

A Sallow Skin

is a sign that your liver is out of order, a condition that should receive immediate attention, as it quickly affects the general health and throws the stomach and bowels into disorder. When a sallow skin tells you that your liver is inactive, it

Shows You Need

Beecham's Pills to regulate the bile and clear the system of impurities. A few doses will cause the appetite to improve, the bowels to act naturally, the eyes to lose their dullness, and the skin to resume a healthy hue. As a corrective for the liver, and a general regulator of bodily condition, there is no remedy like

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself. A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief. Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel. $1.25 at your druggist's.

Red Riding Hood Paper Dolls for All Little Folks

WHAT BIG EARS!

"Grandmother! What big ears you have!" exclaimed little Red Ridinghood as she looked down at the bed where she thought her poor sick grandmother was lying. She did not guess that the big gray wolf had swallowed the grandmother and had taken her place in the bed. "The better to hear you with," answered the wolf in a gruff voice. Little Red Ridinghood leaned closer. She felt funny little chills running down her spine. She was becoming more and more frightened. "Why, grandmother, what big eyes you have!" she cried in terror. "The better to see you with," answered the wolf and he grinned up at her, showing all his big teeth. (Here's the blue cap and nightgown which the wolf found to wear in bed. Color them and put them on him. Now see what happens to little Red Ridinghood tomorrow.) (Copyright, 1925 Associated Editors, Inc.)

In Every Corner Of All Canada

MEN AND WOMEN PUT THEIR FAITH IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

They have proved their value by the relief they have given for over thirty-five years and have friends everywhere.

Marieville, Que., Feb. 6.—(Special) Every corner of Canada holds at least one person who swears by Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have been relieving kidney troubles all over this vast Dominion for more than thirty-five years. They are specialists. They relieve only kidney trouble and those disease that spring from disordered kidneys. That's why they grow more popular every day. Listen to what James T. Cavignon says about them. "It gives me pleasure to send you this certificate. I was so weak I often had to stay in bed. I was nervous and only got a little sleep at nights. My doctor had told me this weakness was bringing on consumption. A few boxes of your marvellous Dodd's Kidney Pills sufficed for me to completely recover my health. "Dodd's Kidney Pills purify the blood and pure blood carried to all parts of the body means new health and increased energy all over the body."

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared. You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it. You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and as soon as you will notice the phlegm thin out, and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Night of the Wedding

By C. N. and A.M. WILLIAMSON
Authors of "The Lightning Conductor" and other fascinating romances of mystery and love
Copyright 1924, by Public Ledger Company

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

EVYLYN HASTE, beautiful and rich girl, who sits down at the piano on her wedding night—and mysteriously disappears.
KENNEDY HASTE, her husband who suspects complicity on the part of his old war comrade.
SIR RAWDON WELLS, an amateur scientist, who has insisted on lending the couple Hidden Hall Court, his gloomy and mysterious estate, for their honeymoon, and who is found after the disappearance in a secret chamber.
PANDORA, a gipsy-like girl, adopted sister of Kennedy and secretly in love with Wells.
MISS GILLET, an ex-war nurse, who fell in love with Haste in a hospital, and who is an intense person.
DAGON, youthful Scotland Yard detective, who has done glorified "spy work" in the war. He is of vivid Latin temperament, though Canadian in training.

"I Couldn't Have Taken Revenge"

"Allow me!" he said politely, and glanced from the snapshots and beautiful smiling Evie Carroll in her wedding dress, to Sir Rawdon's face.
Wells' dark skin had flushed and, seeing the detective's eyes on him, he appeared to hesitate whether he should let the little incident pass in silence or make some explanation. After an instant he decided on the latter course.
"These photographs were taken yesterday at the wedding reception of Captain and Mrs. Haste by my cousin Paolo Magnani," he said. "I—that is—I mentioned to him I was coming down here last evening, and suppose as he addressed this letter to me at the Court, he must have forgotten that I didn't expect to stop the night. If all had been well, I should have been on my way to New York by this time. But actor-folk never remember other people's engagements and seldom their own!"
"Now, why is Wells annoyed with himself for telling me about his cousin sending the letter here, and why did he stumble about so, trying to get out of the scrape the best way he could?" pondered Dagon.
"I've often seen your cousin on the screen," the detective said aloud. "I have heard him called the handsomest man star, as well as one of the best romantic actors, in the moving-picture world."
He might have added, "But I didn't know till now that you two were cousins." Instead, however, he said: "I see he's a good photographer."
"Yes, he's a keen amateur photographer," the other agreed, apparently surprised that the detective should pursue a subject which seemed to hold no interest for him. "Paolo asked permission to do these yesterday. That smile on the bride's face looks tragic now—as things are. I suppose you've seen many portraits of—Miss Carroll? She was much photographed for newspapers."
"I knew her slightly. Dagon said Wells turned an astonished glance upon him, and the detective quietly repeated the information he had given Anson—how, while trying to "spot" a thief he had posed as a footman in Mrs. Payntor's New York house.
"Miss Carroll wouldn't have remembered me or recognized me if she had," Dagon finished. "But, of course, no one would ever see her."
