DEATH OF MR. JOHN W. PICKERING, SEA VIEW—Friends will learn with regret of the death of Mr. John W. Pickering at his home in Sea View on Friday, July 10th at the age of 70 years. SOCIAL EVENING AT NEW GLASGOW—An enjoyable social evening was held last week at New Glasgow, when Mr. and Mrs. Able former residents of the United States, now residing in New Glasgow entertained a large number of friends to an outdoor party. FARMERS' MEETING AT ABRAMS VILLAGE—In spite of the rain there was a very good attendance at the Field Day at Abrams Village on Wednesday last. The event was held at the Exhibition Grounds and opened at three o'clock with a brief address by the Hon. Mr. John P. Arsenault, Minister of the Province gave a short address, referring to war conditions and the need for greater effort to produce from the land. Hon. W. H. Dennis, Minister of Agriculture, spoke, and in his opening remarks regretted the absence of Rev. F. X. Gallant, who had always been so deeply interested in agriculture. Mr. Dennis also spoke of the value of good crops, especially timothy and clover. Good pasture lands would assure a higher percentage of livestock on the farm; and a higher quality of stock. Proper rotation and proper use of pasture land would pay good profits to the farmer. Dr. Clark urged the farmer to farm on scientific lines for best results. Dr. Ripley of Ottawa, assistant at the Dominion Field Husbandry, also stressed the great need for the production of dairy products and pork. He said, the Island farmers might be able to overcome the shortage of feeds in Ontario due to dry weather. He stressed the value of early cutting of hay, before it blooms, to assure a better crop. Professor W. J. Middleton also spoke and predicted good crops this year. Captain John L. Read spoke of the new Federation of Agriculture recently organized and of which he is president. Captain Read stated that the Island is the only Province in the Dominion that is self-sustaining and that he felt they should be able to export products at a profit. Mr. Read said the Federation was trying to establish a cheese curing plant and cold storage plant as well as a pork storage plant. He felt the hog industry could be expanded three or four times what it is now. Other speakers were Hon. Martin Gallant, Fraser T. Morrow. In spite of the rain demonstrations were carried out on the grounds and Messrs. W. J. Read, L. W. Roper and S. C. Wright gave practical talks on horses, cattle and poultry. A delicious lunch was served in the hall by the ladies and much appreciated by the visitors. —S.

MacKinnon sang a very lovely duet, Shadows. The service in Augustus Cove was held on the lawn of the MacFarlane homestead where the deceased had spent almost all of her married life. Rev. W. C. The hymns sung were What a Friend We Have in Jesus and Rock of Ages. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. MacKinnon sang very sweetly God's Way is the Best Way. Rev. Ward MacLean and Rev. Harvey Bishop assisted in the service. Many beautiful flowers testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall bearers were Messrs. E. H. MacKinnon, R. P. Brooks, Verbal Webster, Major Carruthers, Eber Bell and Leigh Lowther. Burial was at the Kirk Cemetery, Cape Traverse.

The Nazi armies battling the Russian have been told that the fate of Hitler's Germany is in their hands. There can be no question about that. And if they cannot break the 2,000-mile virtual deadlock with the Red army conclusively, far more conclusively than Napoleon did, another century and more ago, another western "Little Corporal" may see his vaulting dreams of world empire shattered amid the swamps and streams and rolling plains of western Russia.

ARMISTICE ENDS

It was believed that the end of the campaign would anchor that nation in the British sphere as a strong non-belligerent ally. The German invasion of Russia was believed here to have had a kindred effect because of a long standing Russian-Turkish association.

War-time control of Syria means that Britain will be able to send military support to Turkey if it is required and to increase her trade with that country by way of railways traversing Syria.

It was recalled that Turkey rejected her friendship pact with Germany while the British still negotiated with the Vichy French for a peaceful settlement of the Syrian situation, and the British charge that the Nazis were establishing bases there.

The nature of the terms of the armistice was not disclosed, but the Vichy government had empowered the Commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz to act after itself turning down a 10-point proposal of the Allies Friday under which Britain was to take over all war material and communications, assign protection of Syrian independence to the Free French and give Vichy's soldiers the option of returning to France or joining the forces of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Strengthening of Britain's position throughout the entire middle east was listed here as a major gain arising from Dentz's capitulation. This was called much more important than the release of imperial and Free French troops engaged there for duty on other fronts.

Increased Free French activity against Vichy-held colonies was forecast. The capitulation was seen here also as ending an axis threat to the British island of Cyprus, off the Syrian coast, which six weeks ago was believed to be an easy victim following the aerial conquest of Crete.

REPORT NAZIS

The British-Russian agreement, which virtually amounted to an alliance was announced Sunday. Among the tourists who visited Sir Stafford Cripps, British Ambassador, went directly from the Kremlin signature ceremony to a reception at the United States embassy's country house last night for members of the British mission here and informed Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt of the agreement.

S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar for foreign affairs, said at a press conference this afternoon:— "A participant in this powerful coalition, Great Britain, has on its side the world's greatest industrial country, the United States. Thus, a really mighty coalition of freedom-loving peoples is aligned against Germany and her vassals."

BRITISH AIR

Nazi activity over Britain continued light in the face of R. A. F. mastery of the skies. A few German planes dropped bombs at points in south, southwest and east England Saturday night. There were no casualties and damage was negligible.

The statement Saturday on R.A.F. operations said the weight of bombs dropped on Germany during June exceeded the tonnage dropped on England last April which the Nazis claimed as their record month.

Furthermore, the weight of bombs dropped on Germany in July "will be heavier still," it was said.

Air sources declared that the new air offensive had accounted for 216 German planes since June 22 and that the total German losses since the start of the war, on all fronts from the Arctic to Equatorial Africa, have now risen to 8,000 aircraft and 20,000 airmen.

Authoritative British circles state that the cannon dropped their fighting planes is taking a devastating and constantly heavier toll of German pilots.

The air ministry news service said that a German minesweeper of 1,200 tons was swept by the from end to end after being bombed Friday off Ouessant, an island near the Brittany coast of France.

OTTAWA EXPECTS

net council meeting in three weeks. It is expected that after consultation with his colleagues he will make further pronouncements on these questions.

In Vancouver Mr. King reiterated the pledge he gave Parliament March 30, 1939, against conscription for overseas service.

In his western Canada addresses the Prime Minister spoke against conscription as a method of raising men for service overseas and called it the "negation" of principles of freedom for which Canada was fighting.

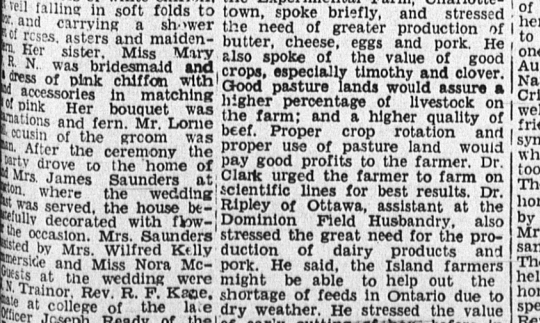

But in Vancouver, after declaring that his pledge against conscription held good and commenting that it was a part of the policy endorsed by the people in the March, 1940, general elections, Mr. King said:—

"How best the voice of the people may again be heard should a situation develop where the people's representatives in Parliament believe there will be time enough to consider when Parliament itself has declared its views."

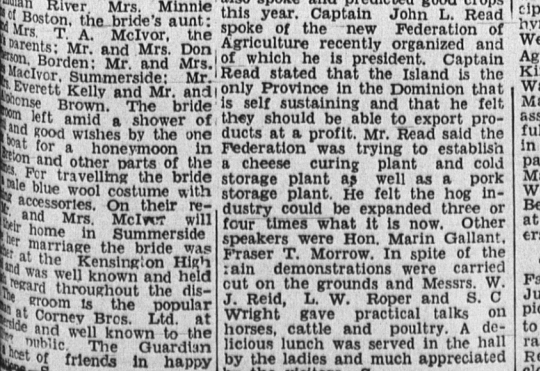

Full results of the recent recruiting campaign will not be known for several days. Mr. King, in the last speech of his tour, at Winnipeg last Thursday, indicated his belief that it had been successful and that there would be no excuse for raising the conscription issue at this time.

If further recruiting falls down, or if the war takes a change which would involve heavy wastage of Canadian man-power, the situation might develop such as the Prime Minister pictured in his Vancouver speech as possibly causing Parliament to express a view on conscription contrary to that adopted by the government since March, 1939.
