"How can there be peace, as the President said recently, if the reign of law is to be replaced by the recurrent sanctification of sheer force; if national policies adopt as a deliberate instrument the dispersion all over the world of millions of helpless and persecuted wanderers with no place to lay their heads; if men and women are not free to think their own thoughts, to express their own feelings, to worship God?"

Welles said this government was giving constant and increasing attention to a broad program of Inter-American cooperation.

"On this continent," he said, "we have had an exceptional opportunity to establish an order based upon justice and law.

"Permanent peace will come only when nations observe the sanctity of the pledged word, when they refrain from intervention in the internal affairs of other countries, when they settle their disputes by peaceful means, when they make necessary adjustments and revisions of treaties and agreements in a spirit of equity, rather than by the use of force or the threat of force, and when all nations respect the just rights of others in the same measure in which they expect their own just rights to be observed."

Warns Japan Will Retaliate

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

TOKYO, Nov. 6—The newspaper Kokumin, considered to be the organ of the army and nationalistic elements, warned today that Japan would "take retaliatory measures" if the United States attempted to force her to continue recognizing the Nine-Power Treaty.

The newspaper scoffed at the declaration of Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, last Friday in Washington that the United States' attitude in the Far East was based on existing treaties and remained unchanged.

Kokumin belittled Hull's declaration as designed for home consumption and declared that British machinations were working behind the scenes.

The newspaper asserted any United States economic reprisals against Japan's assertion of economic and political sway in the Orient would bring disaster to the "Roosevelt regime."

Waite will become the bride of Constable Percy L. Keyes, of the R. C. M. P. at Montague, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E Keyes, Vancouver. B. C., Rev. B. C. Salter will perform the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends.

Mrs. James Millman, a friend of the bride, will play the wedding music.

The bride who will be given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Millar Waite, will wear a charming dress of Burgundy silk velvet in street length, an off the face hat in the same shade and matching accessories. Her bouquet will be of Talisman roses.

Rare Eclipse

ow while the sun is still visible.

This is seemingly impossible because there can be eclipse of the moon only when the earth is directly between sun and moon. It is not between when both orbs are above the horizon.

The explanation is refraction—that is bending of light in the earth's atmosphere. Folks in the east will be looking at the moon before it actually is above the eastern horizon, and at the sun after it is really below western horizon.

It is like being on top of a mountain and looking downhill on both sides at objects hidden from each other in a direct line by the mountain.

The moon will appear to rise at 5:43 P. M. AST and the sun will appear to set seven minutes later. The moon will pass into total eclipse at 5:45, or five minutes before the sun appears to set.

The eclipsed moon will be clearly visible, probably a pastel color, astronomers predict, because of the twilight. This unusual eclipse coloring is expected to be seen all the way across through the central standard time zone.

Times of eclipse phases, Atlantic standard, are: Rises in partial eclipse 5:43 P. M. total begins 5.45; total ends 7.07; earth's shadow passes off face of moon 8:12; penumbra, or light earth shadow, passes off moon at 9:14. These times are from the American Museum of Natural History.

Golden Wedding Celebration

A most pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Brown, Graham's Road, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 26th, it being the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. This was an occasion of more than ordinary interest and their spacious home was filled with guests including many friends and neighbors who came to tender their congratulations to this worthy couple who were fortunate enough to have their family all present on this occasion, with the exception of one daughter, Mrs. Loren Alfred who is now residing in California and was unable to be present.

When all the guests had arrived Mr. Cameron MacGregor was asked to preside and in a few well-chosen remarks explained the nature of the gathering and tendered his sincere congratulations.

Master Donald Buntain, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Brown read an address on behalf of the members of the family and presented them with a purse of money and the little granddaughter, Edythe McKay presented Mrs. Brown with a beautiful boquet of roses. Mr. Angus Green then read an appropriate address on behalf of the guests and Mr. George McKay made the presentation of a well filled purse.

Mr. Brown on behalf of Mrs. Brown and himself thanked all for their expression of kindness and good will on this occasion. All joined heartily in singing "For They are Jolly Good fellows."

Rev. Mr. Deltor and several others who were present made nice complimentary remarks extolling the good qualities of Mr. and Mrs. Brown. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and a sing song of old favorities. Splendid instrumental music was furnished by Mr. Harry Marks, Mr. John MacGregor with Mrs. Found and Miss Sellar as accompanists. Lunch was then served and all were treated to bride and groom's cake and all enjoyed an hour of social chat till a late hour when the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought this pleasant gathering to a close.

Below are the addresses:

Dear Mother and Father—Words cannot express our happiness in having you with us all these years.

Our memories of your tender care and loving kindness to us all are many.

We hope and pray that God will give you health, and you will be spared to us many happy years to come.

We wish you to accept this gift as a token of our love and appreciation of your goodness to us.

Lovingly — The Family

Graham's Road, Oct. 26th

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Brown —On the approaching fiftieth anniversary of your wedding day, your neighbors and friends have gathered in your home here tonight to assist you in celebrating that event. An event not too many have the privilege to celebrate. We all realize that in fifty years of married life you have had many anxious hours and burdens to bear, but by the youthful appearance on your faces you have not allowed those burdens to crush you, but have borne them together testifying to the community in which you live that you have been equally yoked together. We wish also to say that it has always been pleasant for neighbor or friend to spend an evening in your home in social chat. And in the community in which you have lived you each have taken an active part both in church and community life.

And now our attention is drawn to the fact of the pleasure it must give you to know that your family of which the majority are settled in homes near you. And now in the face of what you have been in these fifty years of wedded life, we ask you to accept from your friends this gift as a token of our appreciation. And we trust that you each be spared to celebrate many more years of married life, and when the last celebration comes in this life may you each be guests at that great marriage supper of the Lamb to live and reign with Him for evermore.

Signer on behalf of your neighbors and friends.

HUNGARIANS HAIL HORTHY AS LIBERATOR

Formal Possession Of Hungary's Share Of Dismembered Czechoslovakie Taken.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 6—(AP)—Hungary's Regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, formally took possession today of Hungary's share of dismembered Czechoslovakia.

Riding a white horse through a cold drizzle, he crossed the Danube by bridge into Komarom at the head of infantry, artillery and cavalry regiments and tank units.

Today was the second day in the progressive occupation of 4,875 square miles of former Hungarian territory which went to Czechoslovakia at the end of the Great War and now goes back to Hungary by decision of Italo-German arbitrators.

Occupation of the zone, which amounts to one-fifth of the land Czechoslovakia acquired from Hungary 20 years ago, is to be completed by Thursday.

WILD REJOICING

Hungarians on both sides of the old border shouted and sang that they were witnessing Hungary's resurrection.

Admiral Horthy was hailed as a liberator and there even were some enthusiasts who were hailing him as king.

But agitation to persuade him to take the old crown of St. Stephen had not reached the concrete stage and there was no official hint that there was more than patriotic excitement back of the desire to have the vacant Hungarian Throne reoccupied.

Once across the bridge, responding to words of welcome, the 70-year-old Regent said:

"I bring to our homecoming, brothers, the love of all Hungary.

"In a city so rich with Hungarian tradition I can do no more than thank you for the faith and patience with which you have waited this day. I myself never ceased to believe with fanatic zeal that this day of victories would come to us."

There was another touch of ceremony at Esztergom, to the east, where Hapsburg Archduke Josef, Great War Army commander, reviewed the regiment which bears his name.

Meanwhile, revisionist sentiment increased in Budapest. Crowds in Liberty Square shouted demands for annexation of Rumanian Transylvania and the Slovak cities of Bratislava and Nitra, which belonged to Hungary before the Great War settlements.

analagous; both padlock places in which articles are sold in defiance of the provincial legislation. Both wreak the same hardship on the offenders; both accomplish the same thing. The padlock law has been in force for years in Prince Edward Island and why, oh, why did not the protagonists of "liberty" take up the cudgels on behalf of the bootlegger, who must, following the logic of our friends, be deprived of some form of freedom? Why, oh why are protests not voiced, or motions of censure passed, because now, it is reported, the padlock law is being enforced rigourously in our own western capital? Where, oh where are the St. Georges to slay the dragon of "incipient dictatorship?" It's a funny thing we don't hear a peep out of them. Is it a case of whose ox is gored or that the liquor padlock law is without the benefit of elaborate Communist propaganda that can disguise the issue and play upon the emotions of those whom it can use for its own selfish end, the enthronement of Communism, the dictatorship of the proletariat.

If one law is wrong the other is wrong, so let us be consistent.
