THE MEASURE OF A MAN The financial success of a man is measured by his ability to save money. Read the words of J. J. Hill, the Great Magistrate: "If you want to know whether you are destined to be a success or not, you can easily find out. The test is simple and is infallible. Are you able to save money? If not, drop out. You will lose, you may think not, but you will lose as sure as fate, for the seed of success is not in you."

American Tomb For British General

(By Dominion News Service) LONDON, Aug. 17.—Georgia University, U. S. A., is petitioning for a faculty to search for the remains of General Oglethorpe, in Cranham Church near Uppinister.

If they are found it is intended to place them in a shrine at the reincorporated university.

General Oglethorpe was founder of Georgia State. The matter is being considered by the Chancellor of the Diocese of Chelmsford.

Whether an application will have to be made to the Home Office, as in the case of the search for the body of Princess Pocahontas, is not certain.

The general's remains are believed to have been buried in the chancel of the church.

If found, they will be deposited in a special mausoleum which the American university is having built, so that they will be transferred to consecrated ground.

It is understood that no objection is raised by the church authorities to the search.

Essex is proud of its historic personages and there is likely to be a protest locally against the transference of the remains to America; but as this great general, philanthropist and colonist practically established the colony of Georgia, there is much to be said for the American point of view.

In June, 1732, Oglethorpe, with 20 associates, obtained a charter for settling the colony of Georgia, and George II. gave him every encouragement.

He was the friend of many distinguished men of his time—Walpole, Goldsmith, Boswell, Burke, and Pope enshrined his name in a complex.

There is a tablet in Cranham church describing the virtues and deeds of the general who was born 1696 and died 1785.

The Pets of The Service (By Dominion News Service) LONDON, Aug. 17.—The title "Pets of the Services," which has been applied to the Royal Air Force, would seem to be justified by the report of the select committee which has been investigating that department. Pay has increased and officers and cadets would seem to live in absolute luxury. A clergyman in the force is granted two personal servants.

An Air-Marshal has three batmen. Officers are given an entertainment allowance. The Air Attache at Washington receives something over 6000 dollars a year for entertaining, in addition to his salary, and is not required to make any return showing how the money is spent.

When men in the Air Force are serving abroad and the exchange is against them the Government makes up the difference; if the exchange, however, is in their favor they made no corresponding return to the Government. It was discovered that to run the kitchen for the cadet wing at Cranwell there were employed a chef, a second chef, an assistant chef, two vegetable cooks, three kitchen porters, three stewards, two carvers, four silver men, one accountant, 31 gate men, storemen, and others, costing in the aggregate eighteen thousand dollars a year. There is also a 300-acre farm carried on at a loss in order that the cadets might have pure milk. It may be confidently stated that these luxuries will be curtailed in the near future.

Noisy Taxis Are Banned (By Dominion News Service) LONDON, Aug. 17.—Wheezing, jangling, gear-screaming, taxis are to go. Cabs that cannot climb the steepest London hill at 6 p. m. h. will be banished after September 10. Scotland Yard has decided to raise the standard to London taxis and much severer tests are to be imposed. The price to the passenger will also probably be lowered as the result of the recent drop in the cost of gas.

DR. PEET CONSIDERS AMERICAN CHARITIES SECURE IN TURKEY

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—American interests in Turkey are not menaced by recent developments in that country in the opinion of Dr. W. W. Peet who has lived in Constantinople for 42 years and who today is the business representative of a group of American philanthropic institutions extending from Constantinople to Appo. Dr. Peet who passed recently through Sofia, expressed himself thus to the representative of The Associated Press. Continuing he said:

"Dr. James L. Barton secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and I went to Lausanne at the beginning of the original conference. We asked Ismet Pasha, the chief delegate from Angora as to the treatment our American interests in Turkey might expect from the Nationalist government.

"Ismet Pasha told us that the Nationalist government would welcome the American institutions, including colleges and schools, hospitals and orphanages in widely scattered parts of Turkey. He informed us that if the American institutions would respect Turkish laws the complete support of the Turkish government would be extended to them.

"To insure that compliance with Turkish laws, it was necessary to effect only slight modifications in the operation of our institutions. We are making these modifications. And up to this time every promise made by Ismet Pasha has been fully carried out. American schools, hospitals and orphanages—directly affecting about 50,000 Turkish subjects—have been and are operating without the slightest hindrance for the benefit of Christians and Mohammedans alike.

"As our past experience is the only means we have of judging of the future, we have no reason to expect any different treatment tomorrow from that which is being accorded us today.

Referring to the political situation Dr. Peet said: "The Nationalists represent the new spirit of Turkey, a spirit which tends toward the European way of doing things and the western way of looking at things. It promises beneficent results for the Turkish people. Of course the turnover from Turkish methods to western will not be instantaneous. It will take time to work out the great changes. But the process is going on, and I can foresee the beneficent changes it will bring about in the internal life of Turkey.

"It is the modernization of Turkey that is being carried on by the Nationalist movement. To judge of the future by the past the western world has no evil results to expect from this Nationalist movement in Turkey."
