New Moon At Capitol Theatre S'ide

One of the season's most delightful romantic excursions took place last night at the Capitol Theatre where "New Moon", the latest Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy film opened for an engagement of three days.

"New Moon" contains all of those elements that audiences have grown to expect from vehicles featuring these two singing favorites. There are romance, intrigue, delightful melody and spectacle. Never has Miss MacDonald appeared lovelier, nor Eddy been seen to better advantage.

The story is placed before a colorful setting. It opens on ships at sea in the year 1780, travels to gay New Orleans during Mardi Gras time, back again for thrilling adventures on the high seas, and from there to a tropic island when a strange assortment of individuals, led by Eddy, set up their own republic from the remains of a ship and cargo wrecked in a storm.

Miss MacDonald's performance as the high-spirited, Marianne de Beaumont ranks undisputedly as her best. She assumes her role with conviction, she believes every passing mood of her heroine, and dressed in the elaborate costumes of the day she might well have stepped from the pages of a beautifully illustrated French history. It is difficult to choose one outstanding number among her songs. The haunting strains of "Lover Come Back to Me" linger long after leaving the theatre.

Charles, Duc de Villiers, Nelson Eddy finds himself right at home. In many sequences he displays a delightful gift for comedy, a gift denied him in some of his earlier films. His songs include "Softly As in a Morning Sunrise," "Shoe Shine Song" and the stirring "Stout Hearted Men."

Many laughs are afforded the production in the hilarious portrait drawn by Mary Boland heading an imposing supporting cast of more than fifty speaking parts.

Robert Z. Leonard gave the production that meticulous attention and inimitable talent for combining music and drama he is noted for. Herbert Stothart handled the musical details of the picture.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this liquid does not flow freely, your bowels stagnate. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks dark.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a colic but have no colic or crampy in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

ENEMIES IN

The round trip to Danzig was the longest ever attempted. British bombers made three German areas. Danzig, once-free city of the Polish Corridor, was the exploding point of the present war.

Between the English Channel and East Germany, R. A. F. pilots dumped their destructive loads, and the Air Ministry said, on major plants feeding oil, munitions and planes to the German war machine.

Krupp Works Bombed

Objectives included the Krupp Arms Works at Essen in Germany, the Pöcker aircraft plant at Amsterdam in German-held Holland, and oil plants at Gelsenkirchen.

Ships were attacked at Kiel near the Baltic, and at the Rhine River port of Duisburg. Railroad junctions were the targets at Danzig, Dessau, Munster, Mannheim and Essen.

Other attacks were made on Bremen, the "invasion ports of Lorient, Cherbourg, Le Havre, Dunkerque and Flushing, and 14 German air bases.

Five British planes were missing after the extensive operations the Ministry said.

British planes from the broad flying deck of the Ark Royal, the admiralty disclosed, destroyed two "shooting enemy aircraft" which tried unsuccessfully to bomb the carrier. The British fighters probably damaged others.

The harbor and airfield of the Sardinian port of Cagliari were hit. Bombs fell in the target area "and fires and explosions were observed."

All planes returned safely to the Ark Royal—the ship which all last winter the Germans tried to persuade the world they had sunk.

Third Raid on Naples

At Naples, raided for the third time in five days, the air ministry news service said the principal targets were the railway junction, station and an oil refinery.

"Incendiary bombs started six fires near the oil refinery and a very large incendiary bomb destroyed the railway station," it said. "Despite considerable anti-aircraft fire from land batteries and ships in the harbor the attack was pressed home."

A communiqué of the middle east headquarters at Cairo, announcing that and other numerous raids, said that by attacking harbors used by Italy for her invasion of Greece, the Royal Air Force gives "very effective support for Britain's newest ally."

Docks and jetties at Porto Edda (Santa Quaranta) were severely damaged and one bomb hit the main jetty. The main jetty was demolished and a road junction damaged at Konissopolis, another Albanian port.

It also noted repeated air raids on Italian positions in North Africa, including attacks Sunday and Saturday on Assab, Eritrea, in which warehouses were bombed "with some success."

Turning back the pages of the R. A. F.'s bombing record to Friday, a New Zealand pilot who died in a night attack on Munich railroad yards cheerfully admitted that his knowledge that Hitler was in the city "added great zest" to his task.

The pilot said he dived with a load of the heaviest bombs and dropped a "stick" on a railway yard only a short distance from the Nazi party's famous "brown house."

BERLIN SAYS

of the Soviet Union within its "grossraum" (its vast connected area).

Molotov reached "German territory" late tonight when his special train pulled into Maklinia which last year was part of Poland. He is due in Berlin in the morning. Hitler expects a leader of his black-shirted elite guard to greet the Russian Premier.

(In London a source close to the Soviet Embassy intimated Molotov's visit to Berlin might result in new Russian-German understandings "safeguarding Russia's neutrality." This informant saw little hope for improvement, for the present at least, in Russian-British relations.

(Other news items include: "The British Foreign Office has indicated the belief Russia's foreign policy now is based on fear of the idle German army and that this, if nothing else, would prevent any real rapprochement in Moscow's relations with London." Although Dienst Aus Deutschland said the discussions would be "global in character," German officials were reticent regarding details to be taken up with Molotov on his first trip outside the Soviet Union.

The National Zeitung said the question of Turkey, guardian of the strategic Dardanelles, lay within the scope of the conference.

Gives Details Of U. S. Plan Re Fox Furs

Mr. D. O. Stewart of Summerside, a director of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association has supplied the following additional information in connection with the proposed change concerning importation by the United States of fox skins from Canada.

Notice of the plan to revise the existing agreement was made public last week.

"The special committee of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Assn. is in receipt of formal notice that it is intended to negotiate a trade agreement revising and replacing the supplementary trade agreement between Canada and the U. S. concerning the importation of silver and black fox furs and skins.

"The proposed negotiations will be of a limited character and are intended to deal with certain modifications of the provisions contained in the supplementary trade agreement now in force. The total present quota of the Canadian National units and has been allocated among the supplying countries. Canada at present is allowed 58,300 units. Provision under the new agreement may be made for separate unallocated quotas for the importation of parts of silver black fox furs and articles made of such furs and skins as follows: Tails, paws, heads and other separate pieces, piece plates, articles other than piece plates made wholly or in chief value of fox furs.

Provision will probably be made for the exemption of silver foxes for breeding purposes from quota limitations, suitable provisions to be made to differentiate breeding stock from animals to be imported for selling purposes. No change in the present import duty of the products is contemplated. The special committee of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Assn. has been devoting its energies during the past ten months to an attempt to modify and if possible enlarge the present quota of silver fox furs allowed for importation into Canada. They are gratified to learn that the matter is finally being reopened and that certain modifications may be made."

Expenditures, Receipts For Seven Months

OTTAWA, Nov. 9—(CP)—The Comptroller of the Treasury tonight announced that total receipts of the Dominion Government for the seven months ended Oct. 31 totalled $433,061,325 while total ordinary expenditures were $569,012,233.

The figures compared with total receipts of $313,218,002 and total expenditures of $311,542,353 in the same period last year.

More than half of the expenditures this year, $220,049,000, were listed as "war appropriations." The war appropriation in the same period of 1939 was only $15,310,385.

Special expenditures for relief works and grants amounted from $21,814,833 in the 1938 period to $14,978,861 this year.

The Canadian National Railways deficit from April 1 this year to Oct. 31 was $14,750,000, compared with $41,250,000 in the comparative period a year ago. Trans-Canada Air Lines had a deficit of $335,822 in the 1938 period, but none was listed for the same period this year.

Canada Pays Tribute To War Dead

By The Canadian Press

A re-armed Canada paused to pay reverent tribute yesterday to the men who died for a peace which is also dead.

On the 22nd anniversary of the start of the armistice which brought the Great War to an end, public officials, citizens, relatives and widows, mothers and sisters, sailors and army men who lost their lives in that conflict gathered about memorial altars and cenotaphs for brief services.

Aircraft roaring overhead and uniforms in the crowds and in regiments, told of the nation's human and material resources are being turned. Medals on the chests of grieving men, wreaths and poppies, grieving parents from soldiers' hospitals riding in buses, told of the war which ended 22 years ago.

Ottawa was the scene of Canada's official ceremony for the first time. In other years this took place at a temporary cenotaph on Parliament Hill.

Yesterday the King's uncle and personal representative, the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of Canada, with his wife, Princess Alice, was the human centres of proceedings.

His Excellency stood rigidly at the salute during the two minutes of silence, then laid a wreath at the foot of the monument. The Princess laid another wreath on the cenotaph. The King's daughter, Mrs. Catherine Lewis, now almost an institution at such services in the capital as the representative of the mothers of Canada, who gave a salute to the Empire's cause.

Two thousand veterans of the last war marched to the service. A company of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in uniform to serve as a guard of honor for the Governor-General.

A memorial service was held at the cenotaph and men of the navy, army and air force, Members of the Canadian Women's service Corps and Royal Canadian Air Force Squadron paraded past the cenotaph. The service was presided over by the Rev. Father Donoghue.

The service was presided over by the Rev. Father Donoghue, who gave the opening prayer for peace, school children, Empire March, played by Dorothy Gallant, vote of thanks, moved by Rita Martin, seconded by Mrs. G. W. LePage, and the National Anthem.

At Wheatley River

At the Remembrance Day service at Wheatley River, yesterday, Major D. A. Macdonald was chairman. A short service of the National Anthem, prayer and the playing of the National Anthem, the service was presided over by the Rev. Father Donoghue.

The opening number, "O Canada" was followed by a Scripture reading by the Rev. Mr. Murray, pastor of Wheatley River United Church. The hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," was sung by the choir. In his address, Rev. Mr. Murray spoke of "the sacrifice of the British people in the past, and their readiness to sacrifice again."

A "Give Peace, O God" was sung by Miss Mary F. A. Alexander and Rev. Mr. Murray, accompanied by Mrs. Chester Rackham.

The service was presided over by Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, in which the unity of the British Empire was illustrated by the churches, and the same message was given by the Archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Anglican Church, and the Bishop of the Roman Catholic Church in London. He praised the splendid work which is being carried on by the Canadian Red Cross during the present crisis.

Major D. A. Macdonald referred to the vast empire to which we belong, and said that nowhere are to be found more loyal people than those of the British Empire.

"Let us draw closer in these narrower years, before us all the eternal visions spread."

We, who outnumbered death, and all its fears, Are our greatest army still, living and dead."

AT MONTAGUE

Remembrance Day services were held in the Oddfellows hall at Montague yesterday. Fifty veterans and hundreds of persons from this town and from southern King's County attended the service.

The Rev. J. Owen Hughes gave an address and the Rev. Mr. Hayward offered prayer.

Before the service the veterans paraded from the Legion Home to the Hall and at the
