Airplane Search For Drunken Monkey

LONDON, May 16—(C.P. Cable)—A former Royal Air Force pilot swooped down the beautiful Rowlands Castle estate of the Governor General of Canada in Hampshire yesterday in full pursuit style but his prey escaped him.

His prey was a drunken monkey. Signor Tony, although only 4-5 years old, has recently taken to drink. He steals and downs a bottle of beer with great gusto. But Tony can't "take it". After he gurgles down a full bottle the tenants of Rowlands Castle are thrown into great excitement.

Friday Tony did away with a bottle and he has not been the same since. Birds nests have been wrecked, vines broken down and in general the drunken miscreant has made of himself a great nuisance. Seeking to end these drunken escapades his owner, an airman of note, went up in his plane equipped with a huge net and accompanied by Tony's father who seemed to relish the flight.

The runaway monkey was sighted on a cart track below and with a zoom the plane sped to the spot. Tony had other plans, however, and quickly disappeared.

The search is to be resumed, however, and plans are being rounded out at G. H. Q. for a thorough search from both land and air.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JANE C. HENDERSON

Friends and relatives turned out in large numbers, Friday afternoon May 12th to attend the funeral of Mrs. Jane C. Henderson, held from her late residence, Hugh Street. At the house in the presence of many mourners, service was conducted by Rev. E. A. Kinley, pastor of the United Baptist Church and Rev. Wilfred Gaetz, pastor of the First United Church. Members of the choir sang favorite hymns, "Abide With Me," and "Shall We Gather At The River." Mrs. Lloyd Tyson was accompanist. A lengthy parade of automobiles accompanied the hearse to Hardwood Hill Cemetery, where burial was made, graveside prayers being recited by Rev. Mr. Kinley. The wealth of flowers, and numerous cards and other tokens of sympathy received testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall bearers: James S. Gavell, H. A. Frowde, James McLeod, W. A. Rudderham, Alex. McConnell and J. J. Morley.

Mrs. Henderson, who died in Sydney on Wednesday night, was the beloved wife of the late Dr. John E. Henderson of Charlottetown. Mrs. Henderson was in her eighty-sixth year and was born at North River, P. E. I. She resided in Charlottetown until a year and a half ago when she came to make her home with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. A. Henderson in Sydney, N. S. She was in poor health since last September, and leaves to mourn her loss two sons, Mr. E. C. Henderson of Port Hood, N. S., and R. L. of Boston, Mass., and seven grandchildren.

The proximity of neglected orchards and wild apple and haw trees on neighbouring farms is a serious problem because, unless such orchards are removed or well-sprayed, and the wild trees destroyed, it is difficult to keep an orchard 100 per cent clean.

Nights of Agony come in the train of asthma. The victim cannot lie down, and sleep is driven from his brain. What grateful relief is the immediate effect of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. It banishes the frightful conditions, clears the passages, and enables the afflicted one to again sleep as soundly and restfully as a child. Insist on the genuine at your nearby drug-gist.

Mr. W. B. Hicken, Alliston, recently lost a valuable farm horse, just as the spring work was on.

Our highways now show improvement for vehicles as the machines and drags are being utilized in re-shaping, smoothing and generally putting in order the havoc of winter and early spring.

The W. M. S. of the Peter's Road Presbyterian Church held their meeting on the evening of Tuesday, 9th inst, at the home of Mrs. N. B. Johnston and family, where a most interesting time was spent and a good attendance present.

Mrs. Ida Merrill (nee Miss Ida Johnston, Peters Road) who has been for some years a resident of Malden, Mass., is now visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. N. B. Johnston and family, Peters Road.

In the Peters Road Cemetery on Wednesday, 10th inst. the work of ornamental tree-planting and other necessary improvements was taken up by a number of interested patrons, under the direction of the manager, Mr. N. VanIderstine.

On Thursday last, 11th, the residence of Mr. Edgar VanIderstine, Peters Road, narrowly escaped destruction from fire. The roof had apparently caught from a spark and considerable damage was done before an army of willing helpers literally deluged the building with water. Mr. VanIderstine was absent at the time, being engaged in the lobster fishing industry.—P.

Officers with drawn swords and soldiers with fixed bayonets formed the guard of honor at a recent military wedding in Paris. The weapons proved unnecessary, however, as the bridegroom chose to go quietly.

Crowley—I would rather be good than great. Blunt—Well, it's easier. There isn't so much competition!

The nice old lady smiled at the little girl who had been left in charge of the confectioner's shop. "Don't you sometimes feel tempted to eat one of the cream buns, my dear?" she asked.

The little girl was quite shocked. "Of course not. That would be stealing. I only lick them."

SUCCESS is usually due to holding on, and failure to letting go.

COMMUNITY SHEEP DIPPING

Two dippings of sheep every year are advisable, the first in the spring and the second in the fall. Spring dipping should be performed as soon after shearing as possible. June is the most suitable month since in June all lambs will have arrived and the weather is favorable. Community dipping has a number of advantages over individual farm dipping. It costs less, there is less labor for each individual farmer, and an annual community dipping day insures that all flocks in the district will be dipped.

The Sheep and Swine Division of the Dominion Live Stock Branch has designed the proper forms for making a concrete tank, and sets of these are made available to members of the field staff in each province, so that any community desiring to build a permanent community tank may make application for a set of forms to the District Sheep and Swine Promoter in any of the provinces. A concrete tank properly built is not expensive, is more permanent, and gives entire satisfaction. After a suitable location has been selected as central as possible for the sheep owners in the district, the most economical method of building the tank is to arrange the work co-operatively, delegating some one to draw the gravel, another to haul the forms and cement, and others to dig the hole, mix the concrete and fill in the forms.

For the individual farmer with a few sheep where no community tank is available, it is not necessary to construct an elaborate dipping plant. A large barrel or trough large enough to immerse the sheep thoroughly will answer the purpose. A small draining platform can easily be built, so that the sheep when dipped can be allowed to stand for a few minutes until the dip drains out of the fleece and runs back into the dipping vessel.
