The picture is accompanied by a short sketch. The members of the team were Frank Handrahan, L. McDonald, S. A. MacLeod, James Rendle, Wm. Edmunds, Adolphe Gaudet, Chester Acorn, John McQuillan, N. A sad death occurred at Hickey's Wharf, Fort Augustus about 4.30 yesterday afternoon, the victim being J. Walter Cairns of Charlottetown.

Deceased in company with a number of other young companions left the wharf in his motor boat, the Plute, at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning for the East River to spend the day at Hickey's Wharf. The party consisted of three boys and three girls—Colin J. McEachern, Fred Hall and the victim, J. Walter Cairns; Miss Marjorie McEachern, cousin of the first-named, and another cousin, Marjorie, and Miss Sarah Head.

The day was fine after the rain of the preceding day and everything looked promising for a pleasant day's outing in the country.

The party remained in the vicinity of Hickey's wharf until nearly 4 p. m. They were having a picnic about a quarter of a mile from the wharf when one of the boys looked at his watch and remarked that it was "about time to go for that swim," it being exactly 18 minutes to 4 by his time piece. The boys had been looking forward with anticipation to the time when the tide would be right to have this swim and they thereupon started off for the wharf.

McEachern, who was a good swimmer, dived from the end of the wharf, but Cairns who could only swim a few strokes waded in from the shore. Hales who was not a swimmer remained on the wharf where he was joined later by the girls who came down to watch the swimmers.

Cairns was about 75 yards from the edge of the shore when he gave a single cry, "Help!" McEachern was swimming off the end of the wharf when one of the girls cried out to him that there was something the matter with Walter. McEachern was soon alongside of him. Cairns was excited. He had got beyond his depth into a cutting made by the dredge which was about fifteen feet deep at low tide.

Cairns following McEachern's instructions put his arms around his neck and McEachern started for the wharf with him.

He was getting along very well when a wave struck him, he slipped from McEachern who then took his hand and was making some headway towards the boat and towards a rope which one of the girls was endeavoring to throw to them. Another wave however choked him and he slipped from McEachern's grasp and sank beyond sight.

McEachern climbed into the boat and ripped off a board with which he strenuously tried to use the unfortunate lad to the surface, but all his efforts proved unavailing.

At this juncture another motor containing Messrs Frank Hennessey, William Butler, Charles Young and Wm. Hennessey happened to arrive at the scene. They were quickly apprised of the endeavor to locate the body.

With the assistance of Mr. Thom as McNally and his young son, who provided some drags, after about three quarters of an hour of grappling the body was brought to the surface.

Attempts at resuscitation by means of artificial respiration were immediately made, and after working on the body for about an hour all hope of restoration was abandoned.

The body had been in the water an hour so that the chances of recovery were very slight.

While the search was in progress telephone messages were rushed to Charlottetown for physicians. Dr. Ledwell responded immediately and upon arrival pronounced life extinct.

The sad affair needless to say caused a great shock to the members of the party.

A very sudden death took place Friday night at the residence of Mrs. Flora MacLeod, 7 Bayfield Street, City when Mrs. Wm. Stewart, who was boarding there died of heart failure. The deceased was a widow, living formerly in Boston. She rented a room with Mrs. MacLeod about three months ago. The latter stated that she (the deceased) had been complaining for two weeks of severe headaches, and that night Mrs. MacLeod heard a noise in her room—a moan followed by the sound of something falling. She immediately tried to get into the deceased's room but was unable, as the door was barred. She sent for a policeman, who succeeded in getting in and found Mrs. Stewart dead. The deceased was a woman of about 76 years. An inquest was held Saturday morning when a verdict of heart failure was returned.

The opthalm has been expressed that some means should be taken to protect from damage by the weather the German guns on the several Squares of the City. This it is understood was one of the conditions upon which they were presented. The guns are well worth taking care of and will also be interesting reminders of the gallant part taken by the sons of this Province in the Great War for the liberty of nations. Some of these guns bear upon them striking evidence of what they have suffered through. The one on Rochford Square has a large shot hole through the steel shield, and the one on Pownall is quite badly battered along the barrel where pieces have been splintered from it from shots fired from an angular direction. In regard to German war trophies it is interesting to note that the town of Sackville, N. S., has been allotted a German 77-in. gun and four German machine guns on condition that proper care is taken of them.

MRS. M. E. SMITH, prominent Tampa, Florida, woman, who says, thanks to Tanlac, she is now able to walk around without the help of a cane after eight long years of suffering.

"I am so glad my health is being restored after suffering for over eight years with indigestion and rheumatism that I feel like telling everybody about Tanlac," was the enthusiastic statement made recently by Mrs. M. E. Smith, one of the best-known and most highly respected women of Tampa, Fla., residing at 906 Morgan Street. "The rheumatism from which I had suffered for years even before I had stomach trouble, pained me worse than ever and until recently I was not only unable to walk without the use of a cane, but I was so weak at times I could hardly get out of bed. I tried many medicines but nothing helped me and I almost despaired of ever getting any better. "Then Tanlac came along and in just a few days after I began taking this grand medicine, my appetite began to improve and in only a short time I was able to enjoy my meals and everything seemed to agree with me perfectly. "My rheumatism is so much better and I have so much more strength I am now able to walk all about the house and up and down stairs without my cane. Friends who have become so accustomed to seeing me walk with my cane are astonished when they see me now walking around without it. "I will always praise Tanlac for what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Montague by H. J. Mahon, J. P. White, Murray River, H. M. Chisholm, North Tryon, R. H. Cameron & Co., Craupaid, and H.P. Cohoon, Murray Harbor.

Darken Gray Hair, Look Young, Pretty

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR DARKENS SO NATURALLY THAT NOBODY CAN TELL

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray and if lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and though the dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.
