FULFILLED VOW OF WALKING TO ROME

Villa Real De Tras Montes, Portugal, Aug 6.—Maria Marcelina Dematos, an old peasant woman of this village, has just returned from a hazardous journey on foot to the eternal city undertaken in fulfilment of a religious vow. She had pledged herself to make a pilgrimage on foot to see the Pope, if her dying son were restored to health. She reached Rome foot sore and weary, but triumphant at having attained her goal.

From her native village the penniless wanderer set out for Oporto, Portugal, whence she crossed over to Santiago de Compostella, Spain. Ahead of her lay the scarred slopes of the Pyrenees, which proved the most difficult part of the journey. Mother Marcelina spent three months on the road, enduring with equanimity the physical suffering that such a long march entailed. She had not Holy Father's presence, a mickle in her pocket nor a passport to identify her when she started on her adventurous journey. A small bundle of clothes hanging from the end of her stick were her only possessions.

When after a long day's hike she became exhausted she would knock at the door of a cottage begging for shelter and a meal. She stated on her return that throughout the long journey across four countries she was treated with kindness. All went well until she reached the Italian frontier, where her passport was demanded. As she carried none the tireless old lady tramped back to Nice where she provided herself with the necessary document.

When this unusual pilgrim finally reached the Vatican City fresh difficulties awaited her. The Swiss Guards refused to believe her tale, but her sincerity and physical condition touched the hearts of the pontifical guards, who led her into the long march entailed. She had not Holy Father's presence, a mickle in her pocket nor a passport

MRS. BERNARD HUGHES

Died at Souris East on Tuesday, the 29th ult., Mary beloved wife of Bernard Hughes, in the 29th, year of her age.

Deceased had given birth to a young son on July 8th, and was just after getting up when she took a stroke and notwithstanding the efforts of Doctors McDonald and Seaman together with the kind ministrations of two nurses and her immediate friends to restore her to health she finally succumbed on the above date, and her soul took its flight to her Divine Master.

Mary, as we all called her, was surely one of God's noblest young women, always jovial, always loving, her life was as pure as a lily's. HARVEST APPROACHING—There is going to be an early harvest this year the hay having been garnered in, farmers are now preparing for the grain which has turned, and it is generally expected harvesting will begin within the next fortnight. It will not be so heavy as usual owing to the long spell of dry weather, but notwithstanding the rain of the past week has helped considerably. The ground crops are looking excellent. Provided prices are up to expectation farmers should fare well with this crop.

QUEEN OF THE GYPSIES BURIED

(By The Canadian Press)

MADISON, N.J., Aug 6.—The long and eventful reign of the elder Harrison over the Romany gypsies ended here when the body of Louisa, their dowager queen, called also the madam, was buried by the side of King Naylor, her husband. The curious rule of these two began in this country a half-century ago while Rutherford B. Hayes was President, and in a sense continued without dispute or interruption until the last rites were said for the Madam.

Neither King Naylor nor the madam were gypsies. They were born in England of English parents and came to America as children. The madam throughout her life insisted that there was no such race as "gypsies."

When King Naylor died two years ago, he had come to be known as one of the shrewdest horse-traders in the United States, and possessed an estate valued at more than $1,000,000. He owned land in many cities and paid other taxes in at least a dozen states. After his death Madam Harrison never quit the home, and was 81 years old when she died.

Soon after Mr. and Mrs. Harrison were married and began journeying about the turnpikes in their horse-draw wagons, the Madam discovered that she was endowed with "the divine blessing"—she found that by searching carefully the palms of peoples hands, she could predict their future. She began the study of that ancient art and in her lifetime advised many of the "noblemen" of this country—capitalists, governors, and great soldiers—as to their problems.

SEA HORSES

The white horses toss their snowy manes
 As they ride towards the shore,
 Galloping, galloping, galloping!

Bravely they climb the blue-green waves
 As they hurry to reach the land
 Galloping, galloping, galloping!

Boldly they come like the Vikings of old,
 From far o'er the stormy sea,
 Galloping, galloping, galloping!

Madly they dash 'gainst the rocky cliffs,
 Climb, break, spread out, and retreat,
 Threatening, threatening, threatening!
