rolling toward sanctions against the Fascist nation.

These two voices rang out in defence of Italy in a strange twilight session of the League Assembly which was suddenly adjourned without definite action.

League observers, however, expected an overwhelming majority of the 56 Assembly members to rally to the cause of sanctions at a critical session tomorrow.

The first speaker will be Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation. He is expected to denounce strongly the action of the League Council in indicting Italy as an aggressor against Ethiopia and a violator of the Covenant.

Any other opponents of the Council's indictment will then be called upon to speak, along with those who wish to make reservations to their respective governments.

Gives Austria's Stand

Shortly after the historic meeting of the Assembly, which had been called into urgent session, was opened Baron Emeric Pfuegl of Austria announced to the tense delegates:

"Austria cannot forget that in a fateful moment of her history Italy contributed to safeguard her integrity. The links that bind the Austrian people to the people of Italy are strong. Austria will not fall in a friendship that is destined to last through time to come."

He referred to the Nazi Putsch of July, 1934, when Chancellor Dollfus was assassinated. Italy's army was moved to the frontier ready to march into Austria should Nazi Germany attempt to take over the Vienna Government.

Hungary took a similar position. Although the refusal of these nations to join in sanctions would be a vital aid to Italy, the majority of League members are expected to go ahead with their plan of exerting economic and financial pressure upon Mussolini's country.

A unanimous vote of the Assembly is not required. Any nation which refuses to approve the Council's indictment of Italy, however, is not compelled to join in application of sanctions.

Prior to the meeting of the Assembly its steering committee met to discuss a program of sanctions against Italy in the presence of Aloisi.

It was decided to recommend the creation of a coordination commission to work out penalties against Rome. The meeting was held in secret.

Dr. Eduard Benes, President of the Assembly, indicated tonight a roll call vote on the question of endorsement of the Council's action would be held tomorrow. The return then will be turned over to speakers who wish to discuss the next step. Premier Laval of France, Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Teclé Hawariati, the Ethiopian delegate, are among those scheduled to speak.

GENEVA, Oct. 9.—(C. P. Cable)—Tomorrow the League of Nations will begin a daily broadcast in connection with its vital deliberations on the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Action of the League secretariat in providing the service follows a suggestion made in the League transit committee, Sept. 21, by J. H. Woods, chief Canadian delegate.

Mr. Woods called for dissemination by wireless of news of the day-by-day work of the League and added that if that international body was "to survive the test of time, it will be by convincing the peoples of the earth of its usefulness in the paths of peace as well as its arming of war." He suggested the League's bulletins be distributed to news agencies by the Government's receiving them.

IN MEMORIAM

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 9.—The Assizes Court jury trying George Bodner on a charge of murdering his wife Aug. 11 today heard a new theory of how she met her death. The Crown rested its case after presenting evidence designed to show that Bodner struck his wife with a hatchet in a drunken quarrel and inflicted fatal head injuries.

Mrs. H. Prokekskew, a neighbor and defence witness, said she looked out her window that night and saw Mrs. Bodner walk unsteadily out of the house and fall against an iron drinking fountain, striking her head.

The head injuries caused Mrs. Bodner's death, according to medical testimony, but prosecution and defence differed sharply as to how the injuries were inflicted.

HAUTMANN DEATH VERDICT IS UPHELD

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 9.—The death sentence imposed on Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the murder of the infant Charles A. Lindbergh was unanimously upheld today by the Court of Errors and Appeals, leaving him only three doubtful avenues of escape from the electric chair.

Justice Thomas Trenchard will fix a new execution date for Hauptmann and unless his lawyers successfully pursue one of the three courses open, the stoical German carpenter will pay the penalty decreed by the jury at Flemington.

The 13 members of the court who voted to sustain the Fleming verdict swept aside every one of the legal points raised by Hauptmann's counsel, held that the trial was legally proper in every respect, and concluded the verdict was "one to which the evidence inescapably led."

For the first time since he was arrested in the Bronx Sept. 19, 1934, Hauptmann today manifested emotion, approaching despair. His present chief of counsel, Lloyd Fisher, broke the news to him in the death house.

"I never did this and surely they will find out before it is too late," Hauptmann told Fisher. His first words, though, indicated a regard for his wife, Anna's, feelings.

"My God, what a fine anniversary present for Anna," he exclaimed. The Hauptmanns will have been married 10 years tomorrow.

After the first shock, court officials said, Hauptmann quickly recovered his customary calm and relaxed in the cell, the walls of which are liberally plastered with pictures of his wife and son Manfred.

Hauptmann's three forlorn hopes to beat death now are:

- (1) An appeal to the United States Supreme Court on the grounds his constitutional rights were invaded at the trial;
- (2) An appeal to the Court of Pardons of New Jersey to commute the death sentence to one of life imprisonment; and
- (3) An appeal to Justice Trenchard for a new trial on the grounds that new and surprisingly important evidence had been unearthed since his conviction.

Cloutier Indicted For Murder

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
ALFRED, Me., Oct. 9.—The York County grand jury returned a three-count indictment today against Alexander Cloutier, 25-year-old sawmill worker, charging him with the slaying last August of Florence Grenier, 17, Biddeford textile mill employee.

Both the principals were French-Canadians. The victim, a native of Quebec, was one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Hormidas Grenier. The Cloutier family settled in Biddeford two years ago. They formerly resided in Cap de la Madeleine, Que.

Discovery of the Grenier girl's body in an unused woods dump five miles from her home four days after her disappearance, Aug. 20, shocked the city of Biddeford where she had many friends.

The arrest of Cloutier, alleged suitor for the Grenier girl's hand, his first visit with police to a local mortuary where the girl's body reposed, and his consistent taciturnity except for denial of knowledge of the crime, formed in swift developments.

The girl had been battered to death apparently on a woods road and her body partially buried in rubbish and debris. A medical examiner said she died of a fractured skull and that her jaw had been broken.

STEVENS PARTY AT ELDON AND WOOD ISLANDS

The Reconstruction candidates addressed meetings at Eldon and Wood Islands last night. In addition to the candidates Messrs. Wellington Dixon, R. E. Connolly and R. H. Duvor spoke at Eldon and E. P. Smith, President of the Sackville Stevens Club and Mr. Arthur Affleck, President of the Charlottetown Club at Wood Islands. Mr. Samuel Dixon presided at the latter meeting.

A short summary of the speeches at Wood Islands follows.

Mr. Ings

Mr. Earl Ings was the first speaker. He dealt with the political situation and the questions before the electors today. He outlined some of the plans in the Reconstruction Party platform and mentioned several of the proposed measures of social reform.

Mr. Affleck

Mr. Arthur Affleck who was the next speaker, dealt among other things with what he claimed was the unwarranted spread in price between the producer and the consumer. Something must be done about it, he claimed, before the country can have prosperity.

Mr. Smith

Mr. E. P. Smith was the next speaker. Among other things he spoke about the findings of the Price Spreads Commission. In that connection he claimed that Mr. Bennett broke faith with Mr. Stevens when he did not enact legislation to cure evils exposed in the findings of the commission.

If the Stevens Party was not elected, the speaker claimed that the report would be pigeonholed and nothing done about it. He ridiculed the idea of Mr. King's proposal to appoint a Royal Commission to look into the matter of unemployment. He had five years in which to consider it and should have decided on a policy by this time, Mr. Smith said.

This country can never have the prosperity it deserves because politics are too corrupt, the speaker stated, but now the people have a chance to support a man who is not bound hand and foot by the money interests, the speaker went on to maintain.

"We will never have a return to prosperity in this country until we do away with corrupt politics. Great Britain, where politics are not corrupt, has made greater progress towards recovery than other nations," Mr. Smith claimed in conclusion.

Mr. Hughes

Mr. Bernard Hughes in the course of his address declared that "the farmers of Canada have been dominated by a few men and oppressed by too many middle men."

His party propose a Dominion Agricultural Board to control and regulate the marketing of farm produce and assure a fair return to the producer, Mr. Hughes said.

Reduced freight on Maritime coal to Central Canada would increase employment in the Maritimes, improve the market for farm produce and increase the railway earnings. At present 50 million dollars are sent out of Canada every year for coal with enough coal in Canada to last for many generations.

The depression came before Mr. King's term of office ended but Mr. King sat back and did nothing. Then the producer, Mr. Bennett who promised to do something but he has done practically nothing, Mr. Hughes claimed. There is only one hope, the speaker claimed, and that is the Reconstruction Party. The issue in this campaign is not between the Conservative, Liberal and Reconstruction parties, but between the people on one hand and a handful of financiers on the other, Mr. Hughes claimed in conclusion.

Govt. To Pay Appraisal And Inspection Fee

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—The government has decided to pay the appraisal and inspection fee when loans are made under the Housing Act, Finance Minister Rhodes announced today. The fee will be 42¢ and will apply to centres other than those in which the lending company's head office is located.

This step has been taken because with the interest rate at five per cent lending companies did not see their way clear to make loans except in cities where they had their own facilities for appraising properties. With the government bearing the appraisal costs it is expected loans will be available in the smaller cities and towns throughout the country.

IN MEMORIAM

NATHANIEL GAY
1833 — 1935

"Friend after friend departs, who hath not lost a friend"
There passed peacefully away early in the night of October 4th in the Prince Edward Island Hospital, Nathaniel Gay of Pownal at the ripe age of sixty-three years. To-day the truth of our opening statement will be realized by very many in town and country who were acquainted with our departed friend. A quiet, kindly man, who always hastened to appreciate and speak a word of praise to those who entered a talent or rendered any pleasing service.

Our friend was born at Pownal of sturdy United Empire Loyalist stock on August 9th, 1852. He succeeded to his father's property as a young man and with his first wife, Elizabeth Mott of Sackville, contracted an up to date farm. From this union were born two daughters, viz.:—Mrs. Beatrice Judson of Alexandria and Katie, wife of Dr. A. E. MacKenzie of Sackville, Sask.

However, his ambition caused him to enter into an extensive real estate trade conducted very successfully for many years with almost a Midas touch for he prospered exceedingly. At about this period he met and wooed a very estimable lady, Miss Christina MacLeod of Ulgus, who became his second wife. Of this union also were born two daughters and one son. These are now Vivian, wife of Dr. W. E. Wellbrook of Lindenhurst, New York, Rheta at home, and Roland of Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

It was not long after his second marriage that the lure of the west called him and with his family he lived in the Lar. Mountain region, where he bought a large tract of land. For some few years he improved this property and then disposed of it at—seven to him—a very satisfactory figure, came back again to Prince Edward Island and his beloved home in Pownal. Here he lived in affluent retirement until his death in the Prince Edward Island Hospital on October 4th. The late Mr. Gay enjoyed life to the full. The owner of a beautiful yacht he with his friends cruised our Island waters and took great pleasure in his fishing. He was a runner also for several years he went South to Florida in our winter season and engaged in his favorite sport, shooting wild fowl in the lagoons along the coast. But he will best be remembered in his comfortable home in Pownal. Here he was surrounded and where together with his splendid wife many pleasant evenings were passed with friends and neighbors.

The funeral was held on Sunday, October 6th, beginning with a short service at the house and continuing at Pownal United Church where a large and sympathetic congregation attended to express their regard and sympathy. There were many floral offerings and these were carried from the residence to the Church by the members of the Pownal Hockey Team. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Elliott, assisted by former pastor, the Rev. Henry Pierce. The text chosen was "We all do fade as a leaf" and the hymns "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me" were favorites of the deceased. A Mass of the Dead was also read. Personal tributes were appropriately and feelingly "The Lord Is My Shepherd." In the beautiful cemetery adjoining the church was laid to rest the remains of one universally respected and esteemed.

Besides his sorrowing wife and children are left to mourn two daughters and three sisters. These are: Charles, of Tacoma, Washington, and James, of Pownal; Mrs. Augustus Clarke of Baltimore, Maryland, Mrs. Charlotte Edmundson of Tacoma, Washington, and Mrs. George Carver of Pownal. There are also many grandchildren and great grandchildren.

The pall bearers were: William H. Ings, Albert Jenkins, Arthur Jenkins, W. E. Smith, William Drake, all of Pownal and Allie Mutch of Charlottetown.

To the immediate family and all sorrowing relatives we extend our sincere sympathy.

East African War Crisis At A Glance

(By The Canadian Press)

The League of Nations Assembly held a momentous session yesterday to consider the decision of the Council that Italy was the aggressor in the conflict with Ethiopia. Austria and Hungary voiced protests against the Council's decision.

The Assembly adjourned, to meet again today, when it was expected an overwhelming majority of the members would approve of sanctions against Italy.

Austria's delegate said she could not assent to the finding of the Council. He stressed his country's friendship with Italy. Hungary's delegate said sanctions might mean complete upheaval of her financial and economic equilibrium.

Italian troops in Northern Ethiopia consolidated their position in and near Adwa. Reports that Italy had captured Aksum still lacked confirmation.

The newspaper Paris-Soir printed despatches from the Eritrean front which said 300,000 combatants were engaged in general fighting in a quadrangle formed by Adi Urti and Adi Kale, in Eritrea, and Adigrat and Aksum, in Ethiopia.

The fiercest fighting, those despatches said, took place on the outskirts of Aksum, capture of which was prevented by the heavy fire of Ethiopian sharpshooters.

The Ethiopian defence council prepared for a new Italian offensive in the Walwal district in Southern Ethiopia. A strict censorship was put into effect in Addis Ababa and each newspaper correspondent limited to sending 100 words daily.

In Rome officials said Italy would push her advance into Ethiopia. There was no intention of resting at Adwa. Her troops captured Adwa.

Naked Ethiopian warriors conducted raids on Adwa and Adigrat last night but failed to drive out the Italians, a correspondent with the Italian army reported.

The British Cabinet met in London and afterwards Prime Minister Baldwin conferred with various ministers. It was understood the question of possible sanctions against Italy was considered.

LIBERALS AT BRADALBANE

The Liberal candidates Messrs. Larabee and Sinclair held a well attended meeting at Bradalbane last evening. Messrs. Douglas MacKinnon, J. Walter Jones, D. A. McKay, Russell Chandler and Senator Sinclair, also addressed the gathering. Mr. Malcolm Stewart capably presided.

Mr. James J. Larabee speaking first said the Conservative candidates were afraid to face the elections after the promises made five years ago. He explained the reason for the formation of the third party. The appearance of a Conservative candidate in Prince Edward County was an example of how Mr. Bennett wields the party whip, said Mr. Larabee. The Conservative party in Prince did not want to run a candidate yet driven by Bennett they had to find one between Saturday night and Monday morning. Milk cheques and dairy cattle before and after 1930 were dealt with by the speaker. As better factories can not be changed into these factories overnight, the speaker said, the province had been increased from $42,000 in 1930 to $313,000 in 1935. The tax trend under successive governments may be judged by the postage stamp. Each Liberal administration reduced letter postage to 2 cents and the Conservatives always raised it to 3 cents. Nearly $700,000 was spent on the Price Spreads Commission on which the taxpayers will receive no return. Mr. W.C. Pittfield was charged with doing shady business in Montreal in connection with Conservative campaign funds. The same gentleman had received $45,000 from two pictures for the National Archives.

Mr. Peter Sinclair, the next speaker, said that trade had been cut almost in half since 1930 due to the tariffs raised at the special session. Trade with the United States increased year by year under the Liberal's. Mr. Sinclair also reviewed the Reconstruction party, he quoted a report of a Reconstruction meeting in Nova Scotia in which the chairman said that if it was thought it would mean the defeat of the Conservative candidate the Stevens man would not nominate. He further said that the members of the House of Commons to first make a motion for the formation of a Price Spreads Commission was a Liberal. Surplus and lower taxes were the rule under the King Government. Old Age Pensions cannot be paid in full by the Federal government without a change in the constitution and what party was more likely to have the support of the provinces than the Liberal party.

Mr. Douglas MacKinnon, speaking on behalf of the candidates, said the Conservatives were carrying on a campaign of deception, in the local campaign they had claimed that the Federal government was paying all the cost of the highway project whereas they were only paying about one-third. Many of the people present enjoyed going to the sidewalks at the exhibition. On the platform, he said they had three men who were said to be so crooked they couldn't hide behind a corker. He said they had almost been accused of pilfering from the public treasury. Mr. MacKinnon closed his remarks by urging Liberal workers present to help give their candidates the biggest majority in thirty years.

GOVERNMENT IMPOSES STRICT MILITARY CENSORSHIP.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 9.—(C. P. Havas)—Ethiopia's defence council prepared tonight for a new Italian offensive in the Walwal sector as stringent military censorship was put into effect. Each news correspondent was restricted to cabling or telegraphing not more than 100 words daily. Authorities declared that the vast wordage sent out by newspapermen during recent weeks had so encumbered communications that the exchange of messages necessary for the conduct of government business had been handicapped seriously.

Officials also expressed their displeasure at the flood of false reports emanating from the three fronts, and appointed a group of Belgian officers to issue authoritative bulletins on new war developments.

The capital buzzed tonight with unconfirmed reports that the city's telephone and telegraph communication lines had been cut off, as the government declared it had received no news for some time from any of the three war fronts.

ATHENS, Oct. 9.—The Reuters correspondent at Athens said today a demonstration had taken place outside the Italian Consulate at Fairs by members of crews of British and German cargo boats when unconfirmed reports of Ethiopians recapture of Adwa reached them.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 9.—(A.P.)—General Eric Virgin, political-military adviser to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, left here Oct. 5 on the Usukuma, bound for home via the Cape.

(Despatches from Stockholm Monday said it was strongly rumored Gen. Virgin was engaged in a secret mission for the Negus, instead of returning to Sweden for his health.)

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(A.P.)—An appeal for funds for a British ambulance service in Ethiopia was issued today, signed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, George Lansbury, the Marquess of Lathom and Lord Lugard. The appeal said white, the service was available to both Ethiopian and Italian wounded, it was primarily needed by the Ethiopians.

Italian Push Expected

Belief that the next big Italian push will occur in the southern area north and west of Walwal arose from reports of repeated flights of Italian army observation planes over the length of the Ogaden Province front, from Harar through Sasa Baneh to Gerogub. Count Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci, Italian Minister here, was notified by the Ethiopian Government today that Negrasda Yesus, Ethiopian Charge d'Affaires at Rome, had recalled. The Italian diplomat expected to receive his passports momentarily, and was prepared to leave for Italy immediately.

Two Italian scouting planes were sighted today north of Dessie, Ethiopian base northeast of Addis Ababa. Although an Italian offensive was expected near the foot of Mount Minder, all military observers believed that Fascist tactics intended movements on this front as a blind to distract attention from more important attacks planned on the other two fronts.

The government censorship decree was accompanied by a warning to the populace not to believe fantastic war stories spread from irresponsible sources.

Listed among unfounded rumors was a report that the forces of Duke Amedeo, Haile Selassie's son-in-law of the Emperor, had invaded Eritrea. It was pointed out that as the leader of Ras Seyoum's right wing he had few troops under his command.

Official circles professed ignorance of purported Ethiopian invasion of Eritrea, and denied Ras Seyoum's warriors had retaken either Adwa or Adigrat.

Italian planes were seen over the river Awash, 75 miles from Addis Ababa as the crow flies. The region where they were reported is a strategic point on the Addis Ababa-Djibouti Railway.

FIERCE FIGHTING

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Despatches to the Paris Soir from the Eritrean front stated today that fighting is general throughout the northern Ethiopian sector with 330,000 troops engaged in a quadrangle formed by Adi Urti and Adi Kale, in Eritrea, and Adigrat and Aksum, in Ethiopia.

The fiercest fighting, said the despatches, was on the outskirts of Aksum which was reported encircled by Italian columns but 100 were captured due to the heavy fire of Ethiopian sharpshooters hidden in the hills commanding the city.

The despatches also said an Ethiopian plan to cut the Eritrean railroad at Massaua collapsed when attacks at Adi Urti and Adi Kale were repulsed. What was described as a third attack on Adigrat, which is in Italian hands, was said to have failed.

Last night, the Soir's report said, Ethiopians attempted to recapture Adwa and were thrown back after three attacks, the battle lasting until dawn with heavy Ethiopian losses.

Large numbers of Italian wounded, the despatches said, were being moved to the rear.

Old Age Pensions cannot be paid in full by the Federal government without a change in the constitution and what party was more likely to have the support of the provinces than the Liberal party.

Mr. Douglas MacKinnon, speaking on behalf of the candidates, said the Conservatives were carrying on a campaign of deception, in the local campaign they had claimed that the Federal government was paying all the cost of the highway project whereas they were only paying about one-third. Many of the people present enjoyed going to the sidewalks at the exhibition. On the platform, he said they had three men who were said to be so crooked they couldn't hide behind a corker. He said they had almost been accused of pilfering from the public treasury. Mr. MacKinnon closed his remarks by urging Liberal workers present to help give their candidates the biggest majority in thirty years.
