CARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD 1.
Ladies and Gentlemen:

Having been requested to offer for re-election as Councillor for Ward One, I have consented to become a candidate. My record as your representative is before you. I will if elected use my best endeavours to keep the tax rate from being raised to anything higher than the present rate as I think the rate is now high enough and should be sufficient for the present needs of the city. As in the past I will look after the needs of Ward One and the city in general. It may not be possible for me to see all my friends and I take this opportunity to solicit the support of the electors of Ward One.

Yours respectfully.
P. A. SMITH.

CARD

To The Electors of Ward 5,
Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is a surprise to myself to be inserting a card in the newspapers seeking election as a councillor for the City of Charlottetown, but the insistance of a large representation from Ward Five has compelled my acceptance of the honor of contesting this ward in the civic election on February 8th.

Being a large property owner in the city, other owners of property in this ward may rest assured that if elected their interests will always be safeguarded, as it is to my interest as well as theirs to support all measures that will tend to beautify and modernize our city in any way, thus making real estate more valuable by attracting new citizens.

As a large employer of labor I have the interests and well being of the laboring man well in mind, realizing that employees must receive an equitable wage for service performed, and living conditions must be healthy both in the workshop and the home and thus employers treating employees as they should be treated our city will be built up with healthy contented citizens, all working together like a big family for a more progressive Charlottetown.

Economy in the administration of city affairs will have my unqualified support.

To enumerate all the improvements I should like to see pushed forward would tire you to read, but be assured if elected any improvement that the city finances can afford shall have my assent. As representative of Ward Five its interests will ever have first attention.

Business interests will not permit my seeing each elector and hereby solicit your votes and influence.

J. STANLEY WEDLOCK

CARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD 4
Ladies and Gentlemen.

At the solicitation of many of the electors of the Ward I will be a candidate at the forthcoming Civic Election. If you see fit to elect me I will give my best endeavours to promote the city's progress and to provide good Civic Government.

I am in favor of the continuance of permanent streets and walks if such can be provided without additional taxation.

Our city should be kept clean and greater attention should be given to keeping our streets and crossings clear during the winter months thus increasing employment and benefitting the public. In short I am in favor of everything that will be in the best interests of the city and especially Ward 4, consistent with economy and efficiency. Thanking you in anticipation of your support, I am.

Yours Faithfully.
E. A. FOSTER

CARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD
Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the request of electors of the Ward I have consented to again seek election to the Council Board. During the past four years I have endeavoured to serve you to the best of my ability, and my record is before you. During this period splendid progress was made in providing necessary permanent works, and I will favor a continuation of such undertakings if it is possible without idreased taxation. Thus labor will be benefitted.

It was my privilege to introduce the resolution establishing meat and milk inspection. Splendid results have followed, and greater efficiency and thoroughness in this respect will be advocated. Sale of wholesale meat should be transferred to the Market Building, thus securing freedom from exposure to dust and flies.

Greater attention should be given to our Public Squares with provision of more seating accommodation for the public. A clean-up of unhygienic refuse dumps in various sections of the city is favored.

In general a thorough enforcement of law, strict economy, efficient civic administration and the progress and prosperity of the city will receive my sincere support.

Thanking you in anticipation of your support
I am very truly,
I. J. YEO.

To the Electors of Ward 5

Ladies and Gentlemen:

A number of the electors of Ward Five and also a large number of the working men of Charlottetown, have requested me to nominate for councillor at the coming civic election.

I am of the opinion that the City Councillors could do very much to promote labor, and thereby benefit the business men and citizens in general.

I am in favor of permanent improvements to our streets so far as possible without increased taxation. I would not be in favor of additional liabilities without the consent of two thirds of the tax payers of the city. I would try to induce the Council to request the local Government to remove the Provincial Poll Tax now levied upon our city residents. I am in favor of exempting from taxation any industry that would employ labor.

The time has come when we must practise rigid economy in expenditure and accumulate as much as possible to relieve the unemployment. I think that much more could be done to improve the sanitary conditions of our city.

I think that our bathing shores could be very much improved and make our city a more attractive summer resort.

I may not be able to make a complete personal canvass, and I take this opportunity of soliciting your votes and influence.

If elected I will do my very utmost for the requirements of Ward Five and for anything that will benefit the citizens in general.

Faithfully yours.
KENNETH H. FERGUSON.

Glass of Salts if Your Kidneys Hurt

Eat Less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache. In fact your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's poisonous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys of men and women, take now and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions use, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

To the Electors of the City of Charlottetown

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

I beg to announce that I will be a candidate for the Mayoralty at the coming election, February 8th., and take this means of soliciting your support.

Four years ago, the citizens of Ward five honored me by electing me as councillor; at that time I promised that if elected, my efforts would be directed towards the improvement of our streets; the members of the City Council honored me still further by selecting me as Chairman of the Street Committee, and during my term of four years in this capacity, we have put down three and one-third miles, or 60,000 square yards of paved streets which are the equal of any in America, and it is a pleasure here to note that the cost per square yard has been lower than that of any City in Canada.

Whether I have carried out my pre-election promises or not is for you to say.

I believe good streets are one of the best assets any City can have, and I believe that the introduction of this system of paving is the most progressive movement that has taken place in our City since the installation of Water Works and Sewerage, and I think I can safely claim the credit of having introduced the system here.

With the present serious unemployment conditions prevailing I believe it is our duty as a City to provide work, where possible, for our laboring men, and if you honor me by election, I will use my best efforts to have the work of paving continued.

Our City never was, nor never will be a large manufacturing centre, and while I am in favor of offering every inducement possible to manufacturers to locate here, I believe we should cater more to the tourist trade, and the making of our City attractive by the building of good streets, is one of the best inducements we can offer them.

What we need in Charlottetown is more civic pride from both the individual and civic standpoint. Nature has done her part for us with a lavish hand. Our shores are laved by the waters of three beautiful rivers emptying into a spacious land locked harbor, while within our civic jurisdiction we have one of the most magnificent parks in the world. Our forefathers with a vision that was prophetic laid out our limits with wide streets and open squares which to day evoke the admiration of the visitor, it is therefore now for us to do our part, and if elected to the office of Chief Magistrate it shall be my object and aim to make this Capital City a larger, better and more beautiful Charolttetown.

In addition to my position as Chairman of the Street Committee I have also been a member of the Light Committee, and when the new contract was being arranged with the Electric Light Company, I was instrumental in having a clause inserted, which, when put into effect will, I believe very much improve our street lighting.

I am strongly in favor of Meat and Milk inspection, and while I do not claim the credit for having introduced this measure, I do claim that it had my unqualified support, and if elected I will endeavour to have it extended and enlarged so as to more fully safe guard the public health. It is not my intention to make a house to house canvass, I believe every man and woman in our City is intelligent enough to judge for themselves as to whom they desire to see elected. My record for the past four years is before you, and if you decide that it is such as to entitle me to be elected Mayor, I will appreciate the honor most highly.

Thanking you in anticipation of your support, and assuring you that if elected I will use my best efforts for the welfare of our City.

Yours Respectfully,
J. J. McKINNON.

After Ten Years

BY MARION RUBINCAN

THE NEW PAUL

Chapter 53

The arrival of Paul, who was evidently a great favorite among these little butterflies, changed the whole atmosphere. So did the information that they could have tea, and so did the idea of having it in these fancy costumes.

"Come, hurry, all of you," Mrs. Munn directing. "We have to be out the theatre by 7 because of the performance tonight and the day after in a matinee, and our show goes on the night after that." The girls hurried off. Paul's arrival undoubtedly saved their performance for the dancer as long as they were asked to rehearse after the tea.

Paul came back followed by waiters from a nearby tearoom, with trays of sandwiches and cake and pots of tea and cups. The girls came down, pleased with the costumes and makeup. Paul was surrounded by them. Patty wanted to escape, after all, she was a stranger. Paul and these girls belonged together, they knew each other, she as the paid secretary of a woman's club.

The gulf she had thought about before was so wide now that she could scarcely see across it.

Then, too, Mrs. Munn had said: "You remember Patty, I told you she was helping me!"

That's why Paul had known her first name Mrs. Munn had told him. But when she had told him, it meant nothing, for he had forgotten it at the moment he found himself facing her. Or if he had remembered he hadn't cared enough to hunt her up.

Whichever way she looked at it made her more and more depressed. And there was Paul's laugh to be heard from the centre of a group of extremely pretty girls, dressed in gay Spanish costumes, rouged and made up for the footlights, posing, laughing, dancing about, being admired, making fun of the frivolous costumes they knew so well how to wear.

Patty, naturally so studious and serious, and now depressed by the events of the summer and the feeling of responsibility she had with her position and her family, sat at one side and envied this light heartedness.

"I'd better go back, the office is empty," she told Mrs. Munn.

"Oh, never mind the office, no one will come this late. Have tea and then write a letter about those programmes, they haven't come, better let me take you back for dinner with me, I'm alone this evening. We'll dine early and go to a concert, and run in our street suits."

While tea as being served, Patty sat by Mrs. Munn. That lady had a charmingly tactful way of making the girl feel at home. She introduced her to the dancers she did not know, some came occasionally to the office, and everyone was very nice and jolly, and pleasant and polite. But Patty remained an outsider.

For in spite of the fact that every girl was too well bred to be rude there was a difference. It may have been their politeness. Patty thought afterwards their slight formality and constraint.

They didn't patronize, they didn't say "Here's a stone wall and I'm on top and you're standing down below. They simply felt a stone wall of social convention existed, and while they chatted as pleasantly as though there were all standing sociably in a group on the grass by the wall, there the wall was, very cool and very firm. It was something that lay in all their minds. But after the tea was over and the waiters had gone off with their piled up trays, and Paul had paid unconcernedly from a thick walletful of bills, the foot lights went on, Paul joined Patty again, and with a few of the girls' mothers in the seats, the serious rehearsal began.

There is one marvellous thing about the semi-public life society girls lead, it gives them an assurance and poise that carries them through anything. When they danced they were so certain of their ability and their good looks, that the footlights and the prospect of an audience only gave them added assurance.

Patty thought of the giggling and diffidence and self-consciousness of a church entertainment rehearsal at home.

Then she thought about the man sitting beside her.

After all, she had felt glad upon coming to New York, that she was to live in the same city with Paul. She never expected to see him, yet here he was, in the next seat, and across the footlights two dozen girls were giving a very good imitation of a Spanish ballet.

He was so close she felt the rough wool of his sleeves against her arm.

"How is your mother and how is Mrs. Buchanan?" he asked.

She told him they were with her.

"May I come around and call on all of you and pay my respects to your mother?" he asked.

She wondered, as she sat in the car going home with Mrs. Munn, why she wasn't elated, why she was depressed. She had actually seen Paul, talked with him, listened to him, had tea with him, said he might call, though she never expected him to do so. All this was more than she hoped. She had cherished an image and set a shrine about it, and never thought to meet the reality.

Yet, so obvious was the gulf, she only wanted to cry.
