E. Larter And Whitlock Combine To Give Locals 7-5 Win Over Ramblers

SYDNEY MINES, N. S., Oct. 14 (CP)—Charlottetown All Stars shelled up a 7-5 victory here today over Sydney Mines Ramblers in the opening game of the Maritime intermediate baseball finals. Second game will be played tomorrow.

Faced by Buck Whitlock, who doubled and a triple, Charlottetown came from behind to tie the score in the fourth and push across the game winning single runs in the seventh and eighth.

A brilliant relief job by Elmer Larter carried them through the latter innings with Sydney Mines held in check after they had managed all five runs off McAleer in the first three innings.

Larter took over in the third and although two men on base managed to score he allowed only three hits the rest of the way. The relief hurler had his control down pat and didn't give up a free pass. Gordie Day did the hurrying for Ramblers and was touched for seven hits while walking two.

Besides Whitlock other Charlottetown hitters were Jack Gallant and Elmer Rice with two each.

Score by Innings:
Charlottetown 201 200 110 7 7 4
Sydney Mines 02 000 000 5 5 6
McAleer, Larter (3) and V. Larter, G. Day and Campbell.

Bearcats Win Nova Scotia Title

TRURO, N.S., Oct. 14 (CP)—Highly rated from the opening of the season, Truro Bearcats captured the Nova Scotia senior baseball championship here Saturday when they unleashed a 15-game attack to smother Middleton Cardinals in their best-of-five series.

Following their title triumph, Bearcats announced they would not continue in quest of the Maritime crown because some of the players were not available for further competition.

A similar decision had come from Saint John, N.B. where it was reported that the final game would be held due to the lateness of the season.

Manager Clem O'Connor of the New Brunswick champions, Saint John St. Peter's, said the final had been called off under mutual agreement, adding that a Maritime series at this time of the year would have been a more or less "hollow" affair anyway.

Saturday's Bearcat victory was the 18th win of the series for Phil (Skip) Ferguson, slim southpaw from Reservoir, N.S. He has only one loss.

Ferguson set the Cardinals down with seven scattered hits while striking out five and giving up three passes.

Middleton used four hurlers in a vain attempt to stop the Truro barrage which included three-run bursts in the second and sixth and a five-run outburst in the fifth, leaving the outcome in little doubt.

Score by Innings:
Middleton 100 040 000-5 7 4
Truro 120 253 100-15 15 2
Pegglerman, Parent (2) (6) (6) Seaman (6) and Shaull, Devere, Ferguson and Langille.

The winners of the finals in the horsehoop contest were Dr. A. A. Lockhart and Dr. H. E. Clark. Ruth Arsenault gained the highest aggregate of points totalling 8 and D. R. Morrison led the boys with 12 points.

Argonauts Lengthen Lead

HAMILTON, Oct. 14 (CP)—Hard pressed by a surprising Hamilton Tigers team, the champion Toronto Argonauts lengthened their lead today in the Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union lead but the manner of winning provoked a post-game attack on the officials by Hamilton fans.

The last-place Tigers, who served

IN THIS CORNER

Fight fans and there was over 2,000 of them saw a new lighter Saturday night in "Bunny" McCloskey. Not new in the ordinary sense of the word but a younger, more developed into a cool, methodical fighter from the wild-swinging, courageous brawler who beat Weatherly at the Sporting Club on his last appearance here.

Credit for the improved young McCloskey must go to his likeable co-managers Lem Moore and Frank Aves. Both men look after "Bunny" as if he were their very own and Saturday night in the ninth round when "Ace" was edged by a couple of right hands thrown by Chocolate, they literally sweated blood.

Bunny is in good hands, no doubt about that. He showed it plainly by his performance and his boxing game here received a definite boost by the show staged Saturday night.

Next Saturday night McCloskey is to meet Billy Landry for the Maritime middleweight title and according to reports received from the camp of the New Brunswick-born brawler, Bunny really will be in for a very, very tough time of it.

Landry a devastating right hand hitter has been bowling over not only middleweights but heavyweights as well and McCloskey will likely meet his acid test when he comes to blows with the rugged 158-pound brawler now fighting out of Worcester, Mass.

When the men who rule boxing in the United States mean like it or not, in the world, vacated Marty Servo's welterweight title last month, it left the welterweight division, of course, without a title-holder.

Since then they have been trying to make a title match for Ray Robinson, but Tippy Larkin and Beau Jack, among others, want no part of Robinson who long has been called the uncrowned king of the welterweights.

The treatment which was given Robinson was the only thing, in the opinion of most fighting men, which kept him from establishing a legitimate claim to the title a long time ago.

At the time Robinson just didn't happen to want any part of the gang that was making and breaking the so-called champions. His manager figured that Robinson and he could make more money fighting when and where they pleased. They did up to the point where the boxing fathers are wanting to hand him the title on a silver platter but to their dismay, they are finding out that their thumb who is willing to fight him.

Robinson's record speaks for itself. Since turning professional he has been beaten only once in 66 fights. Rugged Jake Lamotta handed him that lone setback by pummeling his way to a 10-round victory at Detroit Olympia. Since then Ray has had his revenge at LaMotta's expense.

Fidel La Barba, United States Olympic flyweight champion, made his pro debut in New York 22 years ago tonight with a brilliant four-round win over Frankie Cracotta. He won the flyweight title the next year and retired undefeated after two years as champion to enter college. He later took a job training movie executives in Hollywood.

ed notice of their revitalized status Saturday by tying the Rough Riders 6-4 at Ottawa, spotted Argos seven unanswered points in the first three quarters.

It was in the last frame, when they finally got a scoring attack under way, that adverse rulings by the officials raised Hamilton protests.

Rouges kicked by Jerry Walsh and Doug Smith put Tigers within a touchdown of Toronto and Dan De Santa, Hamilton's brilliant intercepted a Toronto pass and carried to the Argos 15. Referee Buff Horton ruled a penalty against Hamilton for rushing the passer and rewarded the ball to Toronto on their 40 yard line.

With about three minutes remaining, the crowd of some 7,000 booed every play until the final whistle, then the crowd swarmed on the field after the officials. Police broke up the charge and escorted them to the dressing rooms.

Close Finishes Feature Racing Program At Riverside Yesterday

Featured by close finishes in every class a crowd estimated at around eight hundred witnessed the harness racing meet at Riverside track yesterday with Eva Worthy being the only favorite to come through with a victory as O. U. Volo took the No. One Classified over the favored Bonnie's Boy. Sampson Royal took a straight heat victory in the No. 3 Classified and Squire Gratton was 2 1 1 in winning the Farmer's race. In a running race Clyde Itch was 2 1 1.

In the No. 1 Classified racing fans saw some of the closest racing of the entire season. Lorraine Abbe was a head to the good over O. U. Volo in winning the first heat but in the next two miles the Stead-driven horse reversed the tables, beating Lorraine in the second and then nipping the favored Bonnie's Boy in a driving finish in the third and final mile. Eva Worthy after finishing second to Billie Kalmuck in the first heat of the No. 2 Classified came out to take the next two and race, outstripping the field of five entries to win by an eyelash in battles with Billie Kalmuck.

Sampson Royal was the only straight heat winner of the day as he paced off with the No. 3 Classified over a field of ten starters. Shy Ann furnished the competition in the first two heats to finish about a head behind Sampson with Daisy Budlong capturing the runner-up spot in the final mile.

Clyde Itch in a race off with the favored Black Beauty won the Farmer's running race winning the second and third heats while in the farmer's harness race Squire Gratton was 2 1 1 after George Washington had taken the opening heat.

Starter Rankine McLaine did a fine job getting his fields away with a minimum of scolding.

Cardinals Knot Series With 4-1 Win Over Red Sox

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14 (AP)—For the second time, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, brilliant little St. Louis left-hander, stood Boston Red Sox on their heads here yesterday, and the World Series stretched to the limit of seven games as the Cards clipped three Sox batters for a 4-1 victory.

Brecheen, who shut out Boston with a four-hitter in the second game of the playoff, came back with an almost equally lustrous seven-hitter yesterday and had completed a string of 15 scoreless innings against the American League champs before a triple by Rudy York led to the Sox score in the seventh frame.

The deciding game will be fought Tuesday. Another jammed crowd such as the 35,768 who watched the home town boys rally yesterday was expected to witness the fray. It was the second straight year that the Series had gone the limit, Detroit Tigers having needed all seven to subdue Chicago Cubs a year ago.

Brecheen, in delivering his second classic performance, recovered from a shaky start in the first two innings and went on to win impressively. He struck out six and was never in danger after the Red Sox made four of their seven blows in the opening frames. Thereafter he spaced out three safeties, including a single to Ted Williams in the ninth inning.

Superlative work by the Card infield spared the little pitcher possible embarrassment on several occasions. Three times the Redbirds reeled off classy double plays, including one that wound up the game after Williams had got on.

Cardinal hearts missed a few beats at the outset when Johnny Pech, second Soxer to face Brecheen, raked a single through the right side of the diamond and Dom DiMaggio followed with a blow into left. Brecheen pitched so carefully to Williams and walked him to load the decks. George Mauer, Card right-hander, jumped up and began working in the bullpen as Rudy York stepped up with his menacing war club.

McCloskey And Martin Fight Draw

Coby McCloskey and Lloyd Martin, prospective challengers for the Prince Edward Island light heavyweight crown, fought five stirring rounds to a draw decision at the Summerside Crystal Rink Friday evening. Young McCloskey by dint of cagey boxing and effective counter punching got out in front of his opponent in the first two rounds but Martin came along strong from there in forcing the fight and piling up points on sheer aggressiveness. The third round produced the best fighting; Martin nipped McCloskey with hard rights to the head and the younger brother of the famous "Ace" fought back savagely to close out a round packed with stirring action. Martin forced the fighting throughout the fourth stanza which was marred by too much clinching which the referee had difficulty in breaking up. McCloskey's spirited flurry in the first minute of the last round had Martin back-peddaling but Lloyd recovered to take command again before the bell.

In the semi-final Emmet Gallant (145) of Charlottetown won a close decision from Summerside's Carl Fitzpatrick (147) in three rounds. Carl went down again after nicely outboxing Gallant to take the first round. At the start of the second, two stiff punches to Gallant's mouth caused the visiting boxer to wade savagely into Fitz and the two boys slugged it out toe to toe, until Fitzpatrick went down under a barrage of body blows. Carl started again after another wild exchange of hay-making swings. Gallant floored the Summerside brawler a third time in the last round but Fitzpatrick landed a clean-cut punch before the bell.

Tommy Kelly (146) of Summerside and Frank Gormley (145) of Charlottetown fought a three-round draw. Kelly flicked light lefts into Gormley's face during the opening round keeping his opponent at bay and he floored Gormley with a right in the second round. Gormley caught up to his opponent landing some solid body blows. Kelly's left wasn't getting home with the same effectiveness in the last round and there was much clinching.

Summerside's pride of the boxing ring, Kid Ferguson (125) knocked out George Saunders (125) of Charlottetown in one minute and fifty-one seconds of the first round. Ferguson who is generally leisurely in getting started came out fighting from the opening bell. Saunders, Maine kid and willing mixer, fought back and there was a fierce exchange. It was a right to the head that spelled fins for the visiting boxer.

Ed Savidant (125) of Summerside who is improving with every start took a three-round decision from Hughes Bernard (123) of Charlottetown. Bernard best Savidant in the second round but Savidant stated his opponent throughout and generally got the better of the furious melees staged along the ropes.

The event was staged in connection with the Carnival Week Mur-phy by the local Legion Syd Murphy, light-heavy champ of the Island and Major Wright, judges and George Calbeck, timer.—S.

McCloskey Wins Ten Round Decision Over United States Fighter

Displaying the best form he has ever shown here Bunny McCloskey Saturday night climbed up another rung on the fistic ladder as he punched out an unanimous ten round decision over Kid Chocolate, better known as Billy Lancaster in the main event of the boxing card staged at the Forum.

As a crowd of over 2,000 fans looked on, McCloskey, displaying ring craft and poise, hit his colored opponent with right and left hands almost at will; only the gameness and toughness of the Chocolate Kid held him up and at the final bell the brawler from Boston, Mass., was still throwing punches.

In fact, with McCloskey far ahead on points as they entered the ninth round Chocolate un-learned a couple of hard right hand punches that shook the Ace up; the crowd gasped as they envisioned an upset that had up to that point appeared to be a cut and dried affair. But the superior condition of McCloskey finally paid off; Bunny rallied from the flurry of punches and then came in to earn an even break in the round and then came back in the tenth to outbox and outlast his colored opponent.

The big crowd came to see a good show and they weren't too much disappointed. In McCloskey they saw a cool, methodical fighter that knew every move he was going to make. The wild swinging, free hitting style that marked his earlier fights were conspicuous by their absence Saturday night and McCloskey showed definitely that he is in line for top honors in his division.

Chocolate had a three pound advantage over McCloskey as they climbed into the ring. Coming out for the first round McCloskey started to pile up points with a straight right which Chocolate took late apparently impervious to punishment kept coming back for more and more. The battle continued on the same lines right up to the ninth with McCloskey taking every heat but suddenly in the ninth Chocolate uncoiled a couple of right hands that staggered McCloskey; an upset appeared to be in the making but the winner rallied strongly and in the final heat it was once more all McCloskey.

Chuck Ormon of Halifax, a little gamester every time there was one took a three round technical knockout victory over Beau Jack of Charlottetown in a bristling semi-final. Continually getting in on the heavy opponent Ormon had an edge in the three rounds the fight lasted although Beau Jack did straighten the Halifax boy out a couple of times with a hard hitting right hand. Dan McCormack, referee of all the bouts, stopped the fight as Beau Jack started to bleed profusely from the nose.

And right hand from Charlottetown again displaying the left jab that he is noted for had too much ability for Lloyd Carr of Halifax, winning a unanimous four round decision while Sluenger Gallant was taking a three round decision from Kid Reid in the curtain raiser of the card.

Dr. Scott Is Winner Of Jr. Free-For-All

SUSSEX, N. B., Oct. 14 (CP)—Dr. Scott, Sussex-owned horse, won the Junior Free-For-All in straight heats today at the last harness racing meet of the season here. Two Amherst horses were delayed in arriving, and Peter Brook II finished last in this event after stepping from his truck to the track where entries already were warming up.

Jolly Harvester, from Chatham, took the No. 1 Classified in straight heats. The first two heats of the No. 2 Classified were won by June Henley, a Saint John horse.

Best time of the day was 2:19, except the 2:10—or one second above the track record—in a match race won by McKillo Cash, Moncton, against Rhea Mae, Amherst.
