THE CANADIAN TROOPS HAVE BEEN RELIEVED AT HOOGE

Losses in Sanctuary Woods Have Been Heavy, the Officers in Casualty Roll Now Number 180. Battle Still in Progress but Canadians have been Relieved. Full Casualty List not yet Received.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) OTTAWA, June 6.—The Canadian public must be prepared for bad news from the front. Our losses in the Sanctuary Woods fight have been very heavy. The exact total will not be known for some days but enough is known to show that they are substantially in proportion to those at Ypres.

this total is far from complete while the losses from the ranks will take at least a fortnight to come across. The morning list contains eight killed thirty-three wounded and thirteen missing. A few of the names have been mentioned before. One officer commanding, Lieut. Col. Tanner of Moosomin, is in the list of dead. Before going to the war he was a practising physician.

et clamor among Canadians now in the training camps in England to cross the Channel and get into action as quickly as possible. The difficulty is to select the men, and not to select them. The troops in training are anxious to avenge the loss of their comrades. While the fight apparently is going on with an intensity equalled only at Verdun, the latest advices are that the Canadians have been relieved. Since the reports of two German infantry attacks between Fort Vaux and Damloup Monday night the fighting in Verdun region has again developed into artillery duels, with the Fort Vaux Damloup sector the centre of greatest violence. No material gains for either side are reported.

RUSSIANS MAKING SPLENDID PROGRESS

Battle Raging Along 200 Mile Front. Russians Have Captured Up to Present 25,000 Men, 480 Officers, 17 Cannon and 15 Machine Guns.

(Special to the Guardian.) AMSTERDAM, June 6.—Despatches from Vienna report that a violent battle has been raging during the past twenty-four hours on the Russian front along a sweep of 300 kilometres (about 200 miles). Correspondents describe countless waves of Russians going into battle. Gen. Brusiloff, who is believed to be in command of the Russian forces on this front, seems, according to advices, to be following the tactics pursued by the Russians in the Carpathians, making attacks in masses in an effort to break through hostile lines.

(Special to the Guardian.) PETROGRAD, June 5.—The Russians continue to develop the successes won by their newly inaugurated offensive. It is reported that up to the present time they have captured 25,000 men, 480 officers, 17 cannon and 15 machine guns.

EARL KITCHENER AND STAFF GO DOWN WITH THEIR SHIP

H.M.S. Hampshire on Way from England to Russia Sunk by Mine or Torpedo Off Orkney Islands. War Secretary Kitchener and Staff Included Among the Lost.

(Special to the Guardian.) OTTAWA, June 6.—Early this morning a report was received that a British cruiser with Earl Kitchener, Minister of War and staff, had been sunk off the Orkneys. The report was at first most incredible but, unfortunately, it seems Lord Kitchener was on his way to Russia in connection with the developments of the Russian campaign and left London unannounced. German spies had got wind of his movements, however, and when the Hampshire was off the Orkney Islands she was attacked by a German submarine and sank in a few minutes. Four boats were seen from the shore to leave the vessel but no trace of them has since been seen and as a storm raged it is feared all were wrecked. Only one capsized boat and some bodies have been found. Admiral Jellicoe's official report is as follows:

little hope of there being any survivors. No report has yet been received from the search party on shore." The disaster is certain to cause a certain amount of consternation but it must be borne in mind that the removal of the strong silent war lord is only one incident in the colossal war which will be continued with renewed vigor and greater determination. The individual head has been removed but the ministry of war continues and that means the whole organization and policy remains. The first shock has been great but the effect will be to steel the courage and determination of the Allies to greater efforts to prosecute the war to an early and successful issue.

ample accommodations for the latter purpose. WERE ACCOMPANYING LORD KITCHENER. LONDON, June 6.—Accompanying Earl Kitchener as his staff were Hugh James O'Beirne, former councillor of the British Embassy at Petrograd and former minister of Sofia; O. A. Fitzgerald, Earl Kitchener's private military secretary; Brigadier General E. L. B. Shaw, and Sir Frederick Donaldson. BRITISH WAR COUNCIL MET IMMEDIATELY. LONDON, June 6.—When the news of the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire, with Earl Kitchener and his staff on board, was received in London a meeting of the British war council was immediately called. Sir William Robertson chief of the Imperial Staff, who probably will become the head secretary for foreign affairs, Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, and David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, were present at the council. The newspaper reporters at the war office, who at the time had not heard the news, regarding Earl Kitchener, announced: "Neither Earl Kitchener nor Premier Asquith was present."

GERMAN CRUISER BADLY DAMAGED

(Canadian Press.) COPENHAGEN, via London, June 5.—A despatch to the Stifstidende from Ribe, Jutland, says that the German battle cruiser Seydlitz was sighted Thursday morning, 38 miles west of Fano islands going south, pursued by British warships. She was badly damaged, and had two large holes aft. The Seydlitz is a dreadnought cruiser of 25,000 tons. She was built in 1912 and is armed with ten 11-inch guns, and twelve six inch guns. The Seydlitz took part in the battle off Heligoland in January, 1916, and was reported to have been badly damaged in that engagement, and to have suffered heavy casualties among her crew. Subsequently she was reported at Hamburg, undergoing repairs. Fano is a small island off the west coast of Jutland, about 11 miles from Ribe, and is in the immediate neighborhood of the scene of the great naval battle of Wednesday.

ROYAL WELCOME TO DR. CATHERINE TRAVIS

HAMPTON, N.B., June 6.—The celebration of the King's birthday here had an added interest to the people of Hampton owing to the arrival here today of Dr. Catherine Travis after her thrilling experiences in Serbia as a member of the American Relief Association. The streets were gaily decorated with flags and lanterns in her honor and, long before the train arrived, the railway platform and the surrounding avenues were packed with people. On the arrival of the train great cheering followed when Dr. Travis stepped onto the platform. O. Dixon Otty then stepped forward and welcomed her home on behalf of the town and on behalf of personal friends, presented her a bouquet of white carnations tied with red, white and blue ribbon. Dr. Travis was then escorted to the automobile of R. G. Flewelling which had been decorated for the occasion, and hauled by the boy scouts and cadets of the Consolidated school proceeded to the home of her sister, Miss Minnie Travis, Main street. Dr. Travis expects to spend some time in Hampton and her many friends look to hearing of many of her experiences. Dr. Travis is a niece of Major A. A. Bartlett of this City.

GERMAN VERSION OF NAVAL BATTLE

(Special to the Guardian.) BERLIN, June 6.—(By wireless to Sayville.) A competent German authority gives the German Admiralty's version of the battle between the British and German main naval fleets in the North Sea as follows: The Germans first sighted the enemy off Skagerrak. The force was composed of four small cruisers of the strong Calypso variety. The German cruisers immediately pursued the enemy who sailed northward at highest speed. At 6.20 p. m. the German cruisers sighted in a westerly direction two hostile columns which turned out to be six enemy battle-cruisers and a large number of small cruisers and destroyers. The German cruisers approached until they were eight miles off the hostile ships and then opened on the southern to south easterly course with a very efficient fire. During this engagement two British battle-cruisers and one torpedo boat destroyer were annihilated. After an engagement lasting half an hour the enemy sighted to northward of the Queen Elizabeth type. Soon afterwards the German main fleet entered into action.

The Chinese are rushing into the legation quarter taking their valuables with them and enquiring for hotel accommodation there. "We drew the enemy into the jaws of our fleet. I have no regrets except for the gallant lives lost for pals who have gone and who died gloriously. It would have warmed your heart to have seen how gallant Hood brought his squadron into action. Would to God he had been more successful in the general result.
