Reverend Allan J. MacDonald parish priest of Fort Augustus has gone to his eternal reward. His passing is a shock and sorrow to all who knew him and loved him. His rare spirit left its earthly temple shortly before last midnight. The late Father MacDonald had been ill only a few weeks, but owing to his long pilgrimage here—eighty four years—his condition was viewed with grave apprehension. He lived and he laboured, and he died amidst the people he loved so long and faithfully, and loved so well.

Father MacDonald was a native of Saint Andrews, near Mount Stewart; and in the little Red school house he first received the rudiments of his education. Later he entered Saint Dunstan's College and on the completion of his classical course there proceeded to the Grand Seminary at Montreal, where he entered upon the study of theology. On his return to Prince Edward Island he was ordained priest by the late lamented Bishop MacIntyre in the parish church of Indian River, the ordination taking place on the 5th of July, 1874.

For a few years he was a professor at Saint Dunstan's College, and subsequently was appointed to the parish of Fort Augustus, where for forty-nine years he ever laboured as in the Great Task Master's eye. Had he lived it was the intention to celebrate his Golden Jubilee next year.

Father Allan MacDonald was intimately known and highly regarded not only within but also far beyond the bounds of his own parish. In his priestly vocation he truly exemplified the Goldsmith's "Village Preacher."

"As the bird each fond endearment tries To tempt its new fledged offspring to spring to the skies, He tried each art, reproved each dull delay Allured to brighter worlds, and led the way."

He will be mourned in the homes, and missed from his sacred duties in the church. He was a warm friend as well as a beloved pastor. His keen knowledge of human nature made him in the hour of sorrow as a garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness. In his departure the Roman Catholic Priesthood sustains the loss of one of its most prominent members. He has left a rich legacy of a consecrated life. It may well be said of him: "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." In the hearts of the people of Fort Augustus this lasting monument will be established.

There is left one brother, Mr. Augustus MacDonald of Allisay. A sister, Mrs. Donald Campbell of Millville, predeceased him some years ago.

When Mr. Clifford Betts passed away in his home at Glenora on March 3rd, the community lost one of its most valuable citizens; honored and respected by all.

The late Mr. John Clifford Betts would have arrived at the age of 62 in April and he has been suffering uncomplainingly from an internal cancer in the abdomen in the last eight or nine months; his suffering ended when he passed away quietly during the afternoon of the 3rd and his remains were buried in the Mt. Burn Church on March 5.

He left behind him a wife, Matilda (Bouler) one daughter Mrs. Will McDonald and three sons Bayfield, Elbert and Lorne as well as his sisters, Mrs. Geo. Hector McLean, Mrs. Charles Waite and his three brothers Amasa, Benjamin and George.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Will A. McWilliams, Charles Livingston, George H. McIsaac, Amos Boniter, Alf Gorrell and Bert McLeellan. The funeral service was conducted in the home by the pastor Geo. Readman and the Revs. Turple and Stamford.

The death took place at the Sacred Heart Home in Charlottetown on January 26th, of Mr. Whelan, relict of the late John J. Duffy in the 54th, year of his age.

The deceased, who had a large number of friends and relatives, but not one enemy, had been in delicate health for a number of years, but her death, in the prime of life is a sad bereavement to her five daughters who will surely miss everybody's best friend in this world, viz: "Mother." Her daughters are—Madame Duffy of the Sacred Heart, Halifax, Mrs. Anthony Sturdy, Birnie, Anna, teacher in Westmorland and Hanna and Mabel, in Boston, Mass.

Her passing makes the first break in the Whelan family and she is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Whelan, formerly of Freetown, P. E. I. where the subject of this sketch was born. One brother, John Whelan, and one sister also in Haverhill, Mass., Mrs. Wm. Delghan Emerald, Mrs. John T. Malone Souris and Mrs. Patrick Conway, Bonshaw. Her funeral took place to Kelly's Cross on the 29th of January and the obsequies were performed by Rev. Thomas Curran and by the pastor, Rev. P. L. McMahon. May her soul rest in peace.

A wave of sadness was cast over Lewis and vicinity when the news came that Daniel Stewart, a highly respected resident of that place had died suddenly while at work in the mines of Westville, N. S. Owing to the delay of mails the sad tidings came to his bereaved family with startling abruptness, they were first notified by a telegram from Mr. Stewart's brother who was in good health followed by a telegram saying that his body would arrive at Melville Station in charge of Jas. D. MacDonald of Westville arrived in Charlottetown on Feb. 24th where it was met by the Rev. J. D. Bickard and his daughter. Much credit is due to the three young men of Melville the Messrs. MacPherson, Gillis, and Nicholson, who in the dead hours of the night, with indomitable courage and endurance, battled their way through almost impassable snow drifts bringing the remains and passengers to the hands of a specialist each of whom does one particular thing and nothing else. The whole plant is under government inspection. The principal output of the plant is cattle and hogs, the latter number from 1,000 to 1,200 a day. In the slaughtering every particle of every animal is used. The guide who showed them through the plant explained to them the hair of the cattle and hogs is dried and sold for plastering, the bones ground for poultry feed, the blood and offal turned into fertilizer. The guide humorously remarked that not a hair was wasted. They even preserved the squeal of the hog and sold it as stearic to the unearthy howls occasionally heard and not understood by the radio fans. Here also they visited the largest stores, warehouses and stables, especially the establishment of the T. Eaton Company. This company uses about 200 autos and 185 horses in their delivery service.

From Winnipeg they went to Regina where they spent a week. They attended the opening of the Provincial parliament and were shown the whole building from the basement to the dome. The C. N. R. Broadcasting station was one of the most interesting sights in the city. Their next stop was at Saskatoon where they spent some time at the Agricultural College, saw the different classes at work, including demonstrations in judging horses, cattle, etc., all of which appealed especially to them as this was in line with their own activities during the year. Here they attended a Grain Growers Convention an amalgamation of the Grain Growers and Wheat Pool upon which the Western farmers depend so much for the sale of their products. The next visit was at Strassburg, where they visited relatives and met many Islanders who have done well in the last few years. Throughout the whole visit they enjoyed wonderfully fine weather, saw very little snow in the West and drove in automobiles. The old inhabitants declared it was the mildest winter the West had experienced in their time. At Strassburg they bought two carloads of horses, through a former Islander, Mr. Ambrose Coles who is now on their farm at Winsloe where they are being admired by visitors.

The journey home was uneventful, occupying nine days in all. The Messrs. Horne are greatly pleased by their Western visit but are quite satisfied that the province offers many inducements and more certainly to farmers than any part of the West which they visited.

E. I., and whose photo appears in the papers, has been making butter for fifteen years and has spent ten years with the Crescent. His win was a very popular one. The handsome Cup goes with this award and the event itself represents the blue ribbon among dairymen. In addition to the All Canada Cup Mr. Keough took first prize at Toronto in Section 1 for fourteen boxes of salted butter.
