

A Message To Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

AN EASY WAY TO GAIN 10 TO 30 LBS. OF SOLID, HEALTHY, PERMANENT FLESH.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat, I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Your druggist has Sargol, or can get it from his wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient. Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.

THOUGHTS OF SPRING

This month of April is said to derive its name from the Latin verb aprilio, which signifies to open, because all the buds and blossoms are now opening, and we have arrived at the gates of the flowery year. Reader, if you are yet unawakened, may your heart in accord with the universal awakening of nature, be opened to receive the Lord! Every blossoming flower warns you that it is time to seek the Lord; he not only comes with nature, but let your heart bud and bloom with holy desires. Do you tell me that the warm blood of youth leaps in your veins? Then, I entreat you, give your vigour to the Lord. It was my unspeakable happiness to be called in early youth, and I would fain praise the Lord ever-day for it. Salvation is priceless, for it comes when "it may be" but an early salvation has a double value in it. Young men and maidens, since you may perchance see the Lord, "Ye who feel the first signs of decay, quicken your pace; that hollow cough, that hectic flush, are warnings which you must not trifle with; with you, it is indeed time to seek the Lord. Did I observe a little grey mingled with your once luxurious tresses? Years are stealing on apace, and death is drawing nearer by hasty marches; let each return of spring arouse you to set your house in order. Dear reader, if you are now advanced in life, let me entreat and implore you to delay no longer. There is a day of grace for you now; be thankful for that, but it is a limited season, and grows shorter every time that clock ticks. Here, in this silent chamber, on the first night of another month, I speak to you as best I can by paper and ink, and from my inmost soul, as God's servant, I lay before you this warning, "It is time to seek the Lord." Slight not that word, it may be your last call from destruction, the final syllable from the lip of grace.—Spurgeon.

THE SPANKLESS CHILD.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

One day last week the six-years-old son of a wealthy and respected New Jersey family stabbed his nurse in the abdomen. The parents and the family doctor express regrets. It was, they say, merely an act of petulance. The girl has a private room at the hospital, and plenty of flowers. She may recover. Offhand and without any intimate knowledge of the case, it may be assumed that the precocious stabber is one of the ultramodern brand of babes. He is, probably, one of those who are allowed "to develop their own individuality." He has developed, it may be assumed, with considerable rapidity. His nurse had put him to bed, and when he pattered into the kitchen she ordered him out. The stab from a happy butcher knife was the result of her temerity. She was, doubtless, culpable in having insisted any order at all. Orders tend to check the development of individuality then and there by attempting to inflict capital punishment on the one who stood in his light. Oh, for a thousand good spankings!

The six-year-old marvel of New Jersey should receive one of them—perhaps in vigorous instalments. And many other peevish and unendurable products of the ultraphilosophical psychological school of child rearing should have a few of their souls' sake. In the bad old days, when children were not allowed to develop their own individuality, nurses were not stabbed. Children did not shriek at the mothers, and make life a misery for the community. There were bad boys and girls then as now, but the fact right to be bad, if such is their inclination, and the stabbing of a nurse is merely a negligible incident, not a few of them were molded into passably useful citizenship.

Nowadays the mother who spansks is old-fashioned and rather looked down upon by the advanced thinkers. It seems that children have a perfect right to be bad, if such is their inclination, and the stabbing of a nurse is merely a negligible incident, not a few of them were molded into passably useful citizenship.

A Big Crop is Sure, Certain if You Use Our Unmixed Fertilizers

By using our English Unmixed Fertilizers you are sure of a far larger and better crop. You are sure of getting top prices for your produce and you are positive that the land will be in far better condition for succeeding cultivations. This is not idle claim or mere statement, but is an actual proved fact that has been demonstrated by experienced farmers from every corner of Canada.

Other Island Farmers Have Had Rich Returns by Using Our Fertilizers---You Can, Also

In Alberton a man secured a net profit of $32.24 per acre from hay.

A farmer from Little Harbor secured a net profit $54.40 from potatoes.

A man in Dundas secured a profit of $32.00 per acre from hay.

All the amounts quoted above are over and above profits derived from unfertilized fields.

A farmer in Glenfinnan secured profits of $42.50 from potatoes.

Farming with our English Unmixed Fertilizers is so simple, so profitable that you can't afford to let your land go without these plant foods this year.

KENNETH J. MARTIN, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island. Stipendiary Magistrate for City of Charlottetown

The Authorized Capital is---$25,000.00

The above company is offering for sale $10,000 worth of stock at $25.00 per share. The rest has already been subscribed chiefly by prominent business men in England.

The assets of the company are five pairs of the highest grade Silver Black Foxes and the ranch.

All the foxes in the company's ranch are eligible for registration under the most select Class A. of the Fox Breeders Association, and have been pronounced by experts to be perfect specimens. One pair produced a litter of five last year and another a litter of four, all of which were successfully raised by Mr. Weeks and sold for the highest market figure. The five pairs have already mated and the company expects with average success to pay a dividend of 60 per cent this year. When you consider that the foxes are under the personal supervision of Mr. Weeks, a large shareholder in the company, who during the six years experience HAS NEVER LOST A FOX OR NEVER AND A PAIR THAT DID NOT BREED, and also take into consideration the short time before the dividend will be declared you cannot fail to realize what a good opportunity this is for a fox investment.

The ranch consists of a tract of land at North Tryon, covered with a beautiful thick growth of hardwood. It was purchased expressly for the purpose of Mr. Weeks and is an ideal location, being a mile away from the nearest road to which a right of way belongs to the company, thus guarding the foxes against any noise or disturbances. The ranch is the outcome of Mr. Week's years of experience in fox raising. In the centre of the grove of hardwood is most substantially built the wire enclosure; the individual pens, being large and roomy, so as to make it as natural as possible as well as a clean healthy home for the foxes. There is also a commodious keepers lodge in the grove in close proximity to the ranch. An agreement has been entered into with Mr. Weeks that for three years he will act as manager of the ranch, provide all food necessary for the animals all help (including a night and day watchman) medical attendance and repairs for the proper upkeep of the property, for 10 p. c. of the yearly increase.

The above proposition is undoubtedly the most attractive one offering stock carrying a 1914 dividend and a small amount offered should be rapidly taken up, as many inquiries have already been received regarding same. The names in the Directorate ensure a capable business management and a proper safeguarding of the interests of the shareholders. Applications for prospectus and stock should be made to the Secretary-Treasurer. 1723-4-2M6i.
