Coronation Pictures And "A Woman Rebels" At Capitol, S'side

The Coronation Pictures which thrilled a large audience last night are on again this afternoon and evening at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside. "A Woman Rebels" a stirring drama taken from the novel by Netta Syrett, noted British authoress, is the current attraction, which completes the program. The tragic results of a girl's rebellion against severe restrictions in both the home and public life form the story, in which Katherine Hepburn and Herbert Marshall are playing in this their first co-starring picture.

Packed into its surging and often tragic moments are the prejudices suffered by the women who led the movement for emancipation. In the role of a fervent leader of this movement, Miss Hepburn gives one of the finest performances ever to come to the screen.

Herbert Marshall is splendid in the role of a sympathetic British diplomat in love with Miss Hepburn. With him she ultimately achieves contentment and happiness.

Every member of the cast gives a brilliant performance and much credit is due to Donald Crisp, Elizabeth Allan, David Manners and Doris Dudley, for their outstanding contributions.

Mark Sandrich, young director whose brilliant direction of several Astaire-Rogers musicals brought him to the fore, made of "A Woman Rebels" an intensely-moving drama. The costumes are uncommonly beautiful. Photography and musical scoring are superb. Undoubtedly Producer Pandro S. Berman has another sure-fire RKO Radio hit to his credit.

Reid-Gaudet Nuptials

One of the prettiest and most interesting events of the season took place on Thursday morning at eight o'clock at the Immaculate Conception Church, Wellington, when Miss Mary Bernice Gaudet, R.N., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Gaudet, Wellington, was united in marriage to Dr. Raymond A. Reid of Wellington, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Reid, Amherst, Magdalen Islands.

The marriage ceremony and nuptial mass was performed by Rev. Urban Gillis, P.P. The sanctuary and altar were banked with pink and white honeysuckle, white lilacs, pink and yellow roses and sprays of ferns and white spirea.

Mrs. Leo Gallant, a cousin of the bride presided at the organ to render the nuptial music.

The bride entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage, and wore a beautiful wedding gown of Ivory Satin on princess style ending in a short train with long tight-fitted sleeves extending in points over her hand, high neck finished with Peter Pan collar, the only trimming being a row of tiny self covered buttons extending from neck to waistline in the back. She wore a long veil of tulle, arranged cap fashion and trimmed with orange blossoms and lillies-of-the-valley.

Miss Faustina Gaudet, a sister of the bride, was the only attendant and she wore a gown of figured chiffon, the skirt extending in a slight train and accessories in keeping, a large white picture hat and carried a pair of beautiful white pearl rosaries.

Mr. Louis Poirier acted as best man for the groom. The bride's mother wore brown crepe with hat to match and carried yellow roses. After the wedding ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents where a sumptuous breakfast was served to over one hundred guests, Dr. and Mrs. Reid leaving shortly on a honeymoon trip to the Magdalene Islands, the groom's former home. The bride travelled in a tailored blue suit with accessories to match. Among the honored guests were the Rev. F. X. Gallant, Egmont Bay; Rev. Urban Gillis, Wellington; Rev. Gavin Monaghan and Rev. Theo. Gallant of St. Joseph's, N.B. The bride is a graduate of Notre Dame Convent, Charlottetown, and Hotel Dieu Hospital, Moncton, N.B.

A large and costly collection of beautiful wedding gifts have been received, and prior to her marriage the bride-to-be was given a surprise shower, by the Children of Mary.

On their return Dr. and Mrs. Reid will take up their residence in Wellington, where the Doctor has a large practice. Their many friends join in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Roads And Taxes Striking Evidence Of Broken Pledges

Strongly Worded Resolutions Adopted At East Prince Conservative Meeting

Following is the text of the resolutions adopted at the largely attended annual convention of the East Prince Conservative convention held Tuesday at Summerside:

"The Liberal Conservatives of East Prince in Annual Meeting assembled do hereby re-affirm their confidence in the leadership of the Honourable R. B. Bennett and appreciate his generous treatment to this Province during his regime especially in his large contributions to our permanent Road Program.

"The Liberal Conservatives of East Prince in Annual Meeting assembled view with great alarm the large increase in the gasoline taxes, automobile registration fees and truck licenses and other taxes imposed on our people; while the public debt is being yearly increased without any permanent work to justify the increase. We deplore the fact that never in the history of our Province have our public roads been in such a neglected condition, notwithstanding the fact that only two years ago all the secondary roads in the Province were greatly improved by the McMillian Government in their graveling program under unemployment grants.

"The Liberal Conservatives of East Prince in Annual Meeting assembled hereby re-affirm their loyalty to the Honourable W. J. P. McMillian, Ex-Premier, and realize more than ever the wise judgment exercised by him and his government during his term of office.

"The Liberal Conservatives of East Prince in Annual Meeting convened sincerly regret the passing of our Honoured War-time Premier Rt. Hon. Sir. R. L. Borden, who throughout his long career has set an example to us all of fidelity to the high principles of the Conservative Party. The people of this Province will long remember his great service to this Province in establishing the Car Ferry Service at Borden as well as for his grant of an increased subsidy to the Province of $100,000 for our Public services.

"We also regret the passing of Mr. E. W. Manson late Conservative Candidate in the 5th District of Prince, who at all times loyally supported the Conservative cause and would suggest to this meeting that a letter of condolence be sent to his family expressing the sincere sympathy of this meeting."

Warplane Order For Vancouver Plant

SEATTLE, Wash., June 23—(AP)—Resumption of plane manufacturing at Vancouver, B.C., after a lapse of five years was announced here today by the Boeing Aircraft Co. of Canada Ltd.

A contract for construction of 11 planes of the Blackburn "Shark" type for the Canadian Government was revealed with the announcement of the reopening of the plant for aircraft manufacture.

Recently the plant had been engaged chiefly in construction and repair of motor boats.

The Government contract represents part of a $35,000,000 Canadian national defence program. The Blackburn "Shark" is a British torpedo-bomber and reconnaissance plane, powered with a single engine and having a top speed of 152½ miles an hour. The Vancouver Boeing plant will produce the planes within two years.

the knowledge of incidents which ocurred during the international control."

King Kept Informed

Foreign Secretary Eden late in the afternoon went to Buckingham Palace to inform the King as to the status of the situation.

They were closeted together for an hour.

The Foreign Secretary faced three problems:

1. Constitution of a new control scheme;
2. Smoothing of Anglo-German relations;
3. New consideration of the question of granting belligerent rights to the Spanish Insurgent regime.

Eden, outlining the Italo-German developments in the House of Commons, attempted to draw the 27 nation Non-Intervention group together by stressing that Italy and Germany still were members of the committee. They withdrew from the naval patrol only.

Two Alternatives

Without the latter powers patrolling their zones around Spain, British sources pointed out the British Government faces two alternatives: withdrawal herself from the patrol; or repairing the gaps in the cordon with aid by France.

Germany and Italy left the patrol last month after Spanish warplanes bombed their warships but were wooed back by a plan designed to guarantee the security of neutral vessels in Spanish waters.

Officials in Rome declared Italy by today's action was taking her warships from the patrol but it was understod she was leaving them in Spanish waters in virtually the same areas as before.

In Barcelona, General Sebastian Pozas, Commander of the Catalan forces of the Spanish government, reported he had ordered warplanes to protect a British freighter that had appealed for aid against an Italian warship.

He declared the freighter charged the warship attempted to stop and search her.

A German naval division, composed of the Picket battleship Admiral Scheer, the cruisers Nurnberg and Karlsruhe, three destroyers and one transport, entered the Tagus river near Lisbon.

Gibraltar reported four German warships steamed out of Algeciras harbor in an easterly direction.

NEW TENSION

running toward a crowd of several hundred C.I.O. strikers who had surrounded a Chicago (Times) newspaper photographer, seized his camera and smashed it over a fire-plug.

The crowd retreated, booing and shouting, to a point about 100 yards across the street from the Republic steel plant. The troopers then resumed their positions in front of the plant.

Coupled with the C.I.O. announced general strike, a statement by John McKeown, C.I.O. Organizer, that "a march by 50,000 Union men from other cities might be called to protest alleged discrimination against steel strikers, stirred apprehension among authorities tonight.

At the same time, in Cleveland, Frank Purnell, President of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, admitted that despite the renewed day-long efforts of President Roosevelt's Federal Mediation Board to effect a solution, the situation in the 28-day-old steel strike remained "unchanged."

Duke Observes 43rd Birthday

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, June 23—Edward, Duke of Windsor, whose name for years the world's matchmakers sought to link with every eligible princess in Europe, celebrated his 43rd birthday here today in "splendid happiness" with the woman of his choice—his bride of a few weeks.

Far from his native land, over which he reigned for less than a year, observance of the day was in sharp contrast to the pageantry and fanfare that marked the celebration in London 12 months ago.

Today no special celebration had been planned, although the Duchess, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield, is understood to have arranged a quiet private party to mark the day. But as on previous birthdays, the former King received many messages of congratulation from friends and admirers.

How You May Get Rid of Those Painful Boils

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

When boils start to break out it is an evidence the blood is clogged up with impurities and requires to be thoroughly purified by a good blood medicine.

We believe there is no better blood cleansing medicine than Burdock Blood Bitters. It helps to remove the foul matter from the blood, and once the blood is purified the boils disappear and your misery at an end. Try it!

clause of the Public School Act. It is worthy of note that the percentage of attendance in the rural schools of Prince Edward Island is lower than that of any province of Canada. Why should this be? We have no more poor people; our schools are not placed too far apart; our winters are not very severe; the health of our children is average. It must be the result of indifference on the part of all concerned, parents, trustees and teachers. Closer co-operation between home and school is needed here.

Home Study Question

The question of having regular hours for home study brought varying answers. Some individual members have attended to this matter, others have no rules and a few think there should be no home work required. In an ungraded school it seems impossible to dispense with home work but very little, if any, should be necessary in the primary grades.

Ninety-five percent of the Institutes that have sent in reports are in favor of establishing fuller courses of agriculture and household science in Prince of Wales College but a few consider it too expensive as the chances of obtaining positions are limited. Under prevailing economic conditions this argument applies to any branch of education. Of the five hundred students who enrolled at Prince of Wales College last September how many failed to pass? And of those who did pass how many will obtain positions as teachers? Would it not be better for them and their parents if the time and money had been spent on training them to be better farmers and home makers?

"Only about two percent are in favor of retaining the present curriculum in grades IX and X and their objection to change is lack of time for more subjects. On the other hand some excellent suggestions for bringing about necessary improvements without interfering with the regular course of studies or adding additional burdens to the already over worked teacher, have been received. Probably the most practical idea is to organize more calf and poultry clubs and in addition to the sewing clubs, have same competent person give a course of simple lessons on home nursing, food values, balanced meals and other practical subjects that girls should know. In regard to the actual school work it might be well to substitute for what we generally term the "higher branches" a more extensive course in English both grammar and literature and to supply supplementary reading from the Library and other sources.

Fifteen Adult Study Clubs

"Fifteen Institutes report having adult study clubs in their communities and three have asked for advice about forming one. Any information required may be obtained from the Adult Education League or if the Institutes intend merely to take up some subject for study at their own meetings they will find a comprehensive list of topics in their hand book. Books on any subject may be obtained from the library.

"Nearly all the branches have applied to the Supervisor's office for papers on the subjects dealt with in the questionnaires. While this is commendable it might be still better if each Institute would try to develop the talents to be found in its own community. The local clergymen, doctors, leading farmers etc., might be pressed into service and demonstrations could be given by many of the members.

"In closing I wish to thank all the Institutes who co-operated with me in supplying material for this report. Evidently the questions were fully discussed and the answers were much the best I ever received."

CANADIANIZATION AND NATIONAL EVENTS

"Another year has passed and again the heart of Canada has been touched by soul-stirring events", Mrs. Ivan Linkletter, convenor of Canadianization and National Events, said in her report.

"Last year the voice of lamentation was heard as our beloved King George V passed away. This year, in keeping with the ever-changing panorama of human life the picture is entirely different. Sadness has given place to rejoicing—such rejoicing as has perhaps never before been known in Great Britain and her colonies. A momentous crisis has passed. A tidal wave of sinister portent has been surmounted, and the Empire again rides on in even greater majesty and security than before, conscious of the approval of the King of Kings and of the loyal support of her colonies, among which our Canada stands out pre-eminent.

"We who listened to the reverent voice of King George VI in the Coronation ceremonies, and heard the thunder of applause that greeted him and his family, as they appeared on the balcony of Buckingham Palace, cannot doubt that we have for a King one who deservingly commands the love and respect of his people. What a thrill it gave us to hear the earnest voices from the British possessions in the far regions of the earth, as they fervently said "God Save the King'. We realized as perhaps never before that we are a part of a powerful and far-reaching Empire, the mightiest that this world has yet known, and we feel that again the unseen link between us and the other millions of which the British Nation is made up has been more firmly welded, even as in the great abdication crisis when the colonies had stood shoulder to shoulder for righteousness and the high standard of the Empire.

Questionnaires Bring Ideas

Our Women's Institutes, in their questionnaries on Canadianization and National Events, have brought out many excellent ideas along this line. Seventy-five per cent of those sending in questionnaires agree that the great event of this history-making year has been the abdication of Edward and the consequent coronation of George VI. Several feel that the pilgrimage to Vimy and the unveiling of the monument were of supreme importance, as this recalled to our minds the horrors of the Great War and urged us on to work for peace. Others think that the exchange of visits between Premier King and President Roosevelt means a great deal to Canada because it shows the friendly relations between us and our nearest neighbor. Some think the war in Spain of greatest moment, because it might have far-reaching consequences destructive to world peace. One questionnaire called attention to the fact that this year would be memorable as having had three Kings ruling over Great Britain.

"Quite an interest has been taken by the Institutes in the work of Canadian artists. Articles have been read and roll calls made use of bearing on this subject. The paintings of Robert Harris, the monument at Vimy Ridge, modelled by Walter S. Allward, the work of Mary Allison Doull and many others have been mentioned in the questionnaires. Mrs. Creelman's radio talks have been much enjoyed.

"Some new roll calls used are: "Canadian Women of Note"; "A Motto for Canada"; "Injuries of Cigarette Smoking", and "Countries Canada Trades With".

Ninety-One Slogans Received

"Several Institutes sent in the same slogan, and some sent more than one. Altogether ninety-one were received. I would like to mention a great many of these excellent mottoes, but my time is limited. Here are a few of them: 'Serve God and uphold righteousness'. The writer of this slogan says, 'If the mothers and fathers of this generation would take the above line for their motto and bring up their families according to it, much of the crime and vice now in the world would vanish in the generations to come, and Canada would be a land where peace and good-will abound'. Several Institutes sent in 'Canada for Canadians'. One of these said, 'We must not encourage the wholesale immigration of new settlers, but should be first satisfied that these have the qualities we need for good citizenship. We do need more consumers for our agricultural products and we need more people to make use of our great railway system, but nothing is to be gained by admitting persons who may become a burden or even a menace to the nation'.

"Other good slogans were: 'Canada's destiny depends upon the character of its people', 'Fear God, Honor the King', 'Canada dry from coast to coast', 'In God we trust', 'Christianize and Canadianize Canada', 'Liberty and Justice for all', 'Canadians for Canada, Canada for world peace, and the world for the Prince of Peace', 'Retain political and religious freedom', 'Christian youth of Canada, build a new world', 'Make Canada a land to love'.

"In Plymouth, England, an inscription on all the trams and many other places that belong to the authorities, at once catches the stranger's eye. It is this: 'Turris fortissima nomen domini', which is the Latin for, 'The strongest tower is the name Jehovah'. This is the motto of Plymouth, the town that has less crime and drunkenness than any other in England.

"If we Canadian women can succeed in weaving some of these slogans into our lives, and the lives of our children, then Canada will begin to be 'a land to love' and we will help answer the prayer of John Masefield, Poet Laureate, for the reign of King George VI.

"O God, the ruler over earth and sea,
Grant us Thy guidance in the reign to be;
Make wise the councils of the men who sway
The British here, the Britains far away;
And grant us all, that every rightness willed
In this beginning reign may be fulfilled".

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Archbishop Critical Of Dean's Remarks

LONDON, June 23—(CP Cable) The Archbishop of Canterbury addressing the Church of England assembly today, expressed regret that the Dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, "should have brought into the arena of acute political controversy the names of the Cathedral Church of Canterbury with the special world-wide associations which surround that name."

The Archbishop referred to the Dean's support of the Spanish government in the civil war and explained he had "no responsibility for some recent actions and opinions of the Dean of Canterbury, and even if I wished to do so I have equally of course in law no power whatever to remove the Dean from his office by reason of such actions and opinions."

Earlier in the session the question of German church matters was raised by the Bishop of Chicester, Rt. Rev. George Bell, and the Bishop of Gloucester, Rt. Rev. Arthur Headlam.

The Bishop of Gloucester asked for recognition that "the great majority of people in Germany who accept national socialism" believe "it represents a strong spiritual influence . . . and may be looked upon as a real representation of Christianity."

The statement was sharply criticized by the Bishop of Chichester who declared it "most misleading and unjust."

"If we were to make an appeal to Hitler," he said, "I would say to him that we in the churches of England want friendship with Germany and we want to make amends for the injustice Germany suffered under the Versailles Treaty.

"But you (Hitler) are making our position impossible by your treatment of Jews and non-Aryan Christians. We appeal to you not to use your powerful might to oppress and persecute those who are much weaker than yourself."

ditions bordering on anarchy began to prevail. Canada was also a centre of discontent. The bitterness engendered by the rebellion of 1837 still remained. "The fires of insurrection had been put out, but the ashes were still hot."

Worst of all, far more distressing, and fraught with almost revolutionary dangers were the conditions at home in Britain. They furnished a fitting introduction to the "hungry forties." "The winter of 1841-42 was one of the worst in an industrial and economic sense through which this country has ever passed." The facts amply justify this conclusion. Food prices were high, wages unbelievably low unemployment widespread in country, village, town and city. A succession of bad harvests combined with the corn laws made bread very dear —10d to 1/2d being paid for the quartern loaf. In the factory towns and cities of Lancashire and in the industrial centres of Yorkshire tens of thousands of workers earned less than a shilling a week. "In Leeds there were 20,000 persons whose average earnings were under 1/-, and in Stockport many people earned less than 10d." Living conditions were appalling. Trade was depressed. Agriculture did not pay. Artisans could not get work. The mass of the people could not get sufficient food. Deaths from starvation occurred in several towns and cities. The government could not give any direct assistance because the necessary legislative and social machinery did not exist. Moreover the national revenues were falling; deficits were increasing; the treasury was well nigh empty.

The midnight hour, the darkest hour
That human grief may know,
Sends forth its hurried summons
Asks us to come—we go.

We know not when the bell may toll,
We know not where the blow may fall,
We only know that we must go
In answer to the call.

Perhaps a friend—perhaps unknown—
'Tis fate that turns the wheel—
The tangled skein of human life
Winds slowly on the reel.

And we! We're the undertakers,
"Cold-blooded" you'll hear them say,
"Trained to the shock and chill of death,

Trained—that's what they call it
How little they know the rest—
We're human, and know the sorrow
That throbs in the aching breast.
