WOMAN, ILL, HUGS MEN IN SUBWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Passengers in the subway station at Seventy-second street and Broadway were startled yesterday afternoon when a well dressed woman excitedly professed her love to more than a dozen men.

"I love you, I love you" the woman would cry, throwing her arms around the neck of an embarrassed man.

Many of the men were compelled to break the woman's embrace none too gently, and at such times she would scream, "My heart is breaking!"

For twenty minutes the young woman remained in the station while many of the women present tried to pacify her.

"I am employed by Mrs. Reinhardt, of No. 49 West Seventy-second street," she replied to her questioner, "and I am in love. See, my heart is breaking."

Policeman James McGannon was summoned and the woman immediately declared her love to him.

Submitting to her caresses, McGannon led her to the West Sixty-eighth street police station, followed by a large crowd.

At the station the woman tried to make love to Lieutenant Sackett, who was behind the desk.

When questioned she said she had a sister named Minnie Hyman, living in the Bronx. Dr. De Courcy, summoned from the Polytechnic Hospital, also was an object of the woman's affections.

After an examination Dr. De Courcy had her removed to the observation ward in Bellevue Hospital.

THE LABEL ON THE ONION

(New York Commercial) Either there has, or there appears to have, arisen a hot controversy respecting the onion. Somebody alleged to be a physician has labelled the lowly bulb, because we have a lively sense of our blessings, because we have material troubles of our own, we have not read with care the medical gentlemen's strictures on the onion.

It is accused of being the source of or of encouraging the growth of some kind of bodily ill. Charges have been to the same effect laid at the doors of rice and corn. However, the devotees of the onion are indignant, and they rush into print.

They say that a large-sized onion and a pinch of salt combined is a prophylactic. It is a sovereign remedy for "colds," and helps clean the brain, tautens the nerves and sweetens the temper. Furthermore, there are people who like to eat it and this tends to help. Our own opinion is that if the onion was not closely associated with garlic and beer in the crowded traction system of commerce it would be considered a standard remedy for hunger. At any rate there must be considered a proof submitted to the average man, whether he likes to eat onions or not.

TUNIC COATS THE LATEST FASHION

Steadily downward creeps the distended hoop-like tunic. Now it has reached to below the knees in a new Paris coat model. This coat flares out like a minaret tunic, but flares directly from the neck or yoke. Made on circular lines, it falls in goodly folds about the figure, its large circular lower edge contrasting curiously with the scant, very scant skirts. If it descends much further it will become the veritable hoop skirt of olden days and scant dress shirt, with its trouserlike hang will look not unlike the ancient pan-talotes.

This possible conclusion does not prevent the tunic coat from being a solution to the problem of afternoon coats. It has not the too elaborate look of a mantle or wrap. Not all of the new models have the added flounces, many of them have simply deep bands of velvet, fur, or other contrasting material to weight the hem. A small collar, fur generally, helps to preserve the conical shape that gives the corset style to this garment. In the up-to-date coat suit, the coat and tunic or tunics, for there are often three or four—overlap like fish scales. They have generally a slight upward movement in front, and this is accentuated by the way the skirt is pulled forward and up. With a band that cuffs each long sleeve, you have the simple, yet ultra, tailored suit of this season. While duvety is the principal material, it is very noticeable that fashionable women have already returned to broadcloth.

Tunics transformed into pannier puffs look very smart on the thin, tall woman or girl who seems to be almost typical of this period. The puffed skirts give a new and amusing silhouette and, worn with the tiny Russian caps, are decidedly out of the ordinary. These probably will be worn for the Southern resort season in taffeta, a material which, already popular since last summer abroad, is just gaining a foothold here.

The lampshade tunic idea, taken originally from the Persian dancer's skirt, which, with a little bolero, completed her dancing costume, is sometimes reproduced rather startlingly in modern costume. There often seems to be an outer skirt which responds to that worn by the Persian, posed over a modern foundation. When this foundation is of a flesh pink satin or charmeuse, the outer tunic skirt dress gives an most too realistic illusion of being posed over nothing or next to it. Take, for instance, an evening dress, of flesh pink charmeuse, sleeveless, and cut low back and front. Over this, by way of contrast, a black taffeta ruffled tunic is worn, held on the figure apparently only by a girdle that ends in a fancy rosette, pickled out with gold. Such is the extreme of Persian fashion modernized to date.

When left to itself, eczema, as a rule runs on indefinitely. Even with careful treatment it is often obstinate in resisting curative measures. The cause is often difficult to find, but you can readily obtain relief from the dreadful itching by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment. This treatment cleanses the sores and soon sets up a process of healing which leads to complete cure.

Patient and persistent treatment is necessary in severe cases, but you can readily see the improvement from day to day as Dr. Chase's Ointment is applied you will be encouraged to keep on until you have driven out the disease and restored natural healthy skin.

Attention to the general health is advisable in order that the cure may be lasting, but you can depend on Dr. Chase's Ointment to stop the itching and heal the skin. So well does it accomplish this that many cures it brings about are almost like miracles. Put it to the test and you will be surprised and delighted with the results.

NEW-LAID EGGS DOWN, SELECT STORAGE UP

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—New-laid eggs are down two or three cents per dozen at local wholesale houses as the week closes. They are going to the trade at 40 to 43 cents. Wholesale buyers are paying 37 cents at country points. Select storage eggs are, on the other hand, a cent firmer offering at 36c. to 38c. It is unusual to have the two classes so near on a level, but so heavy has been the run on cold-storage at earlier easy prices that stocks have been cleaned up sufficiently to warrant the narrowing of the price margin. Then, too, the trade, which has become more acquainted with stored eggs, which, of course, are carefully candied, find them almost as desirable as newly-arrived grades. Now new-laid are coming in more freely, with the continued mild weather, and this accounts for the easier prices.

An easier undertone has come into the butter market, caused by the fact that stocks in storage are larger than they were a year ago. Prices however, are quotably unchanged. Dairy butter is quiet. Late deliveries of fresh-made prints and rolls have proved easily sufficient for inquiries. Continued mild weather has helped the flow of milk, and farmers, while not taking it to the factories, are making more butter themselves. The different grades of quality are almost as many as receipts. As packing houses are not allowed to re-churn the bad stuff, some very poor butter has to be passed on to the trade.

The cheese market is about steady, demands being fairly active. Poultry are unchanged in price. With meat so high, demands from the trade keep up for poultry as a substitute.

draws attention to the "strange naval development of Great Britain." It says the British battleships Royal Sovereign and Royal Oak, which are to be laid down today, will be 2,000 tons below the estimate, their guns will be 13.5 instead of 15 inches, and they will burn coal instead of oil.

M. Caillaux proposes to meet the deficit of $158,800,000 in the 1912 budget so far as possible, without resorting to the loan of a sum greater than $33,600,000, the loan to be of the short term variety. The extraordinary expenditure for the army of $282,000,000 and that for the navy of $84,000,000 will be met by four or five rapidly redeemable loans to be issued separately during 1915 and 1916, thus avoiding the overburdening of the money market with a single issue.

M. Caillaux counts on obtaining $38,000,000 from the proposed graduated tax capital, $30,000,000, from the income tax, $10,000,000, to $20,000,000 from new taxation, notably that of petrol and from economies, to balance the 1915 and future budgets.
