A GOOD audience embracing the fashionable and musical circles of Charlottetown greeted the Bostonia Sextet's Club in the Opera House last evening. The members of the Club are old favorites here and were now assisted by Miss Millicent Brennan whose vocal numbers greatly enhanced the pleasure of the evening. A delighted audience testified their appreciation with many encores, which extended to every number on the program.

A YOUNG man named Ernest Irving who has lived for a number of years in Brocton, Mass., and has been in Charlottetown during the winter, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The complainants, John McLeod & Co., stated that Irving secured goods to the value of $45 on the allegation that he was the son of D. P. Irving, M. L. A., Vernon River Bridge. The accused denies this and says he intended to pay for everything he received.

The deceased gentleman had attained the advanced age of 91 years, and down to recent date had been possessed of remarkable mental and physical activity. Three sons and one daughter survive him.

STYLISH COLORED DRESS FABRICS!!!

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER. COLORED DRESS GOODS!

Are more suggestive of summer than the delicate black fabrics; cream and champagne leading favorites in shades. Cream lustrous are lovely, price 48 and 62 cents. Cream matting, very handsome 51 cents; cream voile 59 cents. Cream crepeoline 80 cents, while a line of dotted delaine, the dot embroidered in silk is simply exquisite and the price extremely reasonable, only $1.10 a yard. Shades in crepeoline are very lovely. French delaines both plain and fancy range in price from 50 to 90 cents. Champagne voile is the fashion in shades and fabrics and we show it in fancy white flaked patterns at 70c, fancy fawn flaked $1.00 and $1.10. A popular line of champagne, cashmere, delaines and panama range through other popular shades at 50 to 65 cents a yard. In cloths they show an elegant light weight tweed in ten patterns, including mottled grey and green, brown, blues, plain greys, fawns and of course champagne. Price 50 to 75 cents a yard. Still heavier goods for travelling or for early Spring and Autumn wear, are for tailor made costumes, comprising all wool frizzes 56 inches wide, $1.15 per yd in navy, black, Oxford and cadet shades. Mottled cloths in light and dark effects are shown in 10 different kinds at $1.38. Some of these cream ground with blue and red flakes, green ground and blue flakes, brown, green flaked; black, blue flaked; green, light green flakes, etc. Champagne shades flaked with blue or grey in tweeds are $1.63. These of course are made up with ut linings. Another class of goods is priced from $1.50 to $1.68. A still better, comprising a fancy costume cloth in blue, with broken stripes, of black, cadet blue, snowflake, green, navy and brown, $1.85. In waistings a line is most elegant, one waist only in each pattern, no two alike. Again the ladies' preference for individual patterns in waist materials is catered to. This line is in all shades of stripes, about 25 different varieties from $2.56 to $2.90 a waist. From the bewildering array of dress goods we have chosen a few, and those most likely to first catch the feminine eye.
