IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JAMES NOONAN

Albany and surrounding districts were on Saturday morning December 16, 1933, called upon to mourn the passing of a most highly esteemed and respected resident, Mrs. James Noonan, formerly Ida McBride, at the early age of 46. She will be sadly missed in the home, as she was of a kind and loving disposition, her home was always open to rich and poor alike. She received the last sacraments of the Catholic Church of which she was a faithful member.

She leaves to mourn their loss a sorrowing husband, one daughter and three sons, her mother, Mrs. Thomas McBride of Albany and one brother and five sisters. Her funeral took place on Monday morning to Seven Mile Bay Church and despite the early hour and cold weather was a fitting tribute to one who held a large place in the community. Requiem Mass was sung by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Monaghan. The pall bearers were, Swithen McKenna, J. P. Keough, J. B. Noonan, Bazel Sherry, Arthur McKay, and Murdock Dawson.

Requiescat in Pace.

Glands Of One Person Grafted Into Another

BALTIMORE, Dec. 25—Successful transplantation of parts or organs from one person to another was described by Dr. Harry B. Stone, Associate Professor of Surgery, Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, at a meeting of medical clubs at the Johns-Hopkins Hospital.

Surgeons, it was explained, have for years been able to transplant skin from one part of the body to another on the same persons but a transplantation of tissue from one person to another almost invariably resulted in death.

The method described by Dr. Stone consisted of growing the tissue for a time outside the body in a culture medium made from the blood serum of the prospective recipient of the transplant.

The tissue, by this method, becomes adapted to its future host, it was stated, and when finally implanted in him grows quite normally and survives for an indefinite time.

Only a few cells from the healthy gland are used, it was said, and in the normal persons the missing tissue is readily replaced.

Patients, in whom the thyroid and parathroid glands have been transplanted successfully were described by Dr. Stone who said the work had been carried on for some time with the collaboration of Dr. J. C. Owings and Dr. G. D. Guy.

Although Dr. Stone declined to comment later on his paper, visiting physicians said this discovery was of considerable practicable importance for it appears individuals who have lost some essential gland can now be permanently cured.

Records Fall At Port of Halifax

HALIFAX, Dec. 25—(C.P.)—No longer living in the past, this seaport city has stopped pining for bygone days of wooden ships and is fast becoming associated with the keenest bidders for ocean traffic.

During the first 11 months of 1933 the total cargo handled over piers of the Halifax Harbour Commissioners was 734,000 tons, 55,000 tons in excess of the total cargo for the whole year 1932 and 32,000 tons more than for the whole year 1931.

The total port tonnage for the first 11 months of 1933 was more than 1,500,000, or 80,000 above the total for the whole year 1932.

Berth density in 1933 has been 71.6 per cent an increase of 10 per cent over 1931 and eight per cent over 1932.

Largely because of the marine leg, constructed in 1932, grain traffic has increased steadily. During the current year, up to Dec. 1, about 5,000,000 bushels of grain have passed in and out of the elevators, compared with 1,500,000 bushels in 1930.

In August, 1933, the port had an all-time monthly cargo record of 177,000 tons. In October the record was broken again when the cargo tonnage for the month was 203,000.

How these increases were accomplished was explained by Col. E. C. Phinney, who recently resigned as chairman of the Halifax Harbour Commissioners, at a banquet held in his honor.

When the new board took over control of the harbor business in 1930 it adopted the "over-riding policy that every feature of operation was to be subservient to traffic," he said.

"It engaged a traffic manager and immediately undertook to secure the confidence of shippers and ship operators through efficient operation. Traffic managers and shippers throughout Canada responded and in spite of difficult business conditions the business of the port has steadily increased.

"In the improvement of facilities and providing new facilities for better handling of traffic the present commission expended over $4,500,000 on capital account during the last three years. At the same time it expended over $1,000,000 on maintenance of harbor property. During this period it paid out in wages and salaries over $1,000,000."

In 1931 the operating deficit of the commissioners was $63,000. Col. Phinney predicted there would be an operating profit in excess of $60,000 this year.

"In other words," he concluded. "The operating position in 1933 improved over 1931 by approximately $125,000."

All France Is Learning To Skate

PARIS, Dec 25—Twenty-two successive days of frost have gripped river and lake from the English channel to the Mediterranean and as a result all France is learning to skate.

Thousands of skaters from the indifferent to the expert crowd the lakes of Vincennes and the Grand Canal of Versailles where French kings once loved to linger in splendor. A cake of ice floating beneath the Seine bridges is oddly reminiscent of the St. Lawrence at Quebec.

The temperature varies from seven degrees below freezing (centigrade) at Paris, to 23 below freezing at Chalons-sur-Saone. Sunny Provence is hit with especial severity. Traffic has been suspended on the Canal du Centre and handicapped on many others. Some roads are blocked with snow and the temperature continues to drop.

At least six deaths from the cold are reported from Bordeaux, Landivy, Cavaillon and Nimes. The body of a frozen letter-carrier was found lying in a sideroad near Mandilly (Orne). Industrial establishments which usually secure their supplies by canal, are feeling the pinch. Wolves driven by the cold are reported in a couple of mountain districts.

Undaunted Frenchwomen are holding their sports as usual. Wearing shorts, 40 of them ran in the opening cross-country race at St. Cloud. Some ingenious soul has invented a bicycle with ice runners and on this "velo glace" new triumphs are sought on frozen streams.

Silk Bathing Suits Appear at Miami

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec 25—Stylists have brought out their latest beach design—silk and alpaca bathing suits—coincident with the opening of the Winter season at this fashionable resort centre.

Because of their snug fit and ability to shed water, silk suits will be much in demand, designers predict, as will the softly lined alpaca creations. Gingham suits also are being shown.

Two-piece bathing suits are more popular here this winter than ever before, with shorts being worn either with kerchiefs or tights. One striking creation seen on the beach was of black tailored shorts with a white stripe on either side, worn over white tights that contained a sprinkling of bold, black dots.

Many of the one-piece suits have corded adjustable straps, which may be worn in different positions to insure an even sun tan.

Satin Evening

Peasant collars, accordion pleats and flat feathers for trimming are creeping into the new mode.

Some white satin evening dresses have large dotted or print organzine over-pieces. These have round draped collars which stand out from the neck and turn peasant fashion. In addition there are basques and fluffy sleeves.

The same off-the-neck idea is carried out in many new tie silk collars, worn with wool dresses and coats. Variations of this sort of collar include a simple round piece of fur at the top of a high neck satin evening dress.

Accordion pleats appear in skirt flounces, in simple fans below the knees, or as capelets. They are sometimes seen in the sleeves.

Bands of flat feathers, which sometimes are not feathers at all, but made of a sort of velvet or chenille, are being used as trimmings on small evening wraps.

Many evening skirts are still narrow, but dresses of tulle are among those that spread widely at the hemline.

There are many two-colored evening gowns, such as pale grey crepe with inserts of dark gun-metal tone on the bodice.

WEST ROYALTY SCHOOL CONCERT

The annual school concert and Christmas tree was held in West Royalty School Thursday evening, December 21st. There was a very good attendance, and the sum of $22 was realized. Out of this amount the donation of three dollars will be given to the Junior Red Cross fund for crippled children and the greater part of the remainder will be used in part payment for the new organ bought by the pupils this year.

The program was very much enjoyed by all, every pupil from the biggest to the smallest took part. At the end of the program Santa Claus appeared, to the delight of all, especially the little children, and distributed many presents to the pupils and their teachers, Miss Ruby Stewart and Miss Katherine MacKinnon.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the accompanists, Santa Claus and others by the pupils and teachers, and also to the teachers by the pupils. The accompanists were Mrs. Fred Gates, Miss Betty Curley and Mr. Robert Weeks.

The following was the program: Remarks by chairman, Ivan Roberts; Chorus, "Away in a Manger," Junior Pupils; solo, "Two Little, Blue Little Shoes," Helen Hurry; Christmas Doll Drill, Primary Girls; dialogue, "Harry's Pockets," Laura and Henry Hurry; recitation, "A Christmas Story," Margaret Gates; solo, "My Little Home in Tennessee," Ilene Curley; step dance, Bernard Trainor, (encored); exercise, "Merrie Christmas," Primary Pupils; monologue, "Jack Tends the Baby," Athol Roberts; Christmas Wreath Drill, Junior boys and girls; intermission and sale of candy; chorus and costume drill, "In Grandma's Days," Senior Girls; recitation, "A Boy and His Stomach," Keith Pickard; solo, "The Old Side Car," Maurice Curley, (encored); dialogue, "A Matrimonial Advertisement," Senior Pupils; monologue, "A Busy House wife," [illegible] Curley; dance, Highland Fling, Georgina Trainor, (encored) "A Lecture on Patent Medicines," Cedric Stetson; drill and chorus, "Christmas Shoppers," Senior Pupils; chorus, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," senior pupils; God Save the King.

The following programme was carried out by the pupils under the direction of their teacher, Mr. J. S. MacBeath:

At the conclusion of the programme, the teacher expressed his pleasure in again being teacher in the district after an absence of twelve years, and complimented the ratepayers on the keen interest taken in the education of their children as indicated by their presence at the annual examination. He thanked the pupils for their splendid co-operation during the term, and treated all present to a generous supply of candy.

Rev. J. R. Skinner then gave an excellent address in which he complimented teacher and pupils on the work being done in the school during the past half-year, and compared the past and present system of teaching. He was followed by Mr. Frank Cook, who has always been an enthusiastic supporter of education in the district and who indicated the excellent work being done in the school. Capt. F. J. G. McDougall, also, in a few well chosen words expressed his pleasure in seeing the work of the school being so well carried on at the present time. Mr. James Cook, one of the trustees, and chairman of the meeting extended to the teacher and pupils a hearty vote of thanks and expressed the hope that all would have a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year.

The teacher was presented with many appropriate gifts including an envelope containing a generous present in cash, accompanied by the best wishes of his pupils, by which he appropriately replied and extended to all present his best wishes for the New Year.
