

Situation Tense In Newfoundland General Election

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 27.—With the general elections taking place next Monday, the political situation in Newfoundland has become tense. Sir Richard Squires, Opposition leader, contesting the Humber district, has toured the west coast and part of Conception Bay and is concluding a canvass of his own constituency. Premier F. C. Alder, leader of the United Newfoundland party, who was nominated in St. John's East, is carrying the fight into Sir Richard's stronghold on the Humber.

A feature of the campaign in the absence of the usual manifesto from the opposition is a phonograph record of a speech delivered by Sir Richard, promising the establishment of new industries. The record is played at all meetings of the party.

The campaign is also different from previous contests in that women now have the right to cast a vote. The number of male and female voters is about equal.

The final results of Monday's polling may not be available until several days later, owing to the distances between polling booths and the time necessary to collect ballot boxes.

Pilgrims Capture Seven Bandits

(By British United Press)
ROME, Oct. 24.—Seven Neapolitan highway robbers have been caught red-handed while holding up the cashier of the Castellamare ironworks and relieving him of $27,000, the weekly wages of his firm.

Every week the cashier carried the money to the bank to the works, a distance of about two miles, during the slack hours of the day. Neapolitan summers are hot, and no one ventures out of doors between 1 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Carrying money in a closed cab is therefore considered quite safe, and the seven highwaymen felt convinced that it would be equally safe to rob the cashier.

They parked the car in a shady corner of the road, waited for the cashier's car to pass, and merely asked him to hand over his money. The cashier and the cabman showed no fight.

Suddenly one of the robbers signalled the approach of a motor-car, but his companions were reassured when they saw that the occupants were women with rosary beads round their necks and holy images pinned in their clothes, a sign that they were on a pilgrimage to the nearby church of the Madonna di Montevergine.

Just as the pilgrims' car passed by the highwaymen were astounded to see the peasant women jump out to disarm their robbers, and the heavy service revolver. The seven highway robbers had not recovered from their surprise before they found themselves handcuffed.

It took some time for the Carabinieri disguised as peasant women to disarm the robbers and get into their uniforms, but no time was lost in escorting the seven men to prison.

ABBIES LOSE TO SAINTS

Scoring four touchdowns and three conversions for a total of eighteen points, St. Dunstons University squad easily took Saturday's grid battle from the Abegweits who succeeded in only going over their opponent's line once for three points. The try was not converted.

The weather was anything but favorable for football, a strong northeast wind fanning the field with intermittent showers of rain and hail during the early part of the game, made the going very slippery and fast ball handling was out of the question.

The Abegweits were short two players Saturday and were loaned Cass and McGillivray of Saint Dunstons who played a hard game on the forward and half line respectively.

W. J. McDonald handled the game very satisfactorily.

CONGRATULATIONS—Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Earle Adams, nee Ada May Paynter, of Sea View on the arrival of a bouncing baby boy on October 25th.

FUNERAL TOMORROW—The funeral of the late Hon. John Agnew takes place tomorrow, Tuesday afternoon, leaving his late residence Villa Street at 1.40, service in St. James Church at 2 p. m. Interment: People's Cemetery.

LADY FAINTS—Some excitement was caused Saturday night about 9 o'clock on Queen Street when a lady was seen to fall heavily to the sidewalk in front of the Bourke-Windsor garage. She was carried into the garage office where medical aid was summoned. The lady, it appears, took a weak turn but was soon resuscitated and later driven to her home.

FORCED TO TURN BACK—Going on the roads yesterday was anything but pleasant for motorists. A number of cars left town in the morning for various destinations but did not succeed in getting any great distance from the town. The recent sleet of snow made the roads so greasy that, even with chains, automobiles were forced to move at a snail's pace. One chap going at a fairly moderate pace turned completely around finally ending up in the embankment. Luckily there was nobody hurt.

GUEST OF HONOR

(Special to The Guardian)
MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—Lady Edw. Spence, of Charlottetown, British Red Cross worker, was guest of honor today at a reception held by members of the various local women's service units. The distinguished visitor expressed pleasure at the way in which the women of Canada have organized for social service.

The clash of auras will be frightful. There will be a regular rainbow of psychic colour in court.

More, the whole of the Dictionary of National Biography will be called up and incidentally there will be (unauthorized) interventions from several deceased criminals to say that they had nothing whatever to do with such a clumsy job. Amateur clairvoyants will also get busy, and there will be a prospect of the agency of the Maritime Board of Trade, representative as it is of every section. There is also the matter of closer co-operation between the farmers and the business men of the cities. Some progress has been made along this line in each province, but much more may and should be done along the line. Co-operation means greater prosperity for the farming community, which in turn brings more business to the urban centres. Old prejudices are being broken and the process must continue if great and lasting prosperity is to be attained.

AT ST. DUNSTONS CATHEDRAL—The Feast of "Christ King" was celebrated yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Dunstons' Cathedral with solemn high mass. Rev. J. A. McIntyre preached a forceful and eloquent sermon.

PERSONALS
Messrs Clarence Harris and Syd. Wolfe were among the commercial men East this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Snelgrove, of Charlottetown, have returned home after attending the Milton-Snelgrove nuptials.

Mr. MacDonald was a man of strong convictions both in church and state. He was a member of St. Columba Roman Catholic Church of King's County and in this section of the country he was highly respected. Blessed with a stalwart figure, coupled with a warm nature and generous disposition, his hearty handshake and genial smile will be missed in city and country.

In 1876 Mr. MacDonald married Miss Teresa MacLean, a daughter of Alan and Flora (MacDonald) MacLean of East Point. One son survives, namely, Ronald, now living in Montreal.

The Late Mr. Lauchlin MacDonald

The death occurred in the Sacred Heart Home in Charlottetown on Sunday morning of Mr. Lauchlin MacDonald, an outstanding figure in the agricultural and political life of the Province during the past generation. The late Mr. MacDonald, who had turned the fourscore milestone, passed peacefully away after an illness of several months. He was born on March 25th, 1844, on the farm at Prospect Hill, East Point, where he lived all his life. He was a successful farmer and merchant, and was highly esteemed by a host of friends and acquaintances.

In politics the late Mr. MacDonald was a consistent supporter of the Liberal party. In 1873 he ran his first election against the late Manuel MacEachern and was defeated by a small majority. Again in 1875, he contested the First District against Lawrence Kickham and was elected by over five hundred majority, and he supported Hon. L. H. Davies, then leader of the Liberal party, which was in opposition in the House. In 1876, at the general elections, he was returned by acclamation and in 1879 was again successful. He remained a member of the House till 1892 when he temporarily retired with the defeat of the Davies' government. In 1908, in conjunction with Mr. Frank R. Hertz, now Governor of this Province, he essayed again to represent the district and was returned. In 1915, he again was nominated but was defeated, and this ended his career as a representative. During his political career he was a member of the government without portfolio for several years, and accomplished much effective work in advancing the interests of the locality in which he resided.

Mr. MacDonald was also a provincial director of the Prince Edward Island Dairy Association and was returned in 1915, as President of the Cheese Board of Prince Edward Island, which accomplished a great deal in developing this industry. He was President of the Maritime Board of Trade, representative as it is of every section. There is also the matter of closer co-operation between the farmers and the business men of the cities. Some progress has been made along this line in each province, but much more may and should be done along the line. Co-operation means greater prosperity for the farming community, which in turn brings more business to the urban centres. Old prejudices are being broken and the process must continue if great and lasting prosperity is to be attained.

Islander is Now Aerial Surveys Mgr.

The following article from the Ottawa Journal has reference to the work of Mr. Harold L. Sellar, formerly of P. E. Island, whose friends here will be interested to hear of his recent appointment as manager of the Aerial Surveys Division of the International Airways:

"What is believed to be the fastest piece of aerial photographic work ever done in Canada, home of this type of picture-making, has just been completed by International Airways of Canada, Limited, whose Aerial Surveys Division is located in the Journal Building.

"Working on an order given in Toronto on Sunday, and commencing on Tuesday morning, two officers of the Aerial Survey Division of this big Canadian corporation made a complete mosaic of aerial photographs of a long strip of land to the northeast of Peterboro, in a space of only two weeks.

"Yesterday in the office of H. L. Sellar, manager of the International Airways Division, the Journal found desks littered with photographs of all shapes and sizes, and of every conceivable object from Niagara Falls in small industrial plants, and even in one case, of a farm.

"On the morning service Mr. Rodger gave an exposition of the 4th and fifth chapters of the book of Revelation. The open door of Heaven and what John saw there. Jesus Christ was the centre of its glory and the redeemed of every nation sang the praises of Him who had redeemed them by His blood.

At the evening service his theme was "The Relation of the Christian to the World and the Things of the World" Both sermons were greatly enjoyed by two large congregations.

At the morning service the choir rendered the anthem "How Long Will Thou forget me" by Pfleger. Mrs. Jas. MacMillan taking the alto solo. The mixed quartette was sung by Mrs. McLean, Mrs. (Dr.) Rodger, and Messrs. Sutherland and Nicholson. In the evening the anthem was Stainer's "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land," bass and tenors being taken by Messrs. M. McKinnon and J. McLeod, the mixed quartette by Miss G. Farquharson, Mrs. W. Brown, Messrs. J. McLeod and H. McDonald.

At the close of the evening service Miss Hornby, violinist and Professor Thompson assisted by Zion Male Quartette gave a recital which was greatly appreciated by a large audience.

The talented artists were never heard to better advantage and Charlottetown should be proud of and support liberally those who help to make life easier and more joyous by their musical talents.

What Is Wrong?

into vogue, as a means by which a man might pass in his wealth to his heirs, now limited in number and made legitimate by statute.

So the morganic family, they tell us, took its origin, not from the precepts of God, but from the desire to pass on wealth.

He then proceeded to criticize the socialistic aspirations after being—the only creature with free will, endowed with the power to go up or down; to do good or evil. Therefore, the speaker believed, man required checks and restraints placed on him by the laws of God.

Mr. Goldstein then went on to state that, but for the morganic family, mankind would never have made the progress towards civilization which it has.

As to the learned men who spread these doctrines, they scout the idea that God has anything to do with the matter, and this intelligence are so stupefied with their animalistic theories that they do not hesitate to spread their detestable theories among children.

The Russells and Judge Lindsay

He then went on to speak of what he termed the intellectual peculiarity of Bertrand Russell, who believed that children should be taught birth control, and of Madame Russell who thought it was all right for people to have pre-marital relations. Also they declared that an occasional experience of a husband with a woman, other than his wife, was a good thing, as it tended to a decrease in the rows and disagreements of marital life.

But the Knights of Columbus held that God was the author of family life; that it was wicked for a man even to look upon a woman with lust, and that the remedy against these evil desires of the flesh was to partake, at the rail of the Altar, of the Bread of Angels. Truly, as Mrs. Russell said there are two points of view. But one is as he hells, the other as high as heaven.

The speaker next went on to castigate the teaching of ex-Judge Lindsay, well known advocate of companionate marriage and the dissemination of knowledge in birth control among the young of the land. These people (Russell and Lindsay) were more at home where they have legalized birth control, legalized divorce, legalized companionate marriage, etc. And the result of this was, the speaker said, sovietized Moscow, 53 couples were divorced, who had only been married one day!

And, worse, they have even legalized abortion, so that thousands of unborn children are murdered forcibly by abortionist practitioners. But all this teaching was nothing new. It was to be found in the books of Marx, Kantsky, and other socialist writers.

However, to come nearer home, in the speaker's own country, the United States, he had to tell with shame that divorces were increasing at a greater rate than in England. This should be a matter for some concern to Canadians who were subjected to a flood of prurient literature from the United States.

He hoped the day would never come when Canada so let down her bars as to permit the divorce rate to come anywhere near the disgraceful divorce rate in the United States—a country which had the highest divorce rate of any in the world save Soviet Russia.

And the remedies? The radicals say the high divorce rate is due to economic pressure on the average man. A living wage any man is entitled to, it is true—but it is not this that is at the seat of the trouble. He emphatically disagreed with the old adage that when poverty comes in at the door, love flies out at the window. Economics was not the cause of divorce. But irreligion was.

As for wealth it brings pride and conceit, and let them say what they want to about the Bible, it still remains true that it is easier for a camel to get through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to get into the Kingdom of Heaven. Furthermore, if this economic theory were true, the United States ought to be more free from divorce than almost any country in the world.

Mr. Goldstein then outlined several amusing theories of the cases of divorce—coffee drinking, meat eating and the loss of collar buttons.

The fact is, quarrels take place in every home. In a christian home they have a quarrel—and they live peaceably together until they have another. But with the intelligent they have a quarrel and then it is: "John, we are incompatible; let us separate."

Socialism vs. Catholicism

Mr. Goldstein then described his early experiences when he was a child. Potatoes were in good demand. New Brunswick Green Mountains sold at 70c loose, cobbler at 65c, loose, Prince Edward Island Green Mountains at 85c per ninety pound bag, cobbler 75c per ninety pound bag, ex-truck.

Mr. Justice Arsenault scolded the vote of thanks in some well phrased words, which was unanimously adopted and extended to the speaker by the chairman. The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Small metal bridges have been invented by two Utah men to lift front wheels of parked automobiles so they will not block the flow of water in gutters.

Fuel economy is claimed for fireplace grate having curved pipes that draw cool air from the floor of a room and pass it over the burning coal to be heated.

THE MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—Extreme dullness marked the foreign trade in Canadian grain here on Saturday owing to the fact that outside bids were below local exporters' views. A feature of the local cash grain market was the easier feeling that developed in the market for Canadian western oats and prices were reduced one cent per bushel. On the other hand the market for wheat was stronger and values were marked up one cent per bushel. Manitoba No. 6 wheat sold at 99c and feed wheat at 95c per bushel. The trade in spring and winter wheat flour continued of a limited character and values were unchanged. The demand for all lines of millfeed was again good and values were well maintained. Standard grades of rolled oats were unchanged under a good inquiry. The butter market was moderately active and firm. Receipts Saturday were 1,031 packages. Owing to the continued limited demand from all sources the undertone to the cheese market was again weak. Receipts were 7,043 boxes. An active trade was done in all grades of fresh and storage eggs and values were well maintained. Receipts were 315 cases. Prices for choice white handpicked beans dropped twenty five cents per bushel on Saturday to
